THE NEW YEAR--MAY IT BRING YOU PEACE, HAPPINESS AND PLENTY

CALCIUM CARBIDE WORKS ARE TO BE ESTABLISHED IN THE CITY OF DULUTH, CONTRACT FOR POWER ALREADY MADE Great Northern Power Company Will Furnish 5000 Horsepower.

Plant Will Be Completed By July 1st Or Soon After.

President of American Carbide Works In City.

The establishment of a calcium carbide works in the city of Duluth during the present year is the happy New Year's announcement which The Herald can make to the people of Duluth this day.

The Herald learns upon authority unquestionable that a contract has been closed by the American Carbide company and Great Northern Power company, by which the former contracts to use 5000 horse power to be furnished from the St. Louis river water power, and to take the same upon completion of the plant. This will be about July 1st of the year, and the company is to employ the full 5000 horse power by Jan. 1st.

Herman L. Hartenstein, Constantine, Mich., president of the company, has been here for a number of days, accompanied by engineers associated with him, looking into matters connected with the location of the enterprise here and making upon the details of the power contract. The result was the closing yesterday of the deal, whereby the contract was made, the amount of power above mentioned.

The officers of the Great Northern company, those to whom the contract was made, it is not a doubt as to the closing of the contract.

The first step in the matter will be to obtain a site and the company is considering several locations at the West end. No time will be lost in the location of the plant, for the plant must be ready soon after July 1st, when the power is turned on at the St. Louis river.

Calcium carbide, which the company will make, is something of which not a great deal is known, but it is a large part of its manufacture, which makes the industry a valuable one for power companies, give thousands of horsepower, used steadily throughout the day as this will be, will be a fitting thing for the Great Northern company.

Aside from electricity, limestone and charcoal are the elements used in the manufacture of calcium carbide. The former is brought up the lakes in large quantities, and the additional demand created by this new industry will be met by the limestone quarries and men on the docks.

Calcium carbide is used for the making of acetylene gas. The demand for this is large and growing. Automobiles are using great quantities of it. Villages and smaller towns are using much of it for lighting purposes and in a thousand and one ways it is coming into larger use.

The number of plants in the country is very few, not one in the West. It is said, and it is believed that a fine market for the carbide manufactured at this point will be found. The large amount of electricity that is required in the production of carbide makes it impossible to establish plants at points other than those that can supply electricity in great volume. The plan to be established here will use 5000 horse power to begin with, but as soon as it is found a larger number of carbide than anticipated at the beginning, it will require more power, and it is believed that the plant will be able to get it because of the immensity of the water power that can be developed.

This is the first of the good things to follow the development of the water power and that more will follow, and it is believed that a fine market for the carbide manufactured at this point will be found.

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT REDOUBLES ITS ENERGY

In Repressing the Revolutionists and Meets With Considerable Success.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 1.—The policy of repressing the revolutionists continues with a vengeance. Their announcement that they proposed to carry on a guerilla warfare until a general amnesty is prepared has stimulated the government to redouble its energy. A band of terrorists is known to be at work here and last night there were wholesale searches for suspects. The city prisons are so overcrowded that hundreds have been removed to cells in the suburbs and to the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. Government spies are at work among the workmen and revolutionary societies with instructions to give warning of meetings, which are immediately surrounded, the members searched for arms and the leaders taken into custody. Nevertheless the Workmen's council and the executive committee of the Social Revolutionists are managing to evade arrest and are meeting each day at different places in the outskirts of the city. The police are understood to have orders not to spare bullets if they are attacked by persons using bombs or revolvers.

An interview with Governor General Douhaeff is printed today in which he explains that the duration of the revolt is owing to the extent of the region in which the military forces are operating and owing to the lack of troops which compelled Douhaeff to await reinforcements from Warsaw and St. Petersburg before giving the revolutionists their death blow.

"The most difficult task," the governor explained, "is to keep the revolutionists from spreading to the provinces."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S NEW YEAR'S RECEPTION

Representatives of World and People of Every Station Visit White House.

Washington, Jan. 1.—New Year's day at the nation's capital was observed today with all the usual brilliancy which time and custom have decreed shall characterize the official greeting of the new year and another was added to the long line of receptions at the White House where the president and Mrs. Roosevelt received the people of the world, who were there to meet the new year. The reception was held in the grand hall of the White House, which was filled with the representatives of the world and the people of every station. The president and Mrs. Roosevelt were seated at a long table, and the guests were seated around them. The reception was a most successful one, and the president and Mrs. Roosevelt were very popular with the guests.

The first day of the year dawned bright and crisp, a heavy frost being on the ground. The sun shined brightly, and the air was clear. WRECKED BY A DYNAMITE BOMB Marble Front of Macaroni Factory at Scranton, Pa., Blown In.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 1.—A dynamite bomb was thrown against the front door of the Giovanni Fuzzi Macaroni factory at 235 Franklin avenue, at 1:15 o'clock yesterday morning, and the whole front of the building and half the store room were wrecked. The Arlington hotel, adjoining the factory, was not damaged. Fuzzi, who is an aged and well-to-do Italian, has received three letters since Jan. 6, signed "The Iron Head," which made demands on him for $1,000, under penalty of the death of himself and family. He paid no heed to the letters and did not even notify the police. The scene of the explosion is the very heart of the city.

BOYS CONFESS KILLING OF COLORADO SPRINGS MAN.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Jan. 1.—Leslie Francis, 20 years old, and Charles Scott, 18 years old, made sworn confessions to Police Chief Adams yesterday, in which they admitted the shooting of Frank L. Scott, a prominent business man, on Dec. 30. They are now confined in the county jail, and in view of the frequent threats to lynch the prisoners, Sheriff Grimes has placed a large force of armed deputies in the jail and has announced the determination to protect the prisoners at all hazards.

Leslie said they intended to hold up the first man they saw going to the station and rob him. When they saw Scott with a valise in each hand they told him to get in the car. Scott held the revolver, and in so doing gripped the gun so hard that it went off, the bullet striking Scott in the back. Scott died several days after.

TWO PLEASING FEATURES IN IRON AND STEEL TRADE

Year Ended of Unusual Prosperity and Assurance of Its Continuance.

BY A LEADING INDEPENDENT OPERATOR IN THE STEEL INDUSTRY.

(SPECIAL TO DULUTH HERALD.)

(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Company. All rights reserved.)
Pittsburgh, Jan. 1.—Two exceptionally pleasing features mark the close of the year in the iron and steel trade in Pittsburgh and its vicinity, which naturally include the iron and steel trade generally. One is the just-ended year of unusual prosperity, which included an unprecedented and unbroken buying movement; the other the fact that the year closed with ever assurance of a continuance of this prosperity and sufficient business to assure even a greater year in the iron and steel trade. Local officers of the largest iron and steel corporations are agreed in fixing the time of the inauguration of this wave of prosperity with the election of Roosevelt in November, 1904, as fully as October in that year, when it became assured that there would be no change in the national political policy and that an era of unsettlement had become merely a question of majority, confidence was restored. Previously conditions rested on a sound basis, but confidence was lacking.

Once the election was over the railroads started an enormous buying movement in locomotives, cars, rails, track material and other accessories. These orders were placed in December. Buying by the railroads, always the forerunner of a buying movement, was the first of the year's buying movement, and it has been preceded in the iron and steel trade.

February was a month of exceptional buying activity, and a series of sharp price advances began at that time.

will carry the world's production up to about $25,000,000.

South Africa and the United States are the regions making the principal gains. The great Transvaal mine, which was discovered in 1886, has passed the highest point ever discovered, and is now producing about 1,000,000 tons of gold per year. The output for 1904 was $5,000,000.

The importation of Chinese coals as a substitute for the American coal is now being made, and the number now at work is nearly 100,000. The number of Kaffir laborers is about 90,000. Production is increasing at the rate of more than $5,000,000 per month.

When it is remembered that this is equivalent to the total output of the whole world twenty years ago, when the Rand was discovered, the significance of the figures is realized. Production is increasing at the rate of more than $5,000,000 per month. It is expected to show an increasing yield to Nov. 1, that the year's yield will exceed that of 1904 by $10,000,000. This

THOSE WHO HAVE PASSED BEYOND

Winona, Minn., Jan. 1.—Henry W. Lamberton, a pioneer banker, reputed one of the wealthiest in the state, died yesterday after an illness of a month, aged 75. Mr. Lamberton was one of the commissioners under whose supervision the Minnesota state capital was built, and had held numerous political offices. He was born in Carlisle, Penn., and came to Minnesota fifty-seven years ago.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 1.—Helen H. Fleet, for over 20 years the matron of the infirmary at Vassar college, died suddenly at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Her death followed an attack of pneumonia.

London, Jan. 1.—Mrs. Fanny Field Andrews, daughter of the late Cyrus W. Field, died at Richmond Saturday.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 1.—Philip Fried, once a well-known tenor singer, died here yesterday after a long illness. He was born in Hesse Darmstadt, Germany, fifty-two years ago.

San Francisco, Jan. 1.—Frank Phiscator, a millionaire Alaskan miner, ended his life yesterday in his apartment at a local hotel by cutting his throat with a razor. He is said to have been one of the pioneers of the Klondike, and was at Forty Mile at the time of the great discoveries. He had rich claims on Bonanza creek. Phiscator came originally from Michigan.

Brockton suffers from a $300,000 fire loss.

Brockton, Mass., Dec. 1.—The total loss caused by the fire which destroyed the main portion of the city block, at the corner of Main and Ward streets, in this city, early today, is estimated at near $300,000. The section of the structure containing the city theater was saved, but heavy damage was caused to the auditorium of the theater by water. The Field block, adjoining the burned building, also suffered severely from fire on the roof and from water in the interior.

Outlook for Full Prices.

Altogether, the outlook is in favor of full prices being realized and the commercial value of wheat is hardly expected to return to the level of average which prevailed prior to 1904.

The government estimates the crop of wheat of 1905 at about 83,000,000 bushels, which compares with 78,000,000 in 1904, 75,000,000 in 1903 and 61,000,000 in 1902. The population of the United States was about 61,000,000, compared with more than 50,000,000 in 1900.

Housekeepers' Sales of Blankets, Comforters, Pillows, Sheets, Cases, Linens, Muslins and White Goods

Pattern Table Cloths and Sets.

OUR LINE of pattern cloths for this January sale is said by linen experts to be the finest, without any exception, that has ever been brought to Duluth. And it is no exaggeration to say that it is also the largest line of its kind. Every number in stock can be shown in 6 to 20 different designs, in round, square, oval and oblong patterns—for narrow or extra wide tables—a greater variety than any other linen stock in the city holds.

This line is confined to the leading linen stores of the country and to only one store in each city—to such stores as Donaldson's in Minneapolis, and Marshall Field's in Chicago. Gray-Tallant Co. have the exclusive sale in Duluth.

These Prices Are Good Only During the White Sale.

THE WHITE SALE

has been made a popular January trade event by the billowy mountains of white stuffs and white wear shown every year in great volume and variety by the Pantan & White Company's Glass Block Store. Unusual forethought and diligence enable us to begin the sale this year earlier than ever. The crowds of admiring women who bought undermuslins Saturday while the preparations were still incomplete, prove that we are none too early and that as usual the women are ready for the sale as soon as we.

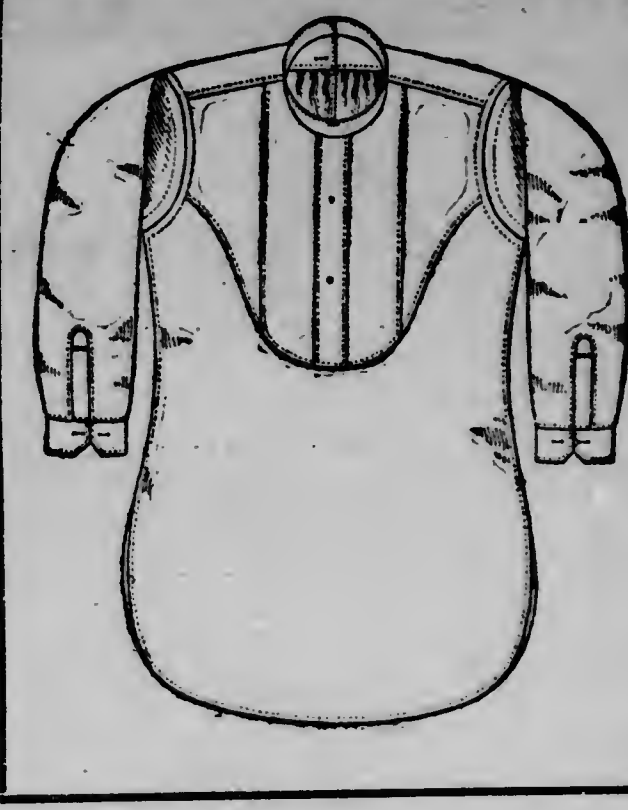

The Sale Begins

Tuesday Morning, January 2nd, in all the white goods and white wear departments.

The Sale Includes

Undermuslins, all white goods, domestic cottons, sheets, pillow cases, linens, towels, toweling, embroideries, men's shirts.

GRAND OPENING OF DAINTY AND BEAUTIFUL UNDERMUSLINS

Sanitary mills and factories were at work on our orders for these garments last fall, as soon as the summer business was out of the way. By figuring out the needs of the women of Duluth, Superior and Northern Minnesota and placing our orders thus early we secured all the advantage of concessions in price mill owners were glad to make in order to keep their people employed. Our orders were larger than ever before. Our display, in consequence, is greater than ever, while our prices are invariably the lowest for any given quality.

The Show of Muslin Underwear includes all the latest—the new ideas in styles, with the newest patterns in embroidery and lace trimmings. It includes the plainest of practical and serviceable undergarments and then follows the entire range of new ideas up to the most elaborately embellished lace trimmed, embroidery trimmed and ribbon trimmed garments, sets and trousseaux—

Displayed on second floor and arranged so that you will have no difficulty in looking over the various grades and styles, these undermuslins form a prominent and captivating feature of the Pantan & White Co.'s Great White Sale.

Including corset covers, from $4.98 to as low as 25c.
Including drawers from $4.98 to as low as 39c.
Including petticoats, from $14.98 to as low as 75c.
Including night gowns from $12.50 to as low as 49c.
Including chemises from $7.50 to as low as 98c.

Matched sets and trousseaux

The increasing demand for correctly matched sets—all trimmed with the same patterns of lace and embroidery, finds us ready with an unusual assortment—either 3 pieces or 5 pieces to the set. We call your special attention to these and recommend early inspection and selection. If you want something exclusive and especially dainty, you will be most surely satisfied by coming to the sale at your earliest opportunity. These sets—complete—range in price from

$2.98 to $18.50

New lingerie waists

Pay a visit to our waist section during this White Sale, and see the beautiful new things we offer in the popular white lingerie waists—plain and elaborate styles—from

$1.98 to $18.50

Table Linens

For the home, for hotels and restaurants.

On account of both variety and low prices, it is the custom of wise housekeepers, hotel keepers and restaurant keepers to replenish their linen stocks at the Pantan & White Co.'s annual sale. With a larger display than ever before, we make the inducements stronger this year. Be on hand early.

EMBROIDERIES DIRECTLY IMPORTED FOR US

Did you know that embroideries have advanced 25 to 50 per cent in price within a few months? Well, it's a fact. But we gave our import orders to the St. Gall makers before the advance, had our orders accepted and filled, and now we are in a position, by reason of our big purchases and our forethought, to give our customers the advantage of buying at the old prices.

We feel well satisfied when we look at our 35,000 yards of beautiful white embroideries, and we feel sure that all the ladies will feel grateful when they realize what a saving this means for them.

We are prepared to repair as well as reupholster any furniture you may wish to put in order. We will be pleased to give you special prices during the winter months. Phone for our team to call. We guarantee LOWEST PRICES.

Commences in this store bright and early Tuesday morning. A sale that affects each and every department in this store, including Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, Draperies, Crockery, Stoves and Housefurnishings. In preparing for the large volume of business anticipated for this store during the coming year, Mr. F. S. Kelly has deemed it advisable to change the management of certain departments in order that the advantages of this store may be broadened and extended to accommodate a greater number of people, and as it is intended to add on several new departments—which will be mentioned later—we want our present stocks adjusted as quickly as possible. We take the one quick, sure way to do it, i. e. cut the prices.

WE WILL FURNISH YOUR HOME COMPLETE AT THIS SALE---EASY PAYMENTS!

Draperies and Lace Curtains At Clearance Sale Prices.

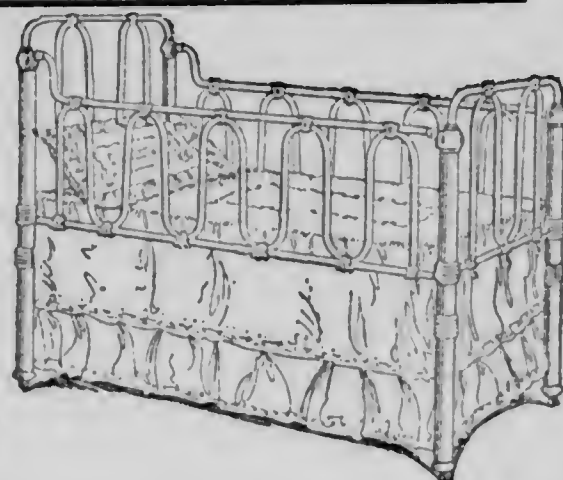

One of the busiest parts of this "big store" the past season has been our Drapery department. This, of course, leaves us with many "odds and ends." Now the prices are cut to close them out quickly.

You will find in this department many remnant pieces of fine goods just suitable to upholster a chair or settee, or to make a pair of portieres, as well as pillow tops, etc.

WATCH ITS PROGRESS

Local Government Employees Are Interested In Retirement Plan.

Civil Service Interests May Present a Bill to Congress.

Local employees of the government in the different departments, who come under the civil service regulations, are watching with a great deal of interest the progress that is being made by the Civil Service Retirement association toward getting legislation by congress favorable to a scheme for the pensioning off of superannuated civil service employees.

Although there has not yet been formed among the local government employees a branch of the Civil Service Retirement association, which is the parent organization among the civil service employees at Washington, D. C., there are quite a number of members of the association in Duluth who have been regular subscribers to the movement, and who stand ready to push it along in every way possible.

One of these, a member who has been many years in the government service, says that if the actuary experts who have been for over two years working out some practicable pension scheme that will endure every test that may be put on it, get their work finished in time, it is very likely that the present congress will be asked to pass a bill that will give status to the project and bring the pensioning scheme under the direct supervision of the government.

"The idea some people have got that the civil service employees are asking the government to pension off its superannuated civil service employees the same as it does its army and navy officers is entirely wrong," declared one of the local members of the retirement association the other day.

"We are not asking any relief from the United States treasury, and for that reason there can be no reasonable opposition to our scheme from the people who pay the taxes. We propose that an idea be worked out and legislation be had whereby the government will retain a certain amount of money from each civil service employee's salary every year or month, which shall be graded according to the amount of the pay, and which shall be turned into the pension fund. We are far from asking any charity.

"This movement has been under way for several years and the general public has heard something of it from time to time, usually through editorials relating to the pensioning of superannuated government employees.

"We all realize that there are in the employ of the government many old men and women who have served the government for the past twenty or twenty-five years, giving up to it the very best part of their lives. Now they are old and are practically useless. Owing to their environments and the amount of salary they have been paid they have not been able to lay up a cent to provide for their old age.

"It seems hard to turn them out into the world after so long a faithful service, but the government feels that it must have efficient servants and does not provide a way of caring for the old ones. We propose to help ourselves and at the same time have government supervision of our own funds.

"The movement has received the greatest possible encouragement from congressmen to whom the scheme has been broached. It has been decided that it has been pledged to any measure along the line proposed.

"At Washington, only a few evenings ago, Congressman Burton addressed the government employees and made the following statement: 'When the committee of the civil service retirement committee are ready to come forward with a bill, practical and well considered, that will not be a drain on the treasury, but self-sustaining, then I will assure them that they will find sympathetic advocates in congress that will help them to put the bill through.'

Congress, it is claimed, does not favor any plan that contemplates the establishment of a civil service pension list, with a corresponding burden on the government treasury, but will favor a practical scheme for mutual assistance and the payment of a reasonable annuity after an employee's life work is over. Such a scheme, it is further claimed, would be a great relief to the government by enabling it to stop carrying on its rolls a number of old clerks who have passed their stage of usefulness, and who themselves would be content to retire if assured of an annuity sufficient to assure them of a livelihood for their declining days. It would, also, so the claim is made, encourage subordinates by opening the way to a surer and more speedy promotion.

Whether the age limit will be definitely fixed by the association, or whether it will be a somewhat flexible limit, and depend upon the fitness of the employee during old age, is a matter which the members of the association has not yet been fully worked out, but among the local civil service employees the opinion is general that there will be a retirement committee that will pass on the fitness of the employee, and by whose mandate he will have to abide. Some men in the civil service employ are said to be far more valuable to the government at 60 or 70 years than at 50 years, or an even younger age.

FIVE MEN HAVE BEEN ARRESTED

As Suspects in Assassination of Former Governor of Idaho.

Boise, Idaho, Jan. 1.—A man has been arrested at Caldwell, who, the officers think, may be the assassin of former Governor Frank Steunenberg, who was blown up by a bomb Saturday night. His name has not been reported. Five men in all have been detained on trivial charges, in order that their whereabouts may be looked up. When daylight dawned on the scene of the tragedy it was found that the dynamite had been exploded by pulling a wire. Pieces of wire and waxed fish-line were found in the trees on the lawn. Further, it is believed that two bombs were used to make certain the explosion would have occurred as he went in, and it is, therefore, certain the mine was fired by a wire, and that the assassin, knowing his habit of making the stop to close the gate, showing that he turned partially in closing the gate. Had the mine been set to go off from the movement of the gate, the explosion would have occurred as he went in, and it is, therefore, certain the mine was fired by a wire, and that the assassin, knowing his habit of making the stop to close the gate, showing that he turned partially in closing the gate. ENORMOUS WAVE SWEEPS VESSEL

Captain and Mate of the Henry C. Barrett Washed Overboard.

Woods Hole, Mass., Jan. 1.—A great wave, reaching almost tidal proportions, rolled up Vineyard sound Saturday night, and, overtaking the big five-masted schooner Henry C. Barrett, tumbled over the stern and swept overboard to their death Capt. Joshua Norton of Rockland, Me., the commander of the vessel, and his mate, James Conley of St. John, N. B. The wave jammed the helmsman against the wheel after smashing the ravel and davits, and then ranging forward, tore through the splinter and jigger sails and carried away the deck house.

Capt. Norton and Mate Conley were standing together, near the stern. The Barrett, which left Newport News last Wednesday for Boston, had good weather until reaching Block island. There she was overtaken by Saturday's storm, but as the wind was favorable, she kept on. She passed in by day head shortly after dark in a heavy sea. The Barrett was abreast of Quicks Hill when the big wave came rolling up the stern.

The helmsman stated that he heard Capt. Norton shout, as the sea came up, "we are among the breakers," to which the mate replied, "No, sir." Then the sea tumbled aboard, completely flooding the port deck of the vessel and carrying the two officers overboard.

Although somewhat disabled, the Barrett kept on and anchored off here about midnight.

Capt. Norton was 57 years old and a native of Rockland, Me., where he leaves a widow.

Mate Conley was 55 years old and a native of St. John, N. B., where his wife died recently.

MAN DEAD, WOMAN DYING.

Oelwein, Iowa, Has an Early Sunday Morning Tragedy.

Oelwein, Ind., Jan. 1.—With two bullets imbedded over her heart and her husband lying in bed with life almost extinct, Mrs. Lou Carr was found in the Hotel Mealy early yesterday morning. Carr died in less than an hour without regaining consciousness. Mrs. Carr was taken to her home and now lies in a critical condition.

A 15-year-old boy by a former husband is the cause given for domestic troubles which led to the tragedy. The question of who fired the fatal shot is now being investigated by the authorities. Carr is a barber and came here from Des Moines two years ago.

WILL DISCUSS THE BOND ISSUE

Aldermen May Take Definite Action at the Postponed Meeting.

At the postponed meeting of the council tomorrow evening some action is likely to be taken in regard to the issue of $25,000 water and light bonds, which is to be submitted to the people at the coming municipal election.

The large district affected by the issue has gained widespread support for the issue, and the aldermen are being urged to push the ordinance through, by the voters living in the districts which will secure water and gas if the issue is confirmed by the voters.

A week from today is the last meeting at which the council can take action on the issue in time to allow it to be presented to the voters.

Aside from the bond issue, nothing of importance is due to come up tomorrow evening.

THE HENLEY OF AMERICA

Stewards Making Great Effort to Secure College Competition.

They Hope to Make It Event of the Season.

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—According to plans now being made by the stewards of the American Henley association, its fourth annual regatta, better known as the American Henley, promises to eclipse all of its predecessors. The stewards at their annual meeting made all the preliminary arrangements for the coming regatta. The date set is May 25, the Saturday before Memorial Day, this time being chosen in order that it might not conflict with the regatta to be held on Memorial Day by Cornell and the Harlem Rowing association of New York.

The main feature of the big regatta, which is now a prominent fixture for the Henley regatta, is the competition of the leading college crews of the East. Ever since the organization of this association four years ago, the stewards have had the college oarsmen constantly in mind. Although the object was not openly expressed, it was their ambition to stage the regatta of the future, to include Harvard and New London courses. To accomplish this they set about the task of bringing the leading crews of the East to the regatta. It is true that many of these meetings have been between the second or freshmen crews, but as long as the opening colleges were represented the stewards were satisfied.

This year one supreme effort is to be made to secure the competition of every college in the East that supports a crew. Last year Harvard and Yale each sent second crews, while Pennsylvania and Cornell were similarly represented. At the meeting of the stewards these four institutions virtually promised to be represented again, and it is possible that more than one crew in competition. With these valuable entries assured, the stewards are preparing to make a grand effort to secure the competition of the other colleges of the East. The regatta will become one of the greatest intercollegiate meetings of the year. In point of numbers it will attract all others, even the Poughkeepsie meeting. The association has adopted a very sensible method to secure complete representation. As far as possible the various colleges whose entries are desired have been given representation on the board of stewards. As a result there are no factions and the representatives of the Poughkeepsie and New London meetings are on no more friendly terms than ever before. It is by the promotion of this spirit that the stewards hope to merge the two regattas of the East. As soon as the second crews of the two factions are meeting annually the stewards think it will be easier to bring the first "varsity" regatta together. The stewards are not in any great hurry to achieve this end, for they think it will all work out in good time. If the two regattas are merged by means of the "American Henley" it is likely that the big meeting will have to be transferred from Philadelphia to some more suitable course. A two-mile straightaway is the best that the Schuylkill affords, whereas a four-mile stretch would be needed for the "varsity" regatta. This could be obtained at Poughkeepsie, and if the transfer of the regatta would bring about this desirable end the stewards would consent to the removal of the regatta from Philadelphia without argument.

But the college oarsmen are not the only ones who are to be considered in the coming regatta. The stewards will, as usual, do everything in their power to get out an extraordinary large representation from the many clubs in all sections of the country. It is stated that good crews will be sent from New York, Boston, Brooklyn, Baltimore, Washington, Detroit and possibly one or two other cities. There is little, if any, hope that crews will be sent from any of the Canadian cities, for the reason that their oarsmen are always late getting on the water, and as this regatta is to be held in May, the Canadians would stand little if any show to carry off their usual share of honors.

The programme of events this year is to be much the same as it was a year ago, though there may be a change in one or two events. It is understood that the college oarsmen will not be asked to row against the club crews. Last year there was a special event for the second college crews, which was won by Cornell in record time. The stewards are making an effort to boom rowing among the secondary schools, and as this is the only regatta in the East where prizes are made for the school boys, it is expected that there will be a larger representation than usual from this class.

CATS AT THE CHICK SHOW

Beautiful Angoras and Good Points.

Many Attend Exhibition
Today to See Feline Beauties.

The poultry show took on a new atmosphere today. Heretofore it has been only for barnyard fowl, but today the cat fanciers of the city brought in their pets to be exhibited, and a fancy dog or two was on hand to help appreciation at some things and disapproval at others.

Early last week it was decided to make a cat show a feature of the poultry exhibition on Saturday day, and early this morning small boys began to pull up in front of the show headquarters, 112 West First street, with their sleds.

On most of the sleds were improvised coops, in which were quartered the cats, who had been torn from their warm beds under the kitchen stove, or some similar place, to be placed on exhibition at the chicken show; to be gazed at by an inquisitive throng.

The poultry show was open and doing business. G. Hood Thompson, superintendent of the show and judge of the cat exhibit, was on hand to greet the incoming nice menaces and assign them to the cages which they were to occupy during their stay at the show.

After they had been successfully caged, an admiring group of small boys, some of whom had brought the cats to the scene of the exhibition, and others who had accompanied the gala caravans, thrived, flocked about the cages and poked their fingers through the wooden bars to provoke playfulness on the part of the imprisoned animals.

Many distinguished cats were present during the day and more may be entered before G. Hood Thompson announced the closing. The prizes will consist merely of ribbons.

Among the exhibited cats are two giant orange colored, short-haired cats, Ben and Huc, who least of eight claws each front foot. The ordinary cat has but five claws. These overclawed cats come from Eastern Pennsylvania and are the property of H. N. Colvin of Lester Park. He exhibited them at the poultry show today. They were brought to him about two months ago by his sister, who lives in the East. They are quite common there. Both of the cats are sleek, handsome creatures and will probably be prize winners.

Mrs. G. Hood Thompson's cats were the proud occupants of several cages. They included Betty Black, Buster Brown, Lady Jax and Queen Bess, all of whom are Angoras. Mrs. Thompson also exhibited her white Persian cat, Minnie Sota. Miss Arnold's yellow Angoras, Jaxquilla and Lady were on the show. The exhibitors of these beauties, whose fur and pedigrees were not so long.

The attendance at the poultry show was good during the day and it is expected that a large crowd will attend this evening.

Tomorrow is the last day of the show.

Bessemer—John Arvella and Matt Houder, two young men, had a considerable battle yesterday returning to their homes at the Colby location at Bessemer, somewhat under the influence of liquor, and the latter gave the former two frightful slashes across the face with a razor. Houder has been locked up until Arvella is able to appear in court.

Sault Ste. Marie—The office of the Eastern-Sault Marie, which is located with telephone calls the other day by women residents on Maple street, giving the information that the office was closed for three days at the top of a telephone pole and was not to be taken down from the pole. It is easy enough for the residents of this vicinity by its waterfalls. The company's agent sent one of its men to the scene and found the pole was free. Secretary South of the company stated later that the occurrence was not unusual, and that several cuts in the city have had to be taken down from the pole. It is easy enough for the residents to get to the top of a pole, but when it comes to descending, fear seems to get possession, with the consequence that she remains until rescued or drops from exhaustion.

The receipts of the Sault Ste. Marie postoffice during the recent week ended June 30, 1905, amounted to $23,265. The expenses of the office during this period were as follows: Salary the postmaster, $2,700; special delivery service, $115; rent, $4,500; free delivery service, $6,200.

CHARGED WITH ROBBING ROAD

Former Saloonkeeper is Placed Under Arrest
at Iron River.

John McLean, formerly in the saloon business at Lake Nebagamon, has been arrested at Iron River and charged with blowing and robbing a safe in the South Shore depot of Lake Nebagamon Tuesday night.

He was arraigned before Justice Carr at Lake Nebagamon and pleaded not guilty, furnishing $500 bonds to guarantee his appearance in court Friday when the case will be given a hearing. The complaint against the former saloonkeeper is made by J. P. Youngquist, the Lake Nebagamon agent of the South Shore road, who charges McLean with having robbed the railroad company of something like $25.

McLean had $5 on his person when arrested. He offered no resistance when Constable Krauss of Lake Nebagamon came to take him. He has lived at different times at Lake Nebagamon, Iron River and some place on the Mesaba range, but at the time of his arrest was not engaged in any business.

COURT TO OPEN JAN. 9

Federal Tribunal Will Take Up Calendar Week
From Tuesday.

Twenty-three Law and Two Chancery Cases—
McCutcheon Case.

Capt. T. H. Pressnell, deputy clerk of the United States court, has prepared the calendar for the coming term of United States court which will open at Duluth on Jan. 9. There are twenty-three cases on the calendar, a good many of which are damage suits. Among them still remains the famous suit of Mary A. McCutcheon against A. H. Powers of Duluth in which the latter is sued for $20,000 for the alleged seduction of Mrs. McCutcheon's daughter, Flossie McCutcheon. The case was tried one year ago and the jury disagreed. At the last term of United States court it was put over until this term. It is not known whether there will be a settlement out of court or not, but Mr. Powers has always asserted that he has nothing to settle. The rest of the calendar follows in the order in which they are listed for hearing:

Law cases—Granville A. Burns vs. the Clonnet Lumber company and the Northern Lumber company; Henry Wickey vs. the same defendants; Andrew Anderson vs. the Drake and Stratton company; Charles W. RAILROADS ARE MORE EXPENSIVE

Increase in Cost of Keeping Heavy Locomotives In Repair.

Greatest Difference on the Roads Using Larger Engines.

The Railway Age gives some interesting figures regarding the cost of maintaining locomotives on some of the leading railroads of the country, including the Great Northern and Northern Pacific. The cost has increased considerably on some roads, especially those which operate large locomotives. It is found, as a general rule, that the cost of repairs, both running and shop, is closely proportional to the tractive power, and therefore to the weight on the drivers.

The Great Northern owned 708 locomotives June 30, 1904, with an average weight on drivers of 27.5 tons. The cost of locomotive repairs per engine mile was 2.56 cents and per 1,000 ton miles 12.22 cents.

The report for 1905 shows no net additions to locomotive equipment and little change in expenses. The Northern Pacific for the year ending June 30, 1905, owned 1,000 locomotives, having an average weight on drivers of 25.5 tons, and the cost of locomotive repairs and renewals per engine mile was 2.23 cents, the cost per 1,000 ton miles 12.03 cents and per locomotive $2,077.

On the Union Pacific system in 1904 there was a locomotive equipped with 343 engines with an average weight on the drivers of 25 tons. The cost of locomotive repairs and renewals per engine mile was 2.23 cents, per 1,000 ton miles 12.03 cents, and per locomotive $2,077.

On the Southern Pacific there are 1,700 locomotives, with an average weight on drivers of 25.5 tons. The cost of repairs and renewals per engine mile was 2.23 cents in 1904 and 1905, and the cost per engine in 1904 was $2,077 and in 1905 $2,137.

It is interesting to compare these figures with those for Western lines east of the Rocky mountains, which use lighter power. On the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul there was in 1904 an equipment of 1,014 locomotives, which cost for repairs and renewals per engine mile $2,077.

The Chicago & Northwestern has never adopted the consolidated standard freight locomotive is the 10-wheel type weighing about 225,000 lbs. and which use lighter power.

On the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul there was in 1904 an equipment of 1,014 locomotives, which cost for repairs and renewals per engine mile $2,077.

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT SUCCEEDS IN CRUSHING OUT THE REBELLION AT MOSCOW AND RESTORING ORDER

But Little Now Remains to Recall the Nightmare of the Past Ten Days.

Streets Crowded With Shoppers Bent on Purchasing Christmas Presents.

Administration Confident of Promptly
Suppressing "Reds" Everywhere.

Moscow, Monday night, via St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—Except for the numerous military patrols in the streets and the pillars of smoke lazily floating above the ruins of factories and houses in the Presna district there is little to recall the nightmare of the past ten days. As if by magic in twenty-four hours the appearance of the city has changed. The stores everywhere have been reopened and the streets are crowded with holiday shoppers making belated purchases for the Russian Christmas, which according to the Julian calendar falls on Sunday. As the early northern night fell the guards were doubled, but the electric street lamps brilliantly lighted the shop windows, reassuring the people who lingered on merry making with the careless indifference of the Russians to the dramatic tragedy just ended. The Presna district, however, presented another picture. There people by hundreds who had been burned out were excitedly searching the ruins, bemoaning the loss of their own, while the police and troops continued their unceasing hunt for hidden revolutionists.

A batch of Drujniks surrounded in a sugar factory in the suburbs during the night, surrendered this morning when they found that further resistance was useless. The only other warlike incident was a rear attack made by a body of Drujniks upon a detachment of troops stationed at a bridge with instructions to cover the work of the firemen. The soldiers when attacked turned right about face and fired a volley killing three students and wounding several others.

This was the coldest day of the winter, the thermometer registering below zero. The roaring fires at which the pickets are warming themselves give a touch of picturesqueness to the streets.

Two most important captures were made today—Volkoff and Mallouff, the chiefs of the fighting organization and members of the national revolutionary committee. The authorities are promising information regarding the leaders and the hiding places of arms, but only a few are betraying their comrades. It is understood that the prisoners will be tried by a military court and some of the papers say that they will be hanged in their hands will be given a short shrift.

The list of casualties and losses to property are being compiled at Governor Gen. Douhassoff's headquarters and are promised tomorrow. At the house today a prominent manufacturer estimated the damage done in the burned district at $5,000,000.

The American factories, of which the New York Air Brake company, the Henry Boller company and the Elmer Manufacturing company are the principal, have not suffered. The employees of the air brake company, whose works are situated at Suburban, attempted to seize the premises in order to get possession of the explosives but a squadron of dragoons was dispatched to the scene by Governor General Douhassoff and the troops prevented the strikers carrying out their plan. Their leader, who was marching at the head of the men was shot down by the officer in command of the dragoons which caused a panic and the strikers fled.

Although the strike is off some of the factories decided that it is useless to recommence work four days before Christmas and have dismissed their workmen until Jan. 21. Most of the other undamaged factories have resumed work. The railroads and telegraph lines are resuming business slowly. The directors of the Kazan line have dismissed every official or employee of the line and are engaging an entire new force, using as a nucleus a few trustworthy veterans. Other roads probably will follow their example.

CONFIDENCE

That "Reds" Will Be Crushed Out Is Felt
By Government.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 2, 3 p. m.—The government's strongly worded announcement yesterday that it proposes to pursue to the bitter end the policy of putting down the "Reds" following on the heels of the crushing of the revolt at Moscow demonstrates the confidence of Premier Witte's government that it has the ability to complete the task it has undertaken. The cause of this confidence is the fidelity displayed by the troops. That the government was uncertain of how far the extreme propaganda conducted by the revolutionists in the army had shaken the loyalty of the troops is unquestionable but the events of the last fortnight it seems to believe have proved completely reassuring on this point.

Despite the rigorous, ruthless fashion in which the war against the "Reds" is conducted the government is taking every opportunity by word and act to try to prove to the public that the repression of the revolutionists does not involve the abandonment of the reform program but that on the contrary their suppression is necessary in order that the new regime may be realized.

It was learned today by the Associated Press, through Premier Witte himself, that last night's report that was urging the immediate promulgation of a constitution is incorrect. "Until the house members," he said, "I stand firmly on the manifesto of October 30. Not one step in advance nor one step in the rear will I go till the house assembly. All the energies of the government are now concentrated to the work of making possible the convocation of the representatives of the nation at the earliest possible moment." The Molva (Rusa) bitterly assails the government for its blind boastfulness in asserting that the revolution is crushed.

PUERTO PLATA BESIEGED BY THE REVOLUTIONISTS Are In Camp On Road and Prevent All Ingress Into Or Egress From City.

Cape Haytien, Jan. 2.—A revolutionary force of Dominicans, numbering about 250 men, is, according to advices received here by messenger today, camped on the Puerto Plata road, Santo Domingo, and is besieging Puerto Plata. The revolutionists, it is added, occupy positions which prevent all ingress into or egress from Puerto Plata except for American warships or persons under the protection of the foreign consuls. The threatened bombardment of the port by the revolutionary gunboat Independencia will not take place, presumably owing to the representations of the foreign consuls.

The messenger from Santo Domingo also announces that the troops commanded by Gen. Guillot, the former governor of Monte Cristi, are operating in conjunction with the revolutionary forces before Puerto Plata and that it is the intention of the two forces to attack Santiago, south of Puerto Plata, where Gen. Decierne, the former president of the republic, is drawing up his troops. A decisive engagement is expected to occur at Santiago.

According to the reports which reached Cape Haytien, Morales, the fugitive president of Santo Domingo, is acting in the interests of Gen. Jimenez, the former president of the republic, whose attempt to regain the presidency in 1903 was defeated.

Washington, Jan. 2.—A cablegram received by the secretary of war from Col. R. Colton, controller and general receiver for the Dominican customs, dated at Santo Domingo, Dec. 31, states that public at the war department today. Col. Colton gives the conditions

ARCHITECTS TO MEET IN WASHINGTON JAN. 8-11.

Washington, Jan. 2.—The American institute of architects will hold its thirty-ninth annual convention in this city on Jan. 8, 9, 10 and 11. Many papers on various subjects will be read and discussed and among other subjects the development of modern architecture will be reported on. On July 9th a dinner will be given at the new Willard. The address of the president, William S. Evans, will be delivered Tuesday morning and the election of officers will take place the same day.

SHUFFLING OF FEET

When Middy Is Forced to Stand On His Head Is Recognizable.

Witnesses Would Have Known If Hazing Was Going On.

Annapolis, Jan. 2.—Whether or not the sound of standing on one's head, as it is practiced at the naval academy can be recognized by a person in an adjoining room, proved to be the disputed point in the evidence which counsel for the defense submitted this morning in the court martial proceedings against Midshipman Stephen Decatur, Jr., charged with hazing. A number of midshipmen testified they were in Decatur's room the day that Midshipman McCrary had said Decatur had hazed him and that they had seen no fourth-class men there.

Efforts were made on all the cross-examinations to show that the midshipmen were not there the whole time that Decatur was, and also that a victim might be doing his "stunt" in the closet and the witnesses not have seen it. All of the midshipmen were confident that they would have seen the incident had it taken place and also that the noise made by the shuffling of the feet of the under classmen when standing on his head would have been heard and recognized by them.

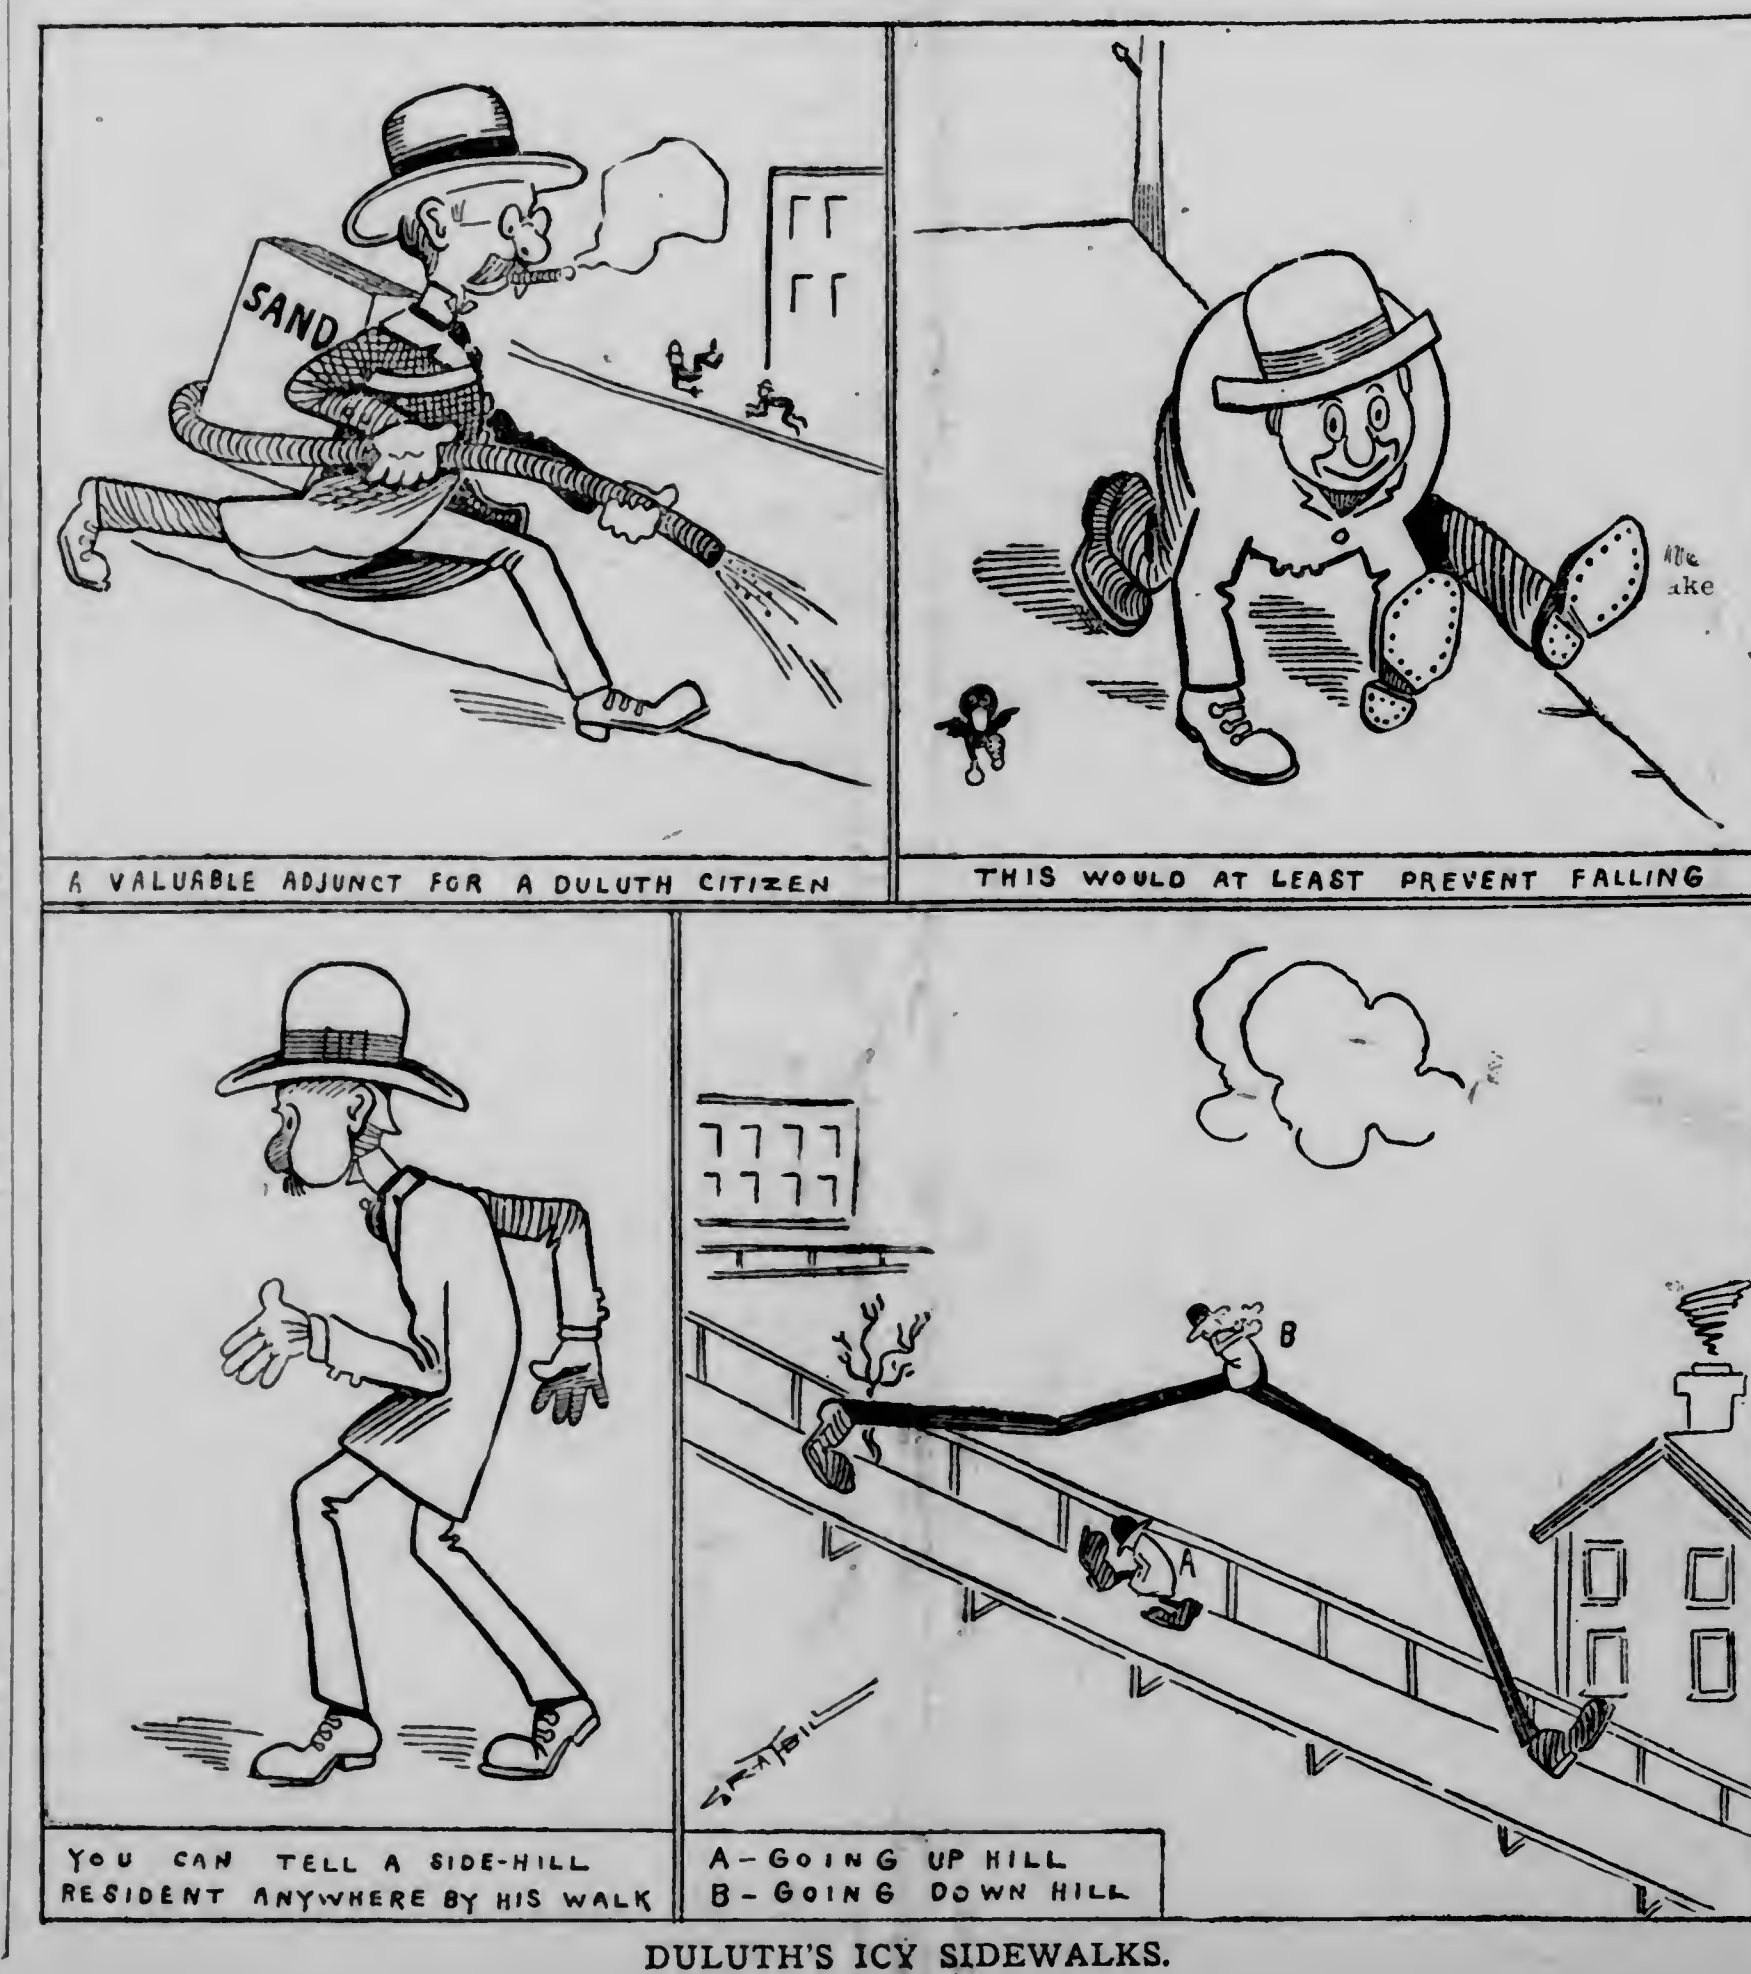

It was brought out successfully by the judge advocate, however, that Decatur had his picture taken in one group or another on two or three occasions. This was of much importance as the defense are attempting to prove McCrary's statement that he was hazed by Decatur after dinner on the day when the latter had his picture taken in a group of other midshipmen.

The testimony for the defense promises to be of great length and Decatur's counsel affirm that they will show positively that the prosecuting witnesses were mistaken in saying that Decatur was the one who had hazed them.

There was a noticeable increase in the attendance at the trial today.

HILL PLACED ON TRIAL.
Philadelphia, Jan. 2.—John W. Hill, former chief of the filtration bureau, was placed on trial today before Judge Audenrod in the criminal court charged with forgery and falsification of the records of the filtration bureau. Mr. Hill's arrest last June was one of the first and most sensational of the developments in the case against the Weaver's break with the Republican organization and his crusade for good government.

LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON.
Madison, Jan. 2.—Senator-elect and Mrs. LaFollette left today for Washington, where Mr. LaFollette will be sworn in Tuesday.

DULUTH'S ICY SIDEWALKS.

A STARTLING TRAGEDY OCCURS NEAR TOWN OF CALEDONIA, MINN.

THOUSANDS OF PRINTERS ALL OVER THE UNITED STATES STRIKE FOR 8-HOUR DAY

Quit All Shops Which Refuse to Grant Their Demands.

Their Action is Being Bitterly Fought by the Employers.

New York, Jan. 2.—One thousand printers went on strike here today in support of a demand for the eight-hour day, and thirty-two printing shops declared a lockout against their employees. The strikers immediately placed pickets in the vicinity of all shops where the lockout was declared, and three halls were secured by Typographical union, No. 6, to accommodate the men on strike who wish to make their headquarters in these places. The strike was begun without disorder.

In 160 printing shops the Typographical union gained a victory without a man quitting work as these shops granted the eight-hour day and the closed shop principle demanded by the union. The opponents of the union were the printing offices belonging to the United Typothetae, which has been making preparations for the strike for several months.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—The national eight-hour work day, at the printers' union, was declared by that organization to be in effect today in this city. The time set for the commencement of the movement was Jan. 1, but it being a holiday, nothing was done yesterday.

In this city the introduction of the new program was not marked by any strikes of any magnitude, most of the militant employers having anticipated the movement weeks ago by locking out their union men and continuing their shops with non-union men.

President Wright of Typographical union No. 16 said today he did not expect more than a handful of men would strike in this city, because of employers who were disposed to fight against the rule being already in arms against it, and from those who have not already started a fight nothing in the way of opposition is expected at this late day.

Cleveland, Jan. 2.—Two hundred and forty-five employees of printing houses joined the 175 members of the Typographical union already on strike here today. Three-fourths of the men are printers having refused to sign the 8-hour agreement, the strike was declared. The Typothetae is making efforts to obtain non-union men.

Des Moines, Jan. 2.—Twenty per cent of the printers of Iowa are on strike today in connection with the international eight-hour fight in the job printing offices of the United States.

Daughter of Former Prefect Attempts
Suicide After Varied Experiences.

New York, Jan. 2.—A daughter of a former prefect of police in Warsaw, Russian Poland, from which city she was banished by order of her father's successor for inciting revolution in the private school where she was being educated; a runaway from the school at Berlin, where she was sent by her mother, and finally a would-be suicide in New York, 17-year-old Cecilia Tanton, yesterday, was sent to a home for wayward girls. The young woman told her story in police court, and at the same time exhibited a roll of bills, containing more than $400, the remainder of a remittance sent to her by her mother before she left Berlin, and a large quantity of jewelry, apparently of great value. She had been arrested after drinking laudanum and turning on the gas in her apartments in a downtown hotel. She told a police magistrate that the desire to kill herself was a sudden and irresistible impulse. She sent out for a vial of laudanum, for an inguinal toothache, drank the poison and turned on the gas. A man detected the odor of the escaping gas in the halls, and called an attendant, who broke down the door to the room.

When Miss Tanton was arraigned in police court yesterday charged with attempted suicide, she said her father was for many years the chief of prefect of police of Warsaw. He died eight months ago, leaving a fortune in money and eleven children. Several months ago, according to her story, she was attending a private school in Warsaw, when the new prefect of police, her father's successor, warned her mother that the school was a hot bed of revolutionary ideas, and placed the blame for the agitation on Cecilia. She said her mother took her from the school and sent her to one in Berlin. This school did not suit the girl, and she ran away to gayer Paris. After two days' stay in Paris she decided to visit the United States. She had written her mother of her proposed visit to this country, and received $700 to cover her expenses. She exhibited $400 and a lot of jewelry in court. Most of the jewels, she explained, were heirlooms. One of these she showed to the court, and said it had been in the family almost 800 years. She will probably be deported.

MYSTERY DEVELOPS IN THE BUSCH CASE

St. Louis, Jan. 2.—The announcement, last Friday, following the frustrated elopement of Miss Wilhelmina Busch, daughter of Adolphus Busch, and Lieut. Eduard Scharrer of Stuttgart, Germany, that they would be quietly married at the Busch mansion yesterday, was not carried out. Instead Miss Busch has gone to the Grant farm to spend some time, and her father has asserted that there is no engagement between his daughter and the lieutenant.

Agreements granting the eight-hour day have been signed in every city in the state except Des Moines, Council Bluffs, Cedar Rapids, Keokuk and Creston.

FIRE AT APALACHICOLA, FLA.
Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 2.—A dispatch from Apalachicola announces that fire there today has destroyed the largest portion of the business district. The losses will aggregate $100,000. The latest report is that the fire is under control.

HE MAY HAVE KILLED SHERIFF

Well Dressed Suspect Arrested Between Rochester and Hayfield.

Rochester, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Half frozen and nearly starved to death, a man, well dressed, was arrested yesterday at a farm house half way between this place and Hayfield, and is held as a suspect in the Sheriff Harvey murder, which occurred there last Saturday. The man now held in the jail here, claims his name to be Frank McVug, and says Omaha is his home. Further than that he absolutely refuses to make any statement in regard to himself or give information as to why he is in this part of the country.

Ever since the murder several posers have been scouring the country east of Hayfield, and this arrest is the first step towards running down the supposed robbers.

A STUDENT'S AWFUL DEED

Enters House of S. H.
Wheaton and Shoots
Whole Family.

Kills Sweetheart Instantly, and Fatally Wounds
Two Others.

Shoots Himself and Falls
Dying With Head on Girl's Breast.

Caledonia, Minn., Jan. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Infatuated with Pearl Wheaton, daughter of S. N. Wheaton, one of the richest farmers in Southern Minnesota, and rendered desperate by her refusal to marry him, Matt Styer, a dentistry student at the university of Minnesota, broke into the Wheaton home near here in the dead of night, declaring his purpose to kill the whole family, and shot Pearl, her sister, mother and himself.

Unable to secure entrance through the door, Styer broke through a window. When he entered he was met by Ruth Wheaton, who was armed with a revolver and attempting to protect the remainder of the family. Styer wrested the revolver from her and shot her twice. He then turned on Mrs. Wheaton, shooting her twice also, and bounded up the steps to the room of Pearl. Breaking in her door, he shot the girl through the heart and then shot himself.

When help arrived Styer was found with his head on the girl's breast, his dead and he barely living. All of the injured are fatally wounded.

DEATH WILL BE HIS SENTENCE

The Massachusetts Supreme Court Denies Tucker Rehearing.

Boston, Jan. 2.—The appeal of the counsel for Charles L. Tucker, who was convicted yesterday of the murder of Miss Mabel Page at Weston, for a rehearing of two of the exceptions taken at the trial was denied yesterday by the full bench of the supreme judicial court. It is expected, in view of the last effort to save Tucker's life, that the young man will be sentenced to death in the superior court during the present week. The counsel have still recourse to the United States courts or to the governor to save the young man's life.

CHANGE IN JUSTICES.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Associate Justice Station Peelle, the United States court of claims today took the oath as chief justice of that court in place of C. C. Nott, retired, and Samuel S. Barney of Wisconsin was sworn in as associate justice in place of Justice Peelle.

MCCALL PAYS THE AMOUNT ADVANCED TO HAMILTON

Turns Over $85,000 In Cash and Gives Note For Balance—Will Resign.

New York, Jan. 2.—John A. McCall, president of the New York Life Insurance company, has paid the company the $250,000 advanced to Andrew Hamilton and so far not accounted for by Mr. Hamilton. Thomas P. Fowler, chairman of the company's investigating committee, appointed by the board of trustees, received today a check from Mr. McCall for $50,000 and a note for $150,000. Mr. McCall, some time ago, promised to make good this sum unless Hamilton, who was legislative agent for the big insurance company, rendered an accounting. On receipt of Mr. McCall's letter accompanying the check and note, a meeting of the board of trustees was called for tomorrow. While no official statement on the subject was obtainable, it was accepted as a fact that Mr. McCall's resignation as president will be presented to the trustees tomorrow.

At a conference of a number of trustees today, Alex. E. Orr was requested to accept the presidency of the company. Mr. Orr said he would prefer that some one else be selected for the place permanently, but he offered to act as president until some one else is named. Others mentioned for the presidency are John Claffin, Norman B. Ream and Hiram R. Steele.

One of the members of the New York Life's investigation committee said today that the reason why McCall could not pay over the $250,000 in one lump sum was because Mr. McCall is a poor man. It was said he will go out of the city with practically nothing except his life insurance policy of $500,000, and that in order to pay his $150,000 note he may have to get assistance from his wife and some friends.

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT SUCCEEDS IN CRUSHING OUT THE REBELLION AT MOSCOW AND RESTORING ORDER

But Little Now Remains to Recall the Nightmare of the Past Ten Days.

Streets Crowded With Shoppers Bent on Purchasing Christmas Presents.

Administration Confident of Promptly
Suppressing "Reds" Everywhere.

Moscow, Monday night, via St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—Except for the numerous military parades in the streets and the pillars of smoke lazily floating above the ruins of factories and houses in the present district there is little to recall the nightmare of the past ten days. As if by magic in twenty-four hours the appearance of the city has changed. The streets everywhere have been resurfaced and the streets are crowded with holiday shoppers making belated purchases for the Russian Christmas, which according to the Julian calendar falls on Sunday. As the early northern night fell the guards were doubled, but the electric street lamps brilliantly lighted the shop windows, reassuring the people who lingered on merry making with the careless indifference of the Russians to the dramatic tragedy just ended. The Presna district, however, presented another picture. There people by hundreds who had been turned out were excitedly searching the ruins of the district for the loss of their own, while the police and troops continued their unceasing hunt for hidden revolutionaries.

A batch of Dnepriests surrounded in a sugar factory in the suburbs during the night, surrounded this morning when they found that further resistance was useless. The only other warlike incident was a rear attack made by a body of Dnepriests upon a detachment of troops stationed at a bridge with instructions to cover the work of the firemen. The soldiers when attacked turned right about face and fired a volley killing several students and wounding several others.

This was the coldest day of the winter, the thermometer registering 12 degrees below zero. The morning frost which the pickets are warning themselves give a touch of picturesque to the streets.

Two most important captures were made today—Volkoff and Malinoff, the chief of the right-wing organization and members of the national revolutionary committee. The authorities are promising a reward of 100,000 rubles for the capture of the leaders and the hiding places of arms, but only a few are betraying their comrades for information. It is believed that the prisoners will be tried by court-martial and some of the papers say that the night report that in their hands will be given a short shrift.

The list of casualties and losses to property are being compiled at Governor Gen. Doubasoff's headquarters and are promised tomorrow. At the house today a prominent manufacturer estimated the damage done in the burned district at $3,000,000.

The American factories, of which the New York Air Brake company, the Bary Boller company and the Singer Manufacturing company are the principal have not suffered. The employees of the air brake company, whose work is situated at Leningrad, are attempting to seize the premises in order to get possession of the explosives but a squadron of dragons was dispatched to the scene by Governor General Doubasoff and the troops prevented the strikers carrying out their plan. Their leader, who was marching at the head of the men was shot down by the officer in command of the dragons which caused a panic and the strikers fled.

Although the strike is off some of the factories decided that it is useless to recommence work four days before Christmas and have dismissed their workmen until Jan. 21. Most of the other undamaged factories have resumed work. The railroads and telegraph lines are resuming business slowly. The directors of the Kazan line have dismissed every official or employee of the line and are engaging an entire new force, using as a nucleus a few trustworthy veterans. Other roads probably will follow their example.

SHUFFLING OF FEET

When Middy Is Forced to Stand On His Head Is Recognizable.

Witnesses Would Have Known If Hazing Was Going On.

Annapolis, Jan. 2.—Whether or not the sound of standing on one's head, as it is practiced at the naval academy can be recognized by a person in an adjoining room, proved to be the disputed point in the evidence which counsel for the defense submitted this morning in the court martial proceedings against Midshipman Stephen Decatur, Jr., charged with hazing. A number of midshipmen testified they were in Decatur's room the day that Midshipman McVary had said Decatur had hazed him and that they had seen no fourth-class men there.

Efforts were made on all the cross-examinations to show that the midshipmen were not there the whole time that Decatur was, and also that a victim might be doing his "stunts" in the closet and the witnesses not have seen it. All of the midshipmen were confident that they would have seen the incident had it taken place and also that the noise made by the shuffling of the feet of the underclassman when standing on his head would have been heard and recognized by them.

It was brought out successfully by the judge advocate, however, that Decatur had his picture taken in one group or another on two or three occasions. This was of much importance as the defense are attempting to disprove McVary's statement that he was hazed by Decatur after dinner on the day when the latter had his picture taken in a group of other midshipmen. The testimony for the defense promises to be of great length and Decatur's counsel affirm that they will show positively that the prosecuting witnesses were mistaken in saying that Decatur was the one who had hazed them.

There was a noticeable increase in the attendance at the trial today.

HILL PLACED ON TRIAL.
Philadelphia, Jan. 2.—John V. Hill, former chief of the filtration bureau, was placed on trial today before Judge Anderson in the criminal court charged with forgery and falsification of the records of the filtration bureau. Mr. Hill's arrest last June was one of the first and most sensational of the developments growing out of Mayor Weaver's break with the Republican organization and his crusade for good government.

LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON.
Mason, Jan. 2.—Senator-elect and Mrs. LaFollette left today for Washington, where Mr. LaFollette will be sworn in Tuesday.

Carlos F. Morales' secret departure from the capital after having arranged to join a revolutionary element, Monte Cristi district, precipitated grave political status. He is said to be still within twenty miles of the city of Santo Domingo without force. His capture is expected. Dominican congress convening now to impeach him. No general disturbance yet, but trouble is anticipated from Monte Cristi; may be averted.

Present naval policy and wise action Southernland prevented serious complications. No disposition apparent on the part of any faction to interfere with the customs service.

The officer referred to is Commander W. H. H. Southernland, commander of the cruiser Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The American institute of architects will hold its thirty-ninth annual convention in this city on Jan. 8, 9, 10 and 11. Many papers on various subjects will be read and discussed and among other subjects the development of modern architecture will be reported on. On July 24 a dinner will be given at the new Willard. The address of the president, William S. Evans, will be delivered Tuesday morning and the election of officers will take place the same day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A cablegram received by the secretary of war from Col. R. Colton, controller and general receiver for the Dominican customs, dated at San Domingo, Dec. 26, which made public at the war department today. Col. Colton gives the conditions up to that date and announces that there is no apparent disposition on the part of any faction to interfere with customs house service. His cablegram follows:

A STARTLING TRAGEDY OCCURS NEAR TOWN OF CALEDONIA, MINN.

THOUSANDS OF PRINTERS ALL OVER THE UNITED STATES STRIKE FOR 8-HOUR DAY

Quit All Shops Which Refuse to Grant Their Demands.

Their Action is Being Bitterly Fought by the Employers.

New York, Jan. 2.—One thousand printers went on strike here today in support of a demand for the eight-hour day, and thirty-two printing shops declared a lockout against their employees. The strikers immediately placed pickets in the vicinity of all shops where the lockout was declared, and three halls were secured by Typographical union, No. 6, to accommodate the men on strike who wish to make their headquarters in these places. The strike was begun without disorder.

In 100 printing shops the Typographical union gained a victory without a strike of any magnitude, most of the militant employers having anticipated the movement weeks ago by locking out their union men and continuing their shops with non-union men.

President Wright of Typographical union No. 16 said today he did not expect more than a handful of men would strike in this city, because of employers who were disposed to fight against the rule being already in arms against it, and from those who have not already started a fight nothing in the way of opposition is expected at this late day.

Cleveland, Jan. 2.—Two hundred and forty-five employees of printing houses joined the 175 members of the Typographical union already on strike here today. These members of the union printers having refused to sign the 8-hour agreement, the strike was declared. The Typographic is making efforts to obtain non-union men.

Des Moines, Jan. 2.—Twenty per cent of the printers of Iowa are on strike today in connection with the international eight-hour fight in the job printing offices of the United States.

RUSSIAN MISS CREATES SENSATION IN NEW YORK

Daughter of Former Prefect Attempts
Suicide After Varied Experiences.

New York, Jan. 2.—A daughter of a former prefect of police in Warsaw, Russian Poland, from which city she was banished by order of her father's successor for inciting revolution in the private school where she was being educated; a runaway from the school at Berlin, where she was sent by her mother, and finally a would-be suicide in New York, 17-year-old Cecilia Tantonla, yesterday, was sent to a home for wayward girls. The young woman told her story in police court, and at the same time exhibited a roll of bills, containing more than $400, the remainder of a remittance sent to her by her mother before she left Berlin, and a large quantity of jewelry, apparently of great value. She will probably be deported.

A STUDENT'S AWFUL DEED

Enters House of S. H.
Wheaton and Shoots
Whole Family.

Kills Sweetheart Instantly, and Fatally Wounds
Two Others.

Shoots Himself and Falls
Dying With Head on Girl's Breast.

Caledonia, Minn., Jan. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Infatuated with Pearl Wheaton, daughter of S. N. Wheaton, one of the richest farmers in Southern Minnesota, and rendered desperate by her refusal to marry him, Matt Syster, a dentistry student at the university of Minnesota, broke into the Wheaton home near here in the dead of night, declaring his purpose to kill the whole family, and shot Pearl, her sister, mother and himself.

Unable to secure entrance through the door, Syster broke through a window. When he entered he was met by Ruth Wheaton, who was armed with a revolver and attempting to protect the remainder of the family. Syster wrested the revolver from her and shot her twice. He then turned on Mrs. Wheaton, shooting her twice also, and bounded up the steps to the room of Pearl. Breaking in her door, he shot the girl through the heart and then shot himself.

When help arrived Syster was found with his head on the girl's breast, she died and he barely living. All of the injured are fatally wounded.

FATALITY HEATED: Matt Syster, aged 22, shot in lungs, near heart; Ruth Wheaton, aged 25, shot through breast and liver; Mrs. S. N. Wheaton, shot in throat and arm.

The only other inmate of the house, a child of 10 years, escaped by leaping through the window Syster had broken. Mr. Wheaton was away from home at the time.

HE MAY HAVE KILLED SHERIFF

Well Dressed Suspect Arrested Between Rochester and Hayfield.

Rochester, Minn., Jan. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Half frozen and nearly starved to death, a man, well dressed, was arrested yesterday at a farm house half way between this place and Hayfield, and is held as a suspect in the Sheriff Harvey murder, which occurred there last Saturday. The man now held in the jail here, claims his name to be Frank McVug, and says Omaha is his home. Further than that he absolutely refuses to make any statement in regard to himself or give any information as to why he is in this part of the country.

Ever since the murder several posess have been scouring the country east of Hayfield, and this arrest is the first step toward running down the supposed robbers.

CHANGE IN JUSTICES.
Washington, Jan. 2.—Associate Justice Stanton Peelle, of the United States court of claims today took the oath as chief justice of that court in place of C. C. Nott, retired, and Samuel S. Barney of Wisconsin was sworn in as associate justice in place of Justice Peelle.

At a conference of a number of trustees today, Alex E. Orr was requested to accept the presidency of the company. Mr. Orr said he would prefer that some one else be selected for the place permanently, but he offered to act as president until some one else is named. Others mentioned for the presidency are John Chaffin, Norman E. Ream and Hiram R. Steele.

One of the members of the New York Life's investigation committee said today that the reason why McCall could not pay over the $255,000 in one lump sum was because Mr. McCall is a poor man. It was said he would get out of office with practically nothing except his life insurance policy of $500,000, and that in order to pay his $150,000 note he may have to get assistance from his wife and some friends.

New York, Jan. 2.—John A. McCall, president of the New York Life Insurance company, has paid the company the $250,000 advanced to Andrew Hamilton and so far not accounted for by Mr. Hamilton. Thomas P. Fowler, chairman of the company's investigating committee, appointed by the board of trustees, received today a check from Mr. McCall for $85,000 and a note for $150,000. Mr. McCall, some time ago, promised to make good this sum unless Hamilton, who was legislative agent for the big insurance company, rendered an accounting. On receipt of Mr. McCall's letter accompanying the check and note, a meeting of the board of trustees was called for tomorrow. While no official statement on the subject was obtainable, it was accepted as fact that Mr. McCall's resignation as president will be presented to the trustees tomorrow.

THE MOST ORDERLY CITY IN THE UNITED STATES

Duluth Can Lay Claim to the Right to This Title.

The Yearly Police Report Shows Absence of Serious Crimes.

In addition to the title of being "The Healthiest City in the United States," Duluth can lay claim to being "The Most Orderly City in the United States," and can back it up with good statistics to prove its claim.

Out of a total of 2,000 arrests made by the Duluth police department during the year 1905, there were not more than fifty for any more serious charge than a misdemeanor. No such serious crimes as murder appear on the records of the year, and there were but two cases of assault in the first degree. Ten cases of forgery, money obtained by false checks, were brought into court by the department, and there were thirty-seven cases of grand larceny most of which were also robberies of woodmen. Aside from these and one case of rape, the city was practically free from all serious crimes during the entire year, and the other arrests were for such minor offenses as drunkenness, and disorderly conduct.

During the entire twelve months there were only fifty-four burglaries reported to the department. Many of these proved to be false alarms and the goods thought to be stolen were afterwards found. Drunkenness and the offenses resulting directly from drinking were also reported to the department. Out of the 2,000 arrests made during the year, out of the 2,000 arrests no less than 1,700 persons were brought in to answer to the straight charge of being intoxicated as boys and these cases were "repeaters," so that this does not represent the number of persons in the city arrested for drunkenness, but the total arrests for that charge. In these cases it is the custom of the court to give a suspended sentence unless the police present an unfavorable report of the case, or unless the prisoner is in for the second or third time.

In addition to the number, must be taken the 27 arrests for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, making a total of 1,697. Vagrants to the number of 32 may also be added to the list of arrests resulting from drink, making a grand total of 1,729 arrests which may be directly traced to over indulgence in intoxicants. Temperance advocates may also be able to trace a large majority of the remaining arrests to the same cause. The item of 405-three beggars, for instance, might be added to the list.

Petty thieves to the number of ninety-one were arrested by the police during the year, and there were thirty-seven thieves whose offense was serious enough to warrant a charge of grand larceny. Gamblers suffered from raids by the police during the year, and no less than eighty-eight arrests were made among the followers of the Goddess of Chance. Minor assault cases, counted as boys, and third degree assaults, were responsible for ninety-one arrests.

No less than sixty-four fugitives from justice were caught by the Duluth police and turned over to officers from other cities who came after them. Nine arrests were made for receiving stolen goods, and the remainder of the arrests accounted for in the above list, were caused by such minor offenses as fighting on the street, keeping unlicensed dogs, carrying concealed weapons, and breaking the different city ordinances, such as the hitching ordinance, the milk ordinance, the saloon ordinance, and the park ordinance.

The department made an excellent record in the recovery of property re-

MARTHA W. SMITH PASSES AWAY

Duluth Woman Dies After Long Illness—Body to Go East.

Mrs. Martha W. Smith of 2 Chester terrace, died last evening at 10 o'clock, after an illness of several weeks. She had been in failing health for some time previous to her death, which was caused by a complication of diseases. Seven children survive her. They are Mrs. A. C. Barth, Mrs. E. D. Edson and Mrs. D. H. Costello of Duluth; Clayton C. Smith of Duluth; Lee L. Smith of Corey, Pa.; Frank Smith of New York, and C. H. Smith of Detroit. Mr. Smith, the husband, died in 1900.

The body will be taken to her old home in Wolcott, N. Y., for burial beside the body of her husband. Mrs. Smith has a great many friends in the city, who were attracted to her by her charitable nature and the sweetness of her character, and among them her death will be the cause of deep regret.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

DECIDES TO SURRENDER

George E. Bellock Will Return to Duluth For His Trial.

Gives Himself Up After Forfeiting His Bail In Chicago.

George Bellock, wanted by the Duluth police for alleged complicity in the vicious assault and robbery of Joseph Altman, a West Superior street merchant, will yet be brought back to Duluth to face his trial.

Bellock left Duluth shortly after he is claimed to have committed the crime and fled to Chicago. The police traced him there, and the Chicago police arrested him at the request of the local authorities. Retention papers were secured from Governor Johnson, and Deputy Sheriff Magie was sent after him.

Bellock, who came of a good family in Chicago, secured an attorney, furnished bail and prepared to fight the extradition to the reach of the law. But the authorities were insistent that the search should be continued, and when the friends of Bellock found that the matter could not be hushed up and allowed to drop, the prisoner was produced and the case was persuaded to rest—the bail money.

Bellock, who now resides in the Duluth hotel, has been written by the Duluth authorities: "I am that he is prepared to come back and face his trial here, and he is expected to arrive in the city tomorrow morning."

His alleged accomplice in the crime, James Kennedy, is now under arrest here, and has been identified by the victim of the robbery. Both young men will probably be taken before the grand jury on Jan. 4. Kennedy had already been bound over to that body, after a preliminary hearing in the municipal court, and Bellock's case will likely be considered by the grand jury without any preliminary hearing in the municipal court.

The Big Duluth Takes a Tremendous Loss on Overcoats—Their Fixed Policy to Dispose of All Goods During the Season For Which They Were Purchased Must Be Complied With.

To accomplish this end the Big Duluth commences at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning the overcoat sensation of the winter, giving you, your free and unrestricted choice of any overcoat in the store for $5. They now willingly take this big loss, that one of their most important policies be lived up to—that is, everything bought for this season must be sold this season, and not carried over to mar their showing of next season. To accomplish this end the store for $5—including the entire lines of L. Adler Bros. & Co., and B. Kuppenheimer & Co., finest hand tailored silk lined overcoats that have been selling at and are actually worth today $35, $32, $30, $28, $25, $22.50 and $20.

BILL WAS TORN IN TWO PIECES

And Police Traced Alleged Thief By Means of It.

Because a $5 bill was torn in two pieces by the thief who attempted to abstract it from the pocket of John Leach, the police succeeded in locating the man whom they believe was guilty of the theft.

Patrick Holmes was placed under arrest by Sergeant Whitlock this morning, charged with the crime, which constitutes grand larceny in the second degree.

The act is claimed to have been committed in the lodging house in the rear of the Windsor hotel. Leach was sleeping at the time, and a stranger attempted to pick his pockets as he slept. Leach was awakened and grasped the man's hand, which held a $5 bill. The thief struggled free and tore the bill in two pieces, taking one piece and leaving the other.

Yesterday the police learned that a man was attempting to pass a torn $5 bill in several Bowery saloonkeepers. The police secured a description of the man and made a search for him. Sergeant Whitlock finally succeeded in locating him this morning and placed him under arrest.

The piece of the bill was still in his possession and it is claimed to have matched the piece retained by Leach. Holmes will be arraigned in court this afternoon.

CHEST CRUSHED BY FALLING TREE

A Woodsman Is Killed While Working Near Albion Station.

While his chest crushed by a falling tree, causing death, the body of Engle Kroug was brought to Duluth this morning from Albion station on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad.

Kroug was a woodsman employed at Albion and yesterday, while cutting down a tree, he got in the way of the falling trunk and was crushed to death.

The body was taken to Durkan & Crawford's morgue, where Coroner McCue viewed it. It will be shipped to Rosney, Minn., for burial.

WANTED IN WISCONSIN For Selling Liquor to Indian, Man Is Arrested Here.

Xavier Bodin, a Frenchman, is in the county jail charged with selling liquor to Indians at Bayfield, Wis., on July 3, 1905. He was arrested in Duluth today by Deputy United States Marshal Statutory and was arraigned before United States Court Commissioner Pressnell, who held him for a hearing. Bodin could not furnish the necessary $250 for bail and was therefore put in charge of the sheriff. Bodin will be arraigned for hearing tomorrow morning, but the hearing will be put over until Saturday at which time he will have his hearing before Judge Morris.

Bodin cannot be tried here, but will be sent back to the Wisconsin district for trial. He is charged with selling liquor to one John Gordon, an Indian at Bayfield. Bodin claims that Gordon is an allotment Indian. If this is true Bodin cannot be prosecuted for selling liquor to Indians. Bodin was a bartender in Bayfield at the time of the alleged offense.

SHARTEL MAY RUN

Trades Assembly President May Oppose Haven in Seventh Ward.

An effort is being made to get Joseph Sharitel, president of the Federated Trades assembly to run for the office of alderman of the Seventh ward against R. D. Haven the present incumbent. It was stated positively this morning that Mr. Sharitel would run, but this afternoon he denied that he had made any decision in the matter. He said that he will make up his mind this week as to whether or not he will contest Mr. Haven's return to the council. He says that with him it is wholly a question of whether the office is worth trying for in view of the seeming fact that Mr. Haven will not be an easy candidate to beat.

CHIEF BLACK BEING SUED

Former Fireman Would Collect Three Years' Back Wages.

Claims He Was Forced to Care For the Chief's Horse.

"Herman Wendlandt against John T. Black" is the title of a case which was filed in the municipal court yesterday afternoon by Porter J. Neff, attorney for the plaintiff, and the case was set on the municipal court jury calendar for tomorrow morning.

No papers aside from the note of issue have been filed in the court records, so that nothing definite concerning the nature of the action is known. Wendlandt, the plaintiff, however, is a former member of the fire department, and was for many years employed under Chief Black. He recently resigned and is now employed as night watchman at the high school.

It is reported that he alleges a claim against Chief Black for several years' back wages for extra work done in tending the chief's horse. The total amount of the claim is $180. Wendlandt valued his services at $6 a month, so that his claim covers a period of thirty-six months, or three years.

Wendlandt claims that he was compelled by the chief to care for the latter's private horse, which was not a part of his duty as fireman, and that he has never received any remuneration for his services. He alleges that his work consisted in feeding and rubbing the horse down, and that he frequently had to take the horse around to the chief's residence and at times sat up most his usual bedtime waiting for the horse to be returned.

The papers in the case, including the bill of complaint and the answer, will probably be filed in the municipal court this afternoon.

Porter J. Neff is acting for Wendlandt and John Jensvold, Jr., is Chief Black's attorney.

Wendlandt is a friend of Dan Cameron, the fireman who was recently discharged and who is about to bring charges against the chief before the board, and it is understood that he has been assisting Cameron in gathering information against the head of the department.

Auditor Gets Seven Pelt.

County Auditor Halden paid out the state and county bounty of $15 each, this morning, on seven wolf pelts presented at his office. Four of the animals were killed by Erikki Takala, a farmer of Embarras, two were killed by Joseph Palma and one by James Storkey of Breitung. Emil Olson, who brought the pelts in for Takala claims that the wolves are quite numerous in the town of Embarras. He says that a farm hand was treed by six wolves one night about three weeks ago and kept there for about three hours, when the approach of other persons frightened the animals away.

COURT HEARS CHISHOLM CASE

Taxpayer Would Enjoin Payment of Sidewalk Contract.

The petition of R. J. Mitchell of Chisholm for restraining the village officials of Chisholm from paying the claim of Frank Bask on a sidewalk contract this morning.

The suit is one of three that are now coming on for a hearing, the petitioners all being taxpayers at Chisholm.

In the Bask injunction case the testimony given by W. A. Masters, village recorder at Chisholm, indicated that the council entered into contract with Frank Bask in August last to build a sidewalk out to the Pillsbury mine, a distance of over one mile. Bask executed a bond, with two signers, which was filed with the recorder, there being no treasurer for the village at that time. The bond was never approved by any village treasurer.

Following the contract and the building of the walk Bask's estimate of $450 was allowed and an order was drawn on the village treasurer. The taxpayers seek to enjoin the payment of the order. Two other claims for material furnished by lumber companies were allowed, but the orders have been withheld.

C. O. Baldwin is representing Mr. Bask and H. B. Fryberger and John Williams are representing the defendants.

gible for the 90-foot class, has been placed with the Herreshoffs, and the preliminary work of laying down the boat on the scowling board has been begun at the shipyards here. The yacht, it is understood, will be at 87-foot waterline, about 125-foot over all, and is to be constructed of steel. The material for her construction is not yet all on hand, but it is expected the keel will be laid within two weeks. The name of the man for whom the yacht is to be built is not disclosed here, but it is understood that he is a foreigner, and that the schooner will race across the Atlantic.

HOWARD MUST SERVE SENTENCE

Supreme Court Affirms Decision Denying a New Trial.

Washington, Jan. 2.—The supreme court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the Kentucky court of appeals in the case of James B. Howard vs. the States of Kentucky.

Howard was tried three times in the circuit court of Franklin county, Ky., on the charge of murdering Governor William Goebel of Kentucky, on Jan. 30, 1900, and convicted each time. He is now under sentence of life imprisonment, and he brought the case to this court to secure a review of the ruling of the Kentucky court of appeals, affirming a decision of the circuit court against allowing him another trial. His principal allegation was that the proceedings of the trial court in the matter of selecting and discharging jury-men was irregular.

ASTHMA CURE FREE!

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in All Cases.

SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE ON RECEIPT OF POSTAL. WRITE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS PLAINLY.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had over-spoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, after using one bottle of Asthmalene, I was free from the disease. Send me a full-size bottle."

DR. TAFT.

Dear Sir: I have used almost a large bottle of your Asthmalene and it has improved my health a great deal. Weeks at a time during the past year I could not lay in my bed at all, for as soon as I did I would choke nearly to death with Asthma. But now I can sleep as well as I ever did before in my life. I will send for another bottle of Asthmalene, because I know it will cure me.

ALEXANDER WOLFE,
Wyandotte, Minn.

Avon Springs, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT.

Dear Sir: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I came to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease. Yours respectfully,

O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT.

Dear Sir: Please send sample bottle of Asthmalene to Miss Hattie Nichols, she is a great sufferer with Asthma. I saw her parents a few days ago and they told me that she had been unable to lie down for a long time. Asthmalene has done so much for my wife that I feel that I ought to let every sufferer from that terrible disease (Asthma) know of its virtues.

WOULD KILL CZAR WITH SILVER BOMB

One of Russian Rebels Shows Costly Missile He Made.

London, Jan. 2.—Russian revolutionaries are working in London for the overthrow of czarism, which they hold responsible for all the massacres of the past twelve months.

Whitechapel is the headquarters of a group of five leading Jewish members of the Russian revolutionary organization, who are acting as directors of a band of secret agents, who accept without question the orders transmitted to them from St. Petersburg, Moscow and Odessa.

Not only are tons of revolutionary proclamations printed in the East end, and thence smuggled to the continent, but many thousands of rifles and revolvers have been shipped from the Thames to the Baltic and the Black sea.

A more startling side of the work is the preparation of bombs, which is being carried on in the East end. Hundreds of bombs have in the past six months been sent from the Thames. Their history is curious.

Most of them arrive in London unloaded, from New York and Chicago, where they are made, and the preparation of the chemical contents is done here by revolutionaries who have studied chemistry in Russia.

There is at least one maker of bombs themselves in the East end—a young silversmith, who for more than a year has been manufacturing those weapons of the revolution.

Not long ago, it is stated, he showed some friends a bombshell, the size of a man's fist, made entirely of silver. He said: "Why silver?" he was asked. He answered: "We must have silver for the czar."

Stories of the revolution are told every day by newcomers in the East end.

"I am a locksmith," said a swarthy Jew who landed four days ago from Riga, "and was a delegate of the revolutionary party detailed to spread the revolution among the factory workers. For three months I worked in one factory; then I went to another, leaving behind me hundreds of converts."

"Twelve months ago in Riga a police spy denounced me, and I was taken to prison without trial. Until ten days ago I was in prison, and was never tried."

"Sixty-seven politicians were in the prison. Twenty-eight of us were in one underground room. Our only food was cold baked bread and cabbage. Some of us fell ill, and two died."

"Ten days ago we tried again to escape. We knocked the guard down and jumped from a window. I got to the house of a revolutionist, who hid me for a couple of days. Money was collected for my passage, and I got away by sea."

THE FASHION IN DUELLING GLOVES.

Paris, Jan. 2.—The latest edict of fashion concerns duelling gloves, with which every decent member of society keeps his left hand covered, while with his right he insinuates his rapier in the ribs of his adversary. The glove used to be white and normal in length; it is now decreed that it must harmonize with the color of the coat, have only two buttons and be distinctly longer than normal, so that when the left hand is raised in guard no unseemly skin may be shown. At the same time a ban is proclaimed against the habit, borrowed from flashy Italian duellists of wearing on the left wrist a jeweled bracelet, which is defiantly flicked down over the glove at the exact moment when the steel enters the opponent's anatomy.

SITUATION IS ODD ONE

Many Voters Planning to Support Both Windom and Cullum.

But Two Factions Fear to Help Each Other Out.

It is a rather strange position in which many members of the Republican and Democratic parties find themselves at the present time.

A large majority of those who are supporting Mayor Cullum for re-election are also in favor of Judge Windom's candidacy on the Republican ticket for the municipal judgeship, and on the other hand many of those who are supporting Judge Windom are also in favor of Mayor Cullum.

But neither one of these factions is able to help the other in the fight. The friends of Judge Windom fear to turn in and help get out a Democratic registration to help Mayor Cullum, because they fear it may react on themselves and result in J. H. Bingham getting a large number of stray votes that would vote a straight ticket.

On the other hand, friends of Mayor Cullum, who are also in favor of Judge Windom, fear to back the Republican voters to help out Judge Windom for fear that a number of straight party votes would go to Trevelyan.

Therefore, while there are a large number of voters in the city who are ready and willing to vote the Cullum-Windom combination at the coming municipal election, they fear to back out a big registration, and thus help the friends of the voters in the city.

Two registration days yet remain before the election, and owing to the very small registration at the primary there will be a large field for the friends of the candidates to work in on those two days. Only about one quarter of the voters of the city are registered for the election, and if another fourth of them register in the remaining two days, it will be about what is expected.

Very little is heard concerning the elections at the present time, but now that the holiday season is over, and the battle is only a month more than a month off, the situation will begin to develop a little warmth.

STATE POULTRY FAIR.

Twentieth Annual Exhibition Is To Be Held At Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Jan. 2.—The twentieth annual exhibition of the Minnesota State Poultry association will be held here from Jan. 23 to Jan. 30. G. A. Loth, the secretary, says:

"Matters have now developed so that we can say that this show will be finer and better even than it has been for the past three years, during which time it has grown more rapidly than any other show in America, and with the same percentage of increase. This season, we will stand in a class by ourselves."

"It is quite apparent to me that this year's show will be the finest yet held in Minneapolis. The magnitude of the Minnesota State Poultry association's shows as a whole, and the industry in America, and that it stands next to the State fair in point of money expenditure for premiums, and that through the generosity of the business men we have had the largest show in the history of the fair."

"Our entry fee is 15 cents per bird, on which we have increased the premium for this year so you will get a first premium $3.00 and second premium of $2.00, while our set of ribbons from first to fifth have always been the finest issued."

"For show-room attractions we expect to have the finest show in the world, which has been greatly added to by the addition of the latter part of the year, and that we can assure single cooping to every specimen entered."

"The sportsman's exhibit of Wallace G. Egan's world famous collection of Oriental birds and pheasants, shown only by us, will be a much larger scale than before, being increased by their large collections of snipe, partridge, quail, cranes, wild geese and ducks of all varieties, and if room permits another great and exclusive feature will be added. These latter attractions are attempted by no other show in America and are worth double the price of admission charged for our show."

"Our judges this year will be Sharp Butterfield, Theodore Helms, George D. Holden and Ted Hen in the poultry department, and Fred May on pigeons, while Mrs. Frank Rolfe Woodruff will superintend and see to the placing of the awards in the lap and toy dog department."

"These facts should bring the breeders and fanciers of the Northwest to a realization of the importance of showing with us on the dates mentioned and with us at Minneapolis only. Genial Ralph Whitney will superintend the receipt, care of the birds while in the show, and the return of same, which is a guarantee that everything along that line will be first class. Entries positively close Jan. 15 in every department."

UNION LABORITES

Spend $5,939 During Their Successful City Campaign in Frisco.

San Francisco, Jan. 2.—The union labor auditing committee has filed a statement setting forth the receipts and expenditures of the central governing body of the party during their successful municipal campaign.

The aggregate amount of the expenditures was $5,939.70, and as the total of the receipts figured up $5,945, a balance of $5.30 was left on hand.

The Socialist party committee also filed a statement, the receipts being stated as $572.10, and the expenditures as $573.

GET OFF THE WAGON SUES

Bartenders Declare New Year's Resolutions Are Soon Broken.

Saloon Business Does Not Fall Off Very Noticeably.

"Well, has business fallen off since the first day of the year?" asked the bartender who had just fallen off the wagon, as he climbed the ice in his high ball.

"Some," assented the bartender, as he drew a small beer and sipped it meditatively. "Business always falls off a little until ten days after January 1, and then it picks up again to beat the band."

"Although it was the first day of 1906, this place wasn't very much deserted yesterday. Lots of fellows were in here in the morning, drinking their favorites and they did not even mention swearing off, good resolutions, or anything like that. In the afternoon, things were not so lively but that was because people were too busy enjoying their holiday, to drink."

"After people got back from the matinee, the skating rinks and from the homes of the friends who had invited them to dinner, things began to liven up again."

"Most of the fellows who came in yesterday and today were fellows who, years ago, gave up this good resolution-swearing-off-on-the-first-of-the-year thing years ago and fellows who swore off right Sunday night, but who fell off the wagon again the next morning."

"Most of those who have come in for their little drink just the same since the new year began, have been men who take their little drink and then duck. The fellows who swear off and who perhaps may not be in again for a week or ten days are the lusers and the fellows who hit it up about once every three months, when their wives go down to Cloquet or up to Two Harbors to visit their mothers or when they have a party with the meat for the Sunday dinner under their arm and they meet some fellow they have not seen since they use to go to the Rahm-Tiger-Size-Bottom-Ah thing all over some little defenseless college town."

"The resolutions seldom last more than a few days. In rare cases they last as long as a month but this is very unusual."

Other local bartenders say the same thing.

PRISONER RIDES BEHIND OFFICER

To Jail on Horse After Killing Over A Dog Fight.

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 2.—After a shooting in which Edward Owens, a big, burly fellow, was killed, Policeman Kelley, in passing the scene, arrested Barney Lanza, a saloonkeeper, and took him to jail on his horse behind him.

The killing grew out of a dog fight. Lanza had an altercation with John Ray in front of 229 Elm street, after a fight between two of his dogs, which he claims Ray precipitated. Owens was a short distance away, and the bullet struck him in the head, killing him instantly. Policeman Kelley stopped the fight.

PHOTOGRAPHIC LIBEL ON MARIE CORELLI.

London, Jan. 2.—Marie Corelli, until last week, had successfully evaded snip-shooters, having the keenest objection to being taken at pictorial disadvantage. Nemesis, however, came at last in the form of a snapshot, nothing short of a painful travesty of her appearance, but it was published prominently in several papers. Each editor receives a letter from the irate novelist's lawyers threatening suit for libelous publication. It is held that this misrepresentation of the appearance of the author is a libel, and that the sale of her books among a large class, who believe her to be a model of fairy-like beauty.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

There is no other medicine manufactured that has received so much praise as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is effective in all cases of cough, whether it be a cold, a croup, or a whooping cough. It is a certain cure for croup and will prevent the attack all night at the first application. It is especially adapted to children as it is pleasant to take and contains no harmful ingredients. Mr. E. A. Humphreys, a well-known resident and clerk in the office of Mr. E. A. Humphreys, Cape Colony, South Africa, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a long time and find it to be very satisfactory and it gives me pleasure to recommend it." DETERMINED WOMAN SUES

Her Mother-in-Law For Third Time For Heavy Damages.

Two Previous Verdicts Were Set Aside By the Courts.

Carmel, Ill., Jan. 2.—Mrs. Minnie Huffaker, as a sequel to those sensational damage suit Leroy M. Wade of Mount Vernon, Ind., was disbarred from practice in the courts here by Judge James R. Creighton following the reading of affidavits alleging Wade had bribed witnesses to flee the state, has for the third time, she emphatically declares, the last time, instituted a $10,000 damage suit against Mrs. Taylor Huffaker, against whom she has previously won two verdicts.

The present suit is similar to the two former, the allegations being that Mrs. Taylor Huffaker, mother of Thomas Huffaker, her former husband, was responsible for their separation, and that, as a consequence of such separation, she has been injured to the extent of the $10,000.

The first trial was held October, 1904, and Judge Creighton, after a brief but a few minutes, returned a verdict for $5,500. On the grounds that the amount was excessive, Judge P. A. Pearson set aside the verdict and a second trial was held at the October term of court last fall.

Mrs. Taylor Huffaker's attorney set up his defense that a mother had the right to advise her son to leave his wife when her conduct was questionable, and to prove such to be the case she had nearly 100 witnesses summoned. Mrs. Lauranna Sloan, said to be the star witness for the defense, did not appear, and strangely enough her affidavit that she was deterred by illness reached the court through Attorney Wade, representing Mrs. Huffaker. Isaac Frank, another witness for the defense, was missing and no information as to his whereabouts was forthcoming.

The verdict reached at this trial was $4,600. Before the time elapsed for the motions for a new trial, Mrs. Taylor Huffaker's attorneys read in court affidavits charging Attorney Wade had bribed Frank to leave the state and that he had bribed a physician to give Mrs. Sloan such medicine that would keep her ill until after the trial.

Wade denied the accusations when read in court, but his attorneys and his attorneys and was disbarred. The verdict was set aside and the case was dismissed.

Mrs. Minnie Huffaker justifies her action in filing the suit for a third trial by saying that her husband, who left her at his mother's advice, still loves her and if she can prove the reports that reached him were ungrounded they will be nullified. She also believes her cause for damages to be a good one and denies previous knowledge of the scandal at the last trial.

GOVERNOR ODELL'S SQUEAL.

Why Has He Waited Until Now to Expose Crookedness?

There is a representative of the mongrel school of politics in the state of New York, by the name of O'Dell, (I spell it the good old way, but think the best way to spell it would be to spell it with an O and H). This man, because things are not working to his liking, threatens to "squel" about certain crooked ways his companions have pursued in the past. Would it be possible to conceive of a more trite fulfillment of the saying, "He who catches a thief, catches the gentlemen's threats?" If he knew of their crookedness at the time it happened, why did he not "squel" them? Why has the gentleman waited until the present moment? He is trying to "squel" a man who does not despise a man with the reputation that Mr. O'Dell has had heretofore, would be ashamed of any school-boy tactics. If you don't quit, I'll tell teacher on you. When any politician threatens to "squel" a man, he is to use fast "mud" and "hog wash" as weapons of offense and defense, when he forgets even a common thief's honor, it is time to cut him out. What we want to know is, why does he wait until now to "squel" a man who does not despise a man with the reputation that Mr. O'Dell has had heretofore, would be ashamed of any school-boy tactics. If you don't quit, I'll tell teacher on you. MORCOM IS HEAD AGAIN

Re-elected Chairman of County Board At Annual Meeting.

Bids for New Additions, Bridges, Etc., Being Opened.

The board of county commissioners met in annual session at 2 o'clock this afternoon with Neil Melius calling the meeting to order. Reorganization was effected by Capt. E. Morcom being re-elected as chairman. E. M. Patterson was elected vice chairman. Chairman Morcom announced that the standing committees would be the same as they were last year so that in all respects the organization of the board is the same as that of the past year.

After the reorganization the opening of bids for enlargement of the court-

PECULIAR PETITION

Still unsatisfied with the action of the city in regard to the sewer on East sixth street, property owners affected by the improvement in question have filed a singular petition with the board of public works.

The case has been before the board of public works and the council in some form or another for several months, and several times the city authorities thought that it had been finally disposed of.

The property owners claimed that they had been assessed an excessive sum for the work through a mistake of the engineering department in measuring the amount of rock excavation. The engineering department maintained that 106 cubic yards of rock had been excavated, and the property owners were assessed for that amount of work. They claimed that the contractor had excavated only seventy-six yards of rock, and they petitioned the board to excavate the sewer once more and measure the rock over again.

This request was turned down, and the action was confirmed by the council, which last Monday night, by a resolution, expressed its opinion that there was now no further objection to continuing the final assessment for the work.

But the property owners had one more thing to say. This morning they presented another petition to the board, in which they offered to bear the expense of excavating the sewer again, and of measuring up the amount of rock excavation, on condition that the board would reimburse them and return the extra assessment if their claim is substantiated. They say that if the excavation is as the engineering department claims, they will bear the expense of the second excavation, and will pay the assessment levied by the board without further protest, but on the other hand, if the amount of rock is what they claimed, they want the city to bear the cost of the excavation and assess them for the rightful amount on the first excavation.

The petition was presented to the board this morning, and it will probably be forwarded to the council for action this evening.

LAST DAY OF CHICK SHOW

Tenth Exhibition Given By Duluth Association Closes Tonight.

Tonight at 10 o'clock the tenth annual poultry show given by the Duluth Poultry association at 112 West First street will come to a close. The members of the association declare that in the number and quality of the exhibits, this show surpasses any that the organization has ever held, but that it has not been as successful as some others from a financial point of view.

"In many ways this is the most successful show that the Duluth association has ever held," said G. Hood Thompson today. Mr. Thompson is one of the prominent exhibitors and is superintendent of the show.

It is unfortunate that we were unable to secure quarters for the show some place on Superior street. This place is somewhat out of the way, and I think that the attendance would have been a great deal larger if we had secured a better location. But the attendance has been very good, considering, and I do not think that the association will lose any money on the exhibition.

Every bird and every exhibit will be left intact until after the show closes this evening. It is expected that the attendance will be good tonight, now that the holidays are over.

The cat and dog show given at the poultry exhibition yesterday proved most successful, there being more entries than were expected. The prizes in the shape of ribbons were awarded by G. Hood Thompson as follows: Betty Black, first; Lady Jane, second; Queen Bess, third.

Angora king: Buster Brown, first, sole entry.

White Persian queen: Minnie Seta, first, sole entry—all Angoras owned by Mrs. G. Hood Thompson.

Short-haired orange kings: Ben and Hur, with double front paws, first and second, owned by H. N. Cullen, Leaser Park. Short-haired tortoise shell: Charlotte, Lemingham. Gray tabby: Rough on Rags, second.

Does—White French spitz dogs: Toddlers, E. M. Kelly, first.

English bull pups: Miss Duluth, first; Miss Brindle, second, owned by J. A. Stanton, Park Point.

tert, inner guard; James Carlsner, outer guard.

The cat and dog show given at the poultry exhibition yesterday proved most successful, there being more entries than were expected. The prizes in the shape of ribbons were awarded by G. Hood Thompson as follows: Betty Black, first; Lady Jane, second; Queen Bess, third.

Angora king: Buster Brown, first, sole entry.

White Persian queen: Minnie Seta, first, sole entry—all Angoras owned by Mrs. G. Hood Thompson.

Short-haired orange kings: Ben and Hur, with double front paws, first and second, owned by H. N. Cullen, Leaser Park. Short-haired tortoise shell: Charlotte, Lemingham. Gray tabby: Rough on Rags, second.

Does—White French spitz dogs: Toddlers, E. M. Kelly, first.

English bull pups: Miss Duluth, first; Miss Brindle, second, owned by J. A. Stanton, Park Point.

The first of a series of revival meetings was held this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The meetings will be continued every evening except Saturday evening for three weeks, and the pastor, Rev. M. S. Rice, will speak at each meeting.

North Star lodge, No. 55, Knights of Pythias, will install its new officers this evening in Elks hall. The ceremonies will begin at 7:30 and will be conducted under the direction of Joseph H. Davis, district deputy chancellor.

Those who are to be installed are: James A. Wharton, chancellor commander; W. H. Lamson, vice chancellor; John H. Norton, prelate; Walter E. Wicks, master of work; Thomas L. Ross, keeper of records and seal; Jas. L. Cronwell, master of finance; Sidney Brown, master of exchequer; Robert Freeman, master of arms; George Detert, inner guard; James Carlsner, outer guard.

BISBEE STOCKS ARE STRONGER

The copper stock market was quite active today, although devoid of any sensational features. Copper Range was very strong at the opening, which was at $35.50, going to $36, but weakening toward close, which was at $33.75 bid and $34 asked. North Butte was active and steady. It opened at $33, and dropped to $35, but rallied immediately and was steadier during the rest of the day. It went to $35, then to $30 again, and dropped to $27. The closing price was $26.50 bid and $27 asked.

Anaconda opened at $112.25, but dropped as low as $108.25 during the day. Anaconda started at $225, but dropped to $237.50. Parrot opened at $15.50, went to $48, and then dropped to $45.25.

The Bisbee stocks were steady, and some of them active. Calumet & Arizona sold at $124 and closed at $123 bid and $124 asked; Calumet & Pittsburg sold at $37 during the early part of the morning, went to $35 bid and $37 asked,

RECEPTION ENDS HOLIDAY WEEK

Yesterday the program of the boys' department for the Y. M. C. A. for the holiday week terminated in the annual New Year's reception, given by the members for their parents and friends. The building was open from 2:30 till 6 o'clock and was visited by a large number. The main reception room was beautifully decorated and presented a very handsome appearance. The committee in charge of the decorating was Edward Borgen and Harlow Tislar.

John Swelger had charge of the fortune telling, and was kept busy all afternoon revealing the future of the boys. If his predictions come true there are great futures ahead of some of the members of the boys' department. The program consisted of a pianola recital, phonograph concert in charge of Victor Anderson, violin solos by Clarence Evans and Erling Mostue, and a song by W. Walker.

Refreshments were served during the afternoon by Harwood Sturtevant, chairman of the house committee. The calendar exhibit was held in the dining

LAST EDITION.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1906. (ON TRAINS, FIVE CENTS.) TWO CENTS.

DUSKY WARRIORS OF SANTO DOMINGO HAVE AN OLD FASHIONED HAND TO HAND BATTLE AT THE CITY OF PUERTO PLATA

Troops of Fugitive President Morales Attack the Town.

Fierce Conflict Ensues Which Lasted Till Late In the Day.

Bayonets and Swords Principal Weapons and Many Are Killed.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, Jan. 3.—Advices here today from Puerto Plata, on the northern coast of Santo Domingo, say that the troops of the fugitive president, Morales, under the command of Gen. Demetrio Rodriguez, attacked Puerto Plata at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The fighting, which was severe, lasted until 5 o'clock in the evening, when the besieging force retired. A number of men were killed on both sides in the engagement, during which bayonets and swords were principally used.

The forces of Gen. Rodriguez, which are massed outside Puerto Plata, were ordered to attack the town, preparing for another attack on the place. A portion of the population of Puerto Plata has fled to the mountains, and the troops of Gen. Caceres, the temporary president of Santo Domingo, are having difficulty in defending themselves, as they were unable to locate the persons firing on them.

A messenger who arrived here from Monte Cristi today brought the news that Gen. Demetrio Rodriguez has announced that, if his attack on Puerto Plata is successful, he will proclaim himself a candidate for the presidency of Santo Domingo.

DINNER JOY ENDED

By Tarantula Crawling From Bananas at Holiday Table.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—"Happy New Year," remarked the tarantula, ambulating gracefully from a cluster of bananas on the table at a holiday dinner Monday at the home of Mrs. A. E. McDonald, 1208 Michigan avenue. The insect tripped toward Mrs. McDonald, finally holding out one of its eight pairs of legs.

"Wow," was the chorused greeting of the women, and the tarantula, which "don't let it by or you'll shriek out," and the party tried to get through the doorway all at once. Then suddenly remembered that a tarantula can't fly.

Chloroform was used to begin the work of drawing up plans at once so that the work can be begun during the summer. If the architects did not begin work upon the plans until Aug. 1, very little, if anything, could be done on the building this year, but if the work is begun earlier, most of the buildings can be completed, at least the exterior, before the cold winter sets in. The government and attorney general told them to go ahead at once to engage the architects and begin the preliminary work.

The coming year will be one of unusual activity in building operations at the institutions under the board of control. The general appropriation bill of the last legislature, which authorized the construction of the state buildings at nearly all the state institutions from funds available during the year beginning Aug. 1st, the state university gets the largest appropriation, $150,000, in addition to $200,000 available for the construction of the main building.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN

Asserts That She Paid $125,000 In Bribes to Police.

St. Louis, Jan. 3.—In her notebook, which she has called "Who's Who in the Police Department," Ollie Roberts, a notorious woman now serving a ten-year term for murder, has set down what purports to be a real list of $125,000 in bribes given to the police of St. Louis in return for permission to run, without restriction, her gambling establishment, and operate the "panel game," an old device by which a roulette wheel is placed where robbers of their money and jewelry.

Insisting that the police turned upon her after having accepted her bribes, the Roberts woman has today let her alleged connection with one or two sergeants, ten patrolmen and about a dozen detectives and special policemen, of whom, she says, were paid out of the proceeds of "panel game" in her city.

The Roberts woman has promised to show her "Who's who" to the police board, and already an investigation is under way.

DISSECTION OF AFFAIRS.
St. Paul, Jan. 3.—William Russell, state inspector of apiries, made his first annual report to the legislature yesterday. The office was created by the last legislature and the law did not go into effect.

THE TESTIMONY IN THE TRIAL OF MIDSHIPMAN DECATUR IS ALL IN

Annapolis, Jan. 3.—The testimony both for prosecution and defense closed this morning in the court-martial proceedings against Midshipman Stephen Decatur, Jr., charged with the hazing of Fourth Classmen Isaac N. McCrary and Gaylord Church.

At the request of the judge advocate and counsel for the defense, the court took a recess until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the argument will be concluded. The case will be given to the court this afternoon.

Annapolis, Jan. 3.—The prosecution introduced witnesses today to disprove the statements of those who had testified for the defense in the court-martial proceedings against Midshipman Stephen Decatur, Jr., of Portsmouth, N. H., charged with hazing Fourth Classmen Isaac N. McCrary of Calvert, Tex., and Gaylord Church of Mendocino, Pa. It is practically certain that the case will be finished and given to the court today, and it is conceded that the decision in the case will rest on very narrow lines. Although McCrary and Church testified to separate acts of hazing on the part of Decatur, there

BITTERLY OPPOSES THE EDUCATION OF NEGRO

Governor Vardaman Is Emphatic In Address to Legislature.

Says Negro Is More Criminal as Freeman Than as a Slave.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 3.—Governor Vardaman, in his annual message to the Mississippi legislature, which assembled yesterday, again took a strong stand against spending public money for the education of the negro, saying in part:

"As a race the negro is deteriorating morally every day. Time has demonstrated that he is more criminal as a free man than as a slave, that he is increasing in criminality with fearful rapidity, and that one-third more criminal in 1899 than he was in 1880.

"In the South, Mississippi particularly, I know he is growing worse every year. You can scarcely pick up a newspaper whose pages are not blackened with an account of an unmentionable crime committed by a negro brute, and his crime I want to impress upon you, is but the manifestation of the negro's degradation by the character of free education in vogue, which the state is levying tribute upon the white people to maintain.

"It is your function to put a stop to the worse than wasting of a half-million dollars annually—money taken from the polling white men and women of Mississippi—and devoted to the main purpose of trying to make something of the negro which the great architect of the universe failed to provide for in the original plan of creation."

FLOUR MILL BURNED.

Mc Clellan & Heads Mill at Battle Lake Totally Destroyed.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire destroyed the flour mill at Battle Lake yesterday. The entire building and contents being consumed.

The fire was discovered about 4 a. m., and apparently originated on the second floor. The cause is a mystery. No one was in the mill at the time, and it had not been running since it was closed down Saturday night.

With the fire apparatus at hand there was no possibility of saving the building, so all the effort was used to save the surrounding property, and nothing else was burned. The mill was owned by Mc Clellan & Head, and the loss is about $20,000, mostly covered by insurance.

JURY IN HILL CASE TO BE KEPT IN CUSTODY.

Philadelphia, Jan. 3.—The trial of John W. Hill, former chief of the filtration bureau of this city, on the charge of alleged falsification of official records for the benefit of a large contracting firm which constructed the city's filtration plant, was continued today.

Acting in the request of District Attorney Bell, Judge Audenrod ordered that the jury be kept in custody until the conclusion of the trial. This is a procedure seldom resorted to in this city except in murder cases.

FOURTEEN INJURED In Train Wreck In Chicago.

Some of Them Fatally,
Third Section of Freight Crashes Into Caboose of Second.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Fourteen men were injured, some fatally, in a rear-end collision between freight trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad at Kedzie avenue today. The men were asleep in the caboose of the first train when in the mist and darkness of this morning the locomotive of the second train crashed into the caboose. The injured were quickly removed to the hospitals near by.

The injured: John Bradley, 27 years old, Belmont, Wis., bruised about legs and right hand; E. P. Doodle, 40 years old, Monroe, Wis., left leg fractured; John Byrne, 28 years old, Belmont, Wis., both legs fractured; Joseph Cook, 28 years old, Mineral Point, Wis., right leg fractured; Walter Murchant, 32 years old, Belmont, Wis., injured about body; Ray Hubbell, 32 years old, Mineral Point, Wis., left side hurt; Fred Julian, 32 years old, Mineral Point, Wis., right side hurt; Ernest Sandberger, 32 years old, Belmont, Wis., right leg fractured; Samuel Arthur, 54 years old, Belmont, Wis., right knee and left shoulder injured; Samuel Burrows, Belmont, Wis., legs bruised; Charles La Salle, Monroe, legs and body bruised; A. Bradshaw, Mineral Point, Wis., body bruised; Fred Point, Wis., body bruised; Frederick Gethlin, Mineral Point, Wis., head and body bruised; Harry Louderback, brakeman, badly bruised.

The first section of the train was delayed at California avenue because of the fog, and the engineer of the second section, who was making a rush for the doors when the locomotive of the third section smashed the caboose. Several other men were injured in the rear of the train just ahead of the caboose, and many of these were killed and their carcasses thrown around the tracks. The coal from the stove in the caboose set fire to the wreckage, and but for the prompt arrival of the fire department some of the men who were pinned down by the timbers of the car would have been burned. Men from the train yards made every effort to get the men out, and to check the flames, but they were making but little headway when the firemen arrived. It was nearly two hours before the fire was extinguished.

ADMIRAL ROJESTVENSKY.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—The remarkable allegation that the British fleet was held in readiness to destroy the Russian fleet if the battle of the Sea of Japan had gone in the Russian's favor is made by Admiral Rojestvensky in a letter published in the Novoe Vremya, today, with the permission of the minister of marine. Referring to the absolute secrecy of Admiral Togo in regard to the disposition of his forces, Rojestvensky declares that "this was unknown, even to the admiral of the British fleet, allied with the Japanese, who concentrated his forces at Wei Hai Wei, in expectation of receiving an order to annihilate the Russian fleet

A LETTER OF REPRIMAND

Will Be Sent Commander
Young By Secretary
Bonaparte.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Although not concurring in the finding of the court which found Commander Lucien Young guilty of "remissness in the performance of duty," and failed to find him guilty of the charge of "neglect of duty," Secretary Bonaparte, in his review of the case, made public today, approves without comment the recommendations of the judge advocate general. The latter, in announcing his non-concurrence in the finding of the court, says:

"After careful and painstaking consideration of the evidence adduced, this office does not concur in the findings of the court, nor in a number of the court's rulings upon the admission of evidence. In order, however, that Commander Young may not go wholly unpunished, it is recommended as best subserving the ends of justice, that the proceedings, finding upon Specification 5, and the sentence be approved, and that the findings upon Specifications 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 be disapproved.

"The remissions in the performance of duty be based on the finding upon Specification 5, which alleged that Commander Young failed to approve the steam log of the Benington for the months of November, December, 1904, and January, February, April,

THE POLICE ARE BAFFLED

Cannot Find Any Trace of Murderers of C. O.
Bader.

Minneapolis, Jan. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In spite of much hard work the police have not as yet secured the murderers of Charles O. Bader. Most of the time has been spent in running down clues of various sorts, all of which have proven false.

The chief of police received word from Carver Saturday that two suspects were being held there and Detective John Stavlio was sent to investigate. The men were not the ones wanted, however, and were given their liberty.

Every clue has proved false, and the police are no closer to arresting the murderers than they were the day of the crime.

TROOPS ARE ORDERED TO THE PHILIPPINES.

San Francisco, Jan. 3.—The Examination board today that three regiments of United States infantry, two batteries of artillery and one squadron of cavalry are under orders to leave for the Philippines during this month. The troops to be moved, it is said, are the First, Second and Twenty-fourth regiments of infantry, with some recruits and detached companies in addition, one squadron of the Fourth cavalry and the Eighth and Thirteenth battalions of field artillery.

FRIGHT THROWS WITNESS INTO STUPOR

Northport, L. I., Jan. 3.—Fright has thrown Frank Wisniski, a stable boy, into such a drug-like stupor that he cannot testify today in the preliminary hearing of Dr. J. W. Simpson, the dentist, charged with having wilfully shot and killed Bartley J. Horner, his wealthy father-in-law. The stable boy, who was employed by Mr. Horner, was in the kitchen when his employer was shot by the dentist, and has repeated to the coroner the last words of Horner before he died. He is considered a very important witness, and was in custody of an officer. When suddenly he became almost unconscious, physicians at first thought him drugged, but after working over the strange case for fifteen hours, they announced that the boy's pulse and temperature were perfectly normal, and that he was suffering only from fright. He has eaten nothing for twenty-four hours. It is proposed that, after closing of the hearing if necessary until the stable boy can be roused enough to become a witness.

ATTEMPTS TO BLACKMAIL A CARDINAL

Rome, Jan. 3.—Cardinal Vincent Vannutelli, arch priest of the Libreria basilica, received a note which was posted in Rome, Dec. 30, threatening the publication of compromising letters, said to have been written by the cardinal, if he did not send 1,000 lire ($200), addressed to the initials "C. E." to be left at the postoffice until called for.

The cardinal handed the letter to the police, who today arrested a well-dressed man, who asked for a letter with the initials "C. E." The prisoner, whose name is kept secret, and who protests his innocence, proved that when the blackmailing letter was posted in Rome he was in Genoa, where he landed on reaching Italy from New York.

COFFIN IN FUNERAL PROCESSION CONTAINED LIVE MAN AND BOMBS

Moscow, Jan. 3.—According to the stories, the number of summary executions of revolutionists is large. Mr. Smith, an Englishman, and proprietor of the machine works here, which were accidentally burned yesterday, says he personally witnessed a number of executions. When the "Drunina" (revolutionary) garbison of the sugar factory surrendered, the officer in command of the regular troops, after a few brief questions, picked out the victims who were employed twenty paces in front of a firing squad, received a volley and dropped without a struggle. Inside the soldiers found a man and four bombs. Thereafter all suspicious persons were examined and the soldiers even went to the length of pulling the mustaches and beards of the mourners to ascertain if they were false.

Whole arrests continue to be made here. The police are gathering in all persons found carrying loaded sticks or sword canes.

EX-FIREMAN SUES BLACK

Herman Wendtlandt Would Recover $180 From Department Chief.

Seeks to Collect Pay For Caring For His Horse.

Claiming that Chief Black used his authority as head of the fire department to force an employee of the department to care for his private horse, Herman Wendtlandt, a former member of the department, has brought suit in the municipal court to recover for services thus performed during the last three years, which he values at $5 per month, or $180.

Wendtlandt was a member of the fire department for nearly ten years, but recently resigned, and is now employed as night watchman at the high school.

He claims that during the time he worked for the fire department he cared for the private horses of the chief at various times, but the work for which he sues is the care of a pony belonging to Chief Black's son, which was quarantined with the fire department horses. It was his duty to care for the horses, especially those in the sick room, and he says that he was directed by the chief to also attend to the pony.

He claims that he spent from three-quarters of an hour to an hour a day at the work, rubbing the horse down, currying it, frequently washing it, and feeding it three times a day.

Forster J. Neff is representing Wendtlandt and John Jensen is acting as Chief Black's attorney.

Wendtlandt was placed upon the stand as the first witness, and his testimony and cross-examination occupied the entire morning session of court. He told his story in a straightforward manner, answering all questions whether from his own or the opposing attorney, promptly.

He stood upon the ground on which he based his claim, and related in detail the services which he had performed.

On cross-examination, Mr. Jensen attempted to bring out the fact that the work had been done gratuitously by Wendtlandt, with no expectation of reward.

"Isn't it true that you and the chief were on friendly terms?" he asked.

"Why, yes, as far as I was contented with him," he answered.

"Didn't he sometimes tip you a dollar or two dollars?"

"He sometimes paid me a dollar or two, but it was for work that I did around his house. I don't consider it a tip when I work for it. It was money I had earned."

"Didn't his son sometimes give you presents, cigars and things?"

"He never gave me a thing but one cigar, on Christmas, and he passed the box around to all the men in the department."

Mr. Jensen closely examined the witness regarding the time when he had decided to sue Mr. Black, and the amount of what he intended to try to collect.

"While you were employed in the department did you ever ask Mr. Black for wages?"

"Why didn't you?"

"Well, if I had, I would have been marked up as being fired instead of having resigned."

"Isn't it a fact that you were somewhat sore on the world after leaving the department and decided to sue the chief to get even?"

"No, why should I be sore? I bet myself."

"What were you getting in the department?"

"Seventy-five dollars a month."

"What are you getting now?"

"Sixty dollars a month."

"Now, don't stop there," continued the witness, when Mr. Jensen showed no intention of continuing this line of examination. "Give me a fair deal and let me explain."

"I'll have a chance yet," said Mr. Neff.

At another time Mr. Jensen asked a rather complicated question regarding the nature of the feeling existing between the chief and Mr. Wendtlandt.

"I don't understand. I can't answer that question."

"Are you afraid of my questions?" asked Mr. Jensen. "Do you mean that you don't see what it may lead up to?"

"No, but if you will ask your questions so that I can understand what you are trying to say, I'll answer them. I'm not trying to keep anything back, and I'll give you all the facts."

Mr. Neff again took the witness, and in reply to his questions, Mr. Wendtlandt stated that he had been kept continuously in the stables for eight years, although he had made a formal request to be transferred to the hall.

There is about three times as much work in the stables," the witness said, "and it is dirty, sloppy work, especially when you are in the stable treating horses with the distemper. There were about eighteen men on the same grade with me, but I was kept at this work for eight years."

"Hold on a minute," said Mr. Jensen. "Is this part of the reason why he is bringing this case? How much of this $180 does he want for this reason?"

"I was just going over the ground," covered in the cross-examination, said Mr. Neff.

Court adjourned at noon until 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Wendtlandt's testimony is about all in, and the plaintiff's side of the case will probably be completed this afternoon.

GERMANY IS PREPARING

To Move Her Troops Rapidly In Case of an Eventuality.

Twenty Thousand Freight Cars Ordered as Precautionary Measure.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—The railway administration placed orders last week for 20,000 freight cars at a cost of $50,000,000 with manufacturers of five countries stipulating delivery by the middle of February, besides utilizing the car works of Germany. These cars were distributed among makers in Belgium, Holland, Switzerland and Italy which would not have been done unless some reason for haste existed. Inquiries made for the reasons for urgency resulted in obtaining the statement that ordering of the cars was a precautionary measure, the general staff desiring to be ready in case of a military emergency by the first of March. This is only a proper measure of prudence if it was affirmed, in view of the extensive military arrangements going on in France which among other dispositions include the movement of the German army to the Rhine, the movement of artillery or 150 guns. The ordering of these freight cars, each of which would accommodate forty soldiers, would enable the authorities to transmit material, is only in consequence of the French preparations and the fact that the German army is being retrained in the new tactics of the French army. The step taken is to the conviction long held and acted upon here that the best preservative of peace is complete preparedness for any eventuality. The war in the future will be a war of attrition, and it is because such a war in itself would be a provocative and every interest both in and outside the government should from such a possibility unless it be a small group of military men. The government will probably regret the publication of this intelligence but its transmission seems necessary to a proper understanding of the drift of events and of how both France and Germany are strengthening their diplomatic position on the eve of the Moroccan conference by material preparations.

No doubt exists here that the French and German policies will differ in the conference on the question of policing the Moroccan Algerian frontier, and on some less important questions. Under the terms of the agreement, to hold the conference, all the participating parties must agree to the conclusions of the conference, or the situation reverts to the status quo. In other words, if at the conference all the powers, except one, agree to a plan for international control of Morocco, the conference will have been in vain, and if the situation becomes as it was before the powers assembled to call the conference, serious disagreements between those specially interested may arise.

Germany's book on the Moroccan question probably will be issued Jan. 12, and copies will be supplied to the delegates at the conference, which it now seems will meet Jan. 16. The energies of German diplomacy are based upon various features of this pregnant event.

CONTRACT IS AWARDED

Darst & Hughes Will Build Steel Bridge at Zim.

County Board May Pass Resolution For New Courthouse.

Committee consultation over the printing and bridge bids took up the attention of the board of county commissioners this morning and the meeting was not called to order by Chairman Moreau until a few minutes before the noon hour.

Then the board awarded the contract for the new steel bridge over the St. Louis river, near Zim station, to Darst & Hughes of Chicago and adjourned until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The bridge is to be a 130-foot structure and the contractors are to furnish labor, material and build the substructure and superstructure, complete, for $8,420. There is only one other bidder for the contract, A. Y. Bayne & Co. The successful firm has recently completed the large steel bridge over the St. Louis river at Floodwood.

It was expected this noon that when the afternoon session began that the board would complete its business today. The bids for the county printing and supplies for the courthouse improvements have been fully canvassed by the commissioners in committee meetings and the resolutions were drawn up ready to be signed this afternoon.

One of the important resolutions that it was expected the board would pass this afternoon was one emphasizing the need of a new courthouse, directing that $50,000 be appropriated for such a structure and that the county auditor notify the district judges of the action taken so that they, under the provisions of the new law, may appoint a courteous commission to select a site and superintend the erection of the building of it.

The resolution was to be almost identical with that introduced by Commissioner Patterson, a year ago, but which got no further than its presentation on account of lack of support and a disposition on the part of the commissioners to delay the building operations. It was not expected this noon that the resolution would be adopted by a unanimous vote, but that the vote would probably stand four to three in its favor.

The passage of the resolution will mean that building operations will likely begin early this year, for so much delay has already been had that the district court judges, who will exercise the appointive power for a commission are understood to be favorable to a speedy formation of the commission.

The question of a site will rest with the new commission. The commission, if one is named, will be comprised of three members of the county board and two members outside the board. The balance of power will thus lie with the county commissioners, and the three, if the occasion arises, can decide where the new building will be erected.

NO QUORUM OF JURORS

Court Orders a Special Venire of Grand Jurors.

Several of Those Summoned Are Sick—Calendar Called.

For the first time in its history, St. Louis county was without enough grand jurors to constitute a quorum, at the opening of a term of the district court, and a special venire had to be ordered.

The jurors were summoned to appear at 11 o'clock this morning to complete the organization and get to work, but when that hour arrived only twelve out of the twenty-three appeared and a special venire returnable at 2 o'clock this afternoon was ordered.

It is understood that several of the men summoned on the grand jury are sick and unable to attend at this time.

Judge J. D. Ensign presided at the call of the calendar this morning. Of the eighty-nine cases noted for trial this term, eleven were continued, eight were stricken and one was dismissed. One case was moved on to the calendar, making a total of seventy-one civil cases for court and jury trial, the calendar being the lightest had for a long time.

The morning session, after the call of the calendar, was taken up by the attorneys with motions. Tomorrow morning, the judges will begin disposing of the divorce cases, of which there are about sixteen.

The grand jury was expected to organize this afternoon and the petit jurors will assemble next Monday.

PRESERVATION OF THE FISHERIES

Of the Great Lakes Is Planned By Secretary Root.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Preservation and development of the fisheries of the Great Lakes are the purposes of an agreement which will be signed in the new year by Secretary Root and Minister Durand. This agreement will provide for the appointment of a commission to draft uniform laws and regulations for the protection of fisheries and for the culture of species which can thrive in the inland seas. Laws and regulations are to be enforced by the federal authorities and Canadian authorities, thus taking control of this jurisdiction of the states. The laws and regulations are to remain in force five years, after which time they may be revised.

Few people will appreciate the great importance of this agreement between the two countries. The amount of fish taken from the lakes has steadily declined. There has been almost complete disappearance of the maskinonge; a reduction in the catch of the toothsome whitefish, with which the waters were alive a few years ago; an increasing rarity of the wall-eyed pike, and a general falling off of the catches in the best fishing grounds.

This decrease is best shown, perhaps, by the experience of the fishermen who operate in Lake Superior, which has always been noted for the large quantities of whitefish and trout taken in its waters. The catch of these species is becoming smaller each succeeding year. For instance, the catch of whitefish decreased in five years over 2,000,000 pounds. The decrease in the amount of fish placed upon the market directly affects all the people of the country, who have to pay higher prices for lake products or patronize the beef trust more extensively. The value of the Great Lakes fisheries has been estimated by the bureau of fisheries and furnished to Secretary Root for his information. The amount of capital invested is a little more than $7,000,000. The products of the fisheries in one year aggregated 112,000,000 pounds, valued at $2,614,340. Lake Erie, with its shoaler waters, produced the most, reporting a catch of 38,000,000 pounds, valued at $1,150,895. Lake Michigan was second with 34,499,000 pounds, valued at $750,000. Lake Huron third with 12,900,000 pounds, valued at $308,000. The wholesale fishery trade on Lake Michigan is most extensive at Chicago and Green Bay, Wis.

The tendency toward consolidation which exists in the fresh fish trade of nearly every section of the Great Lakes early had its effect on Chicago and Green Bay, a certain number of firms in each combining under one management, which now handles the greater portion of fresh fish. Chicago is the most important distributing center for the great lakes region, the total investment approximating $2,000,000 and the total value of products being nearly $5,000,000. Canada's interest in the preservation of the Great Lakes fisheries is as great as that of the United States. In order to execute the agreement with the British government, the president will have to ask congress to enact a law conferring upon the federal government authority to regulate lake fisheries. There are eight states interested in the industries. States on more than one lake are Michigan, which borders on four lakes, and New York and Wisconsin, each on two. The other states are Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota and Pennsylvania.

SUIT TO BE BROUGHT TO OUST SECRETARY.

Indianapolis, Jan. 3.—At a conference this afternoon between Governor Hanly, W. H. H. Miller, former United States attorney general and Charles Benedict, prosecuting attorney of this county, it was decided to bring action in the Marion county circuit court against Daniel E. Stornis, secretary of the Indiana Fish and Game commission, to vacate his office, the decision following the refusal of the secretary to resign on demand of the governor.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the annual meeting of the stockholders of the DULUTH RAILWAY LAKE & WINDY RAILWAY COMPANY, (Formerly the Duluth, Virginia & Rainy Lake Railway Company), will be held at the company's office in the Lyceum Building, in the city of Duluth, Minnesota, on Wednesday, the seventh day of February, 1906, at ten o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing a board of directors for the company for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of any and all other business that may come before such meeting.

Dated, December 30, 1905.

SAFEGUARD INSURANCE

Is the Main Topic of Governor Higgins' Message to Legislature.

Wadsworth Elected Speaker, Receiving Entire Republican Vote.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3.—Governor Higgins' message to the legislature, which was presented to that body today, was awaited with much interest because of what he might say regarding the legislative investigation of the insurance companies. The governor, in his message, urged a drastic insurance law, and hinted at the necessity of a like investigation of other forms of insurance. The governor says:

GOVERNOR HIGGINS.

ment to solve its own problems as they arise.

"Future effective action by congress or the federal government is not probable and the possibility of such action should not retard for an instant the work of the state.

"While life insurance has received almost exclusive attention, it cannot be assumed that other corporations dealing in indemnity and investment contracts have been blameless, and a word of caution may not be amiss regarding assessment associations, accident insurance companies, co-operative fire insurance companies and the like. Better allow free and unregulated insurance than permit such concerns to exist under laws which do not protect our citizens, but enable the promoter of doubtful schemes to beguile the investor to financial disappointment and fatten himself on false promises and deluded hopes.

"The policyholder now demands something better from the state than a guarantee of solvency. He has learned that his insurance will be cheaper and safer when the companies are compelled to invest their assets for his benefit exclusively, and are prevented diverting funds to the individual undertakings of speculative depositors and to the payment of vast salaries and exorbitant commissions, gratuities to men of influence and contributions for political campaigns. He invokes the power of the state to shield him more effectively and to curb the companies and their directors.

"You will be called on to make a radical revision of the law for the benefit of investors in life insurance and for the regulation and restraint of the companies. We may well consider at this time the expediency of providing for more thorough regulation by the department of insurance. Under the new insurance law of Germany not only are thorough investigation and publicity insured, but the government director actually enters into the business methods of the corporation.

"We learn much from a careful examination of this law, although some of its provisions may be deemed too paternal for our differing conditions of business and political life or objectionable as leaving too much to the discretion of the insurance department.

"The funds of insurance companies should be secured by a conservative valuation; that deposits with or loans to moneyed corporations should be subject to suitable restrictions; that the control of subsidiary companies should not be permitted; that insurance directors should have no conflicting business connections; that investments in corporate bonds should not be regulated so as to prevent speculation and loss from an attempt to fleet doubtful enterprises; that policies should be of standard forms so that the abuses arising from ambiguity, complexity and incompleteness of the contract may be eradicated and the contract made definite in its terms and substance; that a uniform system of audits and accounts should be prescribed by the insurance department; that full publicity to policy holders should be assured; that deferred dividend policies should be prohibited or greatly restricted; that policies should be further safeguarded from forfeiture; that an equitable distribution of the gains of the company to the policy holders entitled thereto should be required; that policy holders should have an effective voice in the government of the companies and that the discretion of the directors should be subject to judicial or administrative review."

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3.—The state legislature convened at noon today for the one hundred and twenty-ninth session, under conditions in some ways remarkable. The closing of one of the bitterest factional fights for the assembly speakership in many years, the re-election of many of the defeated speakership would at once inaugurate a policy of reprisal; the understanding that at the opening of the session, Senator Edgar S. Brackett of Saratoga, would introduce his long-heralded joint resolution requesting the resignation of Senator Chauncey M. Depew, the intensity of feeling in many quarters resulting from the disclosures of the insurance investigation—all these things drew upon the opening of the session today a degree of public interest greater and more evident than for many years past.

There was much more than the usual interest in the annual message of Governor Higgins to the legislature, which included important recommendations as to life insurance, the mortgage tax law, the savings bank surplus tax and electoral reform.

James Wadsworth, Jr., was elected speaker of the assembly, receiving the entire Republican vote.

Many amendments to the state insurance law are proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Brackett. Among its important provisions are those making effective instead of appointive the office of superintendent of insurance, making salaries of life insurance officers subject to the written approval of the superintendent of insurance, prohibiting insurance of any life insurance company available for examination for any policyholder and limiting investments in insurance companies in a way similar to the law limiting investments by savings banks.

The annual message of Governor Higgins to the legislature was read in each house.

The Gidding Clearance Sale.

The January Clearance Sale of J. M. Gidding & Co. is now in its second week, and though it has been most phenomenally successful, there are many very choice bargains to be secured in suits, coats, costumes, furs, fur-lined coats, etc., for ladies and misses; this fact being made possible by the large stock of goods carried by this house.

At the present time there are a number of clearance sales in progress, and the only true way to determine just who is offering the greatest values is to shop around at the different stores and then see what Gidding offers, for after all the only way of really judging the values of store offers, is by making true comparison of goods and prices.

De Witt's Little Early Risers simply expel all putrid matter and bile, thus allowing the liver to assume its normal activity. Good for the complexion. Sold by all druggists.

NO CONFERENCE YET.

Wisconsin Grain Commission Was to Convene This Week.

As soon as Commissioners Shanahan and Swankstrom arrive in Superior, the Wisconsin grain commission will hold a conference regarding the enforcement of the revised grain inspection law. It was expected that the conference would be held early this week, but none of the commissioners seem to know just when it will be called to order.

Although the amendments to the law were passed before Christmas by the Wisconsin legislature, they did not really become effective until the first of the year.

Mr. Shanahan's home is in Buffalo, N. Y., and Mr. Swankstrom is a resident of North Dakota. Pending the holding of the conference, no effort is being made to force grain men and elevators to comply with the amended law.

THE WHITE SALE
Attracts Great Crowds to the Gray-Tallant Store.

"White" sales are the thing that is now attracting the women of the city and yesterday afternoon a glance at the linen and muslin underwear departments of Gray & Tallant's store proved that this store has successfully attracted the women. It seemed that nearly every woman of the city who could possibly get away from her household store and there her own personal wardrobe. The salespeople from the other departments were pressed into service to accommodate the crowds of shoppers attracted by the annual white sale. The embroidery and underwear sale was, of course, very attractive, but the management strains that owing to the crowds it was impossible to display some of the most beautiful patterns in tablecloths, and sets and suggests that those who have not inspected these things to their satisfaction plan to make a visit to the store any morning during the sale, when these things may be seen with greater ease and pleasure.

PERFECTING NEW PLANS

Delegates of the Proletariat Holding a Secret Session.

Demonstration to Be Made on Anniversary of "Red Sunday."

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3, 2 p. m.—A general meeting of the Workmen's council and delegates of all the proletarian organizations has been in session secretly since last night, perfecting their future programs. All that is the farthest away is that they are planning to turn the anniversary of Jan. 22 ("Red Sunday," when the most serious rioting in St. Petersburg occurred) into a day of national mourning, during which it is planned to make demonstrations in memory of the "martyrs." All the shops, factories and theaters will be closed and the street car and railroad service will be stopped. Requiems masses will be celebrated and processions in which the workmen will wear sashes on their sleeves, will march through the streets. No papers will be allowed to appear except with black borders. It is proposed to make a gigantic, peaceful manifestation, but if they attempt to carry it out the leaders fully understand that it is sure to precipitate bloodshed on a large scale.

From Admiral Rojestvensky's account of his tactics in the battle of the sea of Japan, published in the Novoye Vremya today, the reader is almost convinced that the Russian commander-out-manuevered Admiral Togo at every point, and was himself the real victor. The details of Admiral Togo's exact whereabouts two days before the battle, made his dispositions accordingly and entered the light with his eyes open.

The admiral only casually states in the course of his letter that the minister of marine is investigating the causes of the catastrophe to determine whether the commander shall be court-martialed for the loss of the fleet.

The charge that the British admiral concentrated his ships at Wei Hai Wei expecting to receive an order to destroy the Russians in the event of Togo proving unequal to the task, has aroused a considerable sensation in diplomatic circles, all the more so as Admiral Rojestvensky's letter was published with the permission of the minister of marine, and no doubt is entered into that it will be made the subject of diplomatic representations to Great Britain.

The government is putting on the screws tighter and tighter. War Minister Rudiger has issued an order absolutely prohibiting officers, privates and employees of the ministry of war from participating in any fashion in political societies or attending their meetings, and prescribing heavy punishments which will be inflexible without trial.

The use of the telephone between St. Petersburg, Moscow and other points which has been employed in communications between the revolutionists has been prohibited by the government, except by permission of the authorities.

The numbers of arrests are increasing daily, and the prisons are so crowded that the Nasha Shish says rooms with air space for fifteen are holding sixty persons. So far as ascertaining not one of those arrested during the last three weeks has been released. The same paper says that the newspapers who were prohibited from publishing news of the streets have been prohibited from publishing news of the prisons and the names of the papers they are selling.

Paul Mikulski's Narodnaya Svoboda which yesterday made an ardent appeal to the electors to prepare for the campaign and to organize meetings for the propagation of the program of the constitutional Democrats has been suppressed. The Commercial League estimates that 90,000 Jews have emigrated to America since the massacres.

Lodz, Russian Poland, Jan. 3.—About 64,000 men are on strike here.

Pabianice, Russian Poland, Jan. 3.—The prefect of police here was assassinated today.

Pokrovsk, Russia, Jan. 3.—Two gendarmes, who were searching the lodgings of a revolutionary, were stabbed to death today.

Riga, Jan. 3.—Governor General Sollogub is taking rigorous measures to root out the revolutionary element. All persons found on the streets are held up by the troops for arms, while the searching of lodgings continues day and night.

Gretch Is Sentenced.
George Gretch of Chisholm, who was held to the grand jury on the charge of assaulting his wife with a meat cleaver, pleaded guilty to assault in the second degree in district court this morning and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or spend ninety days in the county jail. Gretch attempted an explanation that he was being assaulted and was defending himself. The reports that came with him from Chisholm indicated that he has been in the habit of terrorizing his family when intoxicated.

EVELETH CITY COUNCIL

Elects Edward Steel City Clerk on the First Ballot.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 3.—At the first meeting of the new city council, held last night, Edward Steel, a new member of the city council, was elected president. Steel, one of the publishers of the Minneapolis News, was elected city clerk on the first ballot. J. C. Johnson, a local attorney, while C. Vandell was re-elected superintendent of waterworks, John W. Smith, street commissioner, and John J. Murkin, assessor.

In his inaugural speech, Mayor Charles Johnson pointed out the necessity of caring for the bonded indebtedness of the city and argued that a permanent fund be created for the purpose. The use of a portion of the income from the water works was recommended. The mayor asked that the purchase of supplies by the city be regulated.

The Mississauga Telephone company won its point in securing the right to construct a line to the changing station at St. Mary's lake along the pipe line.

CLEVELAND TO ACT AS REFEREE ON REBATES.

New York, Jan. 3.—An agreement to abolish rebating on premiums has been entered into by the New York Life Insurance company, the Equitable Life Assurance society and the Mutual Life Insurance company. An announcement was made that Grover Cleveland had been appointed referee to decide all questions in dispute that may arise on such matters and that his salary will be $2,000 per annum, to be paid jointly by the three companies or by the second him in his efforts to stop rebating. A similar appointment was made last Saturday by the United States marshal for Montana, on a charge of illegally favoring public lands in Teton county. A feature of the case is the fact that Mr. Woolwine was foreman of the grand jury up to the time an indictment was returned against him, when he retired, in order, as he said, not to hamper his jury. He gave $10,000 to plead next Saturday.

ACCIDENT PROVES FATAL.

Farmer Dies From Injury While Acting As Santa Claus.

Winnetka, Minn., Jan. 3.—While on his way home with a load of hay, Ernest Nichols, a farmer living near Pekin, a dozen miles east of Winnetka, met with an accident which resulted in his death a week later. He had been acting as Santa Claus for his brother and it was after dark when he started for home, burdened with presents for the family. He had a heavy load on a short cut over a bluff instead of keeping to the road. In the darkness his foot struck a loose stone, and with his arms flung, he could not regain his balance.

He fell forward and his forehead struck a post, which was projecting from the ground. His skull was penetrated, and he lay out in the cold unconscious for a time, but was finally able to drag himself home. The injury was so severe that he could not recover, and he died on Friday evening. The funeral was held on Sunday.

Nichols was 40 years of age. He leaves a wife and one son, aged 13 years. He is also survived by three brothers and his mother.

EMILIE GRIGSBY'S INFLUENCE

Over Yerkes' Potent To the End.

Young Woman Gets Millions and a New York Mansion.

New York, Jan. 3.—The World prints the following:
There are two amazing things about the story of Charles T. Yerkes and Emilie Grigsby which are outlined in the World today, are controlling factors in the situation, partially revealed by Mrs. Yerkes' refusal, until the last minute, to go to the bedside of the dying husband.

One is the magnificence of his provision for the young woman. Yerkes had a princely idea of indulging his wishes in a way to dazzle himself and others. Once his interest in the Kentucky beauty, Emilie Grigsby, had become a fixed idea in his mind he determined that this should be shown in a way to demonstrate that he was not to be even approached in generosity—much less outdone by anybody.

Never was a woman in New York under such a great maker of money, running made more to realize his power to meet every wish that could be gratified by money, and when the time came for a formal parting it was characteristic of Yerkes to settle, as he did, a round million of dollars upon the young woman as a recognition of her claims, which were based upon ten years of acceptance of his beauty.

The other extraordinary aspect of Yerkes' protection of Emilie Grigsby was the latter's determined effort to mark out for herself a social career. Most audaciously she campaigned for recognition by women who were in a position to give her the gratification that even Yerkes long purse could not buy—that is, a place in the social position that she desired.

Women in the position that Emilie Grigsby must have chosen deliberately stood as a rule, in contrast with other women who can snub them. Every man in New York, with some exceptions, had known of her, or at least formed an opinion which has passed current in society for absolute knowledge, as to the relations between the Grigsby girl and her multimillionaire benefactor.

She was pointed out at the opera, as such women are always pointed out in Paris, as a rare and beautiful beauty about whom everybody must know but whom no one should know.

In spite of these really fundamental conditions of society, Emilie Grigsby was content with establishing a footing in the houses of important families. She met Mrs. Fish, who had a young man, her son, who was not the first woman of position to be charmed, not alone by the beauty but by the elegant culture and wit of the person who lived in a mansion that Yerkes had built for her.

Mrs. Fish showed the young woman every attention between Southampton and New York. She made plans to which the socially ambitious young woman enthusiastically assented, and the continuance of her casual friendship.

On the steamship pier a man of Mrs. Fish's set met and observed the usual demonstrations between women who like another, of Mrs. Fish and Miss Grigsby.

"Don't you know who she is?" asked the man.

"Only that she is a charming girl," replied Mrs. Fish.

Mrs. Fish asked and then dropped the girl. It would be most desirable to meet her in person's career.

She was a Kentucky girl, Louis Grigsby was a man of family in that state, where the clan instinct is strong, and she was a girl of the old school, all that was most desirable in the life of a young woman of the old school.

Confederacy. The war's end left him in his position, the hard-won title of captain in the United States army, married, had two children, and died.

It is the desire of the companies to secure the co-operation of all other life insurance companies in this agreement. It was said today that if rebating could be entirely abolished, the next minimum can be reduced. It is understood that this agreement is the result of a suggestion by President Bush, who is one of the Equitable Life Assurance society.

GRAND JURY INDICTS FOREMAN.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 3.—The United States grand jury, which adjourned last Saturday, indicted among others Joseph P. Woodman of Helena, formerly United States marshal for Montana, on a charge of illegally favoring public lands in Teton county. A feature of the case is the fact that Mr. Woolwine was foreman of the grand jury up to the time an indictment was returned against him, when he retired, in order, as he said, not to hamper his jury. He gave $10,000 to plead next Saturday.

EAGLE CLOTHING AND SHOE HOUSE.

321 W. Superior St.

not more than three blocks from his own home, a dwelling that men will point out for years. To this known as the "Yerkes house," a four-story house, with 100 feet front on the avenue and twenty feet deep on sixty-seventh street. One hundred feet by half a block. The house, even if it had been built by a plainest brick, would have been noticed for that fact.

But either the Grigsby girl or Yerkes himself determined to make it a white granite, in massive blocks, and of a distinctive architectural style. The entrance is by two flights of steps leading from left and right to a vestibule incased in an elaborate mask of wrought iron and glass.

Once past the vestibule, the entrance leads into a high central hall in marble, which the decorations have half covered with Aubusson tapestries and a curious collection of medieval ecclesiastical vestments are seen with rare jewels.

From this hall rises a splendidly designed stairway, giving the effect of distances surprisingly when the narrow space is considered. The house is decorated by artists of repute, furnished with all that good taste could choose and money could buy, for the drawings and designs were even with those of most careful collectors in artistic home adornments.

The architect Yerkes gave directions that bespoke a love of mystery and certain theatrical ideas in the arrangement of the house. The lower floors were such as any family of moderate means might need, the fourth floor was a place of mystery.

The stairs stopped at a small room furnished more like a man's than like that of the mistress of a beautiful mansion. It contained a narrow bed, a dressing room, a bath and a toilet room. The rest of that floor was a lumber-room.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD

APPLIED AS A COLD CREAM ACTS AS A MEDICINE.

Wherever applied, its healing and nourishment is instantly absorbed by the skin, and its action is felt in the blood, and the system underlying the skin.

by the pores. It strengthens and builds up the tissues underlying the skin and Firm, Elastic Flesh is the result.

CHARLES' FLESH FOOD is no new experiment. It has been in use for more than fifty years and during that time thousands of women and men have used it with entire satisfaction.

That it is not to be classed with "Cold Creams" and other things of like superficial potency is proved by the fact that it is prescribed by leading physicians and used in hospitals for the nutrition of invalids whose stomachs are too weak to digest food.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD should be used by every woman who has the least desire to be attractive. It is the only preparation that will round out hollowed, thin cheeks or scrawny necks with Firm, Healthy Flesh and Remove Wrinkles from the face and hands, no matter how deep the furrows.

FOR DEVELOPING THE IMMATURE BUST or to make the breast firm, large and beautiful nothing can equal it. To prevent the breasts from shrinking, after weaning baby, mothers should always use DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD. It will also restore a bosom to its natural contour and beauty lost through nursing and sickness.

ON SALE AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

his youth. A reconciliation was soon effected and arrangements made for the long-delayed wedding. The bride and her trossau made, and arrangements were perfected for an elaborate wedding. The marriage license was procured and the minister engaged to perform the marriage ceremony on Saturday. Fate again butted in, and Johanna and Andrew quarreled over the bride's dowry. The quarrel culminated in another separation, Andrew, who is three years and ten months from his Iowa farm to resume his bachelor life, and Johanna, now in her 71st year, went back to her cozy little home, east of town, to spend her remaining days alone.

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—(Special to The Herald).—The vacancy on the board of capital commissions caused by the death of H. W. Lamberton, at Wipac, service of a good clairvoyant, is now preferred, and a seance is arranged. The detectives in charge of the case together with the police psychologists listen to the utterance of the medium all of which are carefully noted, and every detail given in the seance is vigorously denied by the police.

A former director of the Berlin detective department, Dr. Von Me-

NICKNAMES ARE VOGUE IN PARIS AT PRESENT.

Paris, Jan. 2.—Paris society is violently attracted with "nicknaming." Everyone who is anyone is bap-sized with some fantastic appellation, which is supposed to selze the most salient point of his name. Many of the names are whole sentences; for instances, that of a certain duchess, who is universally known as "I-was-sure-I-would-be-late." It is a curious light on the spirit that not a few names used quite currently in good society are entirely unutterable in English, while are bilingually cruel.

always one of the characteristics of a broad bull speculation. As a prominent broker puts it, "while Amalgamated, Smelting and Union Pacific were selling off on realizing and bear hammering, new leaders sprang up in other quarters—for instance Atholston, Reading, Southern Railway and Erie. That tells me that the bull movement is still on and that stocks are by no means at the top."

"People that have been right for many months forecast that metal stocks are still on the rise. They admit that Steels and Amalgamated Copper are high, compared with the price level of a year ago, but argue that they are not high, considering dividends present and prospective, and the altogether unprecedented trade prospects unquestionably mean much higher prices for Amalgamated and the resumption of dividends on Steel common in 1906.

SOFT COAL ADVANCES

Rise of Twenty-Five Cents a Ton In Bituminous Variety Made.

Supply Low and Shortage Imminent—Anthracite Is Plentiful.

The retail price of soft coal in Duluth was advanced 25 cents a ton yesterday, an unusual procedure for this season of the year. Usually the limit is reached before the first of the year. This variety of coal is becoming very scarce at the Head of the Lakes, and it still looks as if there might be a shortage of it before spring, in Duluth as well as through the Northwest generally.

The supply on the docks is low, and only for the warm weather which has thus far prevailed, would probably have been as good as exhausted before this. The leading companies of the city, it is understood, are refusing to make any more shipments of the commodity from the local docks into the interior, all such orders being handled by all-rail coal, from the St. Paul and Minneapolis offices. Duluth offices pretend to handle nothing but orders from local consumers and from the ranges.

If there is a scarcity in the city, the small consumer will be the only one to feel it. The manufacturing plants, big buildings, etc., which use a large amount of coal, either had in their winter's supply early, or are protected by contract, so they have nothing to fear. But the chances are that the small consumer will have to depend upon soft coal, which comes all rail, before the opening of navigation. It is only in rare instances that coal is brought to the Head of the Lakes all the way from the mines by rail. As a rule there is plenty kept on the docks to supply the local demand, even though the interior runs short. The last time all rail shipments came to Duluth was in the spring of 1902.

Of anthracite coal there is plenty, and it will be unnecessary to bring any more of it to Duluth before the boats begin running again. The movement of the other variety of the fuel has not started this way yet, although a good many all rail shipments are moving through the Twin Cities into the interior. Practically no soft coal is being shipped out of Duluth or Superior at present, except for the use of railroads. The car shortage is worrying the dealers a good deal, and not so much of the commodity is moving as would be the case if the cars were more plentiful. It is believed, however, that enough will be obtained to avert an actual famine in the Northwest, provided the winter continues mild, and that there are no serious storms to interfere with traffic on the railroads.

HEAVY SNOW AT ST. PAUL

Promises to Increase and Expected to Become Bad Storm.

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A severe storm broke over St. Paul today, and as the day advanced the snow fell in great quantities. At 10 o'clock, 30 days above zero being recorded up to 3 o'clock. At 2 o'clock the wind was blowing in miles an hour from the north. According to weather forecasts, the storm promises to be a bad one. The real storm is to the east of the city and going in the direction of the Great Lakes, where it is already very severe.

COUNTY BOARD DECIDES FOR A NEW COURTHOUSE

Steps Taken For Appointment of Commission Under 1905 Law.

Amount to Be Spent For New Building Fixed at $400,000.

The board of county commissioners, this afternoon, voted to build a new courthouse, at a cost of $400,000, and that a new commission be appointed by law, appointed immediately.

The resolution was introduced by Commissioner Sundeen, and its introduction brought forth a great deal of discussion. Commissioners August Ryan and Melvin tried to have the matter put over until the special meeting of the board, on Jan. 22, or until the regular meeting in February, but were unsuccessful.

Commissioner Melvin then moved that the amount to be expended upon the courthouse, which, in the resolution as originally introduced was $500,000, be changed to $400,000. This amendment was passed, and the resolution then passed as amended. It reads as follows:

"Resolved, that this board declare, and they do hereby declare, that the existing courthouse of St. Louis county, Minnesota, is inadequate for the needs of the county, and that a new structure is necessary for the purposes of a courthouse for county offices and for jail purposes."

"Resolved further, that in the judgment of this board the sum of $400,000 is sufficient to cover the cost of a new building and equipment for such use adequate to the needs of St. Louis county."

"Resolved, further, that this resolution be, and they do hereby adopt, chapter 222 of the general laws of Minnesota, for the year 1905, as preliminary to a basis for the appointment of a board of courthouse commissioners, with the powers provided in said act."

"Resolved, further, that the county auditor of said county immediately upon the passage of this resolution, forward to the judges of the district court in and for said county, a certified copy of this resolution, pursuant to the provisions of said act."

The resolution was introduced by Commissioner Sundeen, and its introduction brought forth a great deal of discussion. muslin in American-made and French hand-made, in full and exclusive novelties for the season of 1906. Judgment to the amount of $600, with interest in favor of the Lake Superior Investment company against J. McKee and Oline E. Olson, has been ordered by Judge Ensign. Olson, who is a Richland county, N. D., farmer, executed a promissory note for $600 to McKee Brothers, Jan. 8, 1906. The note was afterward assigned to the plaintiff and suit was brought to recover.

The funeral of Mrs. Martha Smith will be held from her late residence, 2 Chester Terrace at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. John E. Wolcott, N. Y., her former home, for interment.

A meeting will be held at the Labor Union hall this evening by friends of Alderman William E. McEwen of the regular meeting in February, but were unsuccessful.

He is sick at present and his friends wish to take care of his interests in the coming election.

The congregation of Bethany Lutheran church of Twenty-third avenue West and Third street voted last night to call as pastor of the church Rev. Theodore Ekblad, of Rock Island, Ill.

The church council met a short time ago and decided to present the name of Mr. Ekblad to the congregation. The vote last night to call the Rock Island clergyman was almost unanimous.

Ekblad is a solicitor for Augustana college at Rock Island and is well and favorably known among the Lutherans of the Augustana synod. He is said to be scholarly, equally facile in Swedish and English and a man of large ability. Mr. Ekblad does not even know that the call was to have been extended to him, it is claimed, so therefore it is not known whether or not he will accept.

The congregation of Bethany church has been without a pastor ever since last June, at which time Rev. A. E. Elmquist resigned to take the pastorate of St. John's English Lutheran church of Minneapolis. The names of several clergymen were presented for call to the congregation, but in each case the congregation voted the negative.

Mr. Elmquist, back when his name was presented again for call, the congregation voted to call him. He considered the call for a long time, but a short time ago notified the church council that he had decided to stay in the Minneapolis charge. Mr. Ekblad's name is the first submitted since Mr. Elmquist refused to return.

BITTER ANIMOSITIES FORGOTTEN AND SENATOR SPOONER ESCORTS HIS COLLEAGUE TO THE VICE PRESIDENT

A TERRIFIC WIND STORM

Sweeps Chicago, Killing One Man and Injuring a Score.

Property to the Amount of Over $100,000 is Destroyed.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Thomas D. Henderson was killed and a score of persons were injured and fully $100,000 worth of property destroyed by a wind storm which struck Chicago last night. At one time during the storm, which was the worst since the Chicago fire of 1871, the wind reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour. In many parts of the city pedestrians narrowly escaped being killed by flying signs or falling chimneys. Along the north shore of Lake Michigan, where the wind blew with greatest force, trees were uprooted, and everything movable was torn away. In the city, where the wind was not so strong as in the city proper, the wind wrecked great havoc, the greatest loss being sustained by the Illinois Steel company, whose blast furnace and the hearth furnace under course of construction by the Illinois Steel company were blown down. The workers on the furnace at the time, but all escaped unhurt. The company estimates their loss at $50,000.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Robert M. La Follette was sworn in today as a senator from Wisconsin. Ten minutes before the session opened, the door of the Republican cloak room opened, and Senator Spooner and his new colleague entered the chamber. This caused a mild sensation, for it was known that there had been bitter political feeling existing between them, and that their personal relations had become somewhat strained in consequence. It was not known up to within a short time whether or not Mr. Spooner would escort his colleague to the desk to take the oath, or that Mr. La Follette would accept the escort, but as this was arranged, the two senators entered the chamber.

Mr. Spooner, before the session, introduced a number of senators to Mr. La Follette, and they were escorted to the house from Wisconsin joined the senators and shook hands with them.

Mr. La Follette, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. La Follette, entered the gallery, and many other Wisconsin people were in the public galleries. Mr. La Follette was then called to order. Mr. Spooner invited Mr. La Follette to a seat beside him, in the second row, on the Republican side of the chamber, just off the center aisle.

The reading of the journal had not progressed far, when Mr. Spooner moved to this formal be dispensed with. This motion was agreed to, and Mr. Spooner lost no time in announcing the presence of his colleague, "Mr. La Follette," and in announcing that he was now in attendance and I ask that the oath to office be administered to him."

Mr. La Follette then arose and Mr. Spooner walked down the aisle and across the chamber to the desk of the new senator, and placed his hand on the senator's shoulder. The incident's desk. They were the objects of general observation, and the fact that Mr. Spooner was escorting Mr. La Follette was made manifest by a general murmur in the galleries, which were well filled.

The ceremony at the desk was brief. The new senator was received by the vice president at the threshold of his seat, and Mr. Spooner placed a cordial shake of the hand. The oath was immediately administered. After the reading of the journal was resumed, Mr. Spooner, who had taken her, was escorted to the seat assigned him among those of the Republican side of the Democratic side of the chamber.

WANT MILEAGE FOR OFFICERS

Congress Asked to Amend Law Regarding Men on Retired List.

Washington, Jan. 4.—The secretary of war today sent to the speaker of the house a letter asking that congress so amend the law prohibiting retired officers, above the grade of major, receiving any pay or allowance beyond their full retired pay, so as to permit retired officers performing militia inspections, under the orders of the war department, to obtain mileage for the reimbursement of their travel expenses. The controlling of the document rendered an opinion that mileage is an allowance, "within the meaning of the act of congress prohibiting allowances to these officers," whereas the department does not regard mileage as an allowance, properly so-called, but merely a reimbursement of money expended from the pay of an officer in meeting his travel expenses.

ment has been deprived of the services of retired officers in making inspections under the militia law, as it would be manifestly unjust to require these officers to pay their travel expenses out of their own pockets, and, as matters stand, there is no way in which they could be reimbursed.

a sergeant of artillery to change his seat at a theater, First Lieut. Roy N. Taylor of the coast artillery is reduced in rank twelve numbers. He was tried by court-martial last week and the verdict was announced yesterday. The

CAREFUL INVESTIGATION WILL BE MADE OF MYSTERIOUS DEATH

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 4.—An autopsy which will be held upon the body of Charles A. Edwards, the New York business man, who was fatally shot in a mysterious manner while the guest of his brother-in-law, Charles A. Hiller, statement of Dr. B. H. Cheney, who was summoned to attend the injured man, that the hole of the car was black with powder stains around the wound. Dr. Cheney found no stains on Mr. Edward's fingers.

On College street, yesterday, is expected to determine whether the shooting was a suicide or murder. In case the latter is indicated, the police will proceed to run down some clues which they possess, but which do not seem to be sufficient to lead to a result. When Dr. Benjamin H. Cheney was called in to see the dying man yesterday, he found him lying on his back, until he turned Edwards over. He ran a probe into the wound and located the bullet in the lower section of the brain. The bullet has not been removed.

After the autopsy Coroner Mix is expected to report that the man died for many hours last night by his deputy, Philip Pond. Over night no clues were brought to light by the coroner's jury, and he will now examine the Hiller homestead. A servant girl in a neighboring house had told of hearing three men quarrel last night, and the police, with scrupulous care of the walls and ceilings of several rooms to see if any stray bullet had been fired, and they were fired at close range is indicated by the

there were disagreements between Mrs. Edwards, wife of the dead man, and her brothers, Charles A. and Maxey Edwards, who live in the city. The wife of their mother, Mrs. Abigail Hiller, who died six weeks ago, Mr. Edwards recently sought court action preliminary to the trial of the case. The case is in the courts over the division of the estate, which is said to be worth $100,000.

Medical Examiner Bartlett summoned to the undertaking rooms Dr. Benjamin H. Cheney, who is the physician who is understood to represent the Hiller family, and Jay W. Seaver, formerly of Yale gymnasium, who is the physician who represents the Pond family. The surgeons viewed the body, but did not begin an autopsy, and will not do so, until they have made a preliminary examination of the opinions regarding the manner in which the death was inflicted.

The removal of the body to the police, and the removal of the police, the plumbers were set to work today in the Hiller house, tearing up the traps and plumbing, and to lay bare the main and branch water and gas pipes. No explanation was given for this move-

HAPPENINGS IN THE DAKOTAS

Business Portion of Lakota Narrowly Escapes Destruction.

NORTH DAKOTA.
Lakota—The business portion of this city had a narrow escape from destruction by fire Tuesday night. Shortly before midnight fire was discovered in the general merchandise store of Hutchins & Libby in the middle of the principal business block. The entire building and contents were burned and the fire was not under control until 5 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins, Miss Ina Johnson, Miss Helen Tennyson, Miss Clements, who lived over the store, had an exciting experience. They were awakened by dense smoke and were barely able to escape with a few valuables. The loss is $13,000, with about $8,000 insurance. The origin of the fire is not known. The department did splendid work in preventing adjoining buildings, two to four feet distant, catching fire. Fortunately there was no wind, and the water supply was adequate. Hutchins & Libby expect to rebuild and will erect a brick building.

Grand Forks.—The authorities have so far been unable to find the relatives of Thomas Curtis, who was fatally injured in the Northern Pacific coal docks at East Grand Forks. Curtis came to this city in September, 1901, and some time ago became a member of the Knights of the Maccabees. In making his application for membership, he named Mrs. Rebecca Curtis, his mother, as beneficiary. Curtis came here from Lexington, Ill., and from that city a telegram came announcing that the family had lived there, but that Mrs. Patrick Curtis lived at Nevada, Iowa.

The chief of police of that city, upon receipt of a telegram announcing the death of Thomas Curtis, evidently misconstructed it, as he replied that Thomas Curtis was in good health and lived at Beloit, Wis. No reply has been received from the telegram addressed to Mrs. Curtis. Officers of the Maccabees, as well as the Northern Pacific Beneficiary association, are anxious to find relatives of the dead man. Unless they are heard from soon, the beneficiary association will bury the body here.

Fargo—The Tri-State Grain and

Stock Growers' convention is the only one of its kind in the state for which the railroad grant a flat rate of a fare for the round trip, without the red tape incident to the certificate plan. The railroad companies recognize that the conventions have become fixed features and wish to assist the movement. The coming convention will be held Jan. 10-12. The programs are on the press and will be issued in a day or two. Prominent farmers, stockmen, dairymen and others will speak, and President Hill of the Great Northern and others will deliver addresses on drainage features.

One-third of the 750 arrests made in the past year were for drunkenness. The largest number were in October, and April, and the greatest number of vags was in April.

Bonesteel.—The body of an unknown man, supposed to be that of Peter Kaden, formerly of Hoskins, Neb., was found yesterday in a well thirty miles west of Bonesteel, on the Rosebud reservation.

An investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death is being made by the coroner, as foul play is suspected.

GEORGE WASHINGTON A BURLAR.
Helena, Mont., Jan. 4.—George Washington, colored, who during the week was convicted upon the charge of burglarizing a saloon, was before Judge Henry C. Smith yesterday for sentence, and was given, in addition to a good lecture, fifteen months in the state penitentiary. The testimony showed Washington, after gaining an entrance to a saloon, made use of a hatchet in prying open one of the slot machines, from which he extracted about $5. Unlike the "father of his country," however, the Helena Washington would not admit the use of the hatchet, swearing, instead, that he was asleep at the time of the burglary.

A Jamaican Lady Speaks Highly of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mrs. Michael Hart, wife of the superintendent of cart service at Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies Islands, says that she has for some years used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, croup and whooping cough, and has found it very beneficial. She has inspired confidence in it and would not be without a bottle of it in her home. Sold by all leading druggists.

DIVIDED ON THE TARIFF.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Secretary of State Elihu Root is opposed to the McCleary bill, fixing the Dingley rates of tariff duties as the minimum, and then imposing 25 per cent additional tax on imports from Germany, in the event that that country puts its new tariff schedules into effect March 1.

It is given out in official circles that Secretary Root is making substantial progress in his preliminary negotiations with the German government.

Some time ago President Roosevelt, desiring a discussion of the situation with Secretaries Root and Shaw, agreed that there should be mutual concessions between the two standpoints, regarding the tariff duties. This was before Secretary Shaw had decided to remain in the cabinet until the close of the present session of congress. It is now announced that Secretary Shaw has changed his views and, as the leading exponent of the standpoints, would prefer some such measure as McCleary's retaliatory bill.

Hence, there is some difference of opinion in the cabinet, as well as in congress, regarding the commercial situation with Germany, which will soon be the leading question before congress.

Secretary Root favors the Lodge bill, which fixes the present Dingley rates as the maximum, in accordance with the demands of the national reciprocity conference at Chicago last summer, and provides for a reduction of these rates under reciprocal trade arrangements with any country that may desire to treat with the United States on that basis.

Secretary Shaw leans towards the McCleary bill, which fixes the Dingley rates as a minimum, and provides for an increase of these rates on imports from all countries, which, like Germany, may be preparing to wage a tariff war against the United States.

Brings Bellock Back.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Magie was expected to reach Duluth from Chicago today with George B. Bellock, who is wanted here on suspicion of being a Bowery merchant some weeks ago. Bellock was arrested by the Chicago authorities yesterday and turned over to Deputy Sheriff Magie. When asked whatever of the crime this is the second trip the county judge made to Chicago for Bellock. Several days ago he was arrested by the Chicago authorities and released on bond. He disappeared and left a trail of mystery to make good the amount of his bond.

HEPBURN'S RATE BILL

Provides for Increasing Commerce Commission to Nine Members.

Definition of Transportation Includes Everything Regarding Shipments.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Representative Hephburn of Iowa today introduced his railroad rate bill, which has been anxiously awaited, as Mr. Hephburn is chairman of the interstate and foreign commerce committee of the house. The bill is similar to the Dingley bill, and embraces, in a modified form, many features of the measure recently prepared by the interstate commerce commission. It is more comprehensive than any measure yet introduced, and in Mr. Hephburn's opinion, it is so framed that it will satisfactorily regulate refrigerator cars, do away with "midnight tariffs," and abolish other alleged injustices aimed at by the pending bills. The bill increases the interstate commerce commission to nine members, and fixes the annual salary of each at $10,000. Its most essential departure from the other bills is its greatly enlarged definition of "transportation," as used in the act. The word is defined as follows:

"Transportation shall include cars and other vehicles and all instrumentalities and facilities of shipment or carriage irrespective of ownership or of any contract, express or implied, for the use thereof, and all services in connection with the receipt, delivery, elevation and transfer in transit, ventilation, refrigeration or icing, storing and handling of property transported."

After defining transportation, the bill provides:

"It shall be the duty of every carrier subject to the provision of this act to provide and furnish such transportation upon reasonable request therefor, and to establish through rates and just and reasonable rates applicable thereto."

This provision requiring railways to furnish icing and other facilities is regarded by Mr. Hephburn as a strong feature of the measure. It is also provided in the bill that the commission is to have authority to fix a maximum rate.

"Midnight tariffs" are to be abolished by a provision that no schedule is to be changed without thirty days' notice.

Washington, Jan. 4.—More than the average attendance of members were in their places when the house met for its first session after the holiday recess today.

Regarding a serious, an editorial statement in a local paper that members of the house abuse the franking privilege to the extent of sending cows, farm animals, libraries and kitchen utensils free through the mails, Mr. Sims (Tenn.) obtained leave to assert that an investigation should be made.

That the statement was only an outburst of vivid imagination was asserted both by Mr. Mann (Ill.) and Republican floor leader, Mr. Payne (N. Y.). When he concluded, Mr. Payne presented a resolution for investigation by the committee on post offices and post roads, "as to whether or not there are or have been abuses of the franking privileges by members of congress or in the name of members of congress."

The resolution was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Payne the house resumed consideration of the presidential message, making reference of it by topic to the various committees. Mr.

Payne withdrew the amendment which had caused the seven days of discussion before the holiday recess—the reference to the part relating to insurance to the ways and means committee. He stated that it was his understanding that Mr. Hephburn would not press his amendment making reference of the topic to the interstate and foreign commerce committee. Mr. Hephburn at once submitted an amendment referring the whole question of the control of corporations other than railways to the judiciary committee with instructions "to report fully at an early day, their views as to the power of the federal government by legislation to regulate or control said corporations in the management or control of their business and business matters and if said power exists, the extent of such power and under what provisions of the constitution it is conferred upon congress."

This amendment was agreed to without objection and as there was no discussion of other items, the reference of the entire message was made according to the terms of the resolution.

The Philippine tariff bill was then taken up. Consideration of the bill was conducted in committee of the whole with Mr. Olmstead (Pa.) in the chair. After the bill had been read Mr. Payne in charge of the measure took the floor.

Mr. Mondell (Wyo.) wished to know if debate was to be limited. There were, he said, a number of members on the Republican side who wished to oppose the bill. The debate, Mr. Payne replied, would continue at the pleasure of the house and opportunity would be given to all.

Mr. Payne then explained the details of the bill.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, Jan. 4.—In the senate today, Mr. Tillman presented the following resolution:

"Resolved, that the president be requested to inform the senate, if not incompatible with the public affairs, whether or not President Morfies carried his government with him when he disappeared from the capital, or whether he left it behind, and whether the American officers who have been in charge of the customs house are still performing that work and if so under what arrangement and by what authority."

Mr. Tillman asked for immediate consideration of the resolution, but Mr. Spooner objected and it went over. Mr. Spooner said that he desired to hear the South Carolina senator on the resolution before voting on it.

At 2:14 the senate went into executive session. At 2:35 p. m. on motion of Mr. Aldrich, the senate adjourned until Monday.

FEDERAL DRAINAGE BILL

Applying to Minnesota Is Introduced by Congressman Stearnson.

Washington, Jan. 4.—(Special to The Herald).—Representative Stearnson today introduced a bill appropriating receipts from the sale of public lands in Minnesota to the construction of drainage works for the reclamation of swamp and overflowed lands. The bill provides that all moneys received from the sale of public land in Minnesota, beginning with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, including surplus fees and commissions, in excess of allowances to registers and receivers, and excepting 5 per cent from sale of public lands set aside for educational purposes, shall be set aside in the United States treasury, to be known as the "drainage reclamation fund," to be used in the examination and survey for and construction of drainage works for the reclamation of swamp and overflowed lands on the public domain and ceded Indian lands to Minnesota.

CERTIFICATES FOR INDIANS.

General Land Office Instructions to Protect Allotments.

Commissioners Richards of the general land office has sent communications to the various land offices relative to the trespass of white men on Indian allotment lands. The one received at the Duluth land office reads as follows:

"The commissioner of Indian affairs has advised this office that many Indians who have allotments on the public domain have had their lands trespassed upon by white men, who pay no attention to their claim to the same. He has expressed the opinion that such Indians should be provided with certificates which will show trespassers where the lands located by the Indians are and the nature of their claim to the same, and which will give the Indians some standing in the local courts in suits for trespass."

"The commissioner of Indian affairs stated that, as far as it is known to him, the local officers have not been required to furnish such certificates, but that a certificate, or receipt, has in some cases been furnished by the receiver. He suggests that the various local officers be instructed to issue such certificates in the case of allotment applications hereafter placed of record."

The commissioner encloses with the letter certificate blanks which are heretofore to be given to allotment Indians.

CONDITION OF MONEY MARKET

A Disgrace to the Country and Must Be Changed, Says Schiff.

New York, Jan. 4.—In a speech before the chamber of commerce today, Jacob H. Schiff, head of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., declared that unless something is done for currency reform there will be a panic in this country. He said he regarded the need of a more elastic currency as of prime importance, but would not favor the plan recently outlined by Secretary Shaw of an emergency circulation. Mr. Schiff said he rather favors a circulation based upon commercial paper and which might be issued through the clearing houses. Secretary Shaw's plan, he thought, would facilitate speculation rather than legitimate business interests.

Mr. Schiff said it was a disgrace to the country to see the money market in such a condition. It has been for the last six days. "If this condition is changed," said Mr. Schiff, "there will be a panic in this country, compared with the nervous ones which occur when the money market is tight. It would be commendable."

There was a sharp drop in prices on the stock exchange as soon as the tenor of Mr. Schiff's speech became known. The active speculative shares were principally affected. Anaconda declined 3 1/2 units to 10 1/2; American Smelting, 2 1/2; and Reading, 2.

MEN'S OVERCOATS

Columbia January Sale No. 1

This is going to be a typical Columbia sale—an honest sale of honest merchandise—a sale that will make every man who wears away one of our overcoats feel satisfied with himself and his bargain.

Every man, woman and child in Duluth has already found out or is bound to learn that a Columbia Sale is "different"—that it has no resemblance to the continuous round of clothing sales thrown out as decoys by the catch-as-catch-can sort of stores.

You will always find Columbia advertisements substantiated at the store, and this January Sale will prove another solid stone in the foundation upon which we are building up not only the largest but the BEST clothing house in the states of Minnesota and Wisconsin.

TAKE THE ELEVATOR TO THE SECOND FLOOR.

$14.50

for the unreserved choice of any fancy colored overcoat in our stock, including our finest Stein-Bloch and Sincerity coats of fancy fabrics

$10.50 for any fancy overcoat heretofore selling at $18.00 and $15.00 $10.50

PLAIN BLACK, PLAIN BLUE AND PLAIN BROWN OVERCOATS WILL BE SOLD AS FOLLOWS:

$29.00 Our finest Stein-Bloch made $29.00 $40.00 and $45.00 Overcoats at

ALL $35 COATS, IN PLAIN COLORS, AT	$25.00	FOR ANY $15 COAT OF PLAIN COLOR.	$10.50
ALL $25 COATS, IN PLAIN COLORS, AT	$17.50	FOR ANY $12.50 COAT OF PLAIN COLOR.	$8.50
ALL $20 COATS, IN PLAIN COLORS, AT	$14.50	FOR ANY $10 COAT OF PLAIN COLOR.	$7.00
ALL $18 COATS, IN PLAIN COLORS, AT	$12.50	FOR ANY $8 COAT OF PLAIN COLOR.	$5.50

In introducing our annual overcoat sales in Duluth we are not trying to attract the public by statements that are not strictly true.

Everything we advertise will be on our counters exactly as stated. We are not going to advertise every $35 or $30 overcoat at $15 because we cannot do these things without losing a great deal of money, and it is reasonable to believe that none of us are here for that purpose, and none are really doing it.

What you read here we will do and do it to the letter.

FUR LINED COATS

$60 for any fur lined coat which was $75.00 or $80.00 yesterday. $50 for fur lined coats which were heretofore $65.00.

$38 for $50 Coats $30 for $40 Coats
$33 for $45 Coats $25 for $35 Coats

In considering Columbia price reductions, please bear in mind that not having cut-price sales all the year around, our first price marks are fairer and far below those of any other Duluth store.

FUR OVERCOATS

1/5 OFF TWENTY PER CENT REDUCTION! 1/5 OFF on any and all of our fur coats, including dog, goat, imitation bear, Russian calf and raccoon coats—and remember that the regular Columbia prices are the lowest on record in Duluth.

THIS SALE WILL BE STRICTLY FOR CASH AND WILL OPEN FRIDAY AT 8 A. M.

Columbia January Sale No. 2

$5 A SUIT SENSATIONAL MEN'S SUIT OFFER $5 A SUIT
OF FORMER $12.00 TO $25.00 SUITS.

Columbia January Sale No. 2

All odds and ends in our Suit Department go into this sale. Stein-Bloch, Sincerity and Washington suits which sold at from $12 to $25. Everything left in the store that bore the Burrows label. About 200 suits and most of them small sizes.

This is strictly speaking a rummage sale. There is hardly a pair of trousers in the whole lot of suits which is not worth the price we ask for the whole suit.

There are not over one or two of a kind, which makes them bad for us and renders us willing to stand any loss to dispose of them, but to you, if we have your size, they are surely just as good as though we had a hundred of each.

We want every one of these suits to go and have made the price accordingly. Those who come first will get the better ones, but whatever suit you get of these at $5 will be a bargain not soon forgotten.

THIS SALE WILL BE STRICTLY FOR CASH—BUT AS ALWAYS: YOUR MONEY BACK IF YOU ARE NOT SATISFIED

MANY KNOTS
ARE UNTIEDThirteen Divorce Cases Disposed of in District Court.Majority of Petitions Based on Claims of Desertion.

The divorce calendar in the district court was pretty well cleaned up this morning with all three judges hearing the actions. A total of twelve cases were heard up to noon and the petitions were granted in all but two cases.

Of the divorces granted seven were on the ground of desertion and the other three for cruel and inhuman treatment of a more or less aggravated nature. There was no appearance of a defendant except in one case and that was after the court had ordered findings.

Bertha Bumpus was granted a decree of divorce from John F. Bumpus for desertion. They were married in Duluth in 1896.

Selma Hughes was granted a divorce from John J. Hughes for desertion. They were married at Cleveland in 1897.

Alvin Byrne was granted a divorce from John J. Byrne for desertion. They were married at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., in February, 1902. Byrne was an enlisted soldier and was ordered to the Philippines. The evidence showed that after he left this country he dropped communication with his wife and never had anything to do with her when he returned about a year ago.

Clara Johnston was divorced from Frank S. Johnston for desertion. They were married at Nickerson, Wis., in April, 1892.

Maud Crandall was granted legal separation from Laben Crandall on the ground of desertion. They were married in Superior in 1902 after a three month's acquaintance.

Alice Lee was divorced from Edward Lee on the grounds of drunkenness, abuse and non-support. They were married at Superior in November, 1901. Annie Timm was given a decree of divorce from August Timm on the ground of aggravated abuse and cruel treatment. They were married at Duluth in May, 1895.

Alexander Murray was legally separated from Adda Murray on the ground of desertion. They were married at Duluth a few years ago.

The divorce case of Sofia Christenson against Charles Christenson was dismissed by the court because of insufficient evidence.

Amanda Simmons was granted a divorce from Thomas L. Simmons, on the ground of cruelty. They were married at Superior, Wis., in May, 1893.

The action brought by Ida Elstad against Nils Theodore Elstad was continued for further evidence.

After the court had ordered findings for Lizzie Post against Alfred C. Post, John Marth, attorney for Post, appeared to make certain representations before the findings were drawn up and signed. The couple were married at Detroit in 1897, and have a son, who is at present living with the father and attending school. It was represented that Post had no objection to his wife getting a divorce, as he would not live with her, but he desired the custody of the boy, on the ground that the mother was unfit to take charge of him.

The husband's contention was that Mrs. Post has not conducted herself in a manner to warrant her having custody of the child.

The following jury cases have been set for trial next week:
Monday, Jan. 8—Nos. 1, 6, 10, 13, 16, 17, 18, 19, 25, 26 and 29.

Tuesday, Jan. 9—Nos. 31, 36 and 39.

A Choice Investment.

The Happy Thought and Fairview Mining Companies of Phoenix, Arizona, has opened offices at Parlor G, St. Louis hotel. The company controls three groups, consisting of a total of sixteen mining claims, together with reduction plant, tram camp, office and assay buildings, sawmill and five thousand feet of tunneling already done, and has begun shipping ore. A block of stock is being offered at an exceptionally low price, when the immense value of the property is considered. In order to raise money to put in an electric plant. This company certainly offers a rare chance for profitable investment.

NO TROPHY GAMES.

St. Louis Contest Should Reach Finals by End of Week.

No games were played last evening at the curling rink in the trophy contest. Several practice games were played, but none were marked up in the records as trophy games.

The St. Louis trophy contest has now reached the second round, and if the games are played off promptly the contest should reach the finals before the end of the week.

Two or three games have been played in The Herald and Caledonia contests, but not much progress is expected to be made in these before the opening of the Northwestern bospital a week from Monday.

High Class Tailoring,
Phoenix Block.MEETING DUE TO BE CALLEDNo Date Yet Set for Northern League Annual Conference.

Nothing has yet been heard from President Kent regarding the annual meeting of the Northern Baseball league.

The meeting is usually held during the month of December or early in January. It was planned to hold a meeting last month, but it was postponed from time to time, and no date has been set for it. It will probably be called before the end of the month, however.

The meeting is for the purpose of electing the league officers, and of making arrangements for the coming season. The schedule committee will be appointed, and also a committee to consider the enlargement of the league to include eight clubs. It was thought best to let the arrangements go until after the first of the year, but there is now no longer any reason for delay, and the meeting is likely to be called at any time.

COMPLETES ITS WORK QUICKLYGrand Jury Expected to Make Its Report by Night.

The grand jury for the January term of district court, which organized yesterday afternoon with C. H. Dornier as foreman, expects to finish its duties in a most expeditious manner by completing the investigations and making its report this afternoon.

Three returns were made this morning, of which only one was made public, and its contents the evening of Nov. 25 last. The register was valued at $150 and it is alleged to have contained $25 in money.

The grand jury had its morning's work and a few cases to be disposed of this afternoon to report to the court this afternoon, but it was expected that the session would be closed in time to permit the range jurors catching their trains for home.

MORE STRENUOUS POLICY.

The municipal court jury calendar no longer occupies from four days to a week, as it formerly did.

Judge Windom has adopted a strenuous policy in running through the jury cases that has cut down the length of time required to about two or three days.

Both courtrooms are kept busy, and the jury cases are run off just as fast as they can be heard. Sometimes three or four short cases are disposed of in a day, and the calendar that was called Tuesday will be completed by tonight.

The rush results in a saving of from $50 to $200 a term to the city. The jury fees amount to from $30 to $48 a day, and when two or three days can be cut off at every calendar the total saving to the city rapidly mounts up.

IN FAVOR OF CHIEF BLACKMunicipal Court Jury Returns a Verdict for the Defendant.Former Fireman Fails to Collect Claim for Services Rendered.

The sealed verdict returned by the jury last evening in the case of Herman Wendlandt against Chief Black of the fire department proved to be in favor of the defendant, and the former fireman will be unable to collect any part of the claim of $180 which he held against the chief.

The case went to the jury shortly before 5 o'clock last evening, after Capt. McDonald testified that he had heard Wendlandt say that he was looking for satisfaction in his suit, and that if he failed to collect he would have the satisfaction of suing the chief anyway. Wendlandt denied making any such statement.

"He told me," said Capt. McDonald, "that had he gotten his promotion, he would not have thought of bringing suit to collect this money."

The jury evidently held that any service performed by Wendlandt had been done out of a desire to please the chief, and that the latter had never instructed Wendlandt to perform the duties in connection with the carrying for the pony belonging to the chief's son.

Throughout the trial Chief Black consistently denied that he had ever instructed or asked Wendlandt to care for the pony, but claimed that the latter had voluntarily done it, and that once, when the pony was taken from the chief's stable, it was a case of the chief's word against Wendlandt's, and the jury evidently decided to accept the chief's.

Wendlandt, on the other hand, claimed that the chief had told him to care for the pony, and that he had promised to "make it right with him."

This was practically the only point under dispute in the case, as the defense admitted that Wendlandt attended to the pony while it was kept in the department stables. It was a case of the chief's word against Wendlandt's, and the jury evidently decided to accept the chief's.

Arrest of John McLean at Superior.

Is John McLean, who is under arrest at Superior, Wis., on the charge of being concerned in the safe robbery at Nebagamon, last week, the "Muck" McLean that the St. Louis county authorities have been trying to locate to arrest on the charge of seriously assaulting a man at Hibbing, the evening of Dec. 26?

Information that the McLean held by the Douglas county authorities for the safe robbery might be the McLean wanted here, reached the sheriff's office this morning, and this afternoon it was expected to make an investigation and demand the prisoner, if he turned out to be "Muck" McLean.

The McLean wanted by the authorities of this county is claimed to have struck a drunken man over the head with a piece of pipe following a quarrel. The victim of the assault barely survived his life hanging by a thread for several days. McLean disappeared immediately after the trouble and up to the present time his whereabouts has not been known.

McLean will be remembered as one of the principal witnesses in the Chisholm carnival cases which were tried here a few months ago, when an attempt was made to convict William Grant, president of the village with

ROSS IS CHIEF.

Clan Stewart Installs Its Officers and Have Dance After.

Clan Stewart, No. 50, Order of Scottish Clans, installed officers last evening, John Christie, formerly chief of Clan MacKenzie of Boston, acting as installing officer. He was assisted by W. B. Henderson. Following the installation was a dance, which was very much enjoyed.

The officers installed follow:
Chief, John G. Ross, re-elected; tiler, James D. McGhie; chaplain, Henry Taylor; secretary, Malcolm Macdonald; financial secretary, John Burnett; treasurer, William Young; senior benchman, A. G. McKnight; junior benchman, Robert Ross; Kinsch, J. J. McKnight; Robert Henry; sentinel, Samuel Gillespie; pipers, John Smith; trustees, James Dingwall, Alexander Anderson and Colin Thomson.

were outspoken in their determination to maintain the fight.

New York, Jan. 4.—At the office of the local typothetae a statement was issued today declaring that satisfactory progress is being made in its war with the union and stating its purpose to fight to the end for the principle of the open shop. The statement concludes:

The Trow Printing company, one of the independent concerns also issued a statement in which the situation was described and the declaration was made that the contest will be kept up.

TAKES UP CHECKS.
Case of Getting Money Under False Pretenses Is Dropped.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 4.—Thomas Halverson, a prominent farmer living at Mackinac, N. D., yesterday made good a number of checks issued by him over a year ago to a number of merchants in this city and a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses preferred against him by one of those who cashed one of the worthless checks, which were drawn on the Scandia American bank of Grand Forks, was allowed to drop.

NEARLY HAD TO PAY FARE.
Awful Predicament of Congressmen on Baltimore & Ohio Train.

Washington, Jan. 4.—A bunch of congressmen, among them Ramsey of Minnesota, came near to being obliged to pay their railroad fares from about half the amount they had intended to pay, when they boarded the Baltimore & Ohio train Sunday afternoon for Chicago, and when they got down into Ohio the collector who took charge then, approached all of them in this wise:

"My instructions are to take all transportation up and require to pay full fare. In view of the fact, however, that there are so many of you in the same boat, I have rephrased headquarters for instructions."

Later instructions came to permit the holders of passes to travel to Washington on them, and each congressman saved about $10.

EXPECT RUSSIA TO REPUDIATE STORY.

London, Jan. 4.—It was learned at the foreign office today that Great Britain anticipates that Russia will repudiate the statement made by Admiral Rojestvensky, in a letter published in the Novoe Vremya in St. Petersburg yesterday that the British fleet in Far Eastern waters intended to crush the Russians in case the Japanese failed to do so at the sea of Japan, which the foreign office declares is "absolutely unfounded."

Washington, Jan. 4.—The strike of union printers in establishments, which have refused to grant the demand for an eight-hour day and a closed shop was inaugurated here today. About one hundred and twenty-five men are affected. Most of the shops anticipated the strike and were able to put to work a full force of non-union printers. From statements made on both sides it is a fight to a finish. No disorders accompanied the going out of the men.

By noon a break occurred in the ranks of the typothetae, two firms employing but a few men according to the demands of the union. Another shop, independent, also signed the union scale. The larger concerns, however,

BLAZE WAS COSTLY ONE

Bad Fire Starts In Building of Sattler Liquor Company.

Firemen Unable to Learn the Cause of the Blaze.

Fire broke out in the building occupied by the Sattler Liquor company at 214-216 West Michigan street about 8 o'clock last evening and caused a loss estimated at from $20,000 to $25,000, divided between the Sattler Liquor company, the Tom Reed Cigar company and G. G. Dickerman & Company, the owners of the building.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The alarm was given by J. H. Nolen, treasurer of the Knudsen-Ferguson company, who was at work in the office when he noticed smoke. He sought the location of the fire and on looking out the rear window, saw flames shooting out a distance of fifty feet from the third story of the building. While a chemical was at work in the elevator shaft.

It required about fifteen minutes work on the part of the firemen to get the fire under control, but during that time it blazed up fiercely.

The firemen were unable to ascertain the cause of the blaze. The building is heated throughout with steam and it is claimed that it could not have been caused by faulty wiring. It is possible that defective wiring may have been responsible for it, as a current was known to have been leaking from a switch.

It is believed that the fire started on the second floor, occupied by the Sattler Liquor company, and worked its way upward and downward from there. The greatest damage to the building was at the rear of the second story around the elevator shaft, stairway and also on the third floor of the building.

The cigar company occupied the third floor of the building and the company's stock is almost a complete loss. The stock and fixtures are valued at about $12,000 and are insured for about half of their value. Manager McGuirk was loath to discuss the amount of the insurance or the value of the stock, but the absence of the proprietor, who is in St. Paul.

The loss to the stock of the Sattler Liquor company is placed at from $10,000 to $12,000. Insurance to the amount of $5,000 is carried, so that the loss will be fully covered. Mr. Sattler stated last evening that he believed that the prompt work of the salvage corps in extinguishing the fire saved an additional loss of about $5,000.

Owing to the dense smoke on the third floor the corps was unable to do much toward saving the stock of the cigar company.

The loss to the building will be fully covered by insurance. About thirty hands will be thrown out of employment temporarily at least by the destruction of the cigar company's factory.

The building, owned by G. G. Dickerman & Company, was insured to the extent of $10,000. The policies were placed by the owners with the Svea, Polican and Calcedonia companies. The former carried $5,000, the Calcedonia $2,000 and the Polican $2,000.

The Sattler Liquor company's stock was insured to the extent of $25,000. The Knudsen-Ferguson company carried $5,000, the Tom Reed Cigar company $2,000 and the G. G. Dickerman & Company $2,000. The remainder of the insurance was divided up between the companies represented by C. H. Graves, the Clarke-Hopworth agency, G. G. Dickerman and Julius Abrahamson.

ON HIS DEATHBED TOLD OF MURDERS

Committed In His Sister's Home But Nothing Discovered.

London, Ohio, Jan. 4.—James Burchell, an old citizen, died the middle of last week, and while on his deathbed made a confession to knowledge concerning two or three murders during the past three or four years. Up until a few weeks ago the old man made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Woolsey, at the corner of High and Oak streets.

The statement he made is in the possession of Coroner Carl, who, with the assistance of Prosecutor Hornbeck, has commenced, but so far there have been no developments. It is claimed that the old man claimed to have killed some twenty or thirty persons, and that he was an eye-witness to some of the proceedings.

The statement was to the effect that a young girl met her death in an upstairs room, and also that a baby had met a similar fate, the body being buried under the house. The old man claimed to have killed some twenty or thirty persons, and that he was an eye-witness to some of the proceedings.

Prosecutor Hornbeck did not know until the investigation was conducted that he had been warned never to divulge the statement.

Just about the time it is supposed the mysterious crimes were committed at the Woolsey home, ex-Mayor John F. Johnston suddenly disappeared and his whereabouts are still a mystery. The report is current that he met his death at the home of Mrs. Woolsey, and that his body was buried under the house. The old man's friends laugh when the story is told, saying that the old man is a few weeks away from his death.

Whether anything in the Burchell story or not is a creating considerable talk and all sorts of rumors are heard.

MORMONS MENACE.

Delphians of Y. M. C. A. Places Them as Worse Than Chinese.

A short time ago a debating society was formed in the Y. M. C. A., but at that time no name other than "The Debating Society" was given it. It was decided last evening, however, to call it the "Delphians of Y. M. C. A." and that will henceforth be its name. The club met last night and discussed the question of the Mormons as a greater menace to the United States than the Chinese.

The club members, who are J. H. Murray and H. B. Stevenson took the affirmative side of the measure, while E. P. Smith and Chester Bullock took the negative. The affirmative were decided winners by the judges, who were J. A. Goodell, F. T. Downing and Edward May.

Wednesday evening the club will hold another meeting and the subject for debate will be, "Resolved, that the Delphians of Y. M. C. A. are worse than the Chinese." Mr. W. E. Cowden and Thomas Goodell will take the affirmative side, while B. H. Fuller and R. Jones will take up the negative. The subject for the next meeting will be given by the judges, who are J. A. Goodell, F. T. Downing and Edward May.

APPLIED AS A COLD CREAM ACTS AS A MEDICINE.

Wherever applied, its healing and nourishment is instantly absorbed by the pores. It strengthens and builds up the tissues underlying the skin and firm, healthy flesh is the result.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD is no new experiment. It has been in use for more than thirty years and during that time thousands of women and men have used it with entire satisfaction.

That it is not to be classed with "Cold Creams" and other things of like superficial potency is proved by the fact that it is prescribed by leading physicians and used in hospitals for the nutrition of invalids whose stomachs are too weak to digest food.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD should be used by every woman who has the least desire to be attractive. It is the only preparation that will round out hollowed, thin cheeks or scrawny neck with firm, healthy flesh and remove wrinkles from the face and hands, no matter how deep the furrows.

WERE READY FOR ACTION

County Board Refused to Delay New Court-house Matter.

Commissioners Had Lively Discussion Before Taking Vote.

Although it was expected that the county board would pass the resolution for the building of the new courthouse, yesterday afternoon, the adoption of the measure with but one dissenting vote was a little surprise, particularly after the commissioner spent something more than half an hour discussing the matter and during which time several attempts were made to defer action for at least another month.

Further opposition on Commissioner Melvin's part was met by the adoption of an amendment to the resolution by substituting an appropriation of $400,000 for $500,000. The amount to be spent on the new building, Commissioners Kauppi and Patterson urged, was $400,000. We have already figured on but $400,000, but he remained firm and the members were anxious to pass the resolution. Finally agreed to accept the amendment.

The preliminary plan was fired by Commissioner Kugler, who as such was on the board assembled, offered a resolution that the board proceed to select an architect to assist in getting ready advertisements for plans and specifications for a new courthouse.

That Mr. Kugler had in mind did not develop as there was no discussion. Commissioners Patterson, Sundeen, Kauppi and Morcom voted against the resolution, and Commissioner Melvin and Ryan for it. This vote was understood to be an indication of how the vote would have been on a question resolution for a courthouse, but when that vote was taken Commissioners Melvin and Ryan voted affirmatively, leaving Commissioner Kugler with one lone vote against the improvement.

The discussion started a little later, when Commissioner Sundeen's courthouse resolution was introduced. Commissioner Melvin was the first to speak. He said:

"I don't consider this the proper time to introduce such a resolution. The commissioners should have discussed the matter before it was brought up here so that we could have agreed on some idea as to how to proceed. The amount stated in the resolution is more than we ought to appropriate for the purpose. The cost of the building should be discussed among ourselves. I consider the resolution a waste of time when we are loaded down with other matters."

The discussion was then given over to make necessary improvements to the old building, after waiting five or six years, and have been getting along one way or another," said Commissioner Kugler, "and as I have promised my constituents to build no more wars on this courthouse, I see no reason to hurry matters."

An appropriation of $1,200, payable in monthly installments, was made for the Duluth Humane society.

Sheriff Bates was given the contract of feeding the prisoners in the county jail the coming year at 10 cents per head per meal, the county to furnish the kitchen and fuel.

The Duluth Electrical & Construction company was awarded the contract for wiring the courthouse additions for $58. W. M. Billock was awarded the contract for furnishing the county with typewriter supplies. The Lake Superior Bag company was awarded the contract for furnishing the way of rubber bands, straps, pads, pencils, pens, etc., for $25.34. The Zenith Paper company was awarded the contract for furnishing the way of rubber bands, straps, pads, pencils, pens, etc., for $25.34. The Duluth Printing & Stationery company was awarded the contract for furnishing the way of rubber bands, straps, pads, pencils, pens, etc., for $25.34. The Duluth Printing & Stationery company was awarded the contract for furnishing the way of rubber bands, straps, pads, pencils, pens, etc., for $25.34.

The Duluth Evening Herald was awarded the contract for publishing the financial statement, the Duluth News Tribune the delinquent tax list and the Duluth Evening Herald the way of rubber bands, straps, pads, pencils, pens, etc., for $25.34.

John Schleims was awarded the contract for building an addition to the treasurer's office to cost $68.

The board rejected all bids for printed forms and stationery and authorized the treasurer to call for new bids to be submitted at a special meeting to be held Jan. 22 next.

right, to provide a fund for the courthouse without an oppressive tax on the people and any business man can understand that this plan has worked well."

Commissioner Kugler moved to amend the resolution by postponing the courthouse matter until Jan. 22. This was seconded by Commissioner Melvin.

Commissioner Sundeen, who offered the resolution then expressed himself: "I think there has been delay enough and it is time for the board to take some action. The people in my district are bothering me in the store and on the street as to when the board is going to do something about the new courthouse. If $500,000 is too much we can cut it down."

Commissioner Melvin then uncovered his hand, saying: "Commissioner Kauppi says that sometime in the future, probably in July, we will have a quarter of a million of dollars in the courthouse fund. The probability is there will be about $27,000 in the fund by July next. We have $127,000 now and expect to have $60,000 more by July. If we should pay $100,000 for a new site, which seems to be the idea, we will have only $27,000 to go ahead to start the building with."

"The people of Duluth want to build an immense courthouse down here that will cost $500,000. I want to say to the people of Duluth that it will be only a few years ago that the city was divided, and the commissioners want to be careful of the amount they are getting in the courthouse when we do get the division of our own. They will demand 60 to 65 per cent of the amount that you put in a courthouse here for a courthouse of our own. The people here should be satisfied with a courthouse not too expensive for we will have to wait one of our own in a few years and we are going to get it. You can't get away from it. That's what I believe the appropriation should be cut down $100,000. We have already figured on but $400,000 for a new building. I offer to amend the amendment to the resolution by substituting $400,000 for $500,000."

I second the amendment," said Commissioner Patterson.

The vote was then taken on the amended resolution and it was passed, Commissioner Kugler voting against it.

Amending the franchise given three years ago to the Mesaba Electric company to construct an electric car line between the towns on the Mesaba range, because the company has done nothing to date, the board granted a 25-year franchise of similar nature to the Mesaba Traction company, a new corporation which has been recently formed for the same purpose. Commissioner Melvin in introducing the resolution stated that there are people who believe the new company who have given assurance that they intend to build a line between the immediate future. He mentions E. B. Myers, president of the State Bank of Mesaba as one of the parties interested in the enterprise. The scope of the franchise is comprehensive and gives the company full rights to operate an electric car line connecting all the towns on the Mesaba range with provisions protecting the county's rights as to how to proceed.

Resolutions were passed making appropriations for clerk hire for the auditor and treasurer's offices for the coming six months, and the board continued the appointments of deputy clerks and the sheriff, the clerk of district court, and the register of deeds.

There was no change in the personnel.

William E. Conway was re-elected county assessor for the unorganized towns and Dr. C. W. Miller was elected county health officer. Dr. Miller will have the honor of serving in the office of the $25 per month that has hitherto been paid by the county.

right, to provide a fund for the courthouse without an oppressive tax on the people and any business man can understand that this plan has worked well."

Commissioner Kugler moved to amend the resolution by postponing the courthouse matter until Jan. 22. This was seconded by Commissioner Melvin.

Commissioner Sundeen, who offered the resolution then expressed himself: "I think there has been delay enough and it is time for the board to take some action. The people in my district are bothering me in the store and on the street as to when the board is going to do something about the new courthouse. If $500,000 is too much we can cut it down."

Commissioner Melvin then uncovered his hand, saying: "Commissioner Kauppi says that sometime in the future, probably in July, we will have a quarter of a million of dollars in the courthouse fund. The probability is there will be about $27,000 in the fund by July next. We have $127,000 now and expect to have $60,000 more by July. If we should pay $100,000 for a new site, which seems to be the idea, we will have only $27,000 to go ahead to start the building with."

"The people of Duluth want to build an immense courthouse down here that will cost $500,000. I want to say to the people of Duluth that it will be only a few years ago that the city was divided, and the commissioners want to be careful of the amount they are getting in the courthouse when we do get the division of our own. They will demand 60 to 65 per cent of the amount that you put in a courthouse here for a courthouse of our own. The people here should be satisfied with a courthouse not too expensive for we will have to wait one of our own in a few years and we are going to get it. You can't get away from it. That's what I believe the appropriation should be cut down $100,000. We have already figured on but $400,000 for a new building. I offer to amend the amendment to the resolution by substituting $400,000 for $500,000."

I second the amendment," said Commissioner Patterson.

The vote was then taken on the amended resolution and it was passed, Commissioner Kugler voting against it.

Amending the franchise given three years ago to the Mesaba Electric company to construct an electric car line between the towns on the Mesaba range, because the company has done nothing to date, the board granted a 25-year franchise of similar nature to the Mesaba Traction company, a new corporation which has been recently formed for the same purpose. Commissioner Melvin in introducing the resolution stated that there are people who believe the new company who have given assurance that they intend to build a line between the immediate future. He mentions E. B. Myers, president of the State Bank of Mesaba as one of the parties interested in the enterprise. The scope of the franchise is comprehensive and gives the company full rights to operate an electric car line connecting all the towns on the Mesaba range with provisions protecting the county's rights as to how to proceed.

Resolutions were passed making appropriations for clerk hire for the auditor and treasurer's offices for the coming six months, and the board continued the appointments of deputy clerks and the sheriff, the clerk of district court, and the register of deeds.

There was no change in the personnel.

William E. Conway was re-elected county assessor for the unorganized towns and Dr. C. W. Miller was elected county health officer. Dr. Miller will have the honor of serving in the office of the $25 per month that has hitherto been paid by the county.

An appropriation of $1,200, payable in monthly installments, was made for the Duluth Humane society.

Sheriff Bates was given the contract of feeding the prisoners in the county jail the coming year at 10 cents per head per meal, the county to furnish the kitchen and fuel.

The Duluth Electrical & Construction company was awarded the contract for wiring the courthouse additions for $58. W. M. Billock was awarded the contract for furnishing the county with typewriter supplies. The Lake Superior Bag company was awarded the contract for furnishing the way of rubber bands, straps, pads, pencils, pens, etc., for $25.34. The Zenith Paper company was awarded the contract for furnishing the way of rubber bands, straps, pads, pencils, pens, etc., for $25.34. The Duluth Printing & Stationery company was awarded the contract for furnishing the way of rubber bands, straps, pads, pencils, pens, etc., for $25.34.

The Duluth Evening Herald was awarded the contract for publishing the financial statement, the Duluth News Tribune the delinquent tax list and the Duluth Evening Herald the way of rubber bands, straps, pads, pencils, pens, etc., for $25.34.

John Schleims was awarded the contract for building an addition to the treasurer's office to cost $68.

The board rejected all bids for printed forms and stationery and authorized the treasurer to call for new bids to be submitted at a special meeting to be held Jan. 22 next.

The "Anna Held" is a "cultured" cigar. Real "cigar culture" begins at the beginning—on the plantation—not in the factory. It commences with the planting of the seed—and continues through the cultivation and harvesting, the sorting, the curing, the grading, the fermenting and the blending of the tobacco leaf.

ANNA HELD CIGAR—5c.

is produced under the American Cigar Company's exclusive system, which combines all these departments of cigar-development under one management, insuring the correct treatment of the tobacco from plant to purchaser. This is real cigar culture,—possible only under such a system.

You benefit—as you'll realize, when you smoke the "Anna Held."

MATERIALS IMPORTED

By Manufacturers In Eleven Months Valued at $513,000,000.

Exports of Manufactures
Were the Greatest on Record.

FROM THE HERALD
WASHINGTON BUREAU.
Washington, Jan. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manufacturers participated to the extent of more than $1,000,000,000 in the $2,500,000,000 worth of commerce of the United States during the eleven months ending with November, 1905. Figures, just supplied by the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, show that the value of manufacturers' materials imported in the eleven months ending with November was $513,000,000, and of manufactures exported, $290,000,000, speaking in round terms. This far exceeds in both imports of material and exports of manufactures the figures of any earlier year and suggests that the total for the full calendar year 1906 will be approximately $550,000,000 worth of material imported for use in manufacturing and $270,000,000 worth of manufactures exported. It will exceed by far that of any preceding year both in the imports of material for use in manufacturing and in exports of manufactures.

The value of crude material for use in manufacturing imported in the eleven months ending with November, 1905, was $200,000,000, against $205,000,000 in the same months of the preceding year, and of material partially manufactured for use in manufacturing, $145,000,000, against $122,000,000 in the same months of last year. In exports of manufactures the figures for the eleven months were $290,000,000 against $250,000,000 in the same months of last year. It was not until the calendar year 1904 that manufactures exported ever reached a total of $300,000,000, but in the calendar year 1905 they seem likely to approximate $300,000,000, since the exports of the single month of November were over $32,000,000, and suggest that December will probably add about the same amount to the eleven months' figures of $250,000,000, having for the first time crossed the $300,000,000 line, and it is thus quite apparent that the figures of the calendar year 1906 will be at least $300,000,000, and possibly more.

Foreign manufacturers have, however, not been idle during this period of unusual activity among the manufacturers from foreign countries show a marked increase in the eleven months of 1905 compared with the corresponding months of last year. The value of articles manufactured ready for consumption imported in the eleven months of 1905 amounted to $169,000,000, against $145,000,000 in the same months of last year, an increase of $24,000,000, and the group entitled "articles of voluntary use, luxuries, etc.," which is made up chiefly of manufactures (except diamonds and precious stones), also shows an increase of $21,000,000, as compared with last year, but while approximately $7,000,000 of the increase in this last-mentioned class occurs in diamonds and precious stones, it may safely be said that the imports of manufactures will show a gain of approximately $40,000,000 as compared with the same months of last year.

Imports are divided by the bureau of statistics into five great groups: Articles in crude condition, for use in manufacturing; articles wholly or partially manufactured, for use in manufacturing; articles manufactured ready for consumption; articles of voluntary use, luxuries, etc., and articles of food and live animals. In each of the first four groups, as already indicated, there has been a marked gain over 1904, though the gain in manufactures is larger than that of manufactures. In the remaining group, "articles of food and live animals," there is an increase of about $11,000,000, or approximately 5 per cent, as compared with the same months of last year. The value of the eleven months of 1905 being $252,000,000, against $240,000,000 in the same months of last year. This increase in the value of the group of food and live animals is chiefly due to the advance in foreign countries of the price of sugar. The value of sugar imports in the ten months for which detailed importations is at hand increased in value from $19,000,000, while the quantity imported fell off more than 300,000,000 pounds. Thus the increase in value is due to the increase in the price of the commodity. Imports of food and live animals in the eleven months ending with November, indicating that in other articles of food there has been a decrease. The decrease occurs chiefly in coffee, of which the imports in the ten months ending with October were about $8,000,000 below those of the preceding year.

On the export side the groups other than manufactures are agricultural products, products of mining, products of the forest, products of fisheries, and miscellaneous. The increase in agriculture there is an increase of approximately $60,000,000 in the eleven months of last year, as compared with the same months of last year. This increase in agricultural exports occurs largely in corn, of which the exports for the eleven months were $50,000,000, compared with $21,000,000 in the same months of last year, while provisions show an increase of nearly $18,000,000, and cotton an increase of about $5,500,000.

STEAMER SINKS.

Eighteen People on Board Have Narrow Escape From Drowning.

Cairo, Ill., Jan. 4.—The steamer Frank sank Tuesday night in the Mississippi river, near O'Brien's landing, about twenty miles below Cairo, with eighteen people on board, and it was with great difficulty that all were taken to the shore in safety.

The Frank left St. Louis Saturday with the James C. Moore theatrical company on board and was bound for Columbus, Ky., where the company was to perform in the opera house last night.

HIGH PRICES MAINTAINED

Demand For Copper Metal Shows No Sign of Abatement.

Consumers Buying All That Is Offered—The Copper Shares.

Copper metal continues at practically the highest prices it has made as yet and consumers are buying quickly all that is offered. Says L. Walker, weekly letter is very bullish on the situation. He says:

"Copper is very firm at practically the highest prices so far reached. Lake and electrolytic are selling for 18-19 to 19 cents per pound for immediate delivery and for future contracts at 18-19 to 19-1/2 cents. The total output of the world's mines is being taken readily at these prices. Considerably more than half of the production is already sold three to five months in advance. As there are no surplus stocks on hand to be disposed of, there is nothing in sight that is at all likely to cause a decline in prices.

Current metal literature is calling attention to the fact that exports will probably be 40,000 tons less this year than last, and pointing out that this decrease in exports in foreign and an increase in domestic consumption. As a matter of fact, European consumption is being held up by the long period of low prices, and as a result they had very little working supplies on hand at the beginning of the present year. On the other hand, domestic consumers were skeptical and bought only on hand to mouth. To be exact, therefore, the decreased exports reflect a very large increase in domestic consumption; but they do not indicate a reduced foreign consumption. European consumers will begin the new year with unexpectedly small supplies on hand, and unless the Russian disturbance unsettles foreign business conditions, Europe will use a great deal more copper in 1906 than ever previously.

"There is the best reason for this, that the largest copper producing countries in the world would rather sell copper at 18 cents per pound than at 19 cents. It is not improbable, therefore, that an effort will be made to ease quotations down slightly soon after the first of the year. If it is done, it is of interest in a continued healthy market. There is a manifest determination that no surplus of copper shall be allowed to accumulate in the hands of the producers at high prices. The market is natural and legitimate and it will be kept so, this being the right way and the only way to maintain confidence and prevent the possibility of abnormal fluctuations in prices.

"At the present time there is every possible reason for the belief that the average price of copper throughout the coming year will be at least 16 to 17 cents per pound; and it is by no means impossible that the average price will be 18 to 19 cents.

"THE COPPER SHARES.
"The extreme tightness of money continues to bring the market up with a quickness every time it threatens to run away. There is a big buying demand from large interests, and some important consolidation plans are being perfected. The outlook for the metal market is so much more favorable than it has been for some time that given an investment standing that they never had in the past. Broader and more active activity in copper is inevitable. The biggest need in the copper trade are not looking for a decline in prices, but for the ghost of the old-time 16-cent copper market. They have weighed the facts of the business situation and satisfied themselves that the whole trade is under way, and as a result are calculating their long time copper investments on the basis of a 15-cent average metal market.

"The opinion of the best financial authorities that the present monetary stringency will be relieved within a week or ten days. If it is, the prospect favors a very higher level of prices for copper in the early months of the new year. New York, Pittsburgh, Middle West, Montana, Utah and Arizona are taking an active part in the present movement, making by far the largest following that ever participated in a copper share boom.

The best thing about it is that the buying is not prompted by a speculative craze, but by an unprejudiced strong natural conditions. Consumption of copper has grown faster than production, and the result is a higher price for the metal, greatly increased net earnings and much bigger dividends. This means a permanently higher investment level, and speculation to discount such a development is both legitimate and beneficial speculation."

"The Grip.
"Before we can get on with others, we must have suffered ourselves. No one can realize the suffering attendant upon attack of the grip unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has ever been reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by all leading druggists.

BIG TIME IN MEADOWLAND

Farmers and Their Friends Make Merry at Schoolhouse.

Annual Christmas Tree Proves Most Successful Yet Held.

Eighty residents of Meadowlands township, north of Duluth, and many of their friends, attended what was declared to be the greatest Christmas tree celebration ever held in St. Louis county, at Meadowlands school house, last Friday night. For several years now there have been Christmas trees in that locality, but never so large, or brilliant, or satisfying, as this one.

The farmers and their friends went early and stayed late, and there was no end of merriment. The tree was really a beauty, and the entire school house exuded a holiday fragrance. The young ladies of the community decorated the interior of the school house with evergreen wreaths, red tissue paper balls and other bright things which are necessary to a complete observance of Christmas. The young ladies forgot to hang up mistletoe, but the oversight was forgiven.

The tree was actually loaded down with decorations, gifts and candy. Most of these were imported from Duluth. The familiar popcorn balls vied with the latest trinket from the toy shop in making the tree beautiful, and the general results were great. Two hundred candles were used on the tree, and when they were all lighted it presented a very pretty sight.

All of the farmers who had offspring, of course, took them to the celebration. About thirty youngsters were present, all in their best bib and tucker, and behaving like veritable angels. Like Eugene Field's youngsters, "Jes before Christmas" they were being as "good as they could be." They were rewarded for the heavily laden tree bore a stocking filled with toys and candies for all of them.

Before the big event of the evening in the eyes of the youngsters—the distribution of the gifts—a program of exercises was given by the school children, under the direction of Miss Carrie Werthing and Mrs. Marsh. The program included recitations, songs and dialogues, all of which were appropriate for the occasion.

In addition to the numbers given by the children, Messrs. John and Jacob Johnson and Thos. gave recitations on the violin and guitar, which were much enjoyed.

After the program, the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus was announced. The welcome this couple received was most cordial. Santa (very ably aided by Abraham L. McCoy of Duluth), made an address that excited all kinds of enthusiasm. His worthy spouse (in reality John Peterson of Meadowlands), also plainly showed that she was pleased with the reception she and her husband received.

After Santa's address, the distribution of the gifts began. Mr. McCoy unveiled this with clever comment, that added to the general merriment. There were at last two gifts for everyone present.

After all had received their gifts, the entire assemblage sat down to an elaborate feast that it was a late hour when the company broke up.

Among those present were: L. G. Jochim, brother of Forest Secretary of State Jochim of Michigan; Mrs. Jochim and August Jochim, from Cleveland; the Misses Hedin and their brother, who recently removed from St. Paul to their Whiteface ranch; Miss Carrie Werthing, Mrs. Marsh, Messrs. Taylor and Fletcher and Mrs. Fletcher, from Meadowlands farm; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller, J. H. Miller, Jr., and Louis Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Christiansen, and Mrs. N. G. Mattson, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kedon, Mr. and Mrs. E. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lynch, and Messrs. D. O. Anderson, Daniel Payne, John and Jacob Olson, Turnquist, A. Nelson, G. Anderson, A. Peterson, H. Peterson, Lindstrom and John Peterson.

Among those from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Pearson, Miss Matthews and Miss Johnson of Kelley; Mrs. Fowler and Miss Fowler of Payne; Miss Arnold of Whiteface lodge, and L. B. Arnold of Meadowlands farm, were up from Duluth, as was A. L. McCoy.

WEST DULUTH MATTERS OF INTEREST

To Come Up at West Duluth Commercial Club Meeting.

Smoker to be Held—West End Club Committee
Coming.

The West Duluth Commercial club will meet tomorrow evening in annual session and besides the regular business of electing officers for the year of 1906 will have various other things to attract attendance. A smoker will be given and a committee is preparing a program which will have several drawing features.

Besides, a committee from the West End Commercial club, appointed some time ago, will confer with the West Duluth club on the matter of a court-house site and also on the matter of cutting through West Superior street instead of merely widening Michigan street at the Point of Rocks. These two measures are considered to be of vital importance, and the last named particularly to West Duluth and the West end. H. H. Phelps of the West Duluth club is an advocate of cutting a tunnel through the rocks, extending West Superior street, thus leaving Michigan street for heavy teaming, the presumption being that with West Superior street widened the street car company would put its tracks up there. Members are urged to be out at this meeting. It is desired to announce also that the meeting is not for members only but for those who contemplate joining the club. The organization has proved to be of great good for West Duluth and it is desired to enlarge its membership and increase its scope. The meeting is expected to be a very enjoyable one and every effort to make it entertaining will be done.

MRS. LAMBERT DEAD.

Wife of Prominent Dentist Dies Unexpectedly of Peritonitis.

Mrs. Lambert, wife of Dr. W. H. F. Lambert, dentist, of 291 North Fifty-sixth avenue, died during the night of peritonitis. The death of Mrs. Lambert is universally regretted in West Duluth where both she and her husband were well known. The death comes as very much of a shock to her acquaintances, for her sickness was but little known. She had been ill only since Friday and was apparently not in much danger until a day or two ago. Peritonitis, however, developed from bowel trouble and the efforts made to save her were unavailing. Mrs. Lambert was a young woman, still in her twenties and was a great favorite with all who knew her. She leaves a 3-year-old daughter, Beatrice, by a former marriage, and a 2-year-old daughter, Muriel. She was married to Dr. Lambert three years ago and came to live in Duluth about a year and a half ago. No funeral arrangements have yet been made but will be as soon as her mother arrives today from St. Paul.

Glandered Horses Shot.

Seven horses kept by an outside dealer in Winnesne's barn for a few weeks past, were taken out this morning and shot because they had glanders. It is expected that a number of others will be taken out and destroyed for the same reason. It is claimed that nearly every horse in the barn is infected and an inspection will be made of the horses, which Mr. Winnesne has quarantined there and which he took a day or two ago to his logging camps up the Duluth & Iron Range road.

Very Peculiar Accident.

A peculiar accident happened to Andrew Olson of 6513 Grand avenue yesterday. Olson has one leg amputated below the knee and wears a cork leg. In place of the missing member, yesterday he was running for a car and fell on the leg. He broke the cork leg, a most dangerous and painful fracture, and is now laid up with this injury. He was removed to his home and given medical attention at once. He runs an employment office on Superior street, near Sixth avenue west.

West Duluth Briefs.

W. H. Wright is visiting in St. Paul. The Harmony club will give a private dance this evening in Carlson's hall. Sabin Forbes is up from Minneapolis visiting friends. Mrs. A. E. Sands, accompanied by her son, E. A. Sands, has gone to Pasadena, Cal., to visit until May with her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Miller. The Bible study class of the Westminister Presbyterian church will be held this evening at the residence of Rev. W. J. Lowrie, 620 North Fifty-eighth avenue west. Grand Henry, recently badly hurt by falling under a train, is out of the Duluth hospital now. Mrs. William Burdick is ill with pneumonia. Mrs. D. E. Seashore has returned from visiting her sister at Battle Lake and her parents at Fergus Falls. Miss Edna Jones, her sister, returned with her. Dr. and Mrs. Seashore have moved to 407 North Fifty-seventh avenue west. Victor and Joseph Method have gone to Saginaw, Mich., to attend their mother, who is very sick. Division No. 4, A. O. H., and the Daughters of Elks will hold a joint installation this evening. The Irving school alumni will meet tonight to check up finances from the recent minstrel show. A full attendance is desired. Home baking; orders taken for same, 510 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, grocery store. There will be a basket social at the L. S. Merrill Memorial church Friday evening, Jan. 5. Everybody invited.

MESSAGE FROM THE DEWEY.

Washington, Jan. 4.—The navy department has received the following wireless message dated Jan. 4, from the Glacier, one of the vessels towing the drydock Dewey to the Philippines: Five hundred and twenty miles southeast Cape Henry. Weather glorious; light southeast winds. Smooth sea. Spool four knots. Potomac goes Bermuda. The message is unsigned.

MYSTERY AT EMMETSBURG.

G. W. Chapman Disappears and No Trace Can Be Found.

Emmettsburg, Iowa, Jan. 4.—Emmettsburg has a mystery much like that of the George Griswold case, which recently excited Des Moines. G. W. Chapman, one of the best-known citizens of this place, has disappeared in a strange manner. He was last seen at 1 o'clock on the afternoon of Dec. 29. It has been positively determined that he did not leave the town on a passenger train. He is in the implement business, and his affairs are in good shape. Tuesday the large sewer tank was emptied of its 30,000 gallons of water, but no trace was found. One or two characters, who have since left town, are under suspicion. Chapman was last seen entering a saloon.

NO MORE INJUNCTIONS

On Ex Parte Hearings by Judge Quarles of Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Jan. 4.—There will be no more "government by injunction" in the United States court for the Eastern district of Wisconsin, at least until the opposite side in the case has had an opportunity for a hearing, according to an official pronouncement of Judge J. V. Quarles of that court. Judge Quarles said that hereafter he would issue no more injunctions upon an ex parte hearing. The defendant shall be warned of the application and have an opportunity to present his side of the case before a restraining order is issued by the branch of the United States court over which he presides.

This decision was arrived at by Judge Quarles as a result of a recent experience. Acting on a statement of facts as presented by a petitioner, the court granted and restraining order. The defendant, after the restraining order had been issued, the defendant appeared before the court and presented his side of the case, and this resulted in a modification of the injunction, placing the present status of the case until the issues shall have been determined in court. Judge Quarles himself characterized his action as being an extreme departure from the accepted practice in United States courts, but said that he had long pondered the step before arriving at a decision.

This is regarded locally as a fitting decision of the court from which was issued that well-known injunction during the A. R. troubles in 1894, the decision which, more than any other one thing, gave rise to the phrase, "government by injunction." The decision follows in every particular the recommendation made by the president in his last message to congress, especially as regards the giving of notice to the adverse party before the granting of the writ.

RAILROADS TO BUILD A RAILROAD

Duluth, Fergus Falls & Northern Company is Revived.

Annual Report of Lake Superior Car Service Association.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several years ago the citizens of Fergus Falls organized a railroad company known as the Duluth, Fergus Falls & Northern. It was incorporated and vested with all the rights of such organizations to acquire right of way, construct railroads, and operate them. This organization still has legal existence, and at a meeting of residents of the town, originally planned for it, to connect Fergus Falls by new lines of railroad with the Soo and Milwaukee roads. The following officers of the revived company were elected: J. G. Durrell, president; F. G. Barrows, vice-president; A. G. Anderson, secretary; J. S. Ulland, treasurer. These, with M. F. McMahon, James A. Brown, G. O. Dahl, E. E. Adams, U. F. Field, C. L. Hilton and E. E. Corliss, are the directors. It is the intention of the company to make surveys and estimates, and decide upon the route to connect with both the Soo and the Milwaukee, and then, if neither of these two companies will construct a line to Fergus Falls, the local company will construct one as a local enterprise. For several months the people of Fergus Falls have been agitating the railroad question, with a view to getting a connection with the Soo line, and overtures have been made several times for the purpose of getting the company to extend its line to this town. So far all such efforts have been unavailing. Durrell and others made an attempt to organize a company for the purpose of building a road from Fergus Falls to Ellsworth or Wendell, to connect with the Soo, or to Wheaton, to connect with the Milwaukee line. The latter is believed to be preferable on some grounds, as the question of the connection with Chicago, as well as with all other points on the Milwaukee system.

They Will be Considered at Hearing on January 16.

St. Paul, Jan. 4.—An important hearing before the state railroad and warehouse commission will be held on Jan. 16, when the reasonableness of the existing merchandise rates will be considered. The commission has sent notice to all the roads to be present, and they will expect to come fully prepared to consider the question, so that there will be no need of calling any more meetings.

The hearing is part of the scheme for a general revision of freight rates, the last legislature imposed upon the commission the duty of making a report to the senate and the house recites that the commission had found that the existing rates in this state with the rates in force in Illinois and Iowa, "our people are paying much higher rates than are the shippers of the states named, which seem to be the result of local conditions, development and the character of business, far states with which to make comparisons."

STORM DELAYS TRAFFIC.

Passenger and Freight Trains Are Late Because of Snow.

The storm of yesterday and last night delayed both freight and passenger traffic on all the railroads, but not very seriously. All the trains are moving, although not on schedule. The South Shore train from Marquette was five hours late this morning, owing to the heavy fall of snow, which extended all the way from Duluth to the Michigan town. The Omaha night train, due in Duluth at 11:30 a. m., was running a little more than an hour late. The Omaha night train from the Twin Cities, due here last night at 12:30 o'clock, did not pull up to the local station until after 11 o'clock, and the South Shore night train, due here at 8:40 p. m., was only a few minutes earlier. It would have been only a little more than an hour late if it had not been delayed in the Superior

FORTY-NINE CARS

Difference in Two Years' Totals of Car Service Association.

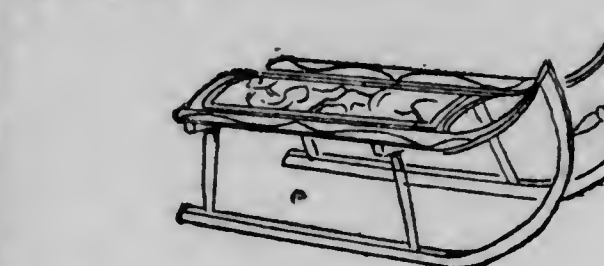

The Lake Superior Car Service association handled only forty-nine more cars in 1905 than it did the preceding year, which is considered rather remarkable. The total for 1905 was 22,621, as compared with 22,556 cars in 1904. The total for the month just closed was 26,795 cars, and for TWENTY-THIRD YEAR.

LAST EDITION.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 5, 1906. (ON TRAINS, FIVE CENTS.) TWO CENTS.

THE RUSSIAN REVOLUTION, ALTHOUGH COMPLETELY SMOTHERED, IS LIKELY TO BREAK OUT AGAIN AT ANY TIME

Government, Encouraged by Success, May Carry It Too Far.

Continued Policy of Repression Would Soon Arouse Resentment.

Some Anxiety Felt For Demonstration to be Made "Red Sunday."

St. Petersburg, Jan. 5.—The government's victory over the revolutionaries has been quite decisive, although even revolt continues in many places in the interior. The military are employed mercilessly, and gradually the movement is being stifled. These fires of revolt, however, are smothered, but are not extinguished and the main fear is that the revolutionaries will be able to take advantage of the very error of which the revolutionaries were guilty and attempt to press its advantage too far. At present there are signs that the policy of repression may be carried to a point which is sure to again arouse the resentment and discontent of the classes which shrink from the violent program of the "Reds." In St. Petersburg for instance the wholesale persecutions of the police have been succeeded by a particularly offensive measure of the perfect of police which practically gives the dyakons or house porters a free hand to search private lodgings for arms and suspicious persons for documents, offering them a premium of 50 cents for the discovery of every revolver or bomb and 25 cents for every knife. Such a measure naturally will increase the cupidity of the house porters and certainly will increase the term of personal espionage which was in vogue at the time of the late tsar. Among those taken in custody were four Moscow revolutionaries who came here to consult their comrades in this city. They were captured on their arrival at the railroad station after a desperate struggle with the police.

PINE LAND FRAUD CASE IS BROUGHT

Prominent Northern Minnesotan Involved—Perjury, Forgery, Fraud.

Special Agent Layman. It is understood that the case will be brought to the attention of the United States Attorney General in a fraud case, which promises to be one of the most sensational ever printed in Northern Minnesota. The party or parties involved in the affair are accused of forgery, perjury, and an attempt to defraud the government out of a full section of valuable pine land in the northern portion of the state, not far from Bemidji.

HILLERS ARE SUBJECTED TO SEVERE EXAMINATION

Concerning the Death of Charles Edwards, Their Brother-in-Law.

One of the Brothers is Under the Constant Surveillance of the Police.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 5.—With a police officer on duty at his house, A. Maxey Hiller, who was detained temporarily as a witness last evening during the coroner's investigation of the death of his brother-in-law, Charles Edwards, of New York, was allowed to pass the night at his own residence in Temple street. The long examination to which both Mr. Hiller and his brother, Judge Charles A. Hiller, were subjected by the coroner yesterday did not end on both men, but was particularly evident in the case of A. Maxey Hiller. When, early in the evening, the coroner ordered an adjournment of the inquest for dinner, Judge Hiller was permitted to return to the family home, but A. Maxey Hiller was not allowed to leave until about two hours later had recovered his composure to a great extent.

M'CALL TO START

A New Company When Life Insurance Business Becomes Settled.

New York, Jan. 5.—John A. McCall, who has resigned the presidency of the New York Life, refuses to make any statement as to his plans, but his friends say that as soon as the life insurance business becomes settled, he will probably organize a new company, not on the mutual, but on the stock plan, and issue policies with a guaranteed, specified value upon maturity. Mr. McCall's friends say he can get abundant financial backing for such an enterprise.

up the document. Mr. Hiller expressed the opinion that the will would be found in an old safe at the Hiller homestead. The key of this safe, he said, had been in his possession since the death of his mother two months ago. Judge Charles A. Hiller, who lives at the Hiller homestead, is a resident of Kansas, where his wife and children now are but he has been here for more than a year.

Although the report of the medical examiner, Dr. C. J. Bartlett, who conducted the autopsy has not been given out, it is understood that the examination of the body did not in itself throw light upon the question whether the case was one of murder or suicide. The course of the bullet, which entered the head through the upper part of the left ear and stopped just beneath the top of the skull, showed that it was fired from a distance of about 100 yards, where his wife and children now are but he has been here for more than a year.

The detention of Mr. Hiller was followed by an explanation from Coroner Mix, to the effect that Hiller was only held as a witness and that there was no charge against him. When about midnight Hiller was sent home accompanied by two detectives and a policeman. Hiller's brother-in-law, Charles Edwards, was not under arrest.

"WITCHES" GARROTED

Two Negroes Are Put to Death in Prison at Havana.

Killed White Baby to Secure Its Heart for a Poultice.

Havana, Jan. 5.—Domingo Bocourt, an old negro, and Victor Molini, a mulatto, were garroted at the prison here today. Both men were regarded as "witches" by their associates. Their crime was the hideous murder of a white baby, Sofia Diaz, for the purpose of procuring the heart of a white female child, which the "witches" prescribed as a poultice for a certain woman as a cure for barrenness. The child's body was found, smoked and salted, weeks after the crime. A dozen other men and women are imprisoned in connection with the crime.

APPOINTMENTS BY GOVERNOR

Positions on Various Boards Filled by the Executive.

St. Paul, Jan. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following appointments were announced by Governor Johnson today: Advisory commission, sanitarian for consumptives, Dr. James L. Camp, Brainerd, reappointment; Board of managers, school for deaf and blind, Dr. Julian A. Dubois, Sank Center, St. Paul, reappointment; Board of dental examiners, Dr. J. W. Penberthy, Minneapolis; Dr. J. R. Conway, Marshall; State board of health, Dr. Charles W. Moore, Eveleth, reappointment; Dr. A. J. Gilman, Oskosh; Dr. W. A. Jones, Minneapolis.

PROFESSOR LOEB MAKES SOME NEW DISCOVERIES.

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 5.—That the phenomena underlying the electrotonic effects of the galvanic current upon the nerve and muscle tissues of animal matter are due to physical causes is the latest discovery of Dr. Jacques Loeb. In previous researches Dr. Loeb found that sodium and potassium ions in solution stimulated muscle and nerve fibers and that calcium and magnesium ions acted antagonistically to the sodium and potassium ions. In his latest set of experiments Dr. Loeb has found that this phenomenon is due to the migration and concentration in the region of the contained in the tissues. He has found that oleates, palmitates and stearates, all of which are found in the tissues concerned, precipitate calcium and that it is in this way got out of the solution, preventing its inhibitory effect upon the sodium and potassium ions which are left free to act.

OFFICIAL EXPLANATION OF THE DISTRESSING SCENE WHICH OCCURRED AT WHITE HOUSE EXECUTIVE OFFICES

CONFESSES TO MURDER

Nineteen-Year-Old Boy Killed His Friend During Quarrel.

Placed Body on Track to Hide Evidence of Crime.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—William J. Moran, aged 19 years, confessed today to the killing, last night, of Robert Collier, aged 17 years, during a quarrel, after which he placed Collier's body on the railroad track, in the hope that a passing train would hide evidences of the crime.

The accidental discovery of the body before a train had passed, disclosed the fact that Collier had been killed by a pistol bullet. An investigation showed that the body had been first taken from Moran's barn, where the murder occurred, to a vacant barn nearby.

SECURITY CASE GOES OVER UNTIL MONDAY.

Boston, Jan. 5.—Action upon the receivership petition brought by the Federal Security & Banking company, which was filed yesterday, was deferred until next Wednesday by Judge Braley of the Massachusetts supreme court today. The case came up, but on representations of S. K. Hamilton, counsel for the bank, who said that the right of the examiners to close the institution was doubtful, the case was permitted to go over. A temporary injunction restraining the company from doing business pending a hearing, granted by the court yesterday, remained in force.

FIRE BADLY DAMAGES THE ST. LOUIS LIBRARY.

St. Louis, Jan. 5.—Fire broke out in the public library early today and before it was extinguished about 1,500 books had been destroyed and the sixth floor considerably damaged. A hose cart collision en route to the fire resulted in severe injuries to Firemen John Clark and Herman A. Juck. While the total loss is less than $2,000 many of the books and old manuscripts destroyed cannot be replaced.

MISS WILHELMINA BUSCH.

Adolphus Busch, the millionaire brewer of St. Louis, announced Thursday night that his daughter, Miss Wilhelmina Busch, married yesterday, accompanied by a maid, a secretary and a nurse, for Pasadena, Cal., where Mr. Busch has a residence. Lieut. Edward Scharrer of Germany, whose attempted elopement with Miss Busch was frustrated, and to whom her engagement was first announced and then denied by members of the Busch family, remains in St. Louis.

NO TRUTH IN STORY

The Police Do Not Believe St. Paul Man Was Assaulted.

Think He Cut His Own Throat to End His Life.

St. Paul, Jan. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—August Eckman, aged 45, who lived at the Bethel hotel, died at the city hospital here this morning from a cut in his throat, received Thursday night.

Eckman called at the home of his divorced wife, 384 Fuller street, at 11 o'clock last night and asked to be allowed to come in as he was cold. "When he got inside it was found he was smeared with blood and had a gash in his throat."

WERE 1,032 CASUALTIES IN MACEDONIAN FIGHTS.

Salonica, European Turkey, Jan. 5.—A return issued by the Turkish authorities shows that 1,032 casualties resulted from the fighting in Macedonia between Turkish troops and Bulgarian, Greek and Serbian revolutionary bands during 1905. Altogether 119 encounters took place in the Vilayets of Salonica, Monastir and Uskub, in which the insurgents lost 502 men killed and twenty wounded. In addition the troops captured 225 prisoners. The troops lost 122 killed and 145 wounded. A comparison of the number of men killed with the number wounded shows that no quarter was given.

DR. MORRIS IS AT WORK ON A FARM.

Hamilton, Ohio, Jan. 5.—Dr. Miner Morris, husband of the woman thrown out of the White House yesterday, while she was demanding to see the president, is working on the farm of his brother near here. He came there last fall.

Neither Dr. Morris nor his family would make any statement.

THE CHICAGO AT FRISCO. San Francisco, Jan. 5.—The cruiser Chicago, flagship of the Pacific fleet, arrived in port yesterday after a cruise to the Hawaiian Islands. The warship will stay here until about Jan. 16, when it is expected she will cruise to Santa Barbara.

Much Comment Has Been Caused by Eviction of Woman.

She Insisted on Seeing the President on Important Business.

Her Shrieks Heard in All Parts of the White House.

Washington, Jan. 5.—A statement was made today by Assistant Secretary B. F. Barnes, at the White House, concerning the ejection of Mrs. Miner Morris yesterday from the executive offices. The scene enacted during the unfortunate proceeding has created much comment, on account of its unusual character and the distressing circumstances attending it, and it was felt at the White House that an official statement of the incident should be made. The statement follows:

In view of the inaccurate statements appearing in the press concerning the case of Mrs. Miner Morris, Assistant Secretary Barnes today made the following statement:

"Mrs. Morris called at the executive offices yesterday, at about 1 o'clock, and asked to be allowed to see the president. At the time Secretary Loeb was engaged with the president, and Mr. Barnes saw her. Upon inquiry as to the nature of her business, she stated, with considerable reluctance, that her husband had been unjustly dismissed from a branch of the war department; that she did not propose to have anything to do with the secretary of war concerning it, but that she wanted the president to take it up and see that justice was done. She was informed that the president could not give personal attention to such a matter, and that the decision of the secretary of war would be final. She insisted that she must see the president, and when told that that was out of the question, she asserted, in a boisterous manner, that she would not be prevented seeing him, and that she would remain where she was for a month if need be unless she saw him granted."

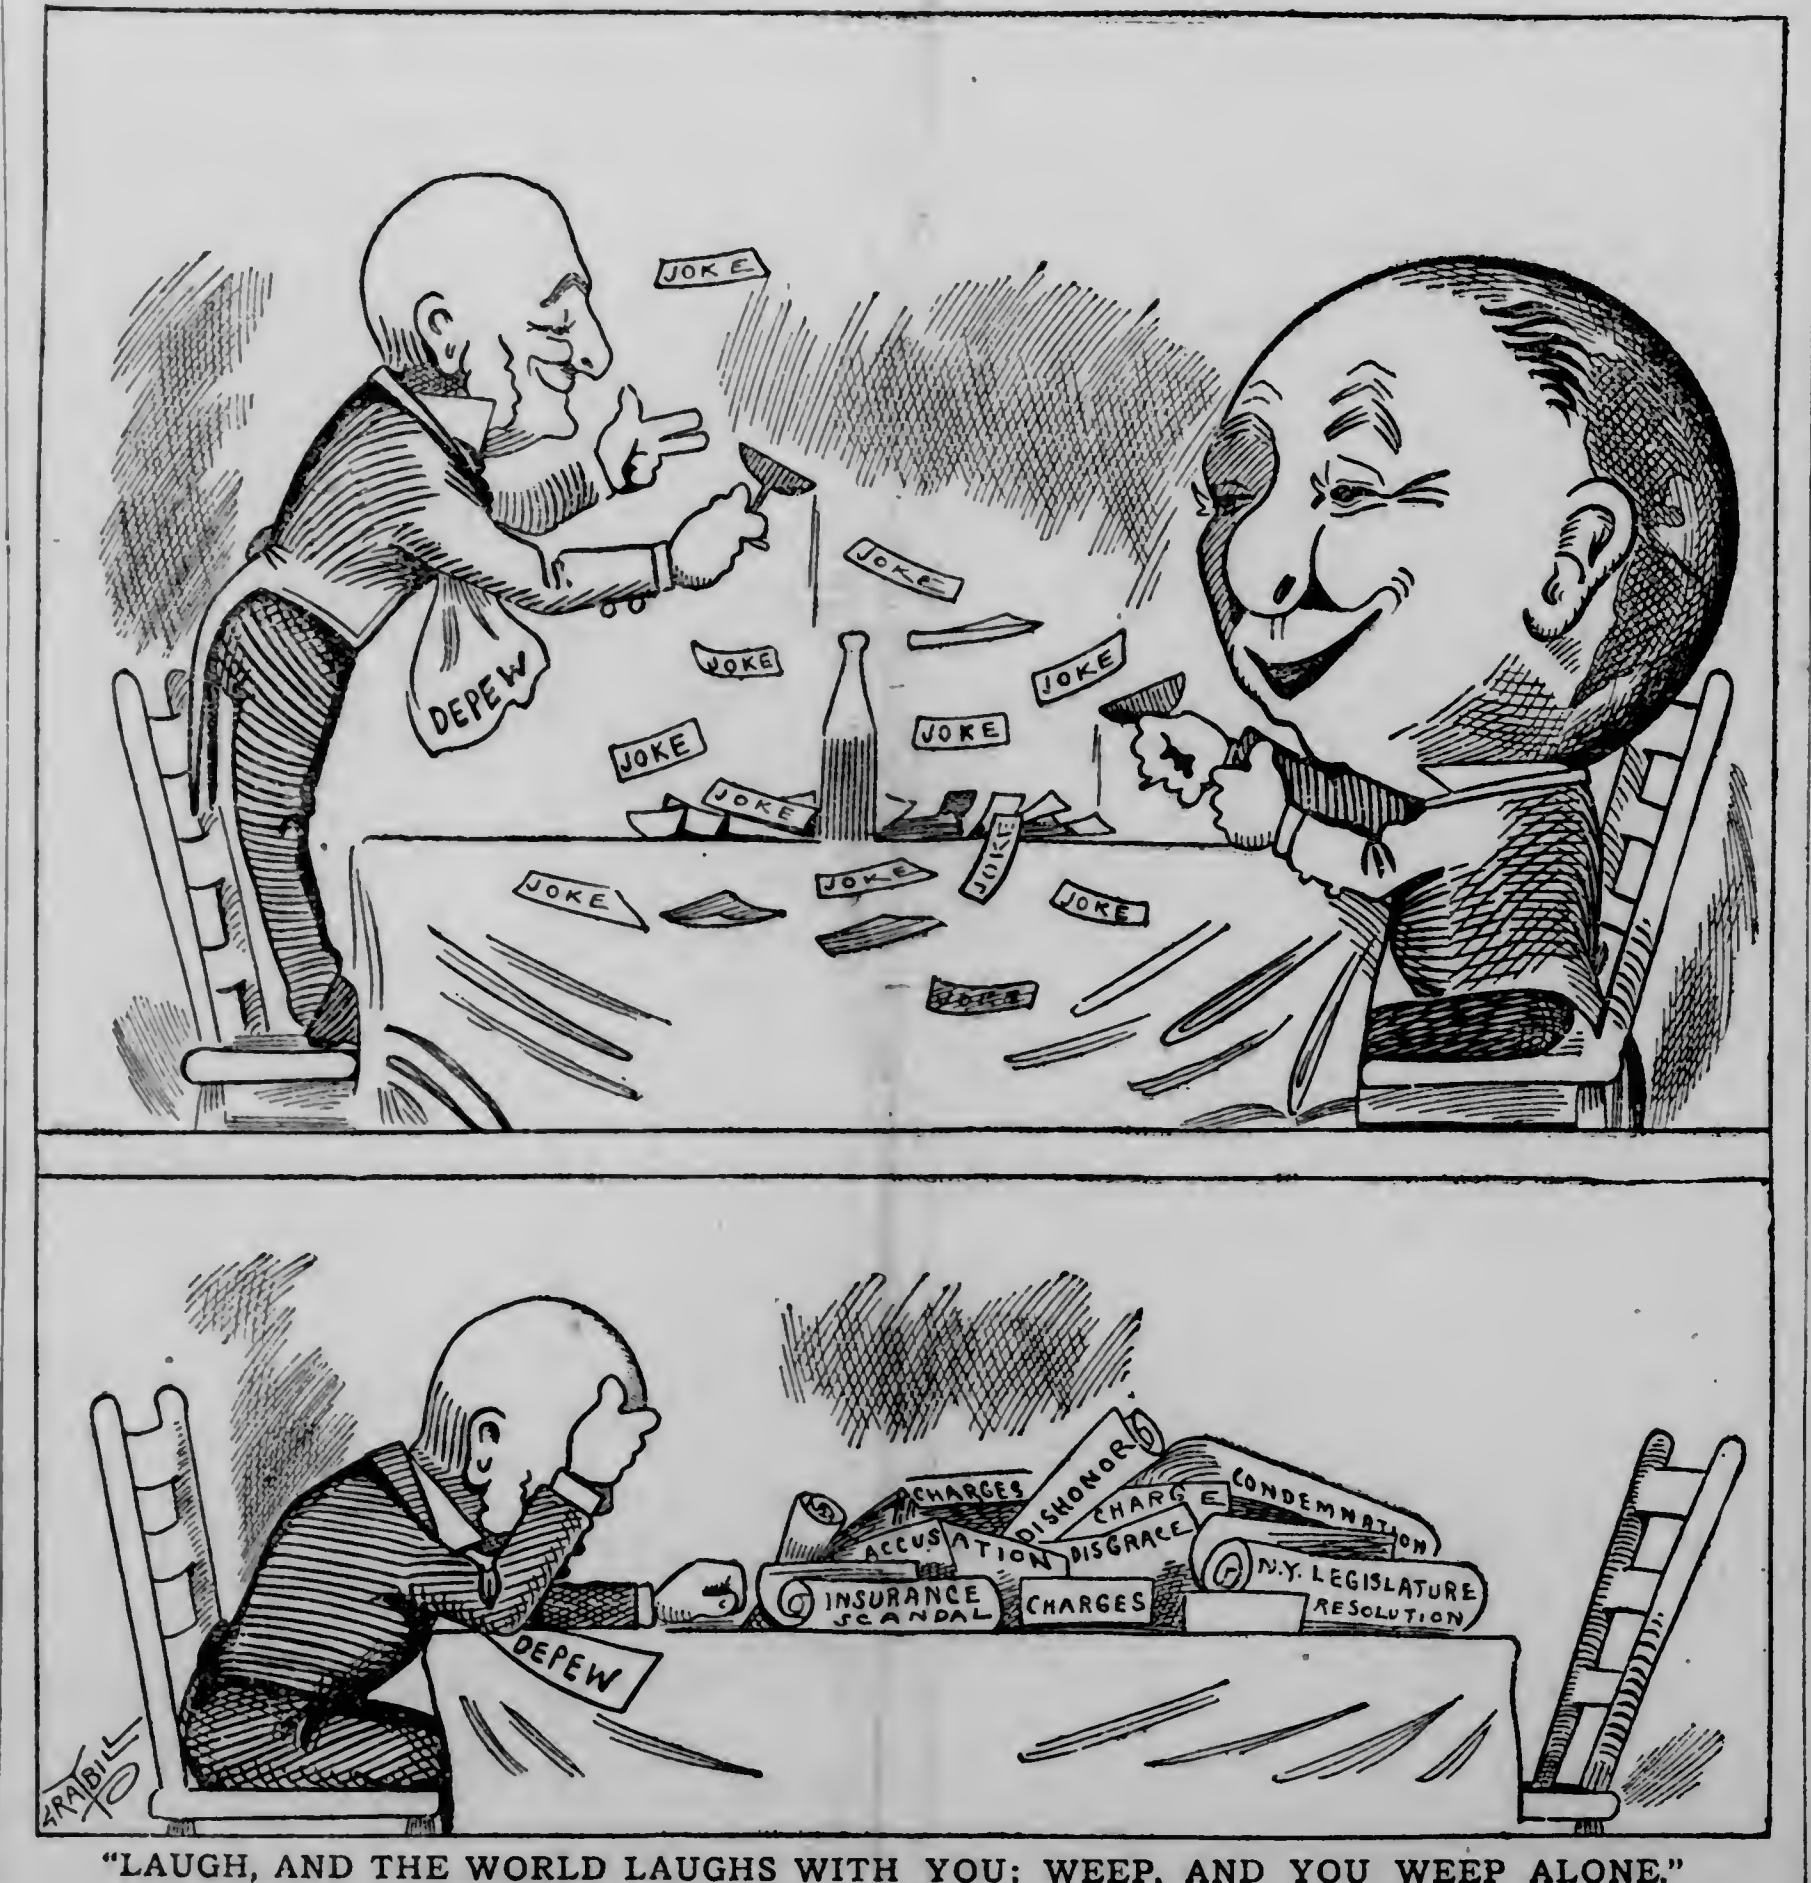

"I will not be put out, I rushed to a chair, threw herself into it and shouted: 'Don't you have any hands laid on me; I am going to stay here until I see the president.' Mrs. Morris' shrieks were heard throughout the building and it became necessary in the interest of order to have her removed. She was accordingly taken in charge by a police officer, who had witnessed the whole affair. He asked her to go with him quietly. She refused, and told him that if she was removed she would have to be dragged every step of the way. Before applying force the officer asked her three times to leave the office quietly. She shrieked her refusal to each request and was then led from the room. She struggled violently with two police officers all the way from the office building to the eastern entrance of the White House. As soon as she was outside of the office building she threw herself on the ground and it became necessary to carry her. The officers repeatedly assisted her to stand up and walk quietly with them so that they would not have to use force, but she refused to do so, and defied them in shrieks that were heard throughout the White House. She was finally removed to police headquarters, where she was charged with disorderly conduct. After her arrest she produced an envelope, addressed to the president, which she asked to have delivered to him. This envelope was found to contain a lengthy poem, on the subject of insomnia, which she said was her own composition. She stated to the officers that she had not slept for seven nights past."

"There is no truth whatever in the statement made by many of this morning's papers that a negro laid hold of Mrs. Morris and assisted in carrying her. One of the colored messengers of the office followed the policemen and gathered up such small articles as were dropped in the struggles, but there was no other foundation whatever for the statement."

THE RUSSIAN REVOLUTION, ALTHOUGH COMPLETELY SMOTHERED, IS LIKELY TO BREAK OUT AGAIN AT ANY TIME

Government, Encouraged by Success, May Carry It Too Far.

Continued Policy of Repression Would Soon Arouse Resentment.

Some Anxiety Felt For Demonstration to be Made "Red Sunday."

St. Petersburg, Jan. 5.—The government's policy over the revolutionists has been quite decided, although open revolt continues in many places in the interior. The military are employed mercilessly, and gradually the movement is being stifled. These fires of revolt, however, are smothered, but are not extinguished and the main fear is that the revolutionaries, encouraged by success, will fall into the very trap of which the revolutionists were being made aware. Already there are signs that the policy of repression may be carried to a point which is likely to arouse the resentment and anger of the classes which shrink from the violent program of the "reds." In St. Petersburg for instance the wholesale purges of the police have been succeeded by a particularly effective measure of the perfect of police which practically gives the dynamics of house porters a free hand to search private lodgings for arms and suspicious persons for documents, obtaining them a premium of 10 cents for each copy of a copy received at home and 25 cents for a rifle. Such a measure naturally will arouse the enmity of the house porters and cause the introduction of a system of personal espionage which was in vogue at the time of the late in the Russian Revolution. The five arrests were made last night. Among those taken in custody were two Moscow revolutionaries who came here to consult their comrades in this city. They were captured on their arrival at the hotel station and taken to the police.

The program for the demonstration of Jan. 22, the anniversary of the "Reds," includes services for the "warriors" at the Narva gate. Palace square and the city of the revolution. A crowd is expected to assemble at the cemetery of the Transfiguration, where the majority of the victims were buried.

PINE LAND FRAUD CASE IS BROUGHT

Prominent Northern Minnesotan Involved—Perjury, Forgery, Fraud.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 5.—Papers have been sent from St. Paul to United States Attorney Hanson in a brief fraud case, which promises to be one of the most sensational ever printed in Northern Minnesota. The party or parties involved in the affair are accused of forgery, perjury, and an attempt to defraud the government out of a full section of valuable pine land in the northern portion of the state, far from St. Paul.

St. Paul Agent Layman, it is understood, has been instrumental in bringing the matter which have led up to the filing of the documents in the case with United States Attorney Hanson and the result will be anything but pleasant for the parties concerned.

Details of the affair are meager, and no names are to be had for publication. But when the warrants are made, the affair will create a profound sensation throughout Northern Minnesota, in fact throughout the entire state. The penalty for the charges charged cannot be less than five years for all parties concerned, and may be as high as twenty years, at the discretion of the judge and jury.

WILL ACCEPT NO REBATES.

Order Issued by President of United States Steel Corporation.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 5.—The accepting of rebates and special rates from railroads by the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiary companies has been ordered stopped by President W. E. Corey.

A letter containing such an order, and signed by President Corey, has been received at the local offices of the American Steel and Wire company, a subsidiary company. Railroad freight men, who have attempted to do business with local officials of the Steel corporation, have been shown the order.

That rebates and special rates have been received by the United States Steel and Wire company is admitted as a probability by railroad freight men, but that the rates were made with their individual needs is denied by them.

Freight rates is one of the many phases of the freight rate question in this district that United States Attorney Sullivan is investigating. It is said by some, who claim to be in a position to know, that one of the secret reports that the commissioner of corporations, James H. Garfield, will make to President Roosevelt, is the relation of the Steel corporation to the Pennsylvania railroad.

REVOLUTION AT SANTO DOMINGO IS AT AN END

Dominican Troops Are Returning to Their Homes.

Gen. Jimenez is a Candidate For the Presidency.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Cable advice received today at the state department from Santo Domingo announces that the revolution is practically at an end; the troops are dispersing to their homes and the country is again coming quiet.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, Jan. 5.—Further advice received here today from the scene of the hostilities between the troops of the temporary president of Santo Domingo, Gen. Morales, and the forces of the fugitive president, Gen. Morales, say that the defeat of the latter before Puerto Plata, Jan. 3, when Gen. Morales' Rodriguez, the Morales' commander, lost his life was complete. About 150 men were killed or wounded. The remainder of Morales' followers embarked on the gunboat Independence, off Puerto Plata, after which the vessel sailed from Monte Cristi.

Gen. Gualtieri, the former governor of Santo Domingo, who with his troops had declared himself in favor of Morales, on being informed of the death of Gen. Rodriguez, decided to fight in his own part of the country, and is preparing to attack San Juan, south of Puerto Plata.

When, early in the evening, the coroner ordered an adjournment of the inquest for dinner, Judge Hiller was permitted to return to his family home, on College street, where the tragedy occurred, while A. Maxey Hiller was sent to police headquarters.

After the inquest broke down from nervous excitement, but two hours later had recovered his composure to a great extent.

The detention of Mr. Hiller was followed by an explanation from Coroner Mix, to the effect that Hiller was only held as a witness and that there was no charge against him. When about midnight Hiller was sent home accompanied by two detectives and a policeman. Coroner Mix again declared that he was not under arrest.

It was expected this morning that the inquest would be resumed today. The coroner refused to give any information as to what evidence developed during yesterday's proceedings, but it is understood that the inquiry was largely into the family financial affairs and the relations existing between A. Two Negroes Are Put to Death in Prison at Havana.

Killed White Baby to Secure Its Heart for a Poultice.

Havana, Jan. 5.—Domingo Recourt, an old negro, and Victor Molini, a mulatto, were garroted at the prison here today. Both men were regarded as "witches" by their associates. Their crime was the hideous murder of a white baby, Sofia Diaz, for the purpose of procuring the heart of a white female child, which the "witches" prescribed as a poultice for a certain woman as a cure for barrenness. The child's body was found, smoked and salted, weeks after the crime. A dozen other men and women are imprisoned in connection with the crime.

PROFESSOR LOEB MAKES SOME NEW DISCOVERIES.

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 5.—That the effects of the galvanic current upon the nerve and muscle tissues of animal matter are due to physical causes is the latest discovery of Dr. Jacques Loeb. In previous researches Dr. Loeb found that sodium and potassium ions in solution stimulated muscle and nerve fibers and that calcium and magnesium ions acted antagonistically to the sodium and potassium ions. In his latest set of experiments Dr. Loeb has found that this phenomenon is due to the migration and concentration in the region of the contained in the tissues. He has found that chloride, potassium and acetate, all of which are found in the tissues concerned, precipitate calcium and that it is in this way that the solution, preventing its inhibitory effect upon the sodium and potassium ions which are left free to act.

CONFESSES TO MURDER

Nineteen-Year-Old Boy Killed His Friend During Quarrel.

Placed Body on Track to Hide Evidence of Crime.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—William J. Moran, aged 19 years, confessed today to the killing, last night, of Robert Collier, aged 17 years, during a quarrel, after which he placed Collier's body on the railroad track, in the hope that a passing train would hide evidences of the crime.

The accidental discovery of the body before a train had passed, disclosed the fact that Collier had been killed by a pistol bullet. An investigation showed that the body had been first taken from Moran's barn, where the murder occurred, to a vacant barn. The idea of misleading the authorities, then occurring to Moran, he carried the corpse of his erstwhile friend to the Nickel Plate track.

Fifteen companions of Collier were rounded up by the police. Among them was Moran, whose clothing was blood stained, and who confessed.

SECURITY CASE GOES OVER UNTIL MONDAY.

Boston, Jan. 5.—Action upon the receivership petition brought by the Savings Bank examiners against the Provident Security & Banking company, which was filed yesterday, was deferred until next Wednesday by Judge Foley of the Massachusetts supreme court today. The case came up, but on representations of S. K. Hamilton, counsel for the bank, who said that the right of the examiners to close the institution was doubtful, the case was permitted to go over. A temporary injunction restraining the company from doing business pending a hearing, granted by the court yesterday, remained in force.

FIRE BADLY DAMAGES THE ST. LOUIS LIBRARY.

St. Louis, Jan. 5.—Fire broke out in the public library early today and before it was extinguished about 1,500 books had been destroyed and the sixth floor considerably damaged. A hose cart collision en route to the fire resulted in severe injuries to Firemen John Clark and Herman A. Juelz. While the total loss is less than $3,000, many of the books and old manuscripts destroyed cannot be replaced.

Acting Police Surgeon Barton took Eckman to the city hospital after Dr. Schulze had temporarily dressed the injury.

The police place no faith in the story as blood was found in a small shed in the rear of Mrs. Eckman's house. They believe that Eckman cut his own throat.

WERE 1,032 CASUALTIES IN MACEDONIAN FIGHTS.

Salonica, European Turkey, Jan. 5.—A return issued by the Turkish authorities shows that 1,032 casualties resulted from the fighting in Macedonia between Turkish troops and Bulgarian, Greek and Serbian revolutionary bands during 1905. Altogether 119 encounters took place in the Vilayets of Salonica, Monastir and Uskub, in which the insurgents lost 562 men killed and twenty wounded. In addition the troops captured 225 prisoners. The troops lost 122 killed and 145 wounded. A comparison of the number of men killed with the number wounded shows that no quarter was given.

DR. MORRIS IS AT WORK ON A FARM.

Hamilton, Ohio, Jan. 5.—Dr. Miner Morris, husband of the woman thrown out of the White House yesterday, while she was demanding to see the president, is working on the farm of his brother near here. He came there last fall.

Neither Dr. Morris nor his family would make any statement.

BRITISH STEAMER SINKS.

Saigon, French Indo-China, Jan. 5.—The British steamer Curlew sank in the Saigon river yesterday after a collision on board from an explosion of powder due to spontaneous combustion. Two of her crew, an engineer and a sailor, were killed. Many persons were injured during the excitement attending the rescue of the crew.

THE CHICAGO AT FRISCO.

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—The cruiser Chicago, flagship of the Pacific fleet, arrived in port yesterday after a cruise to the Hawaiian islands. The warship will stay here until about Jan. 16, when it is expected she will cruise to Santa Barbara.

MISS WILHELMINA BUSCH.

Alphus Busch, the millman-brewer of St. Louis, announced Thursday night that his daughter, Miss Wilhelmina Busch, died Thursday morning, at a hotel, for Pasadena, Cal., where Mr. Busch has a residence. Lieut. Edward Scharrer of Germany, whose attempted elopement with Miss Busch was frustrated, and to whom her engagement was first announced and then denied by members of the Busch family, remains in St. Louis.

In view of the inaccurate statements appearing in the press concerning the case of Mrs. Miner Morris, Assistant Secretary Barnes today made the following statement:

"Mrs. Morris called at the executive offices yesterday, at about 1 o'clock, and asked to be allowed to see the president. At the time Secretary Loeb was engaged with the president, and Mr. Barnes saw her. Upon inquiry as to the nature of her business, she stated, with considerable reluctance, that her husband had been unjustly dismissed from a branch of the war department, that she did not propose to have anything to do with the secretary of war concerning it; but that she wanted the president to take it up and see that justice was done. She was informed that the president could not give personal attention to such a matter, and that the decision of the secretary of war would be final. She then stated that she must see the president, and when told that that was out of the question, she asserted, in a belligerent manner, that she would not be prevented seeing him, and that she would remain where she was, for a month if need be, unless she saw him sooner. She was allowed to remain for some moments. When Mr. Barnes returned to the reception room, shortly after, he found her pacing excitedly up and down the room, and informed her, as quietly as possible, that she could not see the president, and that it would be useless for her to remain longer. She replied, in a loud voice, that she would see him, and that she would stay there until she did. She was then advised to drop the matter and to go away quietly. This, in still louder tones, she refused to do. She then told him that she must either leave the office at once, voluntarily, or it would be necessary to have her put out of the building. At this she shrieked at the top of her voice: 'I will not be put out, rushed to a chair, thrown herself into it and shouted: 'Don't you have any hands laid on me! I am going to stay here until I see the president!'

"Mrs. Morris' shrieks were heard throughout the building and it became necessary in the interest of order to have her removed. She was accordingly taken in charge by a police officer, who had witnessed the whole affair. He asked her to go with him quietly. She refused, and told him that if she was removed she would have to be dragged every step of the way. Before applying force the officer asked her three times to leave the office quietly. She shrieked and refused to leave. She was then taken to the room. She struggled violently with two police officers all the way from the office building to the eastern entrance of the White House. As soon as she was outside of the office building she threw herself on the ground and it became necessary to carry her. The officers repeatedly assisted her to stand up and walk quietly with them so that they would not have to use force, but she refused to do so, and defied them in shrieks that were heard throughout the White House. She was finally removed to police headquarters, where she was charged with disorderly conduct. After her arrest she produced an envelope, addressed to the president, which she asked to have delivered to him. This envelope was found to contain a lengthy poem, on the subject of insanity, which she said was her own composition. She stated to the officers that she had not slept for seven nights past.

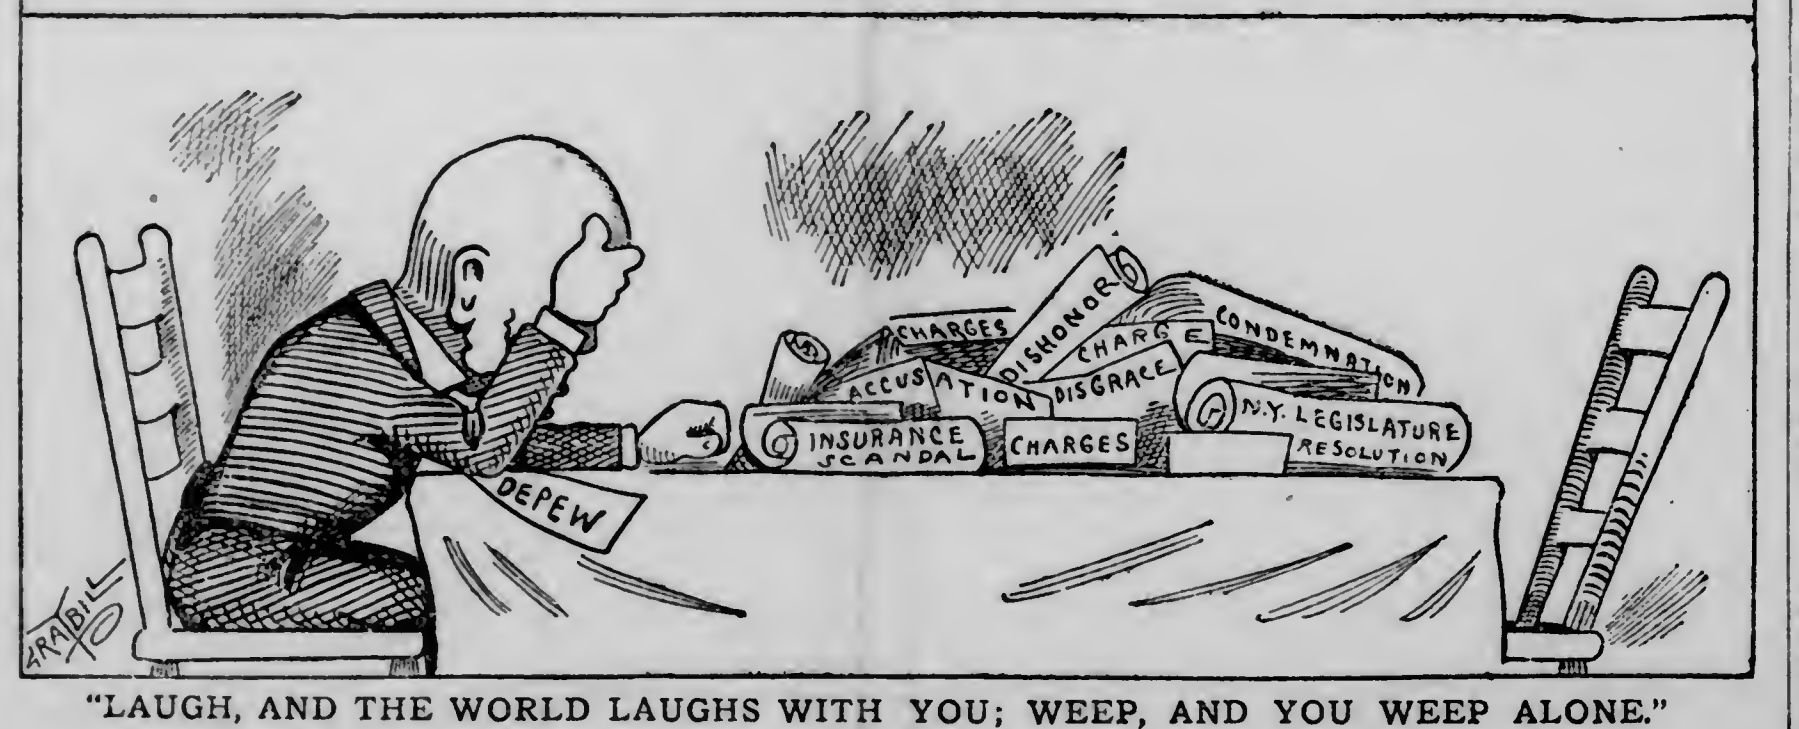

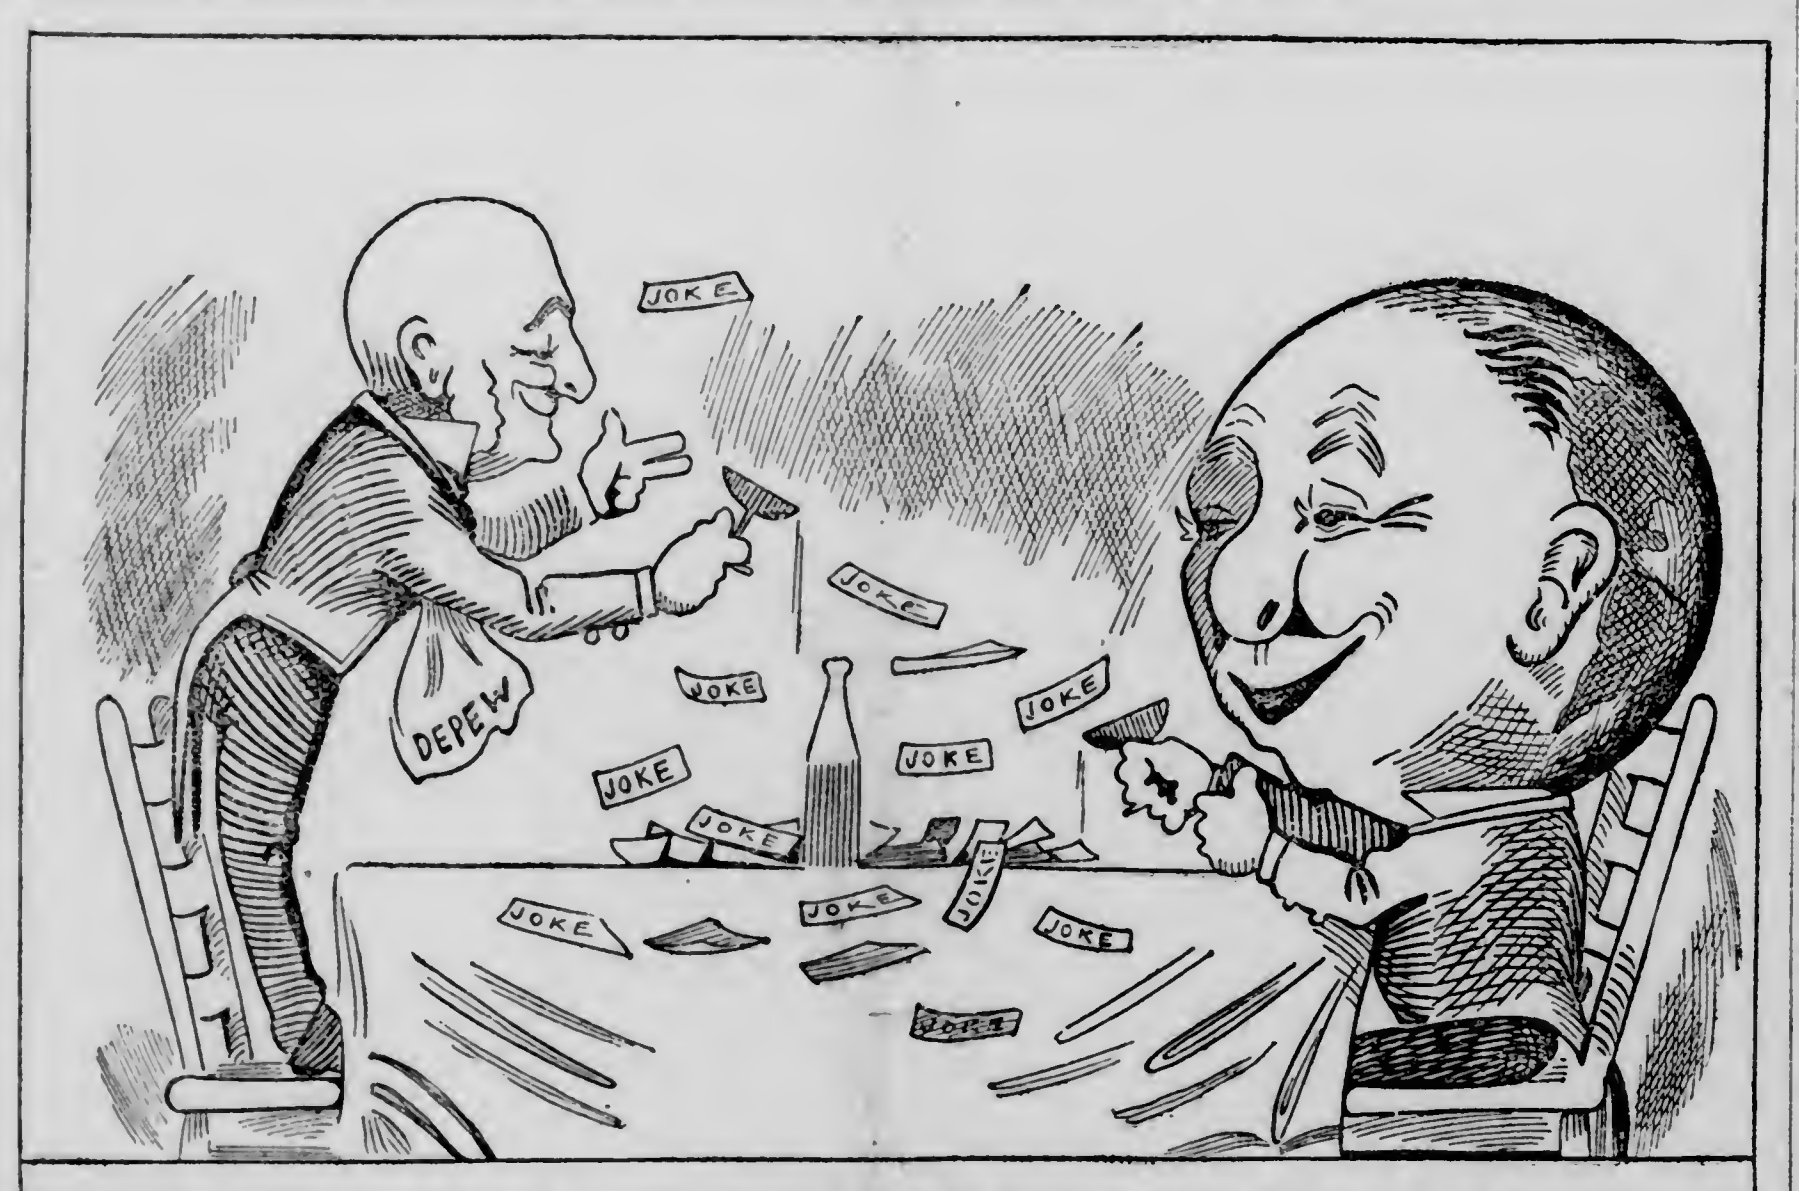

"There is no truth whatever in the statement made by many of this morning's papers that a negro laid hold of Mrs. Morris and assisted in carrying her. One of the colored messengers of the office followed the policemen and gathered up such small articles as were dropped in the struggles, but there was no other foundation whatever for the statement."

RAILROADS CHANGES OF ENGINEERS

New Circular is Issued by the Great Northern Railroad.

All Old Men Are Retained
But New Jurisdictions
Arranged.

In circulars just issued the Great Northern announces important changes in the engineering department. The position of principal assistant engineer, which has been filled by John C. Patterson since 1905, is abolished, the post of assistant chief engineer at St. Paul is created, and Mr. Patterson is named as the first incumbent of the office. Mr. Patterson was formerly resident engineer in St. Paul. He has been associated with the engineering department for fifteen years. Alexander Stewart, who has been resident engineer at Seattle, is appointed to the new position of assistant chief engineer at Seattle. Mr. Stewart was formerly stationed at Spokane. At an earlier period he was engaged in construction work for the Great Northern out west. The assistant chief engineers will have charge of such engineering work in connection with the operating lines and in connection with the survey and construction of new lines as the chief engineer may direct.

E. S. Martin is appointed resident engineer of the Grand Forks district with headquarters at Grand Forks, N. D. For a dozen years or so Mr. Martin has been assistant engineer at St. Paul in the maintenance division of the engineering department.

H. F. Swigart is named resident engineer of the Seattle district, with an office in Seattle. He has been assistant engineer doing construction and maintenance work on the West end. Six districts are established for resident engineers as follows:

St. Paul district—Office at St. Paul, jurisdiction including the terminals operating division, Willmar division, Willmar and Sioux Falls railway, Breckinridge division and Piquette Falls division. Superior district—Office at Superior, Wis., with jurisdiction over the Superior and the Mesaba divisions. Grand Forks district—Office at Grand Forks, jurisdiction comprising the northern and the Dakota divisions. Minneapolis district—Office at Minneapolis, N. D., jurisdiction over the Minnesota Central railway. Spokane division—Office at Spokane, Wash., jurisdiction over the Spokane and the Spokane divisions and the Spokane Falls and northern system. Seattle division—Office at Seattle, jurisdiction including the Cascade division and the coast lines.

ROCK ISLAND CHANGES.

B. S. Cable, 39 Years Old, Is Made a General Attorney.

Important changes, both in the legal and traffic departments of the Rock Island railroad, were announced yesterday. Benjamin S. Cable, son of ex-President R. R. Cable of the Rock Island, has been appointed, with W. E. Rankin, a general attorney for the company. B. S. Cable is not quite 40 years of age, and the appointment of so young a man to such an important position is considered rather remarkable in railroad circles. Mr. Rankin has been assistant attorney general of the Rock Island since 1901. J. E. Holton, chief traffic manager of the Rock Island, tendered his resignation to the president of the Rock Island, and the president of the Rock Island, after a short delay, accepted the resignation.

Increase Minimum Car Weights.

No radical changes have been made in the new official Eastern classification, which went into effect this week, but increases have been introduced in certain minimum weights with a view of insuring a more uniform loading of cars to their normal capacity. Freight cars, for example, it is claimed, are made this necessary, and the policy of gradually elevating minimums is largely to be followed from year to year until equipment yields the revenue expected under the circumstances.

Steamship Men Off Pass List.

Officials of steamship lines, with the exception of those engaged in the coastwise business, will not be given exemption passes this year by the trunk lines. The others in which an exemption is made and those connected with lines will be given these courtesies, because the interests they represent are either owned by the railroads or are their direct competitors.

Many Railroad Men Here.

Railroad traveling freight and passenger agents were numerous in Duluth yesterday and today. Among them were H. W. Ward of St. Paul, traveling passenger agent of the Great Northern; G. O. Walker of St. Paul, new traveling passenger agent of the Milwaukee line, accompanied by L. K. McDowell of St. Paul, traveling passenger agent for the Milwaukee; J. Egan of Minneapolis, traveling freight agent of the Rock Island; and C. H. Smith, traveling freight agent of the "Three I" system.

Railroad Notes.

The "Prince of Pilsen" opera company arrived in the city today on a special train from Vancouver, over the Northern Pacific. After the Saturday night performance the company will leave on a special train over the Omaha line for Chicago, where an engagement will be opened Monday.

Yesterday was the last day on which the return portion of the special holiday rate tickets on the several railroads entering Duluth were good. Most of them were used before the final day, for the time they were in force extended for nearly three weeks, allowing a greater number of days than the average person could spend away from his or her regular duties.

The local office of the Omaha road has been notified that the Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western line will conduct a first-class personally conducted tour to California, leaving Chicago Wednesday, Feb. 8, spending the disagreeable portions of February and March in the western state.

The club of Duluth general railroad agents, only held a meeting and dined at the Commercial club. It was the regular monthly meeting.

Independent Candidate Files.

Fred Knarre of 325 Lake avenue south, has filed his declaration with the county auditor for independent office in the ward election in the Fourth ward. His position is signed by all voters, all of whom claim that they did not cast a vote at the primary election. It is understood that Mr. Knarre's candidacy is entirely independent of the union labor vote in the ward. The election laws provide that any person running for municipal office independently must file a petition with affidavits of all the voters in the ward in which he is running for office.

NEW DEPARTURE AT WOMEN'S COLLEGE

Two Technical Courses Added to the Regular College Work.

Rockford College, Rockford, Ill., Jan. 5.—At a special meeting of the trustees of Rockford college, it has just been decided to add to the regular college courses two technical departments—a department of home economics and a secretarial department.

The department in home economics will offer instruction in home architecture and sanitation (heating, lighting, ventilation, plumbing, etc.); in the economies of the household (cost of rent, fuel, light, household accounts, etc.); in dietetics, nutritive value of foods, etc.; in emergencies and home nursing; in textiles and hand work; and in home decoration.

The secretarial department will give instruction in type-writing and shorthand; accounts; commercial geography; business methods (boards of trade; clearing houses; banking; life and fire insurance; patents; copyrights; foreign exchange; parliamentary law; office methods, etc.).

Any student who desires to take the examinations required to become a teacher of cooking in the Chicago high schools, can easily arrange to do the necessary work at Rockford college.

There are profound reasons why every American girl should have the best possible training in the conduct of a home, whatever her plans for the future.

The secretarial department offers a unique opportunity in this section of the country for a gentleman to obtain a sound business education in company with other gentlemen, and to have the advantage of a regular college training at the same time. Business men are practically unanimous in their opinion that there is a great demand for better trained stenographers and private secretaries.

Faculty of vocabulary and lack of mental discipline are pointed out as serious and common defects at present.

If a girl has opportunity of her own, she should know how to manage it. If she wishes to aid her father in business, the instruction she will receive at Rockford will make her competent to do so.

Both of these courses will be optional; both will be open only to high school graduates (with the exception of one preparatory course in home economics); and each is intended to constitute about one-fifth of the entire college course for the student electing it. The idea is to combine cultural and technical work in such due proportion as to secure a more desirable type of education, and to graduate girls better able to take care of themselves than has been done in the past.

To be graduated with a well-disciplined mind and with some knowledge of the practical demands of life as well, is worthy of the ambition of any girl.

Rockford college is ranked by the commissioner of education with Smith, Wellesley, Vassar and other leading colleges. Her students are given advanced college standing on the face value of their certificates at the Universities of Chicago, Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern university, etc. That a college for women of such high academic standing should have taken this new departure in educational policy is worthy of attention as one of the signs of the times.

"STENO" NEVER MISSED A WORD

Some Not for Correspondence and Boss Said Things.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 5.—He had only engaged her that morning, and after getting through an accumulated pile of neglected correspondence he had left her to her machine. When he returned after lunch the pretty girl was eating chocolate creams, and half the letters were still to be done. He picked up one and read to himself.

All right we will go on. Let's see. Where was I? We appreciate the compliments you pay our goods and shall always endeavor to merit same. Regarding the new goods, the new goods you ask us to get out, will say that we will take the matter up. Boy, tell the superintendent to step this way take the matter up next month and do our utmost to please you. Mr. Bossen, see if you can find that stuff we throw into the dead stock in 1902 and fix it up to fill this order from Jones and Leeds. That will be all of this letter. Miss Keopound, sign it yours truly and get it out first."

He took the next letter and read quickly.

When he read the second letter he said things that seemed to cause his mind, and he pushed the other letters aside, murmuring:

"I think this will be about all yours truly can stand today."

And it was, with a bit to spare.

WILL HELP BOND ISSUE

City Attorney's Interpretation of New Law is Important.

Issue Requires a Majority Only of Those Voting on It.

An opinion given by City Attorney Bert Foster this morning, will materially affect the number of votes required to pass the bond issue of $375,000 which will be voted on at the approaching municipal election.

At the last session of the legislature an act was passed requiring separate ballots and separate ballot boxes for charter amendments and bond issues. Lavender colored ballots and lavender boxes will be required for such amendments.

Mr. Foster was asked this morning whether, in his opinion, it would be necessary for the bond issue to have a majority of all the votes cast at the election, or only a majority of the votes cast on the lavender ballots. "It would be my opinion," he said, "that it would require only a majority of the votes cast on the special ballots."

The importance of the ruling can be readily seen. It will mean that all the indifferent voters, who neglect to vote either for or against the bond issue, will not cut any figure in the decision regarding the bond issue. Formerly it was necessary for those voting for a bond issue or a charter amendment to overcome this indifference, as no vote at all was almost equivalent to a vote against the issue. The issue had to have a majority of all the votes cast, and the large number of indifferent voters were just so many opponents to the issue.

Under the new law, however, those favoring the issue will merely have to exceed those opposed to it, and do not have to counterbalance all those who are opposed to it plus the army of voters who neglect to register their choice.

The new law, and the interpretation given it by the city attorney, will greatly increase the probability of the bond issue being carried.

MAY IGNORE THE LAWYERS

If Plaintiff in Damage Suit Wants to Settle With Company.

St. Paul, Jan. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorneys, whose principal vocation is the prosecution of damage suits, received a setback today in an opinion filed by the supreme court covering a suit against the St. Paul City Railway company.

The suit was one in which Joel M. Gregory, a well known St. Paul attorney, was intervenor and appellant, seeking to have set aside a compromise between the plaintiff and the street railway company, in which his interests were ignored. Charles L. Boegren was the plaintiff in the suit which the company succeeded in compromising. The court held that the plaintiff in the suit had a legal right to settle the claim and dismiss the suit without the consent of his attorney.

The law passed by the last legislature which enables Minneapolis to limit the number of saloons in a block, when the same face any patrol limits, was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court today. The court holds it is class legislation and not for the benefit of cities of 50,000 population or over. The court further says that it is in no way applicable to the other two cities, St. Paul and Duluth.

WOULD OUST OIL TRUST

Missouri Begins Suit to Cancel Franchise of Standard Oil.

First Hearing is Before a Commissioner in New York.

New York, Jan. 5.—William G. Rockefeller, nephew of J. D. Rockefeller, the president of the Standard Oil company, was one of the witnesses who attended the hearing today, before Frederick G. Sanborn, a special commissioner appointed by Governor Polk of Missouri to take evidence in two suits brought by the state of Missouri against the Standard Oil company, and companies alleged to be allied with it. Other witnesses who are expected to testify, possibly today, are H. H. Rogers and John D. Archibald, vice president and directors of the Standard Oil company. The hearing was held in the office of Henry Wollman, and E. T. Bedford, a precursor of the Standard Oil company, was the first witness. Herbert S. Hadley, attorney general of Missouri, conducted the case for that state.

The evidence was taken for use in two suits which have been brought by the state of Missouri. In one of these suits the state seeks to bar the Standard Oil company of Indiana, a branch of the Standard Oil company, which transacts its business west of the river, from doing business in Missouri. This action also aims to exclude the Waters-Pierce Oil company and the Republic Oil company from transacting business in Missouri.

In the other action the state aims to prevent the three companies named from carrying out the terms of an alleged pooling agreement, by which it is charged that the business of their competitors is crushed. It is alleged by the prosecution that the three corporations are federated for the purpose of preventing competition and of controlling prices, in violation of the Missouri anti-trust law. The penalty of such violation is forfeiture of charter or license to do business in the state.

Among counsel representing the corporations were Alfred D. Eddy of Chicago and John D. Johnson of St. Louis. It is charged that the corporations have discriminated the Western states, each have restricted the business of the Missouri anti-trust law. The penalty of such violation is forfeiture of charter or license to do business in the state.

Before Mr. Bedford began his testimony, Jockey A. V. Hadley, who had been engaged in the business of refining oil since 1850 and was formerly with Boyd & Thompson.

"Was the latter company absorbed by the Standard Oil company?" asked Attorney General Hadley.

"We object on the ground that the question has no bearing on the issues," said Mr. Hadley.

Attorney General Hadley insisted on the question being answered.

"The witness shall not answer. We are proceeding under the laws of the state of Missouri," replied Mr. Bedford.

"I want you to take down my objection," said Mr. Bedford.

"I shall not do it unless directed by the court," said Commissioner Sanborn.

Attorney General Hadley again instructed the witness to answer the questions, and said that any privilege claimed by the witness must be claimed in person and not by counsel. When the question was repeated, witness said:

"By advice of counsel I decline to answer."

"What was your next employment?" was next asked.

"The Standard Oil company of Indiana objects to the question," said Mr. Hadley.

Mr. Bedford refused to answer on advice of counsel.

Mr. Bedford said that he has been a director of the Standard Oil company of Indiana for three years.

"Have you any personal objection to disclosing what your business was three years ago?"

Counsel objected, and Mr. Bedford refused to answer.

"Do you refuse to answer for the reason that your answer might tend to incriminate you, or subject you to criminal prosecution?" asked Mr. Hadley.

"I have no other reason than those I have stated," said Mr. Bedford.

"When did you first become connected with any Standard Oil company?" Here Mr. Bedford objected, and wanted his objection noted on the record, but Commissioner Sanborn refused.

"You have no standing here," said Commissioner Sanborn.

"I am sorry that ignorance of the commissioner prevents my appearance here," said Mr. Bedford.

"I insist that you treat me with respect or leave the room," said Mr. Sanborn with warmth.

"Do you know where the Standard Oil sells oil and does not?" asked Mr. Hadley.

"I do not."

"Did the question of territory come up before the board of directors?"

"Not while I was present."

"What do you know about the business of this company of which you are a director?"

"Very little, except as to its financial standing."

Mr. Bedford said his duties as director are to listen to reports of the officers of the company and to vote on them. The officers, he said, are J. A. Moffat, president; and W. N. Gowen, vice president; he could not remember the names of the others at the moment.

The hearing proceeded very slowly owing to the fact that the testimony was taken down in long hand by the commissioner. This was done at the request of one of the Standard Oil lawyers. Attorney General Hadley

CASE AGAINST HILL IS NEARLY ALL IN.

Philadelphia, Jan. 5.—With the opening of the fourth day of the trial of John W. Hill, former chief of the bureau of filtration on charges of forgery and falsifying public records for the benefit of certain contractors today, District Attorney Bell entered upon the final stages of the commonwealth's case. The testimony thus far taken tends to show that the contracting firm of D. J. McNichol & Company was paid for work not performed, that the same firm was permitted to substitute cobblestones and gravel for concrete in constructing the Torresdale filter basin and that in the payment an allowance was made for the contractors' plant, for which no provision was made in the specifications. Mr. Hill, as chief of the bureau, signed the certificates on which the city controllers' warrants were issued to the contractors. The commonwealth charges also that the Torresdale filter conduit was leaky and that the Chief Hill certified that the tunnel was completed.

Was Not the Right McLean.

"Muck" McLean, who is wanted by the authorities of this county to answer to the charge of assault, is still at large. The report that reached Sheriff Bates yesterday that McLean is being held in the Douglas county, Wis., jail to await trial on the charge of robbing a safe at Nebagamon, Wis., turned out to be untrue.

The Douglas county authorities have a John McLean in custody, but he is not the man wanted here. The latest reports concerning "Muck" McLean are that he is supposed to be in hiding in some one of the horseheads fifteen or twenty miles north of Hibbing. McLean struck John Conley, a locomotive engineer, on the head with a piece of iron pipe Christmas night.

KAISER LOST THE CHANCE

To Attack France While Weak and Now Fears It.

Question Being Asked,
Will He Precipitate a General War?

London, Jan. 5.—The close of the most eventful year in recent history finds Europe again on the verge of a general war. The opinion is held that the Kaiser's decision to attack France while it is weak and now fears it, is a move of great audacity and one that will precipitate a general war. The Kaiser's decision is a move of great audacity and one that will precipitate a general war. The Kaiser's decision is a move of great audacity and one that will precipitate a general war.

ENGLISH WOMEN UNGAINLY.

Japanese Artist in London Criticizes Their Awkward Carriage.

London, Jan. 5.—Yoshio Marikino, a Japanese artist just indulged in a sweeping criticism of the ungainly carriage of English women. The artist's private utterances, which he has passed off as a criticism of the English, are a surprise to the English. The artist's private utterances, which he has passed off as a criticism of the English, are a surprise to the English.

Continuing in a similar strain he said: "I walk up and down your great city. I notice that the ladies are so awkward. Their arms are huddled up, their elbows are too much in evidence, the skirt is caught up untidily by one hand, throwing the whole figure out of poise."

I believe the reason is that everybody in your country is too active, too much in a hurry—not only the men who work, but the women also. Another idea is that the ladies go out shopping and that they must carry home their parcels. They are so anxious to see the pretty things they have bought that they run along with the head stretched forward.

"How can one be graceful under these circumstances? The women of my country are so happy and peaceful. They are always the picture of repose. They are never in haste."

"Then the ladies of England are too fond of fashion. They copy the ladies of France. What will suit a French woman will never suit the English woman."

Another point which astounds him is the assurance of the English girl. "She walks along with her head in the air, so haughty," Mr. Marikino said. "She is afraid of nothing. In our country it would not be modest to be unafraid. Our women go always with their eyes cast on the ground. They do not care to be masculine."

One of the English girls who declined to allow her name to be used, fearing that the charge of "being in-moderate" might be brought against her, said that while there was some truth in the charges of Mr. Marikino, there was a great deal that would not stand the test of a careful analysis.

"I think that our walk would compare favorably with the waddle, waddle of the English girls, no matter what Mr. Marikino may think about the women of his own land," she retorted.

CLEARING UP THE MYSTERY

Pearl Wheaton Had Promised to Elope on Night of Murder.

Caledonia, Minn., Jan. 5.—A letter purporting to be from Pearl Wheaton, who was killed and her mother and sister fatally wounded by Matt Styer Tuesday, Styer subsequently committing suicide, was discovered yesterday and is receiving consideration in clearing up the mystery.

The letter is addressed to Styer and in it the dead girl is represented as promising to elope with Styer and making arrangements to meet him at her home at midnight between Jan. 1 and 2, the hour the shooting occurred. In view of this discovery, the theory is advanced in behalf of Styer that he went to Wheaton home to assist her to escape, that he was discovered by members of the family and fled on and that he shot back in self defense against the mother and sister, killing his sweetheart Pearl in the process. The Wheaton family doubt the authenticity of the letter and cling to the original story that a traitor in the family had been deliberately planning the murder.

Thirty letters from Pearl Wheaton to Styer, all promising undying love, were found in Styer's room. The letters were several in which the girl promised to go with Styer when he came for her.

TRAIN SNOWBOUND IN WISCONSIN.

Eau Claire, Wis., Jan. 5.—Eight men and two women passengers and a train crew were imprisoned in a snowbound train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, between Menomonie and Red Cedar, from 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon until 6 o'clock Wednesday morning. A bridge crew dug them out, but so fierce was the storm that the train was engulfed faster than it could be dug out. Finally a way was made for the train to proceed, but it was so badly damaged that it was necessary to use a new engine to pull it.

TAXPAYERS SATISFIED

Action by County Board
Meets With General Approval.

Site Near Downtown District Will Probably Be Chosen.

In the aftermath of the county board meeting Wednesday, when the commissioners voted that a new courthouse was necessary, and expressed their willingness to oppose no further the new courthouse commission law, expressions of satisfaction are being heard from taxpayers on all sides.

It is practically certain that the courthouse will be erected in the downtown district, as the county board has already gone on record as selecting the site on the upper side of Second street, between Second and Third avenues west. The resolution designating that site and directing preliminary steps looking toward condemning the property for courthouse purposes has never been rescinded.

Another straw that showed the sentiment of the board was the vote taken yesterday on Commissioner Kugler's resolution, that "the board" employ an architect to assist it in advertising for plans and specifications for a courthouse on the present site. The resolution lost by a vote of four to three.

Contrary to the general understanding, the judges of the district court cannot appoint more than one of the Duluth members of the county board on the courthouse commission. The new law provides that not more than one of the county commissioners appointed on the courthouse commission shall come from the same city, village or town. This means that only one of the three local members of the county board can be appointed, while two of the three range members are eligible.

It lies in the discretion of the three judges of district court, however, as to whether they will appoint the other two members of the commission from among Duluth taxpayers, and it is believed that they will do so. In such case there will be three Duluth and two range members on the board.

Immediately following the passage of the courthouse resolution, County Auditor Halden served notices of the same on Judges Ensign and Cant, and a notice to Judge Dibelb yesterday morning. The judges are urged to hasten the appointments, in view of the delays have already been.

Probable appointments to the commission were discussed in various circles yesterday, but until the judges announce their selection there is no authentic information to be had as to the personnel of the board.

Much jubilation is being expressed by county officials and by taxpayers that the fact that the county will have a good big bank account to draw on for courthouse building operations, and especially the fact that the original story that a traitor in the family had been deliberately planning the murder.

Thirty letters from Pearl Wheaton to Styer, all promising undying love, were found in Styer's room. The letters were several in which the girl promised to go with Styer when he came for her.

ALL GENERALS BUT TWO FAVOR

The Restoration of the Canteen in the Army.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The official statement in the house by Representative Morrell of Pennsylvania that every general in the United States army, with the exception of two, every colonel of cavalry, infantry and artillery, with one exception, and 504 out of 516 commanders of military posts have unhesitatingly and strongly recommended the restoration of the canteen in the army, and the privilege of selling beer to the soldiers, has awakened tremendous interest in congress. The showing has been sufficient to arouse men who are prohibitionists. Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, for instance, declared: "I am a temperance man, but I shall vote for the restoration of the canteen. The statements of sensible army men will go further with me than the statements of theorists."

The greatest fight ever known is promised. The prohibitionists urged the secretary of war to restrain army officers from expressing their views as to the necessity of restoring the canteen, but the orders did not have the desired effect. Representative Morrell points out in his bill that drunkenness in the army, desertion, disease have become rampant under the no-canteen system. He shows that the prevailing opinion of the army is that the soldier who can not get a glass of beer in a post canteen will go outside and drink whisky until for the lowest of humans, associate with degraded characters and lower his morals. Officers believe if he could get the beer he would stay within the inclosure and be contented.

Col. Edwards of the insular affairs bureau of the war department, asserts that he was in charge of three canteens in the Southwest, some years ago, and that he managed it so that he actually drove out of business all the low dives and saloons surrounding the posts, the soldiers being so well satisfied with the beer in the post they did not care to visit the saloons, which were forced to close up with financial loss. It is understood Col. Edwards will be called before congressional committees to give his testimony, which is said to tend to show that drunkenness in the army can be almost abolished by the sale of beer in the canteen.

Figures will be presented from the surgeon-general of the army showing that the cases of acute alcoholism treated in the hospitals of the United States army in the last fiscal year were 150 times greater than in the German army, where the soldiers are allowed beer as often as they desire and where they do not ask for the stronger drinks.

AGED MAN HELD TO DIE

By a Tangle of Barbed Wire for Two Days.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 5.—Tripped up by a tangle of barbed wire, and unable because of his old age and infirmities to extricate himself, Martin Gallagher, 66 years old, an inmate of the county infirmary, perished from exposure on the new scenic road near Fruitvale. His body, dead for two days, was found by a Portuguese boy.

Gallagher wandered away from the infirmary and it is thought that for two days he roamed about the hills back of Fruitvale. He was found turned the direction of the infirmary when found.

About his legs was a mesh of barbed wire, into which he had evidently stumbled.

Gallagher was a native of Ireland, a laborer and unmarried.

CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS

Against Missouri Editor Are to Be Decided in February.

Malton, Mo., Jan. 5.—Not until the circuit court reconvenes in February will the contempt proceedings against Editor Robert L. White of the Malton Merit, be decided by Judge J. L. Fort, whose dignity was stung by the pen of the newspaper man.

The court cites Editor White to appear and show cause why he should not be punished. His explanation was not intended to be contemptuous. The article to which exception was taken, said that the "public is alarmed because the scales of justice are more effective in the natural course of events than in the scales of justice." The statement was made, it seems, in connection with an account of the court proceedings.

GIRL IS ARRESTED

Because She Made Love to a Man in California.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 5.—Miss Molly Mauerhann was arrested for making love to John W. Bassford, who is married and lives at 112 Second street. The charge was that of disturbing the peace. According to the complaining witness, she began to show her affection for Bassford. She was not encouraged, according to his statement, but her attentions continued until she was finally discharged. Since then Bassford married, yet the love of Molly is still ardent, he says. She addresses him letters and accosts him on the street, he avers. Despairing of ridding himself of the volunteer sweetheart, he called on the authorities.

ESCAPED FROM CELL.

Blew Lock of His Cell Door and Got Out.

Cockeysville, Pa., Jan. 5.—Occupants of cells in lockup, ten in number, were in a panic when awakened by an explosion. All they could see was a cloud of smoke. When this cleared away, a prisoner stepped from a cell and said:

"Boys, if you want to get out, use some of this and blow your way out." He held a small talcum powder box in his hand, which contained gun powder. When arrested for being drunk and Wallace, he gave his name as Charles and the fact that he was a prisoner of the county jail.

The officer took Wallace's effects and put him in a cell.

"Say, Mr. Officer," said the prisoner, "won't you give me that little tin-tin can. I have my talcum powder in it." The officer let him have it. He blew the lock off his cell door and escaped.

AUSTRIAN'S CARD GAME

Has Resulted in His Losing a Wealthy Wife.

Vienna, Jan. 5.—Herr Von Boja has obtained a divorce here in the courts on a petition which he filed three days after his marriage. His bride, who is a lady of great wealth, had married him on condition that they should both be converted to Protestantism before the ceremony. This course is now often taken in Austria, where Roman Catholics, under the law, cannot obtain a full divorce. The wedding took place in a Protestant church, and the pair went to Abbazia for the honeymoon. There Herr Von Boja found an old friend, with whom he remained up to play cards. His wife, slightly by his conduct, left the hotel quietly, after writing a note that she did not intend

AFTER DIGESTION--WHAT?

It's not enough to digest your food, and reduce it to pulp or liquid inside you, but it must also be properly absorbed, carried to the proper organs, filtered, purified, and carried by your blood to the various parts of your body which are worn out and stand in need of repair.

This is a system of complicated machinery, engineering, chemistry, and physics, before which all of man's most wonderful achievements since the world began, pale into insignificance.

And, when you come to think of it, next to the marvel of any complicated piece of mechanism itself, is the man who, when it has broken down, can repair it and make it go again.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Really, the most marvelous achievement in the vast field of man's many-sided endeavors.

A perfect medicine, which never fails to cure, or set in running order again, the complicated mechanism of man's internal digestive arrangements.

The secret of the great success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, is simply this, that they have been prepared upon the firm foundation of the most thorough research into the real origin of the trouble, and the cause of the improper digestion and absorption of food.

Knowing the cause, further research led to the knowledge of how to relieve and cure.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only medicine founded upon certain scientific rules of treatment, which make success a certainty.

They penetrate into all the channels of your being, into the minutest arteries, the thinnest lymphatics, the faintest tracery of nerve tissue; and renew, build up, refresh and restore to health, every disorder which improper food, poor digestion, or incomplete absorption has caused, in any portion of your anatomy.

No need to consult a physician. At the least sign of distress after eating, take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. On the least pain or discomfort, in stomach, liver, back, or bowels, take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

For any craving for improper food, continual hunger, continual thirst, or loss of appetite in greater or lesser form, take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. By following these simple rules, you will save yourself much pain, suffering and discomfort, and will add greatly to your span of life.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make you live long and happily. Try them.

TO CURTAIL CONSCRIPTION.

Youth Killed Stepmother and Was Immune as Widow's Son.

Paris, Jan. 5.—A young man named Gaultier has just murdered his stepmother in order that the term of his service as a conscript might be made shorter. His mother was a widow until she married recently. As a widow's son, Gaultier could escape with a year's service in the army. Otherwise he would have served full two years. In order to avoid this year of army service he murdered his stepmother.

COURT SAW GAME PLAYED

To Determine if Baccarat is One of Chance or Skill.

Ostend, Jan. 5.—In order to ascertain whether the games played at the Ostend Kursaal Private club last season were games of hazard, punishable by the anti-gambling law, or games of skill, M. Marquet, the Kursaal leaseholder, has just given a demonstration before the Ghent court of appeals of the way in which the baccarat game is played at his establishment. These games played in the open court were for the purpose of enabling the authorities to settle the question once and for all as to whether baccarat is or is not a game of chance.

COMING ATTRACTION.

LYCEUM—Monday and Tuesday, May 17th.

"THE PRINCE OF PILSEN."
The "Prince of Pilsen" will be presented at the Lyceum this evening by the only company now playing the popular favorite in this country. From Duluth it will go to Chicago for a four weeks' run. The company has a full bill of plays, and will be seen in the role of Hans Wagner, and Arthur Davidson as the prince. The reason for the popularity of this musical comedy is that it is a new and original production, and is not a mere repetition of the old. It is a fresh, bright and lively, with the natural result that it remains where it has always stood, in the foremost rank of the many successes promoted, directed and maintained by Henry W. Savoy.

MINER'S AMERICANS.
Miner's Americans will give one more performance at the Lyceum this evening. This evening, the company has made a big hit with its singing songs, good voices and its comedy. DEAD IN INDIA.

Former Mountain Lake Woman Dies in Far Away Land.

Mountain Lake, Minn., Jan. 5.—Word was received here by cablegram yesterday morning from Calcutta, India, that Mrs. P. A. Penner is dead. Mr. and Mrs. Penner for the past several years have been doing missionary work in India. Abraham Penner, father of P. A. Penner, left here three months ago to visit his children in that far-off land, and is with them now. Mrs. P. A. Penner spent her early years here with her parents. Her mother died just before they left for India, and shortly afterwards her father died. The deceased is a sister of J. H. Tackman, cashier of the State Bank of this place.

The United States land office in this city did a large business last year, the receipts being $37,233, compared with $30,177 in 1904. There were unusually large number of mineral applications owing to the boom in mining in the district, 696 being received. There were twenty-seven desert entries, fifty-six homestead entries and many coal, timber and stone declarations.

WEST END

INSTALLING OFFICERS

Will Occupy Many Evenings of West End Lodge Members.

Many Schedules for Next Week—Politics Quiet Other News.

Installing of lodge officers seems to be the order of the day in all parts of the city just at present and the rest of this week and most of next week will be a busy time for the "lodge" of the West end. All kinds of lodge installations will take place there. The Odd Fellows of the West end will install officers tonight, although the work will be up town in connection with several other lodges of the same order and will take place in Odd Fellows' hall on Lake avenue. Diamond lodge, No. 45, Knights of Pythias, will install Monday night in Sloan's hall; the Modern Samaritans of the West end will install Monday night; the Beneficent degree of the same order, which is the women's branch of the affairs, will install Tuesday night, both events being at Columbia hall; and on Tuesday night in Sloan's hall, Rice Point lodge, No. 80, Ancient Order of United Workmen and Progress lodge, No. 6, Degree of Honor, will install. On Wednesday night Duluth Camp, No. 234, M. W. A., will install at Columbia hall, and a number of others are slated for later in the week. Church Elected at Annual Meeting—Call for Pastor.

At the annual meeting of Bethany Lutheran church, held a few nights ago at which time a call was issued to Rev. E. H. Eklund, of Duluth, Minn., to be the pastor of the church, the officers of the church were elected. The church council met last night and sent the formal call to Rev. Eklund, expect in answer in a few days and in a favorable reply. The following officers of the church were elected: Treasurers, John Swanson and John Shogren; trustees, Ed Nelson and C. E. Johnson; pastor, Rev. E. H. Eklund; George Nelson; delegates to the Minnesota conference, C. A. Lundahl and E. E. Wellig; delegate to the Lake Superior district conference to be held at Two Harbors, M. Peterson.

The pastor is president of the Sunday school, and the following vice presidents were elected: First, C. A. Lundahl; second, B. E. Wellig; and third, John Swanson.

POLITICAL SITUATION

In Sixth and Seventh Wards Quiet on the Surface.

The political situation at the West end is unchanged so far as surface indications are concerned, but a good deal of work is being done in the Sixth and Seventh wards. In the Sixth, Carl J. Skoglund is the Republican candidate, and Charles Mark is the Democratic candidate, and it is clear that the election is pretty tight. In the Seventh ward, R. D. Haven, so far, is running alone, but President Joseph Sharrel of the Trades' assembly may get to be depended upon, that the vote will be a close one if it remains anything the way it is now. The election is pretty tight, and the chances are, if the discussion one hour may be depended upon, that the vote will be a close one if it remains anything the way it is now. The election is pretty tight, and the chances are, if the discussion one hour may be depended upon, that the vote will be a close one if it remains anything the way it is now.

In the matter of the mayoralty, Mayor Cullum seems to have the whip hand. No work has been done for the Republican candidate to speak of, and Andrew Cullum is pretty popular in the Sixth and Seventh wards. At this stage of the game it will be pretty hard to oust him from the strong position which he occupies.

Entertains New Year's Eve.

On New Year's eve Miss Ruth Carlson of Twenty-first avenue west and Seventh street entertained a number of friends at dinner. They had a very enjoyable time and gaily watched the old year out and the new one in. Those present were: Misses Esther-Thompson, Emma Jepson, Hilda Johnson, Myrtle McIntyre, Jessie McIntyre, Lillian Thompson, Selma Lundberg, Dora Olson, Edna Skoglund, Della Ekholm, Jennie Johnson, Anna Segerman; Messrs. Ed Elmer, David Carlson, Albert Skrove, Emil Peterson, Hammar Olsson, Oscar Perling, Emil Lundberg and Victor Viekstrom.

West End Shortfalls.

Misses Agnes and Olga Dahlin of Minneapolis, who have been visiting friends here, have returned home. Conductor Hank Moran of the Northern Pacific road, who was badly injured in a wreck near Smithville a short time ago, is out of the hospital now, but is confined to his home, 700 Garfield avenue. He is recovering as well as can be expected.

Sons have been born to Mr. and Mrs. George O. Anderson, 248 1/2 West First street, and to Mr. and Mrs. John O'Grady, 116 Thirty-ninth avenue west.

The funeral of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Carlson of 263 West Fourth street, who died of pneumonia a few days ago, was held yesterday afternoon from the family residence and interment was in the Union cemetery.

Dr. A. Olson has returned from a visit during the holidays in Minnesota. George Nelson, senior, of the West end, has been promoted to assistant chief clerk at the Northern Pacific freight depot.

The Swedish Christian Sick Benefit society will hold a regular meeting this evening in Sloan's hall.

A week of prayer will be held next week at the First Swedish Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. A. Edstrom, leading.

Miss Mina Johnson, who has been spending the holidays at her home, 15 South Twentieth avenue west, has returned to her school near Floodwood to resume her duties.

Miss Alice Kennedy of 201 West Superior street, has returned to Winton to teach the young idea how to shoot for the last five months of the school year. She spent the holidays at home.

Quite a number of men have gone and are going to the woods for the winter.

J. Tuohimäki visited his family at Two Harbors last week.

The clothing store clerks of the West end are organizing a movement to closing stores at 6 o'clock on all evenings of the week except Saturday and also closing stores all day Sunday. At present most of the stores stay open a few hours Sunday morning and each evening until 8 or 9 o'clock.

One of the carpenters engaged at work on the Mulberry hill at Twenty-third avenue west was struck by a falling piece of timber a few days ago, and when he recovered consciousness found himself missing several teeth. He had to be taken to the hospital for treatment.

What the doctor orders is what you need—no substitute at the Lion Drug store.

Miss Lulu Potter, niece of George Jewell, has been visiting her parents in Glenwood, Minn., during the holidays. She returned Wednesday evening.

Mrs. T. B. Perry of Twenty-ninth avenue west and Third street, entertained the Women's Foreign Missionary society of Grace M. E. church on Tuesday afternoon.

The ladies of Grace M. E. church intend holding a rummage sale shortly, and attached husbands are watching their spare wardrobe in order that required which may be used to advantage at some fishing time or other does not get into the discard.

Miss J. Stewart, teacher at the Bryant school at the West end roller rink a few nights ago while trying to manage the little wheels and was quite badly shaken up.

It's pure if it comes from the Lion Drug store.

Carl Nordander has been on the sick list for about three weeks, being run down generally and broken up badly, but is now back in his old place at Moir & Wallgren, wearing his usual smile. He seems well built up again.

THEY MUST HAVE SECOND PAPERS

Homesteaders on Red Lake Reservation Must be Citizens.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 5.—According to a new ruling of the interior department at Washington, announced by Register Montague of the Crookston land office yesterday, no homesteader on the Red Lake Indian reservation lands opened under the Steierson act can acquire title to his holding, either by five years' residence or committed proof, unless he is a bona fide citizen of the United States and has taken out his second papers. Hereafter it has been supposed that homesteaders on the Red Lake lands opened by the Steierson bill could come into title after fourteen months, in accordance with section 201 of the revised statutes of the United States, which provides that a homesteader who has taken out his first papers is entitled to final proof and a government warrant at the expiration of fourteen months of residence. The payment of a stated sum of money.

The Steierson bill is so worded that conflict of meaning results. In one place it says that commutation proofs may be made in accordance with section 201 and in another it says that a homesteader can acquire title to his holding unless he is a bona fide resident of the United States and has taken out his second papers.

The department of the interior, after considering the matter, and the result will be the application for second papers by a homesteader with only the first papers, will be a bona fide resident of the United States and has taken out his second papers.

That such purchaser shall have the right of commutation as provided by section 201 of the revised United States statutes, by paying for the land and the price for which he has declared their intention to become citizens of the United States may become purchasers under this act, but before making final proof and acquiring title, must take out their full naturalization papers.

HE SQUANDERED THREE MILLIONS

In Seven Months—"Coal Oil Johnny" Dying in Pennsylvania.

Franklin, Pa., Jan. 5.—John W. Steele, known throughout the country as "Coal Oil Johnny," who in seven months during 1892, squandered a fortune of $3,000,000 and earned the reputation of being the most remarkable spender in history, is dying in his home on the Fee farm near here. At his bedside is his faithful wife, his sole companion. He has the necessities of life, nothing more.

"Coal Oil Johnny" was 20 years old in 1861 when his foster mother, Mrs. McCintock, was killed while trying to ignite a fire with coal oil. That accident gave "Johnny" his nickname and also a farm under which were oceans of oil, and a bank account of $600,000. He had to wait one year to get possession of this wealth. For twelve months he plotted and planned how he would cut a figure with his fortune. After he received his fortune, Steele marched about the streets of Oil City, Petroleum Centre and other oil towns, bedecked in currency. Bills of various denominations were pinned to his coat and trousers. He paid $5 for a shoe shine; $30 for a shave; his tips to waiters amounted from $5 to $10. After six months of this riotous living he got to the end of his string. He sold his oil properties with royalties for a song. One morning he awoke penniless. Friends deserted him and he had hard work getting a job that paid $1.60 a day. He went West, lived in Kansas, South Dakota and Washington territory. He never made more than $2 a day. He was so disgusted with oil fields that the sight of a derrick made him sick. He came home to die a year ago. He is now at the point of death.

Men who knew "Coal Oil Johnny" about the time of his sudden acquisition of wealth, tell of his life of prodigality in a way to make one's head swim. The wealth turned his head suddenly. He ordered champagne for the baskets; he gave a $5,000 diamond to a negro minister for singing one song that pleased him; he bought carriages in which to ride a block and then gave the carriage to the driver; he bought saloons in which to have an evening's fun and he lighted Jolly cigars with $50 greenbacks. On one occasion he wagered a bottle of wine that he would spend, actually paying out "for fun," not giving money away, $10,000 a day for sixty days, and he won the bottle. His extravagances are almost beyond belief. One day he received $50,000 oil rentals. He stuffed it into his pockets until they bulged uncomfortably. Going into the nearest saloon he ordered a drink and said "Here, take care of this damned stuff for me; it's a nuisance." Then he went away and promptly forgot it.

One day he drew for a paltry $20,000 and found that he had overdrawn. Misfortune began then. He could not stop extravagance and he was fast losing his interests in the oil fields. Then he lost them, and the world closed up like a clam and "Johnny" was outside. The erstwhile "Terror of the Tenderloin" took a job of truck driving at $25 a month. Later he received a raise and drew $40 a month. When a reporter approached him several years ago at Ashland, Neb., to talk over the old days, the poverty dispenser delight was in a jumpy and a "busted" felt hat, unloading a truck at the railroad station. "Johnny" waved him off and said sadly to the baggage snatcher. "There's another one of them damn reporters after that Coal Oil Johnny story. Me! I've had a hard time of it. And he fled through the piled up trunks and refused to come out.

MARINERS SPEND SIX DAYS IN AN OPEN BOAT.

Pensacola, Fla., Jan. 5.—Six days in an open boat with waves constantly dashing over them and with only a few tins of canned beef and one gallon of water was the experience of Capt. Badden and the six members of the crew of the American schooner Nokomis. The men reached here yesterday being brought from St. Andrews, where they were washed onto the beach and almost unconscious, with limbs swollen and benumbed and almost dead from exposure. They were found by a party from a small settlement near by and given attention until they were able to be placed in a boat and brought to Pensacola, where the vessel is owned.

The story of the suffering of the men is a terrible one. The vessel put out from Gulfport about two weeks ago for Cuba, with a cargo of lumber. Shortly after getting to sea, a leak was discovered and although pumps were started, the water continued to rise in the hold until there were several feet. A heavy gale then came on and the men began to throw off the deck-load. The vessel continued to make water, and sailors listed heavily. The men then decided to abandon the ship, and gathered food and nautical instruments, placing them on the cabin house. Just then a big wave swept over the vessel, turning it completely over and throwing everything into the sea. Almost by a miracle, one of the life boats, a jug of water and few cans of meat were saved. The men then set out for shore and for six days and nights were adrift.

SOLDIER BOY ROMANCE
Repeated When Wife Agrees to Live in the West.
Pittsburg, Kan., Jan. 5.—Twins born of a soldier-boy romance, cooed and played together while J. West Innes and his former wife, Miss Olive G. Woolf, were remarried at Nevada, Mo. The Philippine war figured in the romance, the couple becoming engaged while Innes was a soldier. After his return and marriage to Miss Woolf, who lived at Arlington, Ind., the bride and groom located at Pittsburg. She objected to living in the Western country and a divorce was secured, she returning to her parental home after having her maiden name restored. The twins were in their infancy. The father refused to follow them. The mother at length relented and after a brief correspondence the couple met at Nevada, Mo., and were remarried. They will live in Pittsburg.

ANOTHER MIDSHIPMAN IS PLACED ON TRIAL.

Annapolis, Jan. 5.—The trial of Midshipman Petersen B. Marson of Pensacola, Fla., a member of the First class, on the charge of hazing Midshipman Chester S. Roberts of Joliet, Ill., a member of the Fourth class, began this morning after the record of yesterday's proceedings had been adopted.

The charge is supported by six specifications, each alleging a separate incident of hazing in which Roberts was the victim. Roberts was also the alleged sufferer in the incidents upon which are based all four of the specifications in Foster's case, the trial of which was completed yesterday.

Marson is being defended by George H. Mann, an attorney of New York City, who was a member of the class of 1895, naval academy.

No charge against any other midshipman has been filed as yet, but the academy authorities state that the court will be kept supplied with charges at the termination of each case for an indefinite period.

UNLUCKY ROYAL NAMES

It is strange how good or bad fortune seems to attend certain names, and this is the more marked in the persons of royalty on account of their conspicuous position than in the case of the ordinary individual, says Tit-Bits. Among sovereigns it is doubtful which must be considered the most unlucky name, but it is probable that John is the name of ill-omen.

For instance, John of England has always been branded as an infamous monarch, a character which he hardly deserved; still, it was his luck. John of France was captured by the Black Prince, who, by the way, was not the hero we have been taught to consider him, but a very unscrupulous ruffian. John Balliol of Scotland has been despised by his fellow-countrymen because he pandered too much to the English.

Robert III of Scotland changed his name from John, but the name clung to him. During his lifetime he was worried to the verge of despair by his brother, the Duke of Albany. He was himself a cripple, his eldest son was starved to death in prison, and his youngest, when on a voyage to France, was captured by the English. Robert III died of a broken heart.

John I of Bohemia was blind; John I, pope, was imprisoned by Alaric, King of the Goths; and Pope John X was driven from Rome by Guy, duke of Tuscany. John XI, pope, was supposed to have been poisoned by his brother, Alberic, who kept him a prisoner in the Lateran. John XIV also died in prison from poison or starvation. John XV ascended the papal throne after the murder of Boniface, and was forced to flee to Tuscany, where he died of fever. Nor was John XVI more fortunate, for he was dubbed the "Anti-Pope," and after a varied career, which lasted only eleven months, he was brutally tortured and then consigned to a dungeon, whence he never emerged alive.

John I of Constantinople was poisoned; John II was killed while boar-hunting, and John III was de throne, his eyes were put out, and he was cast into prison, where he died. John I of Castile was killed by a fall from his horse. This is only a portion of the long list of unlucky Johns, but it will serve to show that there is good reason for claiming that monarchs should avoid the name if they possibly can.

Are you usually suspended "between the hammer and the anvil"—the hammer of too big expenses and the anvil of too small income? There are many little ways in which, by Herald want advertising, you can reduce the size and weight of the hammer and increase the size and resiliency of the anvil.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE RACES

Two Handsome Trophies Are Offered for Approaching Event.

Two handsome trophies have been offered to create interest in the approaching race meet which will be held on the ice in St. Louis bay and in which local enthusiasts are going to enter their horses.

One of the trophies is a handsome loving cup and is offered by the Northwestern Horseshoe company. It is understood that there will be two classes and that the cup will be given to the winner in one and an expensive stop watch will be given to the winner in the other. The events will be open to everyone but of course local horses only will be admitted.

Arrangements are being completed now for the coming meeting and complete announcements will probably come tomorrow.

The loving cup offered by the horse shoe concern was on exhibition today in P. D. Day & Company's show window. It is really a beautiful piece of work and is simple and beautiful in design.

JUDGE PROTECTS MRS. TAGGART

Refuses to Give Any Information as to Her Whereabouts.

Cincinnati, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Taggart, who recently left Wooster, Ohio, with her two sons, who had been awarded to the father, Capt. E. F. Taggart, after he secured a divorce, has been located in Campbell county, Ky. Mrs. Taggart and her sons were reported as being with friends at Alexandria, Ky., but her friends prevented attempts to verify the report until today, when Judge Albert Berry of the Campbell county circuit court in Newport, whose daughter is one of Mrs. Taggart's close friends, said:

"I have positively refused to give the location of Mrs. Taggart and her children. They are within the jurisdiction of my court, and I propose to protect them."

The manner in which Mrs. Taggart had been treated and being hounded was worse than would be meted out to a dangerous criminal instead of a mother, who, through love for her children, seeks to keep possession of them."

Fur Sale at Gidding's.

Until the coming of the Gidding store to Duluth, only the wealthy were benefited by fur sales. Mr. Gidding has changed all this, however, a fact that will be corroborated by the many who take advantage of the special sale of handsome, but moderately priced furs and fur-lined garments, which begins tomorrow. These beautiful garments will be offered to Duluth women at close to one-half of their actual value, and at a time when they are most needed and appreciated.

LEARNED MAN ENDS LIFE.

Darmstadt, Feb. 5.—Prof. Dr. Chelius, head of the mining department of the Technical University here, hanged himself in prison today. The deceased was a victim of criminal improvidence, and sentenced to two years imprisonment. He had previously killed a fellow inmate, and his death was the result of a great sorrow. The trial of the prisoner, which he was convicted was held in private.

Sale at the Eagle.

For the past two days the doors of the Eagle Clothing and Shoe house have been closed to permit of the re-marking of the firm's entire stock of high grade clothing and furnishings.

Tomorrow will be the first day of a clearance sale which Mr. Casimir promises will, in point of bargains, leave all other sales ever held in Duluth far in the shade. It is a recognized fact that when the Eagle announces a bargain event its promises are more than fulfilled, and the present sale will not disappoint the firm's admirers. When it is remembered that the entire stock is right up to the minute in style, and the product of the best manufacturers of the country, the immensity of the values will be better appreciated. Be on hand tomorrow with the crowds.

LINCOLN PARK ROLLER RINK.

Skating Race.

Six of the speediest skaters at the Head of the Lakes will take part in a free-for-all race at the Central ice rink this evening. The skaters are: Charles Rankin, Harry Webb, Al Gallagher, George Eastman, Fred Lester and Henry Johnson of Superior. The race will be for a mile, and the winner must take two heats. A purse of $10 will be given by Manager Pratt of the rink.

FORFEITS HER BAIL.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Morris, who was ejected from the White House yesterday, was charged in the police court today with disorderly conduct. Instead of appearing for trial, however, she did not answer to her name, and the collateral which was put up for her at the house of detention was declared forfeited.

MISSIONARY IS DEAD.

Franklin, Pa., Jan. 5.—Miss Cora Cutschall, aged 25 years, a Methodist missionary, who recently returned to her home here from Sierra Leone, Africa, died today from African fever, after a short illness. She contracted the fever in Africa, and the physicians here could give her no relief.

WITH MUCH CEREMONY

Rev. Father Guillet's Silver Jubilee to Have a Fitting Celebration.

Many Priests Are to Take Part With Congregation in Festivities.

Next Sunday, the church of St. John the Baptist, in the West end, will be the scene of religious festivities and holy rejoicings, on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Rev. Father Guillet's ordination to the priesthood. The large number of costly presents, in the shape of church vestments, chalice, ciborium, ostensorium, etc., and the generous donations of the parishioners towards the erection of a new altar in memory of the occasion, give ample testimony of the high esteem in which the reverend father is held, not in Duluth alone, but also in the many different parishes in which he has exercised the sacred ministry. The services on Sunday will be celebrated with unusual pomp and ceremony. There will be solemn high mass, with deacon and sub-deacon, at which the reverend father himself will be celebrant. Right Rev. Bishop McElroy will be present on the throne, and a special sermon for the occasion will be preached by Rev. Father Portier, parish priest of the Sacred Heart church in Winnipeg. A large number of the clergy are expected to occupy the sanctuary, and a special mass in harmonized music has been carefully prepared by the choir. In a word, nothing has been left undone by the parishioners to make Sunday's celebration a worthy tribute to a worthy pastor.

For the evening, a sumptuous banquet has been prepared by the ladies of the parish in Columbia hall. The committee in charge well pleased with its success and expect about 200 guests to take part in the feast.

Last evening the children of the school opened the festivities by a fine entertainment in Columbia hall. The hall was literally packed and the little ones put forward a long and varied program which they executed with admirable success. At the close, the reverend father addressed the children in a few touching words, thanking them for the generous pleasure they had afforded him by that entertainment, and congratulating them on the able manner in which they acquitted themselves in their various roles throughout the performance.

TWO MEN SENT TO PENITENTIARY
Michael Lynch and Walter Doyle Plead Guilty to Larceny.

Michael Lynch, who pleaded not guilty to the charge of grand larceny in the first degree, appeared before Judge Bowen this morning, withdrew his former plea and entered a plea of guilty of grand larceny in the second degree. He was sentenced to the state penitentiary at Stillwater, on the reformatory plan. Lynch was accused of breaking into a saloon kept by Ida Johnson, at Chisholm, and stealing a cash register and its contents of about $125. Lynch has been freeman and enigmist on various logging roads in the Northwest for several years past. He claimed that the liquor habit brought him to grief.

Walter Doyle, who yesterday pleaded guilty to setting about $40 in money orders at Virginia, last month, was also sentenced to the penitentiary on the reformatory plan. He admitted that liquor has been the cause of his downfall.

George Bellock and George Kennedy, who are indicted for grand larceny in the first degree, were arraigned this morning. It is understood that the Seamen's union will provide counsel for Kennedy and Bellock's relatives, some of whom are expected here from Chicago next Monday, will probably retain an attorney in his behalf.

A. Witsneri who was indicted for assault in the second degree and Charles J. McDonald, indicted for forgery, in the second degree, on three counts, were arraigned and will plead tomorrow. Judge John S. Potter has been appointed to defend McDonald.

John Silanpaa of Hibbing who was indicted for assault on the second degree, and who has been out of custody on bond since his preliminary examination, appeared for arraignment this morning. He was accompanied by Mr. Bannon, his attorney. The information against Silanpaa is that, while walking on the street of Hibbing some weeks ago, in a drunken condition and making boasts that he could whip any man that dared to tackle him, he met two men, one of whom, Otto Lantonen, he suddenly attacked with a knife and made a three-inch gash across his face. Silanpaa expects to furnish further bond for his appearance at trial next Wednesday. His case will be the first taken up by the state.

The January records are now on hand. F. Hathaway, 200 Alworth building.

CITY BRIEFS

In a timber deed filed yesterday George H. Gamble and his associates transfer to Thomas R. Lyon a quantity of pine in townships 64-15 for $12,500. The young people of the First M. E. church will conduct the services at the state of Hope Mission this evening at 8 o'clock. Harvey Sedgewick will have charge of the meeting. There will be special singing.

A busy day at the Silberstein & Bondy company's establishment tomorrow. Furs at half skirts at half, coats and suits at half, etc.

Twenty per cent off our usually low prices. Enough said. Lane, 217 West Superior street, tailor to men who know.

The resignation of Second Lieut. John O. Olson makes the second important one to be handed in to the members of Company C, Third Regiment, this winter. Only a short time ago Capt. R. T. Little resigned. Mr. Olson resigned because he went to Minot, N. D., to company's branch there.

A busy day at the Silberstein & Bondy company's establishment tomorrow. Furs at half skirts at half, coats and suits at half, etc.

The funeral of Mrs. W. H. F. Lambert, wife of Dr. W. H. F. Lambert of West Duluth, will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at St. James' church, West Duluth.

Phillip Harney was fined $50 and costs, with the alternative of sixty days in jail, by Judge Wisdom this afternoon for petty larceny. He is claimed to have stolen two coats.

A concertina caused the arrest of Louis Ricci for petty larceny this afternoon. The prisoner is claimed to have stolen the instrument from the Porter Music company. He claims that he purchased it, and on finding it was not as represented, sold it for $10 on instructions from the company.

The Big Duluth will continue tomorrow the sale of $35, $50, $75 and $200 overcoats at choice for $5. It means a big loss to Williamson & McDaniel, but they are determined to clear out all winter overcoats.

EASIER MONEY HELPS STOCKS

Lower Rates Result in More Strength in Listed Stocks.

Lower money rates resulted in a stronger copper stock market today. Call money was at 10 per cent at one time during the day but at the close was only 2 per cent.

North Butte was stronger and so were the other listed stocks. North Butte opened at $35.50 and sold shortly afterwards at $36, then dropping to $34.50 and then bulging to $37. After that, it dropped to $36.12½ and went to $35.50.

The Disbee stocks were a little weaker. Calumet and Arizona was $124.25 asked during the early part of the session and closed at $124 bid. Calumet & Pittsburgh started off at $37 asked and closed there. Junction was $29.50 asked and closed there. Lake Superior & Pittsburgh sold at $35 and closed at $33 asked. Sullivan closed at $4 asked.

The air for some time has been filled with rumors that a new property is to be bought out in Arizona by Thomas P. Cole and his associates. The Boston News Bureau yesterday had the following:

"Globe, Ari.—A deal was closed yesterday by which Thomas F. Cole and associates of Duluth have acquired the Malloy mines owned by the Globe Boston company. The group of twelve or more claims lies north of Old Dominion and United Globe. The same parties have options on the Taylor and several other groups east of the Old Dominion. Globe has been full of mining experts for the last month and a boom is expected."

This has stirred the rumors to greater depths. No one has any definite information that a new property is to be put on but there are many who claim that an official denial that one is to be brought out will be made, and the statement made that the properties being negotiated for in the Globe district are for the Calumet & Arizona company.

Peter McNaughton Gets Nice Verdict in the Municipal Court.

A verdict of $400, together with damages to the extent of $45, was returned by the municipal court jury this afternoon in the case of Peter McNaughton against J. J. Wall. Mr. McNaughton claimed that he had purchased a churn drill from Mr. Wall for the sum of $400, and that the drill was far from being as represented. He asked for a judgment to the full amount, and also damages of $50. The jury gave him the $400 verdict, with interest, and half of the damages asked for.

WONDERS OF THE HOUSE

Provided by Charles T. Yerkes for Miss Emilie Grigsby.

No Expense Spared to Gratify the Occupant's Whim.

New York, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Dunlap Hopkins, formerly of Chicago, has given a graphic description of the glories of the New York home which Charles T. Yerkes is alleged to have provided for Miss Emilie Grigsby. The account appears in the World and is as follows:

"In relating the wonders of the Park avenue home of Miss Grigsby, Mrs. Hopkins said that no home in this city was the center of such a lavish display of wealth.

"It is a wealth tempered by rare taste," said the speaker. "The Park avenue home was designed by Emilie Grigsby. She has made the library in it a wonderful creation. The central bit of furniture is a great table that is more than 20 years old and is carved, and stained with time, so that it is a marvel for a great museum. Over it is a splendid cover of rare Spanish velvet.

"Every book in the library is of special make. All are marvels of the printer's art. The cardinals are of solid silver. A prie-dieu in the corner is of solid gold and is faced with a gently with his or her feelings.

Of course, it really wasn't his business where this certain cantankerous female was going, but in duty bound he was forced to stick up to her and ask, "Whither away?"

Instead of telling him where she was going, she dropped her "h" and withered him with a javalin or etiquette. Such a woman would hit her husband with a cake of lard or baking or stab him with a lemon pie!

"None of your business!"

And he withered.

Where, oh, where is the boasted power of the press?

QUICKEST SHAVE.

Speedy Scrape Indulged in by Some Indiana Railroaders.

James A. Richardson, who has recently returned from a trip through the West, says that while he was away he saw the quickest shave that ever came under his notice, according to the Baltimore American. He was traveling from Indianapolis to Terre Haute, and the train being blocked by a freight train, he had a long wait one evening at Greentville. To relieve the tedium of the delay he got out of the train and was walking up and down the platform, engaged in conversation with some gentlemen, who had been his traveling companions, when the attention of the group was attracted to the peculiar actions of two track hands farther down the platform.

"Both of the men were in overalls and rough blue blouses," Mr. Richardson said, in telling of the occurrence, "and they belonged to the ranks of the men who crawl under the cars as soon as a train stops, to tap the wheels and see if everything is all right. After they had examined the machinery under our train, they stopped at the end of the platform, and one of the men turned down the collar of his blouse, held his up quite stiffly, and stood stock still, facing the other fellow. The other fellow, by the way, carried a lighted torch—you know the railroad men use—and he passed the lighted torch quickly up and down his chum's face. I wondered if the chum was voluntarily offering himself for cremation, for he stood there making no attempt to restrain his friend. When the operation had been continued for a few seconds, long enough to have been exceedingly painful to a sensitive skin, the fellow holding the torch withdrew it, and the chum walked very quietly here pump-washed his face, wiped it with a big bandana handkerchief, rejoined his companion, and the two men walked off together, disappearing down the track.

"The whole thing was over much more quickly than I can tell it, and we all stood speechless until the two men were out of sight. Then, with one accord, we turned to one of the railroad officials, who had joined us, and asked him what it all meant. And what do you think he said? He told us it was merely a quick shave, and said that the railroad men were in the habit of doing the barbering for each other in that way. He said that the men didn't have time to use razors, and rarely had a chance to go through the ordinary form of shaving, so they singed the surplus hair off each other's faces in the way we had witnessed, and it was very much like the way the skin of a chicken or turkey is singed when it is prepared for the oven. He laughed when we asked if it did not hurt, and he said that the men are so accustomed to working over the flames that their faces were hardened and they didn't mind it in the least. But of all quick shaves and queer ones, too, that was the quickest and the queerest I ever saw."

BALDNESS.

"The only absolute cure for baldness is a return to the hairless beauty of the Greeks," said Joshua L. Merfeld of San Francisco at the Belvedere, as he stroked his luminous dome of thought. Corridors pulled his hat down tight to conceal his misfortune, to the Baltimore News.

"Yes, sir," continued Mr. Merfeld, "I'm 50 and a bachelor, here, and I never let any of my children wear hats. The close-fitting cap that the young boys pull down over his head is death to circulation, and suffocation to the hair. The derby that man wears is just as bad. If there is any tendency of the pores to open at all, which is a healthy condition, the heavy hat holds the perspiration in,

WOMAN, CLAD ONLY IN A STOCKING, IS CAUGHT WHILE TRYING TO SET FIRE TO A TENEMENT HOUSE IN NEW YORK

Directed By Man Who Seemed to Have Control Over Her.

Woman Mumbles Like Crazy Person and is Undoubtedly Insane.

Suspected to Have Been Connected With Other Incendiary Fires.

New York, Jan. 6.—A naked and insane woman, directed by a man warmly clad and wearing an overcoat, was detected applying a torch to the hallway of a five-story tenement house in Eldridge street about daybreak today.

The strange pair fled when discovered but the woman was captured. She said her name is Helen Brauer and that she is housekeeper of the building she was trying to set fire to but no one there knew her.

One of the tenants of the house was awakened by a noise the pair made and discovered them in the hall. The woman was nothing but a stocking.

She was shivering in the cold. The man stood over her, and she shrank from him as though afraid. In the woman's hand was a torch made of rag and inflammable stuff and saturated with kerosene. The woman struck the torch into the gas blaze as it caught fire she fell to her knees and began feeling her way about the hall, rubbing the blazing torch against the wall and wainscoting, which were saturated with oil.

All the time the woman mumbled like a crazy person. She was directed by the mysterious man.

Seeing that there was danger of burning the building the watching tenant called for help when the other tenants came rushing from their apartments the man and woman started to run for the roof. The man tripped the woman. When she was questioned she returned a blank stare but finally gave the name Helen Brauer and said she is 32 years old. She looked very old and was covered with filth, her hair was matted and matted.

She was taken to Bellevue hospital. She did not disclose the name of the man but it is suspected that the man had connected with other incendiary fires.
They had not succeeded in setting fire to the hallway this time.

INTENTION OF FOREST SERVICE

To Increase Use of Dead and Down Timber on Reserves.

Washington, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is the intention of the forest service to take up the question of increasing the use of dead and down timber on the reserves in a thoroughly practical manner, not only by extending the present uses, but also by increasing new uses wherever possible.

Such is the policy expressed in a recent order issued by the forester to officers in charge of the reserves. The order continues:

"This work is to be undertaken by a branch of the service especially capable of handling it; and in order that this office may be informed as to the conditions in your reserve, please report on the subject in accordance with the following outline, and discuss any points not covered by the questions which you encounter in the field."

"Location of tracts and descriptions of material on each kind of timber;
how and why it is down; its present use; accessibility; present uses, including purpose, amount, value and market; possible uses, etc."

It is planned to make a careful study in the field of this dead and down timber, and, if necessary, to test specimens of it at the laboratories of the service, with a view to establishing its suitability for any commercial use. It is believed that one of the results secured will be the creation of markets for such timber where none now exist and to increasing such present demand as does exist, so that a larger use may be found for it and a great saving of waste may be achieved.

League For Promotion of Laughter is Formed in France.

Paris, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Brisson, once president of the French chamber, has been elected president of the League for Promoting Laughter in France. Members of the league are a number of well known physicians and university men who claim to have observed that France is getting too serious, and that Frenchmen and French women are too much occupied with chasing after the dollar to look for the hilarities of life. The league will distribute free of charge papers that are really funny, will give free shows and better the condition of the poor.

The league, it seems, might drop all but the latter part of its program for in Paris, at least, comic journals and amusement places abound. All told the City of Light has 101 theaters, concert halls, music halls and circuses, namely four theaters subsidized by the state, forty-six theaters and music halls, as many cafes chautau, and five big circuses, who together take in 10, 000,000 francs per annum, of which 4,
000,000 go to charity.

TRAIN ON BOSTON & MAINE DELIBERATELY WRECKED

Switch Wedged Open and Signal Light
Twisted to Indicate a Clear Track.

Hosack Falls, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Seven persons were injured, one of them fatally, when the Montreal express, on the Boston & Maine railroad, today, wrecked at Wallomasc, early today,
five miles north of this place.

The most seriously injured was Charles Wardwell of Bristol, Vt., the engineer. The fireman and five passengers also were hurt.

The wreck was caused by the train running into an open switch, and the railroad officials are of the opinion that the switch was opened deliberately for the purpose of wrecking the train.

Boston, Jan. 6.—Information received here by President Tuttle of the Boston & Maine railroad, indicated, he said, that the wreck of the Montreal express at Wallomasc station, today, was the result of a deliberate act. A switch had been opened and wedged in that position, while the signal had been twisted so as to indicate a clear track.

The express took the open switch, and the engine and two cars were derailed and partly wrecked. The engine struck some freight cars which were standing on a side track, and which checked its speed and prevented the sleeping cars, which made up the bulk of the train, leaving the rails. Seven persons were injured, including five passengers, but none was killed, although Engineer
Charles Wardwell may die.

FACTORIES CLOSE UNTIL AFTER DEMONSTRATION

Manufacturers Fear Disorder on the Anniversary of "Red Sunday."

St. Petersburg, Jan. 6.—All the factories, mills and other industrial enterprises closed today for the holidays.
The employers, at a general meeting, decided not to open their establishments in view of the threats of disorder, until after Jan. 22, the anniversary of "Red Sunday."

On account of the serious condition of affairs on the Siberian railroad, many stations of which are in a condition of anarchy, seven districts, including the line passes from the Ural mountains to Lake Balkal, a distance of 1,800 miles, have been placed under martial law.

The prefect of Rostoff-on-Don, Count
Pillar Von Pilchau, has been dismissed.

General Drachoffski, who was retired from the management of the Finnish railroad on the demand of the Finns when their claims were granted, succeeds Count Von Pilchau.

Moscow, Jan. 6.—Train service on all lines running out of Moscow has been re-established. A priest named Kozanski, who was treasurer of the local strike committee, has been arrested at Tver, three miles east of Moscow.

Odesa, Jan. 6.—The steamer
Nicholas, which arrived here today from the Caucasus, reports that Novo-rossysk, Caucasus, is completely in the hands of the revolutionists. The governor and the other Russian authorities have fled, and M. Libovitch has been chosen mayor by the populace.

representing a total capital of $5,703,837.
The number of salaried officers, clerks, etc., employed was 296, drawing salaries amounting to $257,812. In addition there were 1,753 wage earners, drawing total wages of $1,031,307. The total value of products, including custom work and repairing, was $10,223,314, an increase of 63 per cent over 1904. The principal industries are shown to be printing and publishing and flour grist mills.

LOSS IS OVER HALF MILLION

Kansas City is Visited by a Destructive Conflagration.

Kansas City, Jan. 6.—A revised estimate of the losses in last night's fire places the total damage at slightly more than half a million dollars and the insurance at two thirds of that amount.
The property damaged and destroyed occupied two-thirds of the block on the south side of Walnut street, between Ninth and Tenth streets. The fire was under control at 2:30 this morning.

The losses are distributed as follows:

National bank of Commerce, office building and fixtures, Tenth and Walnut streets, loss $100,000, fully covered by insurance. Woods building, 218, 20 and 22 Walnut street, owned by Dr.
W. S. Woods, president of the National bank of Commerce, loss $150,000, insurance $100,000. Columbia drug company, stock loss $100,000; insurance $75,000. W. W. Kimball piano company, stock loss $35,000; insurance $30,000.
Hettlinger Bros. manufacturing company, surgical instruments and physicians' supplies, stock loss $50,000; insurance $50,000. Ridge office building, loss $15,000. Occupants of offices in bank of commerce building and adjoining property $25,000.

The rooms of the National bank of Commerce were partially damaged and rendered temporarily uninhabitable.
The vaults containing $3,000,000 and the bank's records were not damaged. The bank, which is the largest financial institution in the city, opened for business today in temporary quarters.

The damage to the Bank of Commerce building, a six story structure, was only partial and was caused principally by water.

resumed this morning. Marsoni pleaded not guilty to the charge, and all of the specifications which support it. Of these the first alleges the hazing of Midshipman Chester S. Roberts of Joliet, Ill., and the second and third the hazing of Benjamin W. Tye of Atlanta, Ga. The men are of the fourth class, and the hazing alleged is that Marsoni compelled them to carry his meals to his room, and to perform various forms of physical exercises.

WHITE GIVES DINNER.
Rome, Jan. 6.—Ambassador White new foreign minister, the Marquis San Treasurer Minister Luzzatti. The chief topic of conversation was the approaching Moroccan conference, to which Mr. White and the Marquis Visconti Venosta are delegates.

MYSTERY IN THE DEATH OF CHARLES EDWARDS AT HOME OF BROTHER-IN-LAW IN CONNECTICUT GROWING DEEPER

RIDER OF LITTLE FALLS TO SUCCEED MAJ. SCOTT

Friend of Buckman Likely to be Appointed Indian Agent.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Speculation has been rife during the past month as to what man would be selected to fill the office of Indian agent, (in charge of the reservations of Cass Lake, Leech Lake, Winnibigoshish, Red Lake and White Oak Point), which position has been voluntarily relinquished by Maj. George L. Scott of the Tenth Cavalry. Since the resignation of Maj. Scott went into effect a special agent of the Indian department has been in charge of the Indian affairs at Onigum, the Leech Lake agency near Walker, which is the principal place for transacting the business of the reds of these reservations.

It is now stated, upon the best of authority, that H. A. Rider of Little Falls has the "inside track" for appointment as Indian agent to succeed Scott, and that he will undoubtedly be appointed. Rider is at present a deputy United States marshal for Minnesota, and lives at Little Falls. He is a staunch friend of Congressman Buckman, being a fellow townsman of the congressman.

H. A. Rider was born in North
Adams, Mass., and is 54 years of age.
He came to Minnesota in 1878. He was reared upon a farm, but early took to railroading; for nine years he was connected with the engineering department of the Northern Pacific Railway company; then with the Mexican National, with headquarters at the City of Mexico, and with the Canadian Pacific, as engineer in charge of bridges, one year. He was sheriff of Morrison county for six years, and also a member of the board of aldermen and the school board of Little Falls for a number of years. He has also been a member of the legislature, serving as a representative of the Forty-eighth district, with credit to himself and his constituents. He is considered a strong man politically, and has many friends throughout the state.

PEOPLE ARE RALLYING TO AID OF THE PRESIDENT

In His Fight Against the Railroads and the Obnoxious Trusts.

BY JULIUS CHAMBERS.

Washington, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Republicans of the middle West are rallying to the side of the president, in his fight against the railroads and the trusts. The contest in New York does not interest them to any serious extent. Differences in Illinois have been healed by a general understanding that Speaker Cannon shall have the delegation from the state to the next national convention. It will be a complimentary vote and will leave the delegates free to turn to Knox, or Root, or Fairbanks on the second or later ballots. It was an easy method to effect a settlement of a conflict within the party that promised to develop much bitterness. The way out was found by Frank O. Lowden, the Illinois member of the national committee. He can see the kink in a political tangle quicker than most men and his judgment is rarely at fault. How harmony will be restored in New York is not clear at this moment; but a way will be found. Odell will go the same political route as Herrick, because the president has decreed it.

The people of the country will support the president in his self-imposed task of undoing the trusts. They are quite quick in their response to the power of corporations to direct legislation in congress. Never before has any man in the White House attempted this Herculean labor. Any other president since the days of Andrew Jackson would have failed of success in the complete triumph of Theodore Roosevelt is not yet assured. The combined moneyed interests of the country are arrayed against him, and every day, his views are making progress with the people. The fearlessness with which he grapples with the beef trust indicates the courage with which this gigantic problem was undertaken. The HAMBURG EXCITED.

Fears Two Great Ships Were Driven to South Pole.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hamburg is excited over the probable loss of the giant sailing ships Susanne and Alsterufer, which, it is feared, went to pieces during the big storms in October and November.

It is feared that the ships, which were en route for South American ports, may have been driven towards the South pole. The Edmund, a ship belonging to the same line, was recently reported after having been lost for 172 days on a journey, which is usually accomplished in 80 or 90 days. From Montevideo it is reported that the Hamburg sailing ship Ptilochyri arrived with all masts but one gone.
The storm came very near blowing her to the South pole, and a great many sailors had their limbs frozen.

WOMAN TWICE BURIED

Appeals to the Police to Have the Practice Stopped.

Paris, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mme. Anatole Barnier, a well-to-do milliner, has appealed to the police to stop her "constant burials." To prove that she isn't crazy, the woman produced two burial certificates made out in the name of Mme. Anatole Barnier, both dated from her husband's residence. It appears that the milliner lives apart from her husband, and that Anatole gave her an illegitimate successor. The party died and he had her buried as "Madame." Some time afterwards he indulged in a second mistress, who also departed this life and Anatole, she, too, was buried under the name and style of Mme. Anatole Barnier.

SEXUAL EVOLUTION

"Women Ought to Enter Politics," Says
Professor Forel.

Zurich, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The famous Professor Forel, alienist and leader of the anti-alcohol movement has written a most interesting book on sexual evolution, maintaining that woman must enter politics for the world's good.

"Sexual intrigues," says the professor, "have too long played a leading and often disastrous part in politics, whole nations have been wiped out, governments abolished, millions of people have been slaughtered because some powerful man made war for the love of woman, or for love's disappointments. If the emancipation of women is established and if women obtain equal rights with men in politics, the sexual questions will equalize themselves, and the world will profit."

The Victim May Not Have Been Killed While in Bed.

Discovery of Bloodspots on Stocking Would Indicate Otherwise.

Sewers in Vicinity of House Again Searched for Weapon.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 6.—The mystery of the shooting of Charles A.
Edwards of New York at the Hiller family homestead, on College street, last Tuesday night, was apparently as deep as ever when the coroner resumed his investigation today. As far as an intimation of the progress made in the inquiry could be obtained, Coroner Mix and the detectives who are assisting him are practically at a loss for further clues in the case. The coroner, however, has given no sign of discouragement over the baffling situation, and he started in for the fourth day of the investigation with undiminished energy. The search for the weapon with which the murder was committed went on today, a gang of workmen continuing their inspection of the sewers in the vicinity of College street by the corner's order. This search is being made on the theory that the murderer, in leaving the scene of the crime, disposed of the revolver by dropping it in a sewer. The catch basin, at the corner of Temple and Wall streets, was opened today and search made there.
The fact became known today for the first time that the authorities have some reason to think that Mr. Edwards was not shot as he lay in bed in the guest chamber, where his body was found, but that he was carried into the chamber after the shooting and placed in the bed. This theory is based on the discovery of several blood spots on one of the stockings worn by Mr. Edwards. He was found in bed dressed in his underwear and stockings. The left stocking was wrungside out as if the wearer had put it on that way by mistake, and at the top of the instep were a number of small drops of blood.
On the bottom and side of this stocking there was considerable lint, while there was no lint on the other stocking. The inference which the detectives have drawn is that the man was carried from another room to the guest chamber after the shooting, and that the left foot trailed along the floor. The blood spots, if they came from the wound in the head could reach the stocking only when the man was standing erect. The bullet entered the upper part of the left ear, and if the victim were standing the drops from the wound might fall on the left foot.

ST. PAUL FAMILY GIVEN A RAISE

Heating Boiler in George
H. Watson's House
Lets Go.

St. Paul, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Just as the family of George H. Watson was about to assemble for breakfast in the residence, 350 Ashland avenue, at 7:55 o'clock this morning, the low pressure boiler, used in heating the home, exploded. The residence was wrecked. Five members of the family in various parts of the house escaped injury. Mrs. Watson, at the time of the explosion, was sitting in a chair directly over the boiler. The force of the explosion carried her to the ceiling of the sitting room, and she landed in the only corner of the room, a space about four feet square, where the flooring was not shattered. She was badly bruised. Had she not fallen in this spot she would have landed in the cellar and would have been killed. The boiler was shattered in small pieces, and a large rock, forming part of the foundation of the house, and weighing several hundred pounds, was thrown some distance away. The house must be rebuilt.

FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY

Head of Robber Band and Keeper of Two Mistresses.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert Braun, 15 years old, confesses to being the head of a youthful robber band, that made a specialty of second-story work, house breaking and way-laying servant girls, women and children and robbing them of jewelry any money. His associates, boys of corresponding age, say Albert never "worked" himself. He merely laid the plans and designated members of the band to execute them. At the same time he monopolized 40 per cent of the proceeds, and punished members who did not "shell" out willingly, by exquisite tortures, such as hacking off part of their toes or fingers, or cutting a piece of their ear, etc. He also kept two mistresses, girls of 12 and 13, whom he dressed in silks and satins and provided with extravagant jewelry. The den of this youthful Tinalde was found to be well-stuffed with boxes and sweet meats of every description. There were also revolvers, bulletins and various poisons.

LAND IS WANTED FOR ASYLUM AT HASTINGS.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Representative Davis has introduced a bill authorizing the secretary of the interior to sell the state of Minnesota forty acres of land near Hastings. The land was withdrawn with a view to allotment to Sioux Indians, but is now wanted for the state hospital for lunatics.

He also introduced a bill to reimburse Capt. Albert Schuchman, who served in the thirteenth Minnesota in the Philippines, for sums paid for medical services after his discharge. Capt. Schuchman was shot through both legs and was obliged to spend about $300 to get himself in shape after his return home.

LABOR

HALF-YEAR ARRANGING

Labor Unions Holding Semi-Annual Selection of Officers.

New Unions Organized—A Minneapolis Labor Leader Here.

Tonight—Brewery workers, Kalamazoo hall; Bakers and Confectioners, Kalamazoo hall; Bollermeisters and Iron Shipbuilders, Axa hall; L. T. P. A., Labor World hall.
Tomorrow—Typographical union, Labor World hall.
Monday—Tug Firemen, Labor World hall; Retail Clerks, Labor World hall.
Tuesday—Machinists, Axa building; Sheet Metal workers, Labor World hall; Carpenters, Rowley building.
Wednesday—Meat cutters, Labor World hall; Plasterers, Labor World hall; Steamfitters, Labor World hall; Marine Engineers, Lyceum building; L. T. P. A., Clark block.
Thursday—Stationary Engineers, Lyceum building; Building laborers, West Superior street; Cooks and Waiters, Labor World hall; Plumbers and Gasfitters, Labor World hall.
Friday—Federated Trade assembly, Labor World hall; Lathers, Labor World hall.

Phil Carlin, one of the most noted labor union workers of Minnesota, or, one might say, of America, has been in the city this week, lecturing on the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, of which he is a member. He has been actively engaged in organization work in this state since last spring and says that unionism in general and in his particular is a serious matter. Mr. Carlin is well known in Minnesota labor circles and has been a member of every labor convention since 1899 and takes a leading part in each. He was, until his appointment to his present position, business agent for years of the Minneapolis Building Trades council. He is a good speaker and addressed the Carpenters' union here last Tuesday evening.

The Building Structural alliance will probably hold a special meeting this evening to meet Mr. Carlin, who will discuss with the members some matters of vital importance to the organization. Besides being organizer for the Carpenters' union, Mr. Carlin is also organizer for the Building Structural alliance.

Next Friday evening the semi-annual meeting of the Federated Trade assembly will be held. Officers will be elected for the ensuing six months and such other semi-annual business as may come up will be discussed. Of course the reports of officers, their terms having expired, will be read. It is believed that the present officers will be re-elected as they seem to have given satisfaction and no other ambitious ones seem to have any chance. The present officers are: President, Joseph Shurtel, Cigar makers; vice president, S. M. McDonald, Tailors; secretary, William Tunnell, Butchers; financial and corresponding secretary, George Northfield, Butchers; treasurer, Peter Nelson, Tailors. This union is not in the city now and, therefore, that office will probably have to be filled.

The Meat Cutters union will give its nineteenth annual mask ball at the Armory on the 9th.

The Meat Cutters union has elected as delegates to the trades' assembly, William Tunnell, George Northfield and Joseph H. Brown.

A local of the International Journeymen Horsehoes' union was organized here last week. The local is known as No. 89, and organized with the following officers: President, John Taylor; vice president, Thomas A. Smith; corresponding secretary, W. Thompson; treasurer, M. McNichols; sergeant-at-arms, William A. Roach. The delegates to the trades' assembly chosen are: John Taylor, Thomas A. Smith and W. Thompson. This union will hold regular meetings on the first Tuesday evening of each month. A special meeting will be held on the third Tuesday evening of this month.

The Cigar makers' union, No. 294, has elected officers, as follows: President, Charles Grams; vice president, Arthur Schade; recording and corresponding secretary, John Oakes; financial secretary, M. Edlinger; delegates to the trades' assembly, Joseph Shurtel, Charles Grams and Otto Winkler.

The local union of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers have elected the following officers for the ensuing six months: President, Henry T. Roche; vice president, E. Berquist; recording secretary, J. H. Powers; financial secretary, M. Oyseth; treasurer, E. A. Diers; conductor, J. Jackson; warden, A. Johnson; delegates to the trades' assembly, Henry DeRoche, T. G. Freshney and C. M. Brandt; trustees, T. G. Freshney, C. J. Arthur and P. E. Berzvig.

In the matter of the printers' strike, the situation remains unchanged locally.

BURNHAM TO FOLLOW. M'CURDY AND M'CALL.

New York, Jan. 6.—Frederick Burnham, president of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life association, will follow the example of M'Curdy and M'Call in a few days and pass out, if he is willing to go and many persons in the company are anxious for him to go, but his resignation may also involve the restitution of considerable sums. The company has held up on all sides by blackballers, who were paid liberally by the Burnham management out of the funds of the policyholders.

In event of Mr. Burnham's retirement as president of the company, Vice-President George D. Eldridge probably will be elevated to the place made vacant.

TWO PERISH IN ALASKAN WILDS

Terrible Death of an Iowa Man and His Guide.

Woodward, Iowa, Jan. 6.—News has been received here of the terrible death of E. K. Rowley of this place while attempting to return to his wife and children from the goldfields of Alaska. Rowley, with a guide named Hughes, and two other men, left Yakutatka for a four days' trip, to catch a steamer at the latter place. They took four days' provisions with them, but found the streams so swollen that Hughes led them miles out of the way to find fording places. At one time they walked ten miles in the water of a marsh to find a ford. Their food began to run out and Rowley was the first to give up. He had had nothing to eat for forty-eight hours and had been compelled to eat his frozen socks from his feet. He tried to walk, but soon froze his feet and gave up. Rowley told the others to go on, saying he would wait till they returned with relief. Hughes soon dropped and the other two went on to the coast. When a relief party returned with food no trace could be found of either man.

QUICK MARRIAGE FOUND ILLEGAL

La Crosse Couple Are Placed in an Awkward Predicament.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 6.—Divorced on July 7 and married on the same day to another, the marriage of J. H. Isbell to Miss Lillie Ferner has been found illegal. The former wife is the cause of the discovery of a new divorce law passed by the legislature last winter. Judge Fruit of the circuit court granted the divorce, and upon application of the plaintiff gave a decree allowing him to remarry within a year. The authority for this act is vested in the circuit judge in section 2330 of the statutes of 1898, as amended by the laws of 1901. Having received the order, Isbell proceeded to a justice of the peace on the same day of the divorce and married Miss Lillie Ferner.

Two weeks before the marriage the legislature of the state passed a law which prohibited the marriage of divorced persons within a period of one year. The law became operative on June 24. The marriage has therefore been declared void and illegal.

STAR ISLAND MAY BE MADE STATE PARK.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Senator Nelson and Representative Buckman have taken up the question of turning over Cooper Island, known locally as Star Island, to the state of Minnesota for park purposes. Buckman has introduced a bill authorizing the purchase of the island for $100,000 and the bill has been referred to the committee on Indian affairs. It is a member. That committee has a resolution, as the land is a part of that reserved to the Indians under the Morris act. In the senate the bill will go to the committee on Indian affairs. The measure is strongly endorsed by the people of Minnesota interested in forestry.

THE FACTS MISSTATED

E. M. Ferguson Brands Armour's Story a Per- version.

Talks of Post Article on the Private Car Line Evil.

"A masterpiece in the perversion of facts, all details, important and unimportant, willfully perverted from beginning to end."

E. M. Ferguson of the Knudsen-Ferguson Fruit company, president of the Western Fruit Jobbers' association and leader of the commission men and fruit growers of the United States in their fight against the private car lines, said this today when asked what he thought of the article on private car lines and their benefits, appearing in the current edition of the Saturday Evening Post, and written by J. Ogden Armour.

Mr. Ferguson has in his possession records which, it is said, will conclusively prove the essential claims of Mr. Armour. These records, Mr. Ferguson will answer Mr. Armour through the medium of the Post, if allowed, is not known for a certainty. He expects to leave the city within a few days, and it is doubtful if, with his other duties, he would find time to prepare an article for a publication which has such an extensive circulation as the Post.

One of Armour's chief arguments is that the private car line is a benefit to the country, and not with the growers. The latter, however, are not to be manipulated of the campaign that is being prosecuted for the express purpose of putting the private car lines out of business.

It is a matter of record that Mr. Ferguson and those helping him in his fight to down the private car line have received the endorsement of practically all the fruit growers of the country, either directly or indirectly. The latter are most all of the California Fruit Growers' association, one of the most important and influential organizations of its kind in existence. The Florida growers have long been exerting every effort to put the private car lines out of business.

Mr. Armour announces at the outset that the article will be the first of a series, and that it will probably be published by July 1, but as school closes in June, it will not be put to use until September. During the summer months it will be furnished and supplied ready to be occupied when school commences in September.

Dangers of a Cold and How to Avoid Them.
More fatalities have their origin in or result from a cold than from any other cause. This alone should make people more careful, as there is no danger without a cold when it is properly treated in the beginning. For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been recognized as the most prompt and effective medicine in use for this disease. It acts on nature's plan, loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by all leading druggists.

Tea Drinking and Typhoid.

It is said on the high authority of a celebrated American medical journal that, although the Chinese people live in a germ saturated soil, they are singularly free from typhoid fever and other diseases which water is the medium of communication. This condition is attributed to the universal custom of copious tea-drinking.

The tea itself is not held to be the safeguard against disease, but the boiling of the drink has a germicidal effect which produces sanitary advantages. And it tea produces any ill results they are not to be considered beside these advantages.

The tea leaf is described as forming one of the most innocent and attractive flavorings possible for hot drinks, and the boiled drink is the foe to the deadly germ.

Normal School Notes

Work on the new dormitory has been slightly delayed this week on account of the bad weather. Already the foundation has been laid and the skeleton of the building will be ready for occupancy about the first of July.

The new normal dormitory building is located east of the main building on the upper corner of Twenty-third avenue east and Fifth street. The building is 90 by 45 feet and by 45 feet and has a basement. It has a brick and stone foundation with a brick superstructure and a stone roof.

The basement is arranged with a large kitchen, 23 by 17½ feet, pantries, storerooms, serving room, a lunch room 10 by 17 feet, the dining room 37 by 24½ feet, is well lighted by large windows and opens on a long corridor. At the other end of the building are the bedrooms, and toilet rooms for the servants. Across the corridor is the laundry 24½ by 17½ feet, which is well supplied with tubs. Next to the laundry is the boiler room with the heating pipes and the cold water closets.

The first floor has a long corridor extending through the entire width of the building. Opening off from it is the large parlor 34½ by 17½ feet, next to it are two large bedrooms. Across the corridor is a suite of rooms consisting of a parlor, bed room and bath room for the matron, and a room 12½ by 17½ feet, which may be used for either a sick room or a study.

The second floor is entirely taken up with bed rooms, toilet and bath rooms. The closets are most all of the same size, 12½ by 17½ feet, and each room has two large closets. Linen closets are also found on each floor.

The attic is not to be furnished, until necessary and then will probably be fitted out as a storeroom.

The whole building is well ventilated, and lighted and is strictly fire proof in every respect. It will probably be finished by July 1, but as school closes in June, it will not be put to use until September. During the summer months it will be furnished and supplied ready to be occupied when school commences in September.

Buyers Western Line.
Portland, Or., Jan. 6.—The Oregonian says today:

It is learned on good authority that the American Car & Foundry company has purchased the Astoria & Columbia River railway for $4,000,000. The line consists of about eighty miles of standard gauge track, and runs from Astoria, this state, to Astoria and other coast points. The Astoria road uses the Northern Pacific route between Portland and Goble.

Railroad Notes.
The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic route has been carrying cars and some new sleeping cars built. The freight cars are being made by the American Car & Foundry company in Chicago, and the sleepers by Barney, Smith & Company, Dayton, Ohio.

The Twentieth Limited train over the Omaha from the Twin Cities, due in Duluth at 9:45 o'clock last night, was more than three hours late in arriving. The delay was due to snow. The morning train from Marquette over the South Shore was also about three hours late getting here, owing to the snow, and was a little more than an hour late this morning for the same cause.

THE WESTERN COAL INDUSTRY
Conditions In the Western Market Regarded as Discouraging.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—The Black Diamond, official organ of the coal industry, reviewing the Western trade, says:

Discouraging is the word which would most aptly describe coal market conditions in the West the present week. The weather has been as mild as that usually experienced in April, stocks of coal on every hand are now large, and there has been an absence of buying demand which would have kept the market active. At Chicago there has been much car service cut, which has been offset by gradually receding prices, but even at the figures at which this coal has been offered, the market is not active.

The price of Pittsburgh coal has been offered to buyers after their experiences in November and October. The market has been active in the demand. The discouraging feature in this connection is found in the fact that such a market should be experienced in mid-winter. In the past, at least once in two or three years, there have been a few days, since the first of December there has been scarcely a day when the market has been active.

The price of Illinois coal has been offered to buyers after their experiences in November and October. The market has been active in the demand. WEST DULUTH

TRIED TO SHOOT HIM

Bartender and Patrolman Have Hard Time With Vengeful Austrians.

Charge of Assault With Intent to Kill Against Them.

It is believed that a murder was narrowly averted last night by the prompt action taken by Patrolman Hank Mason of the West Duluth force, and as a result two Austrians who live near Raleigh street are in the city jail charged with assault with intent to kill. The more vicious of the two is Mike Vegnevica, who is known as "Pete". Nobody has yet attempted to spell or pronounce his name.

Vegnevica entered the saloon of Thomas Doyle at Fifty-third avenue west and Raleigh street last night with the expressed intention of killing A. L. Brewer, the bartender, because he had helped Patrolman J. J. Mickes arrest Vegnevica about a month ago. The man named Pete was with him.

Brewer said this morning that Vegnevica asserted that he had come to kill him and that he was going to shoot him on the side of the head. He showed his gun. Vegnevica then went to the bar as though going after a bottle. In reality he was going after his own gun and said this morning that if he had secured the weapon he would have killed the bartender where he stood for he believed the latter meant what he said.

Just then Patrolman Mason entered and stood in the outer part of the saloon listening for the sound of the threats of the Austrian and on seeing him go into the saloon figured that the man was trouble. On hearing further threats, the patrolman revealed himself and demanded the gun, which the Austrian refused to give. The patrolman and the two Austrians then went out on the sidewalk and there Mason attempted to take the gun by force. He got it but the man named Pete jumped on the patrolman from behind and in the struggle which followed, Vegnevica got the better of him and forced him away. Vegnevica had just got the gun in position to shoot when Mason struck him over the head with his billy which he seemed after he had been released from Pete's grasp, and knocked the Austrian senseless before he could use the gun. Vegnevica was then taken to the police station and Pete was arrested there.

The police at West Duluth claim that the affair is the result of an old grudge which Vegnevica holds. About a month ago, it is said, he started out with a gun and announced that he was going to shoot four Austrians whom he did not like. Patrolman Mickes happened to see him and followed him to a saloon and demanded his gun. Vegnevica refused to produce it so Mickes took it from him. Then a fight ensued and Mickes had a hard time getting the Austrian to a street car to take him to police headquarters. Finally Vegnevica was taken to the street car and helped the patrolman drag the Austrian into a street car.

Vegnevica was fined $25 and costs by the court and as soon as he was released, went to a store up town and bought a new gun and a box of cartridges. On returning to West Duluth he showed the armament he had purchased, quite a number of people announced that before long he was going to "get" Mickes and Brewer. Last night he started out to do it.

It is claimed among a certain class of Austrians that Vegnevica is a dangerous man and is believed to have a man in Chicago who is the present at least, for tonight is the Austrian Christmas eve and tomorrow is Christmas with them. They think he is celebrating and it is feared that trouble would ensue if such as Vegnevica were at large.

REFORMS SOUGHT IN INSURANCE

Forecast of Report of Life Insurance Investigating Committee.

New York, Jan. 6.—Upon authoritative information it is said that the principal objects which the legislative insurance investigation committee will seek to accomplish in the legislation is recommendations to the legislature are:

Effective participation of policyholders in the administration of the companies. An extension of the powers of the insurance department so that there will be no question of its right to supervise the entire administrative management of insurance companies.

A degree of publicity that will enable policyholders to keep informed regarding the management of the companies.

Requirements that the insurance companies shall keep their accounts in such position that they will not be possible without detection.

A uniform system of audits.

Standard forms of policies which will not permit of ambiguous and elusive provisions.

The prohibition or rigid limitation of deferred dividend policies of the lifetime form.

Additional safeguards against forfeiture.

A requirement that the profits accruing from the different departments of the business shall be justly apportioned to the policyholders entitled to receive them.

The prohibition of the control of subsidiary financial institutions by life insurance companies.

Restrictions as to deposits carried with and loans to banks and trust companies.

Restrictions regarding investments in speculative enterprises in process of promotion, the success of which is a matter of speculation.

A requirement that insurance directors or trustees shall not have business affiliations which will interfere with their judgment in passing upon financial proposals submitted to their insurance companies.

A requirement that a greater proportion of funds shall be invested in real estate, bonds and mortgages than now is turned into these channels by the larger companies.

CATHOLICS TO OBSERVE

Will Celebrate Father Guillet's Jubilee With Him Tomorrow.

Banquet Will be Given for Him in Columbia Hall.

Not only the French Catholics in Duluth but other residents of the city, in the Catholic church and out of it, are interested in the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Rev. Father Guillet's ordination to the priest hood, which will be held tomorrow in his own parish. There will be special services at the church during the day and in the evening, an elaborate banquet is to be served in his honor at Columbia hall, by the ladies of the church of St. John the Baptist.

The veteran clergyman has a wide acquaintance in the city and the church will probably be crowded. Rev. Bishop McGorkick will attend the services and it is expected that a large number of the clergy will be present.

Rev. Father Guillet will himself be celebrant at the solemn high mass and the sermon will be preached by Rev. Father Portelance, of Sacred Heart church in Winnipeg.

The ladies of the parish expect that fully 300 guests will be present at the banquet in the evening.

Rev. Father Guillet was born in 1853, at Iberville, near Montreal. He was educated in L'Assomption college and he entered in the Order of the Reverend Oblate Fathers in 1875. In 1887 the young novice was sent to Ottawa college, where he became director of the institution the very year of his elevation to the priesthood. After nine years of good work in Ottawa, Father Guillet went to Montreal and devoted himself to the holy ministry. In 1895 he replaced Archbishop Langevin in Winnipeg, where he has since been administering St. Mary's parish.

REV. FATHER GUILLET.

Father Guillet came to Duluth in March, 1903, since his arrival here he has been indefatigable in his endeavors to promote the interests of the French speaking population of the city.

During the eight years he spent as parish priest at St. Mary's, Winnipeg, he took an active part not only in the religious affairs of the parishes but also in every important movement for the social advancement of the city. So far as space has not obliterated the good impression he made on his Montreal friends whilst in their midst, they have done a precedent chorium, worth about $200 to present him on this occasion of his sacerdotal jubilee.

Mr. G. Flaherty, manager of the Flaherty Conservatory of Music, has accepted the resignations of Mrs. B. S. Holcomb and Miss Elsie S. Smith.

BOY ATTEMPTS TO WRECK A TRAIN.

Cincinnati, Jan. 6.—Samuel Sweeney, aged 12 years, residing near Junction City, Ky., is under arrest on a charge of attempting to wreck the Queen & Crescent Florida special, which passes his home daily.

A knuckle from a patent freight car had been added across the track by the boy and the heavy train and its human freight were saved by the track walker who discovered it just in time. Detectives were notified and lay in wait at the spot, supposing that the perpetrator would return as he had not been apprehended. The boy made his appearance a few minutes later with another of the knuckles and was arrested. At the place where the wreck was attempted is one of the steepest embankments along the road.

LITTLE INFORMATION IS OBTAINED FROM ROGERS

Oil Magnate Refuses to Answer Questions in Suit Against the Trust.

New York, Jan. 6.—H. H. Rogers, vice president and director of the Standard Oil company, was expected to be a witness before Commissioner Frederick H. Sanborn today, in the hearing to secure evidence by which Attorney General Hadley of Missouri is seeking to exclude the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Waters-Pierce Oil company and the Republic Oil company from doing business in Missouri, or operating under a pooling agreement, alleged to have been made between the companies named to crush competition.

Mr. Hadley said before the hearing opened that he intended to have Mr. Rogers on the stand today. The installation of a type-writing machine and other in the hearing room after today's session opened, by order of Mr. Hadley, indicated an effort on his part to save the commissioner from the necessity of writing down in long hand the words of the questioner and witnesses, which was insisted upon yesterday by counsel for the Standard Oil company.

Before the opening of proceedings, of any other trust certificates and the liquidating certificate than the ones she holds.

Asked for the names of the companies which composed the original Standard Oil company she said there were so many of them she could only give them from the trust agreement. Mr. Hadley showed Mrs. Butts three different kinds of trust certificates. "One of them," she said, "represents six shares in the original Standard Oil trust."

"The second is a share of an assignment of legal title, and the third such a share of assignment converted into scrip of the twenty different corporations now in the great grand division of the trust. Each piece of scrip bears the name of a company."

H. H. Rogers was called, after Mrs. Butts had been excused. Mr. Hadley asked him his name, residence and occupation. Mr. Rogers demanded a right to see the paper on which the question was written, and said it was not a proper question for Mr. Hadley to ask.

Commissioner Sanborn instructed him to answer.

"Am I to see the paper?" asked Mr. Rogers.

He was allowed to remain but the commissioner said he would consent only if Mr. Rogers agreed to stop interrupting. At this point the hearing adjourned until this afternoon.

Mr. Rogers refused to allow it, and instructed Mr. Rogers to answer.

He witness not to answer. Mr. Rogers, I live in New York and am in the oil business."

"What oil company or companies are you connected with?" asked Mr. Hadley.

Mr. Hagerman, the counsel, advised the witness not to answer.

William W. Rowe, a lawyer, also objected, and demanded that his objection be noted. The commissioner declined to note the objection, for the reason, he said, that Mr. Rowe represented nobody.

"I decline to answer," said Mr. Rogers.

The commissioner instructed him to answer. Mr. Hadley asked if Mr. Rogers claims any personal privilege under the laws of the United States, New York or Missouri?

Mr. Rogers said: "It will be decided by a photographer, who he said, was taking his picture."

The photographer was told to desist. Mr. Hadley said: "If the supreme court ordered him to answer, he would then refuse."

Mr. Rogers said: "It will be decided by whom?"

"By whom?"

"That also will be determined at the time."

"By whom?"

Mr. Rogers did not answer.

"Are you connected with the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Waters-Pierce Oil company of Missouri or with the Republic Oil company of New York?" asked Mr. Hadley.

"Yes, with the Standard Oil company of Indiana as director," replied Mr. Rogers.

"As a stockholder?"

Mr. Rowe advised witness not to answer.

The commissioner told Mr. Rowe not to interfere.

Mr. Hagerman objected to the question and said he wanted the right of Mr. Hadley to get at the list of stockholders of the company decided by the courts. Mr. Hadley said the question bore on the question of the creditability of the witnesses as showing his interest.

John D. Johnson of Counsel for the companies said the state called Mr. Rogers and should not question his creditability.

"I beg respectfully to be excused," said Mr. Rogers.

Mr. Hadley then asked that the question and refusal to answer be certified to the supreme court.

"Do you know who owns a majority of the stock of the Standard Oil company of Indiana?" asked Mr. Hadley.

Mr. Rowe again advised Mr. Rogers not to answer and the commissioner instructed him to answer.

Mr. Rogers said: "I will be decided by a photographer, who he said, was taking his picture."

The photographer was told to desist. Mr. Hadley said: "If the supreme court ordered him to answer, he would then refuse."

Mr. Rogers said: "It will be decided by whom?"

"By whom?"

"That also will be determined at the time."

"By whom?"

Mr. Rogers did not answer.

"Are you connected with the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Waters-Pierce Oil company of Missouri or with the Republic Oil company of New York?" asked Mr. Hadley.

"Yes, with the Standard Oil company of Indiana as director," replied Mr. Rogers.

"As a stockholder?"

Mr. Rowe advised witness not to answer.

The commissioner told Mr. Rowe not to interfere.

D. E. H. Jan. 6, 1906.

THANK YOU, GENTLEMEN!

We feel elated over the ready response the people of Duluth are giving to our first series of January sales, and we beg to thank all for this mark of confidence in our methods, as shown by the unprecedented crowding of our store ever since the sale opened yesterday morning.

Of course, we deliver the goods for less than you have ever bought like qualities in the city of Duluth, but nevertheless, without your good will and confidence, what could we do in this fake-sale-ridden town to bring the people to our store without spending a fortune for advertising?

January sales Nos. 1 to 5 are now in full swing.

Winter has been slow in coming this season, but it's useless to attempt to shut him out. You will have to meet him face to face from now until April or May, and the only way is to be prepared—that is to protect yourself with the right overcoat, the right cap and the right underwear.

All these and many more are on sale here now at very low prices.

No. 1 cut a goodly slice off every Overcoat in the house.

No. 2 disposes of odds and ends in the Men's Suit department at $5.00 each.

No. 3 allows mothers to rummage in our Children's department and pick up bargains that are bargains.

No. 4 is a preliminary clearing in the Shoe department of Hanan and Columbia Shoes at $2.98 and $1.98.

No. 5 is a Glove clearance for the wholesale house at half the wholesale prices. There were 2,500 pairs yesterday morning, but today they are thinned out and most of them are on the hands of satisfied customers. Left and right, and of Mittens and Workmen's Gloves there is a very good selection here for you.

Wedding Bells at Hibbing

MRS. WILLIAM H. ROBERTS.

Hibbing Minn., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Hallett Roberts and Miss Blanche Lorraine Macey were married in this place Dec. 21. The young people are well known in the village, having resided here for some years. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Couper of Pine street, and is a general favorite in social circles. Mr. Roberts is a son of Capt. Harry Roberts of Duluth, and is a hustling, energetic man, and is to be congratulated in securing for his bride one of Hibbing's fairest young ladies. The young people will make Hibbing their home.

high office he occupies the constitutional power that the fathers of the republic intended to show to possess. It is known to every student of American politics that the president is rarely permitted "to nominate" men of his own choosing. Innovations, like "the congressional rule" and "senatorial courtesy" have been allowed to grow up under weak magistrates. They have virtually vested the appointing power in the senators of the states from which candidates had to be drawn.

They know what their constituents demand. Populism hasn't a single representative in the house or senate, but if its strength were in its own hands, it would be the support of the president, owing to his position on the railroad question. It has been a contention of the Populists of Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado, that the railroad should be regulated by law. Much of the legislation that enables the president to regulate the railroad should be an outgrowth of the much-ridiculed Populists. There is some good in every movement, and the Populists, who in this case, merit was not perceptible at the time. Years ago, I remember to have heard of a declaration in his shrill, rasping voice that "the day will come when discrimination by the railroads in favor of persons or corporations will be stopped by the action of congress and the mighty power of the executive branch of the government." We all thought the old man was talking through his whiskers. But, he has called the turn.

Some of the ablest men of the Middle West are at the capital now for no other purpose than to assure the president of the popularity of his policy to regulate traffic. It has been the support of the rank and file in all parties. One would think that a measure so universally commended would have special attention by congress. But there are strong influences at work maneuvering for delay. It will be as long as possible before the president is able to take action at once. The tariff can wait, but this subject must be taken up.

Another strange anomaly is presented by this tariff question. It has been taken up by the president, but he has not yet taken up his duties as chief executive. He has not yet taken up his duties as chief executive. He has not yet taken up his duties as chief executive.

President Roosevelt has shown catholicity in his recognition or rejection of precedents not grounded upon constitutional right, but custom. He comprehends that he has only to stand firm upon the constitution, and he is generally advised with leaders of his party and is likely to continue to do so. But he has reached a point in his official career at which the bosses in the senate must be met with the same cold front that he has shown Wisconsin when he would act upon the matter, but that he did not expect to give a public hearing. He would give no intimation of his probable action.

The people of the country will stand by President Roosevelt in every step he takes to liberate his high office from the subservience into which it has fallen.

THE PRESIDENT'S COURSE HAS HIS UNQUALIFIED APPROVAL. He has been fighting for the same reform as the country. There are a few men in the Republican ranks that are not friendly to the new senator from Wisconsin. They do not credit his efficiency as a talker and committee worker.

If the president shall succeed in destroying the power that the great corporations have for a generation exercised over congress, he will have accomplished the most remarkable and memorable achievement of his career. The settlement of the Russo-Japanese war will take a subordinate place in the record of his life. Threats of reprisals and vengeance have not swayed him from the course set for himself when he began his last term of office. The senate is counted upon by the monopolies to check or defeat the intentions of the president, but the president is a man of highly aggressive character like La Follette in that body may turn the scale in favor of reform. He is a bold, aggressive man, as shown by his career in the house, and one voice and tongue such as his are worth a multitude of theoretical statesmen, who evince purity in politics from the seclusion of their libraries or editorial sanctuaries.

Another clearly indicated purpose of Theodore Roosevelt is to restore to the

TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Is Urged by Members of the Duluth Builders' Exchange.

Board of Education Asked to Establish Free Night Schools.

Technical instruction for young men in a free night school, to be established in the center of the city, was urged in a communication from the Duluth Builders' exchange to the board of education, at its regular meeting last evening.

The communication was signed by E. R. Cobb, as secretary of the exchange, and on motion by Mr. Cobb it was referred to the committee on schools and teachers for a report.

At a meeting of the exchange, on Jan. 2, a committee, composed of C. E. Evans, H. A. Webster and J. F. Holliman, was appointed to look into the matter, and they assisted in the preparation of the communication received last evening by the board.

The necessity of better technical instruction for young men was urged. The committee suggested special attention being given to architectural drawing, geometry and mensuration, and advised that the course be supplemented with lectures by civil and mechanical engineers, architects and experienced builders.

The committee urged that the plan be given a trial for a term of three months, beginning with one room only. If necessary a small fee might be charged to cover the cost of instruction, but it was pointed out that the room, heated and lighted, could be given free of charge.

If the plan proved to be a success it could be adopted in West Duluth and the West end, and the school gradually increased in size.

The committee maintained that such a school would greatly raise the standard of efficiency among the skilled workmen of the city, and that the board to give it serious consideration.

Some action may be taken at the next meeting of the board.

Plans for both of the new grade schools which will be constructed this year, were ordered to be ready before the next meeting. A Terryberry, the architect for the West Duluth school, had his plans completed at the meeting last night, and the board made some minor changes in them. He was instructed to complete detailed plans and specifications, and German & Lingnell, the architects for the Sixth street school, were also instructed to have their plans and specifications ready for the next meeting, so that the board may call for bids for both schools at that time.

Director J. J. M. who acted as representative of the board at the state convention of associated boards of education at St. Paul, gave a brief and interesting report of the session, outlining the ground covered by the more prominent speakers.

Superintendent Denfeld's monthly report showed an enrollment of 10,888, which is an increase of 139 over the month of November. He also reported several resignations of teachers which were accepted, and the vacancies filled.

The board, on a motion by J. L. Washburn and N. C. Hendricks, moved a vote of thanks to Ward Ames, Sr., for the gift of a collection of butterflies to the high school museum.

A number of other routine matters of business, including the purchase of some books and supplies were transacted.

FITZ AND WIFE UNRECONCILED
Visit of Pugilist to Sioux Falls, S. D., Proves Unavailing.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 6.—A crowd of enormous proportions gathered at the Cataract hotel to witness the arrival of about 9:30 last night of "Holy" Fitzsimmons, who proceeded direct to the hotel where his wife has apartments. Mrs. Fitzsimmons and with several friends, made since her arrival in Sioux Falls, the pugilist and his wife, were engaged in a brief talk in reference to whether or not Mr. Fitzsimmons desired to see his wife. He was pressed, such a desire, and Judge Aikens arranged the meeting between them. Representatives of newspapers, excluded from the room in which the meeting between Fitzsimmons and his wife took place.

At that time it was officially announced that the efforts of Fitzsimmons to effect a reconciliation with his wife had resulted unsuccessfully.

ALTHOUGH DIVORCED
Woman Still Has Interest in Former Husband's Life Insurance.

St. Paul, Jan. 6.—Though obtaining a divorce, a woman does not surrender any interest she may have in an insurance policy covering her husband's life.

It is a vested interest, the Minnesota supreme court held, in an opinion filed yesterday, and is not even affected by a contract of surrender between the two. It is her separate property, and the husband cannot impair its value.

The findings cover the case of Monroe Wallace, appellant, vs. the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company et al, respondents and they affirm the verdict as rendered against the husband in the Hennepin district court.

ASK CLEMENCY FOR PATRICK

Appeal Signed by Prominent Men Received by Governor Higgins.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Governor Higgins yesterday received a petition for the exercise of executive clemency in the case of Albert T. Patrick, the New York lawyer, confined in Sing Sing prison under sentence to die the week beginning Jan. 22 for the murder of the aged millionaire, William Marsh Rice. The petition, signed by nearly 100 well known persons, including lawyers, physicians and chemists, clergymen and laymen, and is based upon the ground that there is reasonable doubt of his guilt.

The signers of the petition include Governor Cleveland, John D. Carlisle, former Supreme Court Justice, Harwell, and a number of prominent members of the New York bar: Samuel C. T. Hamilton, the well known attorney; Dr. Austin Flint, head of the Bellevue Medical school, and many other persons and chemists and physicians. The petition was presented to Governor Higgins last night that he did not know when he would act upon the matter, but that he did not expect to give a public hearing. He would give no intimation of his probable action.

SPECTRES AND ILL OMENS SCARE

Some People But They Did Not Threaten King Haakon.

Christiania, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Your correspondent investigated the stories concerning "spectres and ill omens," since the arrival of King Haakon, and found that all of them might be counted against the former king of Norway, Oscar.

Capt. E. Itt wouldn't do to give his name to the artillery gave your correspondent the following data concerning the Akerhus fortress incident:

"Myself and a number of other officers, not engaged in the reception festivities," said the captain, "were assembled in the fortress caupon preparing to drink the king's health the moment the royal salute indicated his arrival in Christiania. We were engaged in animated conversation when suddenly a curious noise struck our ears. It sounded as if some bolts or stones were torn from their sockets in the wall. A few moments later a tremendous uproar succeeded—the over-life size painting showing King Oscar the Second in his coronation robes, which covered the rear wall, had come down. At the same moment all the guns along the harbor and on the towers began booming. As King Oscar's effigy came down, the new king came in."

"With the aid of the servants the picture was pulled up and leaned against the wall from which it had dropped. It was found that the painting itself had not suffered, but the stucco corner, adorning the frame on top was smashed into little bits. A similar incident happened at the house of the former minister of state, Hagarup. The editor of the Morgenthaug, who was in the city at the following version to your correspondent:

"In the last days of November former Minister of State Hagarup entertained quite a large company in honor of the king's arrival. Among the guests were several of the officers who had had the curious experience with King Oscar's picture at the fortress. After they told their story, all sorts of similar incidents of the past were history were cited, and of course the vision of the Swedish Charles at Stockholm palace was told for the hundredth time. An engineer, who was present, said that the walls of the fortress must be rickety and should be investigated, when there was a cracking noise in the big dining room where the company was assembled. The cracking continued for a few seconds, when a life-size marble bust of King Oscar, standing on a "console," let into the wall, fell down with tremendous noise, the console following and smashing into pieces. The stucco had been placed at the window wall ten or more years ago by masons and there was never any doubt that it was perfectly safe.

"The occurrence made a decided impression on all present and the company soon broke up. Evidently as to whether the omens argued well or ill for the new king were divided."

Similar incidents are said to have occurred in various parts of the kingdom, but your correspondent was unable to verify any of them. Superstitious people, however, are inclined to put in the same class even the fact that the eastern wing of the royal residence suffered considerable damage from a recent storm.

WHAT TITLES ARE GOOD FOR

King Christian of Denmark Believes in Them For Economy.

Copenhagen, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Nothing under the sun," said King Christian when he learned over the telephone that the Socialists had introduced a bill demanding the abolition of the nobility, of titles, orders and decorations. "It takes a long-lived fellow like myself to remind the world that apparent novelties are really as old as the hills."

And the king told of that sturdy old Danish democrat, Carl Berg, who, in 1871, demanded the very measures now advanced by the Socialists. "Old Albert and old Hoegsboer backed up Berg, if I remember rightly," added the king. And mentioning the fact that Christian's memory was correct as usual.

And the most surprising part—the sons of those old fire-eaters are now ministers of state, belonging to the ministry of the Left, the second of those sons of democrats have developed into first class aristocrats. Indeed, the president of the ministry immediately turned against the anti-nobility bill, pulling it to pieces with the same arguments that the Conservatives advanced against Berg nearly twenty-five years ago. The Socialists and some members of the new Radical Left alone upheld the bill, which was sent to a committee, probably for burial.

"I don't care a rap whether a man is called a count or whether he is a simple burglar," said King Christian. "But I believe in titles as an economy measure. If titles and orders are to be suppressed, how shall the king reward faithful services? Orders and titles were especially invented for economy's sake. Before then, the king had to hand out jewels and money. I wonder whether the Socialists are prepared to place at the disposal of the crown the contents of its jewelry store and, say, a million kroner per year for rewards?"

STRINDBERG AS A WOMAN HATER

Author Denies and Also Defends His Hatred of Women.

Stockholm, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Your correspondent was permitted to copy the curious preface of Strindberg's new book, "Comrades." This preface, dealing with the accusation that Strindberg is a woman hater, will not fail to make a stir.

Strindberg says that "as everybody is calling him a woman hater, he is forced to ask himself, 'Am I a woman hater?'" He continues: "In reviewing my past life I find that I have lived in women's company from the time of my childhood. I have loved them, I have hated them, I have despised them, as long as they remained womanly. When they became my competitors, and neglected their beauty, and all lost their alluring aspects, and I did not love them any longer, which I think a natural and healthy feeling."

What Strindberg says about "woman as a competitor of man" is too brutal to be repeated in a self-respecting newspaper; suffice it to say that the glories in the death, by accident, of twelve female workers.

In the further discussion, he cites a passage from Balzac, viz.: "Women instinctively recognize only the faults of a man of brains, while glorying in the good sides of a fool. They sympathize with a fool because he flatters their own shortcomings."

Strindberg maintains that there is no difference between love and hate. Love he characterizes "as an intermittent fever, hatred marking its paroxysms. I always esteemed women, those enchanting criminals whose worst crimes are not described in the criminal statistics. I always loved the kind, or the good taste, to tell them the truth, and they got even with me by calling me a woman hater."

"There are men supporting the woman's rights and digging their own grave, for woman's emancipation means enslavement of man. It means that the intellectual class among men must take a back seat in favor of pants-wearing women."

"That women rail against us and our strongholds, that they foolishly attempt to disregard their duties; that they refuse to follow their natural instinct and become mothers—I do not blame the men who support them in their tomfoolery and criminality. These are men without a sex feeling, they have lost the instinct of self-preservation."

"I hate the emancipated woman. I hate her because I love the womanly woman. I hate her because, if she has her way there will be no womanly woman left. I hate her because she is against her nature."

"Let us return to nature and be happy."

RUSSIAN WODKA

Helped to Promote the Revolution in Esthland and Livland.

Stockholm, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Letters from the Russian Baltic provinces, which are largely populated by Swedes, particularly Esthland and Livland, show that Russian greed is largely responsible for the revolution there. The Swedes of these provinces are a very religious people, not mere church-goers, but religious in their hearts of hearts. When the Russian government became its own vodka salesman in Esthland and Livland, that is, established the liquor monopoly, the Russians placed in each little Russian shop a picture of the Saviour bearing the inscription: "Come to me all full of burdens and woes, I will be your Saviour."

Christ's picture in such a place gave great offense to the religious people, particularly the inscription. The holy synod in St. Petersburg was repeatedly petitioned to remove it, but took no notice. When the present revolution broke out, the Esthlanders got even for this neglect. One of the first revolutionary deeds was the smacking of the state liquor shops and the destruction of the paraphernalia. If the little Father ever wants to become a saleskeeper again in the former Swedish provinces, he must refurbish his establishments from the bottom up.

THE SOCIALISTS

In Norway Are Rather Lenient With King Haakon.

Christiania, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The great mass of Norwegian Socialists is opposed to Social Democrat's continued enmity to King Haakon. "Since the people are agreed to shoulder the expense of a king, it behooves the Socialists to treat him respectfully and support him as long as he does his duty and obeys the laws, regulating his rights and duties," said a leading Socialist to your correspondent.

On holidays the red flag, flanked by a Norwegian flag on each side, floats from the top of the women's clubhouse, Arildersamsund. Printer Knudsen, formerly president of the Norwegian Socialists, has declared for peace with the king.

SWEDISH WAR OFFICE

Is Considering an Addition to the Standing Army.

Stockholm, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The war office is considering an addition to the standing army, and it is hinted that Denmark and Norway may follow suit. The new corps will be called Coast Defenders. In most countries the reserves are used for coast defense indiscriminately, and it sometimes happens that troops are sent to this duty, which have never seen the sea before. The Swedish war office intends to break with this rule, and organize a military force that can be called together at very short notice and which will receive instruction in every branch of coast defense, including signalling, mounting of guns, sailing of ships, rowing, throwing up fortifications, etc.

There is a rumor that Germany intends to organize a similar force, so much more reason why the Scandinavian countries ought to go ahead without delay, it is argued.

FRITS THAULOW

The Famous Norwegian Artist Painter, is in Stockholm.

Stockholm, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frits Thaulow, the famous Norwegian artist painter, who makes Paris his home, is stopping here to visit friends after paying his respects to King Haakon. The artist is said to have returned from Christiania with some big orders by the king and government. He may paint the coronation and contribute to the contemplated beautifying of the Christiania palace.

Your correspondent asked Frits whether the Paris Figaro story was true that after the separation, he offered his sword to the Norwegian ministry. "Nonsense," he said, "I never did anything of the kind, and it is also untrue that I am an officer of the reserves in the Norwegian army. I am not militarily inclined at all and never doubted that the differences between Norway and Sweden would end peacefully."

ACCIDENT INSURANCE

For Farm Hands, Foresters and Fishermen in Denmark.

Copenhagen, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minister of the Interior Berg told your correspondent that the government intended to admit farm hands, foresters and fishermen to the benefits of the state accident insurance, and that investigations are now under way to effect this benefit.

The Socialists, on their part, promise to give the government no rest until the laws referred to are on the statute book.

EIGHT-HOUR LAW IN DENMARK. Copenhagen, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The government is considering the introduction of the eight-hour day and the workmen's council, consisting of employers and employees, has been ordered to look into the matter. At present employers and employees regulate their own time, except in such manufacturing that threaten the health of the workmen.

DUN'S WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Good Demand for Staple Goods With Prices Maintained.

New York, Jan. 6.—R. G. Dun & Company's Weekly Review of Trade says: "Erratic weather and the customary difficulties encountered in resuming normal conditions after a lengthy holiday have restricted operations during the past week, especially in retail and jobbing departments. The situation is relieved to some extent by clearance sales of heavy weight wearing apparel, and there is a good demand for staple lines of food stuffs, while prices are maintained so firmly that confidence is evidently unshaken. Annual settlements are promptly made and inventories show the favorable results anticipated. It is impossible to fill orders for lumber and building materials, open weather making structural work an unusual feature for the season. Manufacturing plants are resuming, advanced by extensive cancellations for some months in most cases, and in many divisions in iron and steel industry idleness in 1906 can only be produced by extensive cancellations. Thus far the railroads have had little adverse weather with which to contend, earnings for December rising 44 per cent above last year's and reports of foreign commerce are even more strikingly favorable."

At this point also for the last week imports exceeded those of a year previous by $6,137,234 or about 50 per cent while exports gained $2,065,771.

Textile industries continue in a strong position as to the amount of business in sight but the primary markets have not yet recovered from holiday quiet.

The export situation shows no improvement. The great mass of the country is so far ahead that producers are complacent regarding the future. It is also noticed that comparatively few buyers are in the market for woolen goods.

Conditions were without change in the hide market, demand remaining quiet, and packers' stocks carried over were in no case burdensome. A firmer tone is noted in certain branches of the footwear market.

Commercial failures this week in the United States are 253 against 221 last week and 230 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 32 against 27 last week, 33 the preceding week and 25 last year.

At this point also for the last week imports exceeded those of a year previous by $6,137,234 or about 50 per cent while exports gained $2,065,771.

Textile industries continue in a strong position as to the amount of business in sight but the primary markets have not yet recovered from holiday quiet.

The export situation shows no improvement. The great mass of the country is so far ahead that producers are complacent regarding the future. It is also noticed that comparatively few buyers are in the market for woolen goods.

Conditions were without change in the hide market, demand remaining quiet, and packers' stocks carried over were in no case burdensome. A firmer tone is noted in certain branches of the footwear market.

My Life a Sermon of Thankfulness

Says Rev. J. Stoddard, D.D., Great Pulpit Orator and Former Rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles, in gratefully acknowledging the debt he owes to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Impressive truths from the lips of this distinguished divine, who bids his ailing brother be of good cheer and prophesies that health, strength and the joy of living will return to him:

REV. JAMES STODDARD, D.D., Former Rector Church of the Holy Apostles, Perry, N. Y.

For more than fifty years Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has been prescribed by doctors and used in over two thousand leading hospitals as the greatest tonic-stimulant and health builder known to medical science. It is indorsed by the clergy and professional nurses and recommended by all schools of medicine as the best cure for coughs, colds, consumption, grip, bronchitis and pneumonia. It stimulates and enriches the blood, aids digestion, builds up the nerve tissues, tones up the heart and fortifies the system against disease germs. It prolongs life, keeps the old young and the young strong. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey contains no fusel oil and is the only whiskey recognized by the Government as a medicine. This is a guarantee. For sale by all reliable druggists and grocers, or direct, in sealed bottles only; never in bulk, $1 a bottle. Make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Doctor's advice and medical booklet free. EXERCISES IMPRESSIVE Odd Fellows Hold Joint Installation Ceremonies at Hall.

Officers of Three Lodges and Rebekahs Take Places.

Officers of three local lodges of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, No. 10, 12, and 14, were installed at the Odd Fellows' building last evening with impressive ceremonies and before 500 spectators as well as the members of the order. The lodges which figured in the installation were Duluth lodge, No. 28, Zenith City lodge, No. 10, and Central Link lodge, No. 15.

The installation ceremonies were in charge of T. W. Hugo, grand master of the grand lodge of Minnesota. He was assisted by A. H. Paul, deputy grand master; F. H. Pressnell, grand warden; R. E. McFarlane, grand treasurer; R. W. Towse, grand treasurer; and an escort from Canton, North Star, No. 14, Patricians Millitary, under the command of Lieut. Col. T. W. Streeter.

Mr. Hugo delivered a brief address on the work of the Odd Fellows and the growth of the order. He gave some figures showing the gains that had been made by the order in recent years, and that the order led all others in membership.

Charles Schiller was presented with a beautiful jewel, for a veteran of twenty-five years' standing, by the members of the Odd Fellows lodge of Duluth.

He was summoned before the noble grand master and given a severe raking over the coals, after which he was presented with the jewel. He responded happily.

At the conclusion of the installation exercises refreshments were served. The following officers formally accepted their offices:

Duluth Lodge, No. 28—Past noble grand, W. T. Dunnigan; noble grand, Frederick Elling; Jr. vice grand, C. H. Trower; financial secretary, J. W. McDonald; financial secretary, William Kohlen; treasurer, R. E. Schiller; chaplain, T. J. St. Germain.

Zenith City Lodge, No. 10—Past noble grand, Andrew Horngren; noble grand, John Gillis; vice grand, A. A. Brewer; recording secretary, Thomas B. Perry; financial secretary, W. H. Leonard; treasurer, William Marquardt; chaplain, R. D. Hays.

Central Link Lodge, No. 15—Past noble grand, George Williams; noble grand, Joseph Rich; vice grand, Thomas Carter; recording secretary, T. A. Rogers; financial secretary, N. S. Elder; treasurer, W. W. Medd.

Majestic Rebekah Degree, No. 60—Noble grand, Mrs. J. Brown; vice grand, Mrs. W. B. Rutchart; recording secretary, Dr. Schiller; financial secretary, A. E. Botsford; treasurer, Mrs. R. C. Kruschke; chaplain, Mrs. John McQuinn.

GERMANY PREPARING

For War by a Large Issue of "Shin Plasters."

Berlin, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A lot of ten millions of "shin plasters," valued two and one mark (50 cents and 25 cents) is contemplated to get the public used to "war money."

Person, who do not know, are of the opinion that Germany, if engaging in war, has nothing else to do than to draw upon the gold reserve in the Julius Tower, Spandam, but that reserve, large as it is, would not last long and paper money must be resorted to. Paper money is to be issued to the value of five, three, two and one mark, a law to that effect was put on the statute book some little time ago. Now it is contemplated to issue shin plasters of low valuation right away in order to get the public used to war currency.

ST. PAUL CAPITALIST SHOOT'S HIMSELF.

St. Paul, Jan. 6.—Charles Cristadoro, capitalist, art connoisseur, forestry expert and magazine writer of some note, shot and probably fatally wounded himself in his offices in the German-American bank building, late yesterday afternoon. It is not yet determined whether the shooting was accidental or with suicidal intent. Mr. Cristadoro had sent his stenographer out of the room on an errand, and a few moments later a revolver shot attracted the attention of other occupants of offices. Mr. Cristadoro was found leaning against his desk, a bullet wound in his abdomen, and a revolver on the floor beside his chair. He was once taken to the hospital, where physicians after an examination, stated that he was probably mortally wounded. Mr. Cristadoro has been in poor health recently.

MUNICIPAL BAKERIES.

Rome, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—It has leaked out that the vote, deciding on the maintenance of municipal bakeries in Palermo, was largely swayed by the suffrages of Socialists, who voted for public ownership, though their leaders vehemently opposed the scheme. Municipal bakeries are not a novelty in Palermo. That town has been bread during the three long centuries in the Middle Ages, and did very well until the city was seized by a band of greedy Tamany Hall fashion who poisoned the people with bad bread and stole the grain wholesale.

A LABORER MURDERS CHILD FOR REVENGE.

Honolulu, Jan. 6.—Simeon Whartore, the 3-year-old son of Henry Whartore, who has been missing, has been found in a cemetery at Wailuku, on this (Oahu) island. The child had been murdered in an atrocious manner. The legs, arms and head had been severed from the body. The tongue cut off and the eyes gouged out. The internal organs were found several feet apart. The murderer buried the remains, six inches under the surface of the ground. A laborer named Samuel Johnson, who had been boarding with the parents of the child, was arrested on suspicion and when confronted with strong evidence of guilt, made a confession to the crime. He said that the motive for the crime was revenge against the boy's mother, because she had refused to let him liquor.

VOORHEES GIVES $100,000 TO WAUKESHA COLLEGE.

Waukesha, Wis., Jan. 6.—President Wilbur F. Carrier of Carroll college has announced the acceptance of $100,000 from Ralph Voorhees, of Clinton, N. J., to be used for additional buildings for the local college. This makes a total of $200,000 that Mr. Voorhees has given Carroll college. Thirty-five thousand dollars will be used for the erection of a women's dormitory, $30,000 for a science hall, $40,000 for the erection of a residence for the president of the college and the remaining $90,000 will be added to the college endowment.

BEER SHOULD BE DRUNK

Out of Steins or Silver Goblets or Not at All.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Schultze, the chemist, figured out that any person drinking a pint of beer out of a glass swallows one millionth part of lead, inasmuch as beer absorbs the lead oxide of glass. He advises the use of steins or silver goblets, and says the Bavarians can swallow more beer than the rest of the Germans remain healthy because they invariably drink their tipple from steins.

Germany is eminently a beer drinking country. The consumption of wine is only 5.9 litres per head and year; in France the consumption is above 127 litres per head and year; in Italy 110, in Spain above 86, in Portugal 83 and in Switzerland 74 litres. Five years ago the Germans drank 125 litres more than ten years before. After that the temperance people opened a crusade and the consumption of beer fell to 116.5 litres per head of population annually. The Germans also indulge in eight litres of spirits per head of population annually, being the third in the list of whiskey toppers. Wherever the consumption of whiskey decreased that of beer materially increased, which caused the German temperance people to regard beer as the tonic and drink par excellence until recently when they began to fight beer. They tried to get the medical authorities to back them up, but the doctors, who are good tipplers themselves, refused and maintained that moderate use of wine and beer is beneficial rather than otherwise.

"PAUL," PARIS CABBY, Woman in Disguise and Champion Boxer, Killed By Auto.

Paris, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Paul "the terror of Paris cabbies," is dead, the victim of an automobile accident. At the burial it turned out that "Paul" was a girl, Chlotilde Filly, daughter of a banker. The disguised woman plied the trade of night hawk for more than fifteen years and left a fat bank account. Her comrades are rather glad that "Paul" is out of the way for if there was a dispute about a "fare," she invariably got the better of them. Even the bravest feared her, for she was a champion boxer and quick to lose her temper. And the punishment she dealt out to rivals and patrons who refused to pay her extra high drink money was so terrible as to gain her the name of "iron arm." Fifteen or more years ago Chlotilde quarreled with her family and after a free fight, in which she knocked out six big brothers, left home never to return again. She sold her clothes and jewels, bought a cab and horse with the proceeds, and donned trousers. Ever since then she acted Paul the cabman and incidentally Paul the slugger.

Highways and Byways of the Town.

St. Louis, Wis., is a curiosity in the shape of a town. It really cannot be called a town at present, but once it was a thriving and prosperous community, with a rapidly growing population, numbering 1,500 or 2,000 souls, boasting several stores, and even business blocks, and sporting a hotel that would have done credit to a city of 50,000 population. There were also factories, schools and churches.

Now the local freight does not even stop there. Only one family resides in the big clearing, using the depot as a residence. There are half a dozen houses, but these are vacant. The hotel, the schools, the churches and other buildings are gone, with the exception of one factory, standing in the brush and woods for no other reason, it seems, than to startle strangers who pass that way as patrons of the Northern Pacific.

A person does not necessarily need to be an old resident of Duluth to remember the time St. Louis was at the top of the heap of Western boom towns. Scores of Duluthians were in-town. A good deal of money was spent there, but very little was ever taken out. No mining camp in the West was over more short-lived. The bottom dropped out of everything without warning, and in a few months St. Louis was little more than a memory. Closed were the factories, and gone were the moneyed men. Those who remained did so, in the main, because they did not have the money to get away with. A forest fire happened along and burned up a portion of the town. One by one the merchants closed their stocks and removed to more promising fields. Finally the hotel, the postoffice and the depot were the only places of business that were open. The hotel was situated that summer visitors might be attracted to the hotel in paying numbers, but the visitors never materialized. Then the place was closed. It stood, a desolate monument to foolish investment, until a year ago, when it was torn down and the lumber used for other purposes.

The factory, perched on a hill midway between the station and the hotel, should not be forgotten, for the young idea continued to learn there. Now two boys constitute the entire child population of the town, and two years ago the school house was sacrificed so that the old lumber might be put to better use. Some of the store buildings were torn down, some were burned, and some were moved away. The same was true of the houses. Several of the latter were brought down the St. Louis river on the ice to Superior and Duluth, and are today doing excellent service as residences.

As fast as the people could get enough money together they moved away, and ten years ago there were not enough left to support a post-office, so it, too, was closed. The settlers, hunters and logging camps made it good policy for the railroad to keep the depot open for a time, but not later than 1897 the combination of the railroad and the lumber industry, vacated the building and trains quit stopping there. It was not until 1897 that the lumber industry, vacated the building and trains quit stopping there.

It is hard for a person visiting this town to believe that St. Louis was ever what it really was. The several hundred acres that were so carefully cleared and at such great expense, are a tangle of brush, from ten to twenty feet high. The main street is but a country road, seldom used. Where the school house once stood some enterprising individual, probably from the city, had planted a row of vegetables at the proper season of the year. Only the lone factory building, the postoffice and the depot are left as reminders of the times gone by. Deer and small game roam about without fear of molestation from the police, and the deer are in its prime both the street and sidewalk would be fairly black with people, swarming along like ants after the arrival of a train from the city.

In fact, it was a very busy little Cold by the Police The Detective's Story.

It was an "off" night at headquarters.

The city was apparently sleeping peacefully, beneath a cold and clear sky, and the men on the beats reported "all quiet" with pleasing regularity.

The operator had tired of his game of "solitaire," and had leaned back in his chair to enjoy a quiet pipe. A jaller strolled in, in his shirt sleeves, and sitting down, lighted a cigar. The desk sergeant dangled his feet from a table, and looked over at the visitor, a detective from one of the large Western cities, who was in the city after a prisoner, and had dropped into the station for a friendly chat.

"What do you think of our town?" asked the sergeant.

"Good town," said the detective. "You've got it pretty well cleaned up. Not much monkey business goes here, I guess. I haven't seen a 'mug' I know since I've been here."

"That's the only way to do it," said the sergeant.

"What are you fellows talking about?" asked the reporter who, with his chair tilted back, was patiently waiting for something to turn up.

"The way to run a town," said the detective. "Well, how should they run it?"

"There are two ways of dealing with the police problem," said the detective, lifting his feet to the table and leaning back in his chair. "One method is to protect the thieves and come to an understanding with them. The other method is simply to chase them down whenever they are found."

The former method is all right for the city that adopts it, but it plays the dickens with all the towns in the vicinity. Under that plan the police or the thieves, or both, may be unmolested, as long as you don't steal here. If you want to steal, steal from some other city. If you steal here you sweat for it."

"Nice, neighborly policy that," said the reporter.

"And they generally do sweat for it," continued the detective. "Under that system the police are kept informed of just when a job is pulled off, and the friends among the thieves will tell them if anybody breaks the rule and steals in town. Every thief constitutes himself a detective, and the police in the police with information if any other thief breaks the tacit understanding that exists between the underworld and the officers."

"Under that system a city becomes a perfect nest for thieves, but it is probably just as safe as in the city with the best police force in the world. The trouble comes to this near by. Two towns like Minnesota and St. Paul, for instance, if one city should adopt the protective method, the other town would be sacrificed, and in which the thieves of the country would ply their trade."

"I remember a few years ago I was sent out to one of the Western cities after a man. The fellow had swiped some valuable silks from a lady, and had the job tipped off to me, and I knew the thief and where he had the stuff planted. I went to the chief of police in this town and told him the thief was in town, and he told me to go and get him. I went to the chief of police and told him the thief was in town, and he told me to go and get him."

"Well, the chief was mighty kind about it all. He wanted my proofs, and said he couldn't spare a man to help me. I saw what I was up against, so I had to consider. I finally told the chief that if he would get me the goods back, I'd let the chief and his men have the fellow. He was ever what it really was. The several hundred acres that were so carefully cleared and at such great expense, are a tangle of brush, from ten to twenty feet high. The main street is but a country road, seldom used. Where the school house once stood some enterprising individual, probably from the city, had planted a row of vegetables at the proper season of the year. IS GIVEN BY FRESHMEN

Beautiful Picture Presented to High School by the Class.

Hockey Team Expects to be Able to Tounce Sophomores.

The Freshman class held its monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon and decided to establish a precedent for all Freshman classes by presenting a picture to the school. The one selected is related to the Freshman English work, as it is shown from Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe." A large central picture shows Rowena placing the chaplet of honor on the head of Ivanhoe, after his victory in the tournament. On either side are two panel pictures representing Ivanhoe and the Black Knight, in armor.

The class plans were also discussed at the Wednesday meeting. They are being made by F. D. Day & Co., and will be ready in about two weeks. They are very plain, a circle of gold, bearing a smaller circle of silver, with the class numerals and the letters D. C. H. S. in gold. They will cost about $2.

Capt. Cummings of the hockey team has not had his men out for practice as yet, but says that he has some fine material in the class, and is confident of repeating the triumph which the first year men administered to the Sophomores in the football game.

TAKE UP FOOTBALL.

High School Public Speakers to Debate on the Problem.

The Public Speaking club will hold its regular meeting Monday afternoon in the music room. Henry Becker will read the report on "Current Topics," and Walter Montgomery will deliver a paper on "The Problem of Football." The principal feature of the program will be the debate, in which Ben Frink and Magnus Fossum, representing the affirmative, and the other members of the club, representing the negative, will uphold the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that football be abolished from high schools and colleges, while the Public Speaking club, for the benefit of the game, should be organized."

The debate has been very carefully prepared during the vacation, and considering the large amount which has been written on this subject, the argument should be fast and furious. Professors Phillips, Townsend and Ferguson have been asked to act as judges. The debate will be held in the department which will act as clerk.

ANNOUNCES PRIZES.

Zenth Board to Place Publication on Sale Feb. 1.

The Senior Zenth board got busy during the week and held two meetings. The school publication will be of about the same shape as those which have preceded it, and will contain about two hundred pages besides the advertising matter.

The board expects to dispose of about 500 copies and Business Manager Don Stalker says that the advance sale will begin about the first of February. The price then will be thirty-five cents, while the books will cost fifty cents purchased at the time of publication.

The board announces the following prizes: First prize, $5.00; Second prize, $3.00; Third prize, $2.00; Fourth prize, $1.00; Fifth prize, $1.00; Sixth prize, $1.00; Seventh prize, $1.00; Eighth prize, $1.00; Ninth prize, $1.00; Tenth prize, $1.00.

CONSIDERING PLAYS.

The Senior Committee is Busy Looking Over Available Ones.

The committee on the Senior play had a meeting this week and the members said that they will have several good plays under consideration, but that none has been decided on as yet. The committee comprises Florence B. Bradley, Mabel Calkins, Madge Millar, Ethel Beckinger, Lella Sparks, Florence Erickson, Charles McLennan, Earl White, Verner Claypool, Henry Becker, Arthur Dunning, Charles McFadden, Fred Grassmeyer, Benjamin Frink, Rudolph Abraham and Don Stalker.

High School Notes.

Very few of the students who spent their vacations out of town did not get back in time to put in an appearance at chapel Tuesday morning and quite a number of the alumni of the school were on hand for the first chapel of the year.

There are only thirteen days of school before the semester examinations, which will be held Thursday and Friday, January 25 and 26. Owing to the shortening of the school term, the time spent on review is unusually short this year which renders the ordeal of "exams" more terrible than ever.

The attendance at the high school has changed very little since the beginning of the year, the number of entries and of those who have dropped out being nearly the same. There will be no resignations from the faculty, as was rumored.

The Agassiz club will hold its regular meeting Monday afternoon in the biological laboratory. Vacation interfered with the preparation of a program, but Professor Ulrich will speak to the club.

TO COMBAT PATRIOTISM.

Paris, Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The Union of Anti-Patriots," which the state commenced "John Doe proceedings," was found to have originated with the state employees of the Toulon arsenal. The literature of the league addresses itself principally to the workmen of France and its leading idea is to destroy "the dogma of patriotism," secondly to fight militarism and consign soldiers and officers to public detestation.

The January records are now on hand. B. F. Hathaway, 200 Alworth Building.

CHAINED FOR TEN YEARS

EVERY BRINGS RELIEF.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had over-spoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

DR. TAFT.

Dear Sir: I have used almost a large bottle of your Asthmalene and it has improved my health a great deal. Weeks at a time during the past year I could not lay in my bed at all, for as soon as I did I would choke nearly to death with Asthma, but now I can sleep as well as I ever did before in my life. I will send for another bottle of Asthmalene, because I know it will cure me.

ALEXANDER WOLFE, Wyandotte, Minn.

DR. TAFT.

Dear Sir: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I changed to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle she has been free from it. I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease. Yours respectfully,

O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT.

Dear Sir: Please send sample bottle of Asthmalene to Miss Hattie Nichols, she is a great sufferer with Asthma. I saw her parents a few days ago and they told me that she had been unable to lie down for a long time. Asthma has done so much for my wife that I feel that I ought to let every sufferer from that terrible disease (Asthma) know of its virtues.

LESSON OF MATAAFA

The Supervising Inspector Sloane Makes Several Recommendations.

All Results of Wrecks of Nov. 28—Prevent Life-Loss.

John D. Sloane, supervising inspector for the fifth district of the harbor inspection service, favors rigid rules for the inspection of vessels which will tend toward the saving of life in cases where vessels strand as they did along and near the Duluth shore in the storm of Nov. 23. In fact the recommendations which he has sent to the supervising inspector general are the result of facts brought out by the storm of that date. As to whether any action will be taken regarding these recommendations is another matter, but it is said that the department of commerce and labor is very much interested in the big storm of November and wishes to learn what it can do to help prevent a repetition of the loss of life which occurred at that time, particularly in the case of the Mataafa.

When Mr. Sloane was in Duluth on his official visit to Inspectors Morgan and Chaik about ten days ago, he looked into the facts connected with the wrecks which occurred and was so deeply impressed with his own investigations and what the local inspectors and vessel masters told him that he wrote to the supervising inspector general from the local office, sending in the reports of the wrecks and a list of recommendations for rules which he deems necessary and right.

In this letter which is just given out, the first recommendation which he makes is that "hatches should be better secured. Comings of same should be higher and stronger. They are often injured by unloading devices and left in such condition until winter."

This is a recommendation which almost everybody connected with the vessel business has already expressed himself as favoring. It is said that on the ocean, hatches have higher and stronger comings and in the heavy seas which they sometimes encounter their hatches have less chance to work and loosen. With the hatching gone a ship stands a poor chance to weather heavy seas. On the ocean they have what is called a "true sea" while in a storm on the great lakes the seas are erratic which makes the danger greater. The other recommendations follow:

"Decks and supports to hatches should be more substantial."

"Deck houses and pilot houses should be built stronger and more securely fastened to decks."

"Load lines should be established."

"Stronger and better steering gear."

The Gripe.

"Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves. No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy, there is scarcely a case ever reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by all leading druggists."

You must look well after the condition of your liver and bowels. Unless there is daily action of the bowels, poisonous products are absorbed, causing headache, biliousness, nausea, dyspepsia. Ayer's Pills are genuine liver pills.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED FOR DULUTH

New Buildings Will be Erected and Old Ones Will be Made New—The Courthouse Will Probably be the Largest to Go Up During the Year.

Improvement plans rather than activity in buying property has been the chief feature of the past week in local real estate circles, although there has been a little selling, and a deal involving one good residence property on East Second street was closed.

Plans are being made ready for quite a number of improvements that are expected to be made the latter part of this winter or next spring. Outside of the contract for a small addition to the courthouse, amounting to $588, there have been no contracts of any importance awarded during the week.

Several of the local architects have sketches about ready for the inspection of clients who are figuring on the present. It is understood that while there have not been many sales of property, the demand for loans has increased, a number having been placed since the first of the year.

One of the important improvements planned in the business district this year, and which was mentioned in The Herald a few days ago, is the addition of three stories to the Lonsdale building at the southwest corner of Superior street and Third avenue west. The Lonsdale building is now five stories high of pressed brick and steel, and the additional stories will be in keeping with the style of construction.

The structure is considered one of the finest office buildings in the city and the additional office room that will be given will increase the prestige already had by the structure along that line. It was built in 1895 with foundations capable of sustaining more stories when it was considered that they were needed. The Lonsdale building is owned by the Brown estate of Providence, R. I.

Among the large permits taken out this week for store building additions were those of Tyson, Aldis & Taylor for a structure on Superior street near Lake avenue, costing $13,000 and another by McLeod & Smith for a new brick store on Superior street, near Lake avenue, to cost $10,000. The Elmer Brewing company also took out its permit for a cold storage building to cost $6,000.

The purchase of D. Zien of the old Eyster residence property at the northwest corner of Second street and Second avenue east marks the largest transaction of the past several weeks in that class of property. The purchase was made from the Duncan estate of Pennsylvania for $12,000 and it includes two lots and a half, with a frontage of 125 feet on Second street and 140 feet on Second avenue.

The house, which was built a great many years ago, occupies, with the barn, the corner lot. It is understood that Mr. Zien will make some very substantial improvements to the property.

Among contemplated improvements are a brick warehouse, two stories high, on Minnesota point, for the Zenith Investment company, and a $12,000 church and $2,000 parsonage for the Norwegian-Danish Methodist church congregation at West Duluth. The contracts for the last named buildings are to be let this coming spring.

The largest improvement of all that will be started within this city this year will be the new courthouse. The county commissioners have voted for a new building, and fixed the amount to be spent on it at $400,000, although it is generally expected that the total amount is likely to run closer to $500,000 before the building is completed.

The new courthouse will, in all probability, be erected nearer the business part of the city than the old building, and for that reason may be built more along the lines of a business rather than an ornamental style. There is quite a popular demand for a "business" building, and in view of the fact that a new site is likely to cost a pretty good figure in the downtown district, the courthouse seems to have an excellent chance of being constructed according to the demand.

L. D. Campbell has been awarded the contract for a new depot for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company, at Virginia. The plans for the depot were made by German & Lignell.

The deed transferring title from the Connecticut Life Insurance company to the Y. M. C. A., of the building site described as lot 54 West Second street, First division, went on record this week.

Transfers for the week were as follows:

Matt Johnson et ux to Embarass Cemetery association, one acre of sec. 2, section 2-2-15.

Lake Superior's Iron Ore Output

In 1906 Will Exceed Record-Breaking Production Last Year—Mining and Transportation Companies Preparing.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the iron ore production of the Lake Superior region in 1906 will exceed the record-breaking output of the year just ended, when thirty-four million tons measured the output, seems evident from the preparations in hand by the mining and transportation companies. How much more it will exceed is open to question. The estimates range up to 38,000,000 tons, and as far as boat tonnage is concerned, there is no fear that this amount can be handled, and even more if necessary. The new vessels under contract will amply take care of the additional traffic.

Nearly nine million dollars, it is estimated, are being expended by the ore-carrying railroads in the Lake Superior country in the construction of new docks and trackage and in the purchase of additional rolling stock. The Duluth, Missabe & Northern, one of the two steel corporation railroads operating in the Minnesota fields, is the most active in this respect, and it is figured that with the present program of betterments carried out, the line will be prepared to care for a traffic of 11,000,000 tons in the season with ease. Aside from increased motive power, orders have been placed for 1,000 fifty-ton steel hopper cars, giving 3,200 in all, in addition to nearly 2,000 wooden cars of thirty-five tons capacity each. Thirty-seven miles of road were double-tracked by the company the past season and during the winter will spring a stretch of seventeen miles will be similarly equipped, giving a continuous double track from the mines in the Hibbing district to the docks at Duluth. Satisfactory progress has been made with the construction of the Missabe's fifty-five-mile extension to the western Mesaba, and the line will go into commission during the first half of the year. The Steel Corporation's Duluth & Iron Range road will lay more double track on its Mesaba extension this winter, and in the vicinity of Aurora will cut down a number of grades.

New ore docks are in course of erection at Duluth, for the Missabe, at Escanaba, for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and at Marquette, for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic system. All these docks will be of the greatest of its kind on the globe and will cost in the neighborhood of a million dollars. Twelve million feet of timber, and large quantities of steel and concrete, will enter into its construction. The docks, with the present structures, will give the company a storage capacity in excess of 250,000 tons. At Ashland, the shipping part of the Gogebic range, one of the Chicago & Northwestern's two docks will be enlarged, practically amounting to a reconstruction of the old dock. The No. 1 dock of the Great Northern system will be extended 1,000 feet, making it as large as No. 2, with 87,000 tons storage capacity, second only to the Missabe's new dock now building.

Whatever the increase in ore production this year, it is conceded that the Mesaba range will be called upon to furnish the bulk of it. A number of new producers are added to the shipping list on all three Michigan ranges, but these fields are well up to their limits and it is hardly expected that their output will attain much larger proportions. However, the 1906 production of the Mesabian range will likely exceed 5,000,000 tons, that of the Gogebic, 4,000,000, and of the Gogebic, 4,000,000.

Large Output at Bisbee Mines

Copper Queen Nearly on Par With Calumet & Hecla—Calumet & Arizona Making 43,000,000 Pounds a Year Now.

Bisbee, Ariz., Jan. 6.—The Copper Queen mine of this city closed the year with a product for 1905 of about 75,000,000 pounds, and is now making copper at the rate of 85,000,000 pounds a year. Its mines are far advanced compared with a year ago, and two new shafts are well along toward operation. One of these, the Sacramento, is connected with all the others except the new Cuprite, which is in another part of the camp. Drifts from the company's Lowell to its Sacramento have just been holed through, and it is supposed that the latter will become a main avenue for the development of much of the company's territory that is now served by other shafts. The Lowell is to be deepened to 2,000 feet, and a steel head frame is to be erected there. It is now 1,200 feet deep. Its purpose is to drive the Shattuck company's shaft, along the Czar fault, and these two will ventilate each other. The company is developing much new ground, and will be able to mine all the ore its great smelter can handle. It is very probable that its product for the coming year will be in excess of 85,000,000 pounds, making it on a par with Calumet & Hecla.

Calumet & Arizona is now making copper at the rate of 43,000,000 pounds a year, and with the addition of a new shaft, which is now preparing, will run this up to 55,000,000 pounds some time during 1906. It started 1905 with a production of 42,000,000 pounds. Its Oliver shaft is not yet producing, but will be as soon as the railroad completes its tracks thereto. The Lake Superior and the Indian mines are 65 feet in the rich ore of the 1,000-foot level, and have decided that this is the top of a large deposit, which they will cut down with new drifts. They are driving to get beneath the big leached ore zone cut in this and other parts of the mine.

Railway tracks are being laid to the Oliver shaft and stock pile, and as soon as they are in and some other preliminaries have been attended to that shaft will begin production on a large scale. It is ready now for extensive business.

The enormous undertaking it has been to sink shafts and open mines under the difficulties encountered there.

Shattuck is now a producer on a small scale, as its daily hoist from development is hauled to town and smelter to Douglas, where the Queen smelter handles it. This company should make about 10,000,000 pounds of copper during 1906, so that the production of the camp will be in the neighborhood of 150,000,000 pounds. Shattuck has been a phenomenal success so far, and has shown ore bodies of the greatest size and richness with the least labor ever known in this district.

There is little change in the situation at the Calumet & Pittsburgh. The shaft on the Hoagland end of the mine is down over 700 feet, and is sinking fast; so fast, indeed, that many well-posted men believe it will be mining ore before the original Briggs, started three years ago, and now 1,440 feet deep. The shaft is still pumping about 2,400 gallons of water per minute, which is coming in from the foot of the workings, and the chamber now being cut for a pit is fairly dry.

At the Lake Superior mine they are sinking from the 1,200-foot level and should have their pit cut on the 1,300 in about ninety days, when they will drive to get under the big ore bodies now being stoped on the 1,200, and expect to find them larger and more profitable than those above. On the north end of the mine they are 65 feet in the rich ore of the 1,000-foot level, and have decided that this is the top of a large deposit, which they will cut down with new drifts. They are driving to get beneath the big leached ore zone cut in this and other parts of the mine.

Railway tracks are being laid to the Oliver shaft and stock pile, and as soon as they are in and some other preliminaries have been attended to that shaft will begin production on a large scale. It is ready now for extensive business.

and should make a large amount of high-grade ore, all sulphides. Of these, the smelter stands in some need, for the sulphides now sent to its smelter from the Duluth mine receive a premium. But as they are all in the family, so to speak, this is not a matter of importance.

The Duluth mine is now stoping out about 600 tons per week from the 155-foot level, which corresponds to the 1,000-foot of the adjoining Lake Superior, through whose shaft all Duluth ores are taken out. The underground development at this mine has been a source of the utmost satisfaction to the management. The whole mine is opening out better than was expected, and it is probable that a good deal of the best ground of the property has not been opened into yet. Diamond-drill exploration continues steadily in this mine and is showing a very large area of mineral-bearing ground.

At Tombstone the company's railway has been completed to its new stamp mill, and rock is being hauled to the stamp. These are to start up next week, and for the first time in twenty years the town will echo to the music of the stampheads. The main shaft is sinking steadily about ten feet a week, and is now at the 900. It is to go to 1,000, and there main drifts will start. The Anaconda Copper company, determined to know if the ores did not continue in depth, sank the Anaconda shaft several hundred feet deeper, to a total depth of 2,440 feet, and started a long crosscut to the south from the 200-foot level. It required many months of work, but last week the main ledge of the Anaconda was struck, and a few days more opened the richest body of copper ore ever found in the Butte district. The entire vein at that point has now been cut through and its width is 50 feet.

The Sullivan Copper Development company, which has been organized in Duluth, owns a large acreage of lands in the Chiricahua Mountains adjoining the Manhattan Development company. It is ready now for extensive business.

The Butte District

North Butte Produced 2,520,000 Pounds of Copper in November.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 6.—The mines of the Butte district in November produced 29,242,850 pounds of copper, the different companies contributing to the total as follows: Boston & Montana, 7,102,000; Anaconda, 5,116,000; Butte & Boston, 1,925,700; Trenton, 1,188,000; Washoe, 865,200; Parrot, 783,840; North Butte, 2,520,000; United Copper, 2,625,000; Clark, 2,028,000; Pittsburg, 330,000; East Butte, 1,200,000; miscellaneous, 284,000.

The 29,242,850 pounds of copper were taken from 412,830 tons of ore, indicating an average of eighty-one pounds of copper to the ton of ore. For six months the grade of ore has been gradually increasing in nearly all of the mines and especially in the Anaconda, from which it is now possible to mine an abundance of ore that will average 15 per cent copper. The Anaconda has produced 300,000 pounds of copper to the ton. A few years ago the Anaconda was by many mines regarded as the best, and it was freely predicted and advertised among the wise ones that deep mining in Butte would not be profitable. The Anaconda Copper company, determined to know if the ores did not continue in depth, sank the Anaconda shaft several hundred feet deeper, to a total depth of 2,440 feet, and started a long crosscut to the south from the 200-foot level. It required many months of work, but last week the main ledge of the Anaconda was struck, and a few days more opened the richest body of copper ore ever found in the Butte district. The entire vein at that point has now been cut through and its width is 50 feet.

The ore runs as high as 15 per cent, with a general average of 10 per cent. The extent of the ore body is not known, but it indicates that it is widening with depth and that it will be fully as extensive and rich on the 2,400 foot level. The next working on the vein is on the 2,000 foot level, and there is little doubt that the rich ore body extends upward and downward 400 or 500 feet at least, and that it runs through the whole length of the Anaconda claims. In the opinion of mining men, the ore body just opened will prove to be worth the entire capitalization of the Anaconda Copper Mining company. Mining Inspector Orem says it is the biggest copper strike ever made in Montana, if not in the world.

The properties of the East Butte company will be in operation by the new company and the ore output more than doubled. The company will at once build a concentrator and mine the second class as well as the smelting ore. The company now has under option about 800 acres of ground and part of it will be used as smelter sites. The mines are to be worked through one central shaft, and probably the Dutton will be enlarged for that purpose. James M. Neill, who made a thorough examination of the properties for Frank M. Sullivan, the purchaser, says in his report that the East Butte mine comprises one of the best copper propositions in Montana.

The North Butte is again holding ore through its own shaft but with the old machinery, as its new hoisting plant has been delayed in manufacture and will not arrive in Butte for a month or more.

Stanton on Copper

Not a Cloud in the Copper Sky—Prospects in All Metal Trades Very Bright.

John Stanton says, in an interview with the New York Globe Commercial Advertiser: "I cannot remember the prospects ever being so promising as they are at present. The market for the metal is entirely a natural one. There is no combination or manipulations of any kind, and the present prices are regulated entirely by the supply and demand. Certainly the new year opens with exceedingly bright prospects in all the metal trades, as the metals, especially copper and iron, are very apt to move together, any way."

The present prices for copper are the highest for several years. There is no spot copper available for delivery. For January delivery the price is about 18 1/2 cents a pound for lake and electrolytic and castings on operation lines. A year ago the price of lake and electrolytic was about 14 1/2 cents a pound. I understand that as much as 2 cents a pound has been paid for carload lots.

The highest prices for copper are due to the increased demand for the metal having overtaken the supply. There are no stocks of copper on hand. The only copper in the country today is that which is in process of refining. Including what is on the way to the market, and the bulk of that is sold, going right into the consumer. There are no other stocks of copper existing. The manufacturers in their anxiety to get their orders filled in our refineries have bought every ounce in sight, and still want more. The same is true of brass manufacturers in this country are now working to their utmost capacity. They will supply next year's demand, but there is no stock on hand. It is put for electrical purposes, not only for electric lighting, but also for power in all over the world, in underground workings, in tramways, as at Lake Superior, and in various other ways.

may be a different condition of affairs. But it is interesting to remember that the great demand for copper this year began about last July, and increased steadily until it is now at its maximum. Probably none of the metallurgical works will increase their output; they are now employed to their full capacity. But the present volume of business may cause them to change their works. We are certainly not going to stay with the old machinery, as its new hoisting plant has been delayed in manufacture and will not arrive in Butte for a month or more.

The enormous growth of the copper business in this country is shown by the fact that in the year 1885 (fifty years ago) we only produced 3,000 tons of copper, and sixty years ago our total production in one year was only 10,000 tons. Now this country is the dominant factor in the copper industry of the world. Including what is on the way to the market, and the bulk of that is sold, going right into the consumer. There are no other stocks of copper existing. The manufacturers in their anxiety to get their orders filled in our refineries have bought every ounce in sight, and still want more. The same is true of brass manufacturers in this country are now working to their utmost capacity. They will supply next year's demand, but there is no stock on hand. It is put for electrical purposes, not only for electric lighting, but also for power in all over the world, in underground workings, in tramways, as at Lake Superior, and in various other ways.

Thus, so far ahead as one can reasonably foresee, there is not a cloud to be seen in the copper sky. But next July there

The Gogebic Range

Miners Going to Greater Depths Than Expected in Early Days—Peculiar Geological Feature.

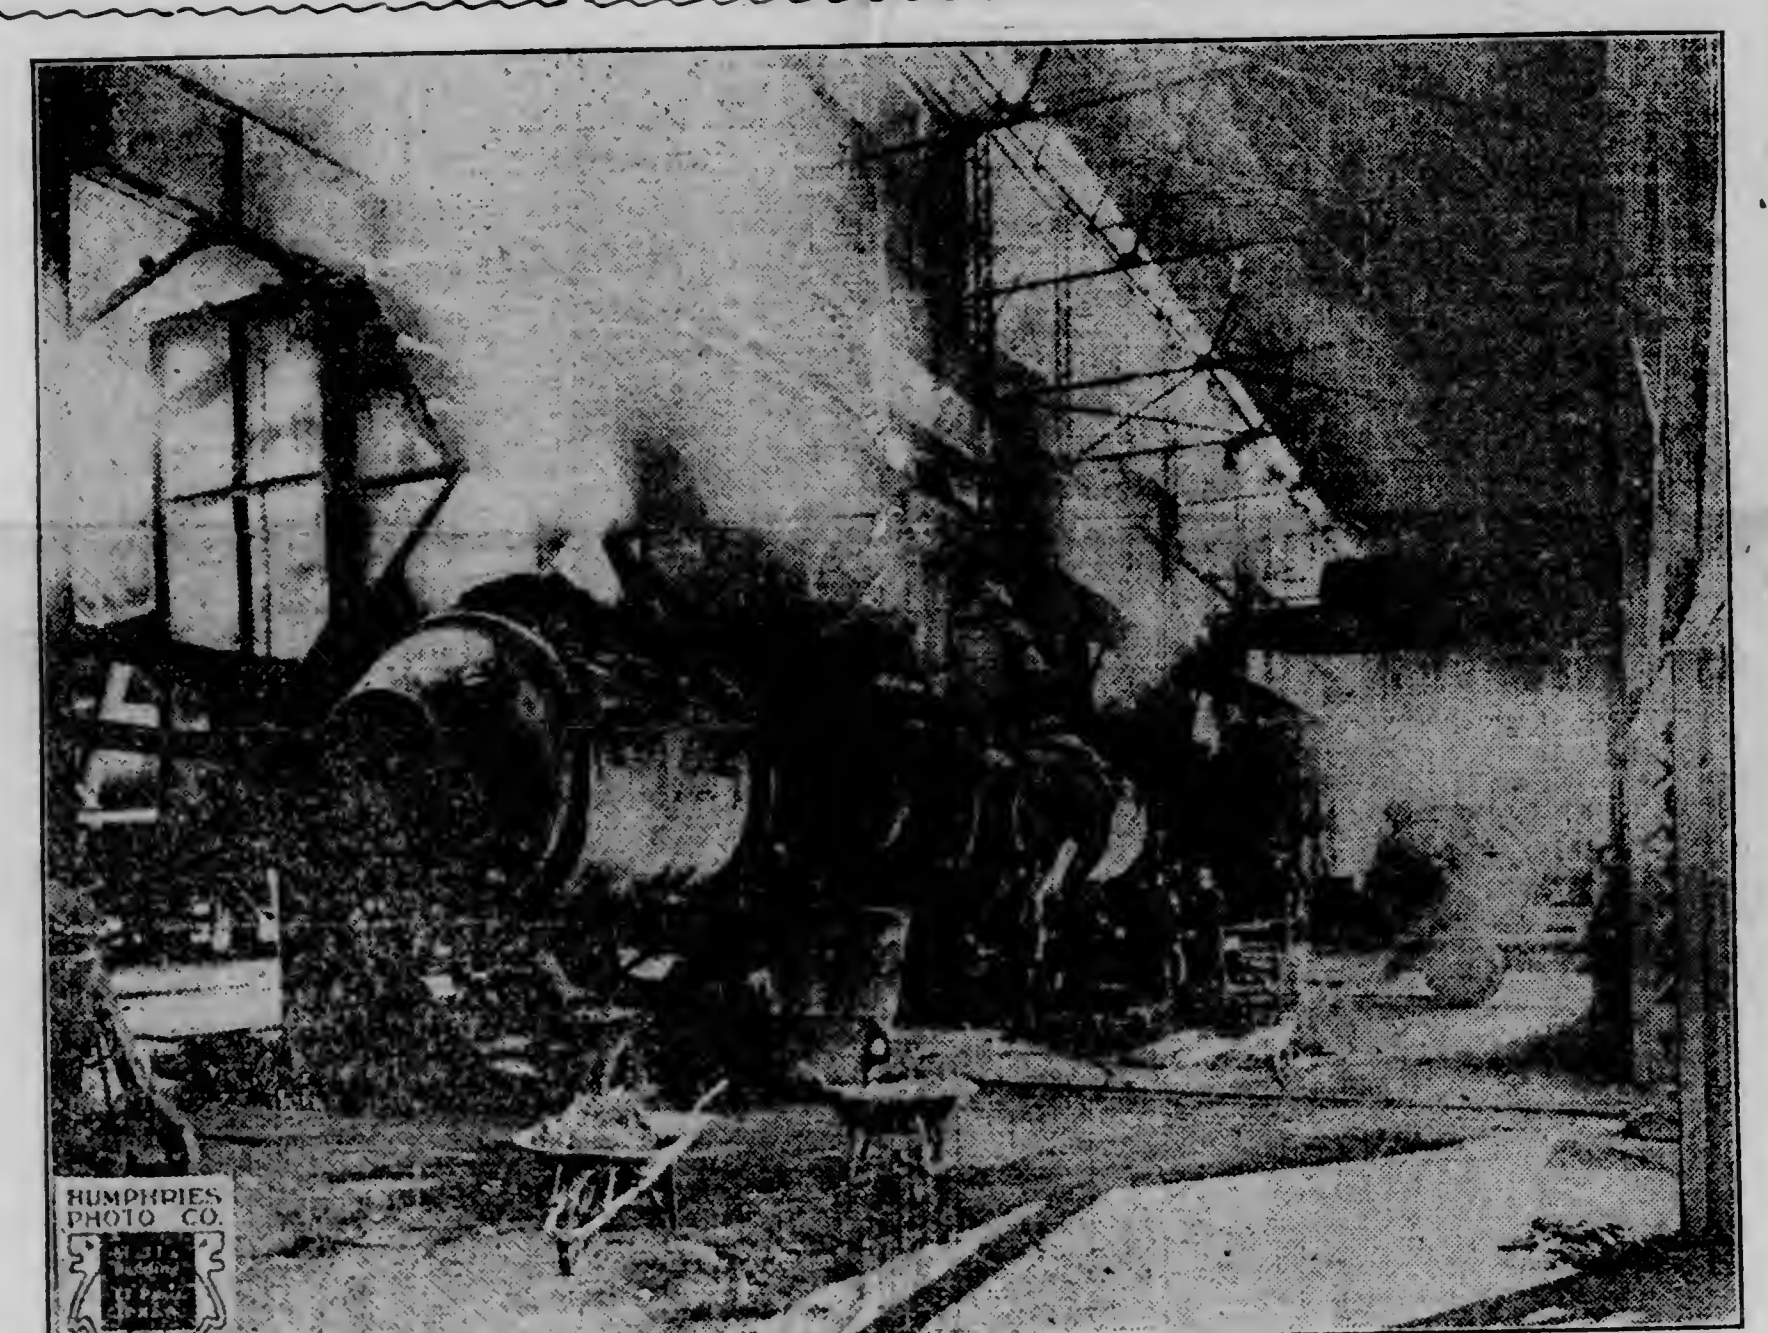

Bessemer, Mich., Jan. 6.—While the history of the Michigan portion of the Gogebic iron range dates back to 1870, when the first shaft in the district was sunk to a depth of 100 feet by the La Pointe Iron company, it was not until 1883, the dawn of the railroad era, that development was started in earnest. The La Pointe company, although striking a rich deposit of magnetic ore, suspended operations at the time of the great panic of the same year, and did not start down again until 1891, when the range was taken over by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company. In the following year the Ashland, Aurora, Nove, and East Butte mines entered the shipping list, the total of 1905 tons sent out.

The miners now are going down to greater depths than it was ever expected in the early days that ore would be found and they are confident in the knowledge of the hidden wealth that a much greater tonnage still awaits their shafts. The Ashland mine, when it began taking out ore, was only 100 feet deep, and the knowledge of the hidden wealth that a much greater tonnage still awaits their shafts. The Ashland mine, when it began taking out ore, was only 100 feet deep, and the knowledge of the hidden wealth that a much greater tonnage still awaits their shafts.

one above. At the Norrie, a diamond drill hole put down to a depth of 1,500 feet some years ago passed through no less than six dykes, upon all of which were found considerable quantities of ore. Few mines which have produced as much ore as the Norrie can establish claim to having more ore in sight than has already been removed, but in this case the fact is of record in official state reports—there can scarcely be any limit put to the future production of the range. In time all these lower deposits will be tapped.

Present conditions exist at the big Ashland mine, once abandoned as worthless and later purchased from Congressmen Hayes of California and his brother by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company. It is a fact of record in official state reports—there can scarcely be any limit put to the future production of the range. In time all these lower deposits will be tapped.

CONVERTER BUILDING OF THE CALUMET & ARIZONA SMELTER AT DOUGLAS, ARIZ.

Lake Superior Copper

More Exploration Work in Progress Than for Years Past—Mild Weather Proving an Aid.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The weather which has been to date almost unprecedently mild, is proving an aid to exploratory work, of which there is more in progress in the Lake copper district than at any time for years past. A brief capitulation of the new work of this nature now in progress may prove of interest.

In Keweenaw county at the northern end of the copper range, the limited amount of work now in progress will be added to greatly as soon as settled spring weather arrives. Calumet & Hecla is sinking a shaft in the old Delaware property, now known as the Manitowish. The shaft is in the Montreal River lode, and remains very dry, by which access to the shaft can be had by authorized parties only and such authority is not granted with great frequency. As soon as spring arrives the Keweenaw Copper company will start exploratory work in search of the eastern continuation of the same lode, on the newly acquired Resolute tract, and as the Resolute lies not far from the Calumet & Hecla shaft, the overburden is not excessive in that part of Keweenaw county, there should be little difficulty in picking up the lode in a few weeks, by surface trenching. Work at other points probably will be undertaken also by the Keweenaw company.

But no decision has been reached as to when or where new work will be undertaken.

The Tamarack will continue exploratory work actively on the Cliff lands in Keweenaw county. The tract is a large one, very well located for the interception of any wholesale lode found upon the copper belt to either side and it would be very remarkable if careful examination did not bring to light something of a workable nature. The work on the Cliff lands the past season has been done with diamond drills, and the drills will be used until a cross-section of the tract has been secured, which will give valuable data for all future operations. The Miskiwabik has run out of cash, and work was suspended for a while, for an indefinite period. It was thought, two years ago, that the Miskiwabik had located the Northern extension of the Keweenaw range, but the work of the past season has proven distinctly disappointing, as nothing of especial promise has been shown in the underground work, or by the diamond drill operated during the few past months.

The Keweenaw and Rhoads Island are continuing exploratory work on an amygdaloid, supposed to be the southern continuation of the Keweenaw lode. The Rhoads Island is sinking a shaft on a newly found amygdaloid, lying well toward the eastern sandstone, and which possibly may prove one of the twin amygdaloids of the Baltic series. The lode is narrow, but gives a good showing in copper.

At the south of Portage Lake the Little Isle Royale is devoting vigorous attention to the northern extension of the Baltic lode. Operations have been transferred from section II, where work has begun, to a new shaft, a short distance only from the first pit, the change being made because the company objected to being "held up" for a fancy price on the surface of poor improved farming lands, of which the mineral rights were already owned. The showing at the Isle Royale is encouraging. The rock has every appearance of being identical with the Baltic lode, and while carrying but little copper, appears liable to change into productive ground at almost any point, as is the habit of this great amygdaloid.

The Superior Copper company has completed the installation of its new power plant, and has resumed sinking. Drifting has been stopped, necessarily, during the progress of sinking, but while drifting would make the quickest showing, sinking meant the making of a permanent mine.

The section 16 tract of the Atlantic is receiving attention, and in view of the developments on either side by the Butte and Superior companies, the Atlantic is certain of soon reaching the end of a tedious and costly search for the Baltic lode, originally begun in 1897, and continued, without success, for nearly nine years, with occasional interruptions. It is not improbable, in view of the conditions found on either side, that the lode may be found much broken and poorly mineralized near the surface, but, this proves the case, there is a reasonable certainty that the disturbance will cease at depth, and a fine, wide, well mineralized lode should be opened eventually.

With the experience of the Atlantic

The Black Mountain

Delay Caused by Hurricane Destroying the Smokestacks—Will Start Soon.

The Black Mountain Gold Mining company, whose stamp mill near Magdalena, Mexico, was expected to begin operations on Jan. 1, had everything in its equipment duplicated to protect it against possible accident, except the smokestacks, which were destroyed by a hurricane the next day after they were completed. The foundations, it may be added, are intact.

It has been necessary to send to San Francisco to have new sections made for the smokestacks, and the work of production will be held back until that extent. It is impossible to say just what the length of delay will be, but it may be a month or so. Everything else was in readiness to start on Jan. 1, and the storm that wrecked the smokestacks was the least expected cause of delay. There are two other sections of the mine to be riveted together after they are delivered.

The power plant at which these stacks are located is on the railroad line at Magdalena, and twenty-four miles from the mine and mill. The steam generated there is utilized in the sections of the mine, which are connected directly to electric generators. The boilerhouse and foundations are lined with heavy steel. There is also a transformer house of brick with cement floors. In this are five 100-ton electric transformers, lightning arresters, and other necessary equipment.

The location of the power plant on the railroad gives the company the cheapest possible fuel costs that it can have. From the power plant to the mine and mill there is a 24-mile transmission line, which has been most carefully constructed, with a particular view to preventing injury from cloudbursts and other floods. It has been built with unusual strength and the wiring is most carefully done. General Manager Banks of the company, who made a thorough inspection of the Homestead mill at Deadwood, South Dakota, a few weeks ago, states that the Black Mountain mill will be considerably less than this and the stamp mill will cost less. He states that he thinks the Black Mountain will have no difficulty in making a daily output of 100 tons of ore. There is an 8-inch pipe line from the mine to the pump station to the mine and mill.

Mining in Utah

Dividends, Developments and Ore Shipments—New Enterprises.

Salt Lake City, Jan. 6.—The Beck Tunnel Consolidated apparently has entered the regular list, and will pay 1 cent per share. The price of the stock is now around 70 cents, and this indicates that larger dividends are expected. One shipment of sixty-two tons was on the market last week, which was sold for more than $1,100, or nearly $70 per ton. It is claimed that there are large bodies of such ore now blocked out in this mine.

The Lower Mammoth is looked upon as likely to begin the payment of dividends before many weeks. It is expected that the mine will yield about three carloads per week, and enable the company to make at least $5,000 per month. If a 2-cent dividend were declared, it would require only $2,000 as the capital stock is only 150,000 shares. In view of the recent contract for the sale of the low-grade ores and the showing in the mine, the price of the stock has been gradually advancing.

The shipments from the Tintic district last week were 108 carloads. The Centennial-Burke was first in the amount, as usual, but several other properties yielded a heavy tonnage. Grand Central, Grand Central, Victoria, Mammoth and one or two others are showing a steady increase in the output.

The statement of the assistant secretary of the Daly-West Mining company for the month of November does not make so good a showing as the copper exhibit. Grand Central, Victoria, Mammoth and one or two others are showing a steady increase in the output. The shipments, so far as the tonnage is concerned, were fully as heavy. The total receipts for November were $123,711; the total expenses, $70,177; net earnings, $53,534; leaving $17,354 to be carried to the surplus.

Little Bell and Columbus Consolidated have recently touched the five-dollar mark. The latter is making a good record in its production. The company has recently put twenty teams at work hauling ore from the mine to the smelters. Local stockholders are looking for dividends from this mine soon.

The Hoco-Homesite company has decided to pass dividends until spring, as it is not practical to ship the ore during the winter. There has been considerable manipulation of the stock that makes investors somewhat cautious.

The Denver & Rio Grande Railroad company has been surveying for the new line from Bingham to the town of Garfield, where the growing plants of the Utah Copper company and the Boston Consolidated and the new smelter of the trust are situated. The company is planning to handle not less than 10,000 tons daily. The mines will be ready to supply the output as soon as the road is completed.

The Copper Belt railroad is handling ores for the various mines, and the Ohio Copper company's mill is running regularly again. The manager told your correspondent that he is milling about 300 tons daily. The company runs about 25 per cent copper, with the high-grade shipped to the smelter directly carries about 20 per cent. This property, surrounded as it is by United States mines, the Boston Consolidated, the Utah Copper, Colonel Wall's Maricopa and Horse, the Copper Glance and the Fortuna, ought to prove one of the rich copper mines of the great camp of Bingham. There are

WEDDING OF SOCIETY INTEREST TO TAKE PLACE NEXT MONDAY

The wedding of Miss Calla Blanchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Blanchard, and Pascal Ware, of Minneapolis, will take place Monday evening at the home of the bride's parents on Fifteenth avenue east, will be one of the most interesting of the midwinter events in society. The wedding will be a home affair, but nearly 100 guests will be present. The bride will be attended by Mrs. Norman L. Leach as matron of honor, and as ribbon bearers, Miss Della Towns, a niece of Mrs. Blanchard's, and a young sister of the groom, Miss Ruth Ware of Minneapolis, will attend her. The best man will be Roland Ware of Minneapolis. The wedding service will be read by Rev. J. W. Powell, who is a university fraternity brother of Mr. Ware. The event promises to be one of the most beautiful of the winter weddings. After the ceremony Mr. Ware and his bride will leave on Mr. Blanchard's private car for Omaha, where they will be home.

One of the pleasantly anticipated events in society for next week is the wedding at which Miss Edith Marguerite Cook, daughter of Mrs. Fred W. Hargreaves, will become the bride of Edwin James Collins of Bisbee, Ariz. The wedding will take place Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hargreaves, 514 East Third street. The ushers will be Messrs. Russell Duncan and Douglas Walker. Miss Cook will be escorted by Miss Julia Duncan and Miss Sylvia Hartman, and the groomsmen will be Joseph William Cook and John J. Mooney and after a Western wedding trip, Mr. Collins will be home at 10 o'clock at Bisbee. Miss Cook has been the guest of honor at several delightful affairs during the week.

Tuesday evening of next week Miss Edith Cook will be hostess at the bridal dinner in honor of Miss Cook and E. J. Collins.

The Collins clan will entertain at the January get-together next Friday evening. No affair was given by the club during December, and this event is more eagerly anticipated than usual. The affair will be given at Steinhilber hall and will be led by Eleanor Whyte with Miss Marion Sherwood.

Mrs. C. Polner of 2125 East Second street will leave Tuesday for a three months' visit with her daughter, Miss Jean Polner at Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. A. W. Hartman entertained at bridge this afternoon at her home 1124 East Superior street.

The announcement of an engagement made in St. Paul during the week is of much interest to many Duluth people. Mrs. L. E. Evans of Summit avenue, St. Paul, announced the engagement of her niece, Miss Blanche Josephine Luffkin to Joseph William Cook of New York city. Mr. Cook is the son of Mrs. F. W. Hargreaves of this city and is very well known here. Miss Luffkin was a guest of Miss Cook during the fall and will be remembered by society people here. The wedding will take place in this spring.

Mrs. W. S. Doherty entertained at an informal afternoon last Saturday in honor of her guest, Mrs. Wendell P. Mosher of Minneapolis.

Miss Edith Davidson entertained at an informal watch night party on New Year's eve at her home on East Superior street.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Crosby entertained last evening in honor of Miss Calla Blanchard and Pascal Ware of Minneapolis whose wedding will take place Monday evening.

Miss Alice Britts left yesterday with Mrs. C. W. Elston for the West. Miss Britts' wedding to Edgar P. Swift will take place within the next week in the West, and later Mr. Swift and his bride will go to the City of Mexico to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams and daughter of Dearwood are the guests of friends in the city for a few days. The hall was prettily decorated and La Brosse's orchestra played a delightful program of dances. Among those present were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—F. Burke, S. H. Rothwell, C. H. Thornton, John Mullen, John Harty, Fred Mullen, R. E. Selby, Leo Ball, Frank A. Greeno, W. A. Eden, and others.

Miss Elizabeth Morris, Miss Jessica Marshall and Miss Esther Adams returned Tuesday to South college.

Miss Grace Duncan will return tomorrow to Wellesley college.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson and Miss Davidson left Thursday for Toronto where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and Miss Thilston left during the week for a short Eastern trip.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Miller had as their guest, Miss Mary Wood Chase of Chicago.

During the week announcements were received in the city of the wedding of Mrs. Clara Palmer Hyde formerly of this city and Dr. Charles Frederick Goetsinger. The bride was very well known in musical circles during her residence here some years ago. Dr. and Mrs. Goetsinger are at home at 1231 Armitage avenue.

Miss Lida Wilson who left during the week for La Crosse to become secretary of the Young Women's Christian association of that city, was the guest of honor at a dinner last Saturday. Dr. Mary McCoy was hostess and the affair was given at the local Y. W. C. A. rooms. The table decorations were in green and white and following the dinner a number of toasts were given by the guests. They were:

"The Girl and Her Friend," Miss Noyes; "The Transplanted Lady of the Snows," Mrs. W. S. Horst; "Au Revoir," Mrs. Wesley Feetham. Covers were laid for the following guests:

Messrs. and Mesdames—Alexander Milne, R. A. Webster, S. H. Horst, R. A. Mattokos, Geo. Macomber, John Martin, Strong, and others.

M. P. Bates, R. P. Boyington, Misses Feetham, Dean, and others.

A pretty home wedding was that which took place New Year's day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Voss of 110 South Fourteenth avenue east, when their daughter, Miss Gertrude Voss became the bride of K. A. Ostergren, Jr. The rooms were decorated in ground pine and scarlet Christmas bells and at 12 o'clock the wedding ceremony took place. The only attendant was the little ring bearer, Esther Voss who carried the ring in the heart of a rose. The bride wore a dainty gown of cream with veiling and she carried bride's roses. The little ring bearer also wore white. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. The dining room was decorated in the holiday colors and the centerpiece of the gaily decorated table, was Mexican poinsettias. Mr. and Mrs. Ostergren left for a short wedding trip, during the afternoon. They will return and be at home at 119 South Fourteenth avenue east.

Miss Ruth Roberts returned yesterday from Indiana where she spent the holiday vacation.

Miss Lida Wilson left Tuesday for La Crosse, Wis., where she will be house secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

Dr. Charles L. Coddling returned the first of the week from a month's visit in New York.

Mrs. C. H. Morrill left Tuesday for Chicago where she attended a special meeting of the International Young Women's Christian association as a delegate from the local association.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Ostergren and Miss Mary Ostergren left Wednesday for a short visit at St. Paul.

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Sline who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Grieser of South Seventeenth avenue east, left during the week for their annual winter vacation. They will be accompanied by Mrs. J. E. Wieland who will remain South for the rest of the winter.

Robert D. Foster of Chicago who was the guest of the Misses Young of 307 West Fourth street for the holidays left Monday for his home.

Miss Florence Krelwitz returned the first of the week after a visit with friends here during the holidays.

Miss Elsie Smith left Wednesday afternoon for Chicago where she will visit for a short time. Later she will go to Jacksonville, Ill., where she will study at the Illinois College of Music.

Capt. and Mrs. J. H. Pearce of East Superior street returned the first of the week from Hibbing where they spent New Year's with their son. They had a very successful trip.

Mr. and Mrs. David Evans were pleasantly surprised New Year's night at their home, 623 East Sixth street. The affair was in honor of their fifteenth wedding anniversary, and the guests presented them with a cut glass fruit bowl. Cards were the amusement of the evening. Those present were:

tests, entreaties and threats. I was hurried off to Toronto. From there, though I begged for an opportunity of laying my case before the American consul, I was taken to Montreal, and hurried aboard a boat bound for Liverpool.

"One would think it impossible that a man could be kidnapped and taken 3,000 miles from home without process of extradition. But such was my hapless experience."

"When I came up for preliminary examination at Bow street police court it was to be greeted by a scream of laughter from the witnesses for the prosecution—laughter directed at the detectives, for the prosecution immediately perceived that I was not the 'Thomas Dawkins' whom they wanted."

"Well, sir, that laugh was the only compensation I ever got for the indignity and inconvenience to which I had been subjected."

"When the magistrate learned that I was not the absconding cashier, who should have been in the dock, he entertained me to a most gruesome homily, of inordinate length, and gave the most solemn warnings as to my future conduct, opining that it was impossible I could have stood in the position I then did in—my actions had been such as to be capable of a sinister construction."

"I was then set at liberty; and to my threats of vengeance for abduction, the detectives retorted that it would be best to get out of the country as quickly as possible, or, they assured me, if I wasn't a criminal, they would very soon make me one."

"A most remarkable and distressing experience," I observed. But did you not appeal to the American embassy in London for redress?"

"No, sir," Mr. Howson replied. "I was young and inexperienced, and I did not know my way. I was, however, continued, after a pause, 'that I imbibed that passion for the sea which led me to adopt the navy as a profession.'"

"On my arrival in New York I succeeded in attaching myself to a man of means and before many years I found myself in a position of responsibility and honor."

"But one day on the French coast an incident occurred which was the cause of my abandoning a sea-faring life, and saying farewell forever to all the dreams of fame, which had been so dear to me."

"Ten miles out from Havre we had a small rowboat in which was a woman, making signals of distress."

"At once I lowered a boat and took the wait of the ocean aboard."

"In a nervous and almost hysterical condition she begged a passage to New York; and thither we took her."

"She was the most beautiful young woman I have ever seen. She was given into the care of the stewardess, who did what she could to make her comfortable."

"Next morning our fair guest awoke me and told me her story. A Polish lady of royal blood, whose family had lived in Poland for many years, her name was Carlotta Ludovinski. Driven to desperation by the inopportunities of her parents, she had fled from her home, and had sought refuge in the arms of a wealthy, but profligate nobleman of Bohemia, from whom she had been driven away."

"It is a long story; but I need only say that Carlotta recapitulated the affection which she inspired me, and on my arrival in New York we were married in the quietest possible manner. I at once gave up the sea, to settle down to the joys of a home life ashore."

"But, alas! my happiness was short-lived. Within two months of our marriage Carlotta sickened and died, leaving me to my lonely, heart-breaking life."

"By this time we had reached Niagara street, by way of the city hall, and I turned to my companion's strange story. I had been thinking about his name, and I asked him in a casual sort of way: 'Pardon me, Mr. Howson; but you are not of German descent?'

"No, sir," he replied. "Why do you ask?"

"Well, I don't know, exactly; but I thought yours might be an Angelized name. I have heard of a Baron Monk Howson, which was new to me. While listening to my companion's strange story I had been thinking about his name, and I asked him in a casual sort of way: 'Pardon me, Mr. Howson; but you are not of German descent?'

"No, sir," he replied. "Why do you ask?"

"No, sir," he replied. "Why do you ask?"

"Well, I don't know, exactly; but I thought yours might be an Angelized name. I have heard of a Baron Monk Howson, which was new to me. While listening to my companion's strange story I had been thinking about his name, and I asked him in a casual sort of way: 'Pardon me, Mr. Howson; but you are not of German descent?'

MR BARRON MONK HOWSON

By J. A. Tiffany.

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)
He was staying at my hotel in Buffalo, I could not help noticing him. Of slender build, tall and erect, with iron-gray moustache, white hair, and a fresh pink complexion, I judged him to be about 30 years of age. In his eyes was that calm, contemplative look, denoting habits of thought and a mind that was equally well on matters of present interest and of ancient and modern history. His conversation was both novel and suggestive. His short sentences during the remainder of the school year.

The wedding of Miss Calla DeVoe Blanchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Blanchard, and Pascal Ware, of Minneapolis, which will take place Monday evening at the home of the bride's parents on Fifteenth avenue east, will be one of the most interesting of the midwinter events in society. The wedding will be a home affair, but nearly 100 guests will be present. The bride will be attended by Mrs. Norman L. Leach as matron of honor, and as ribbon bearers, Miss Della Towns, a niece of Mrs. Blanchard's, and a young sister of the groom, Miss Ruth Ware of Minneapolis, will attend her. The best man will be Roland Ware of Minneapolis. The wedding service will be read by Rev. J. W. Powell, who is a university fraternity brother of Mr. Ware. The event promises to be one of the most beautiful of the winter weddings. After the ceremony Mr. Ware and his bride will leave on Mr. Blanchard's private car for Omaha, where they will be at home.

One of the pleasantly anticipated events in society for next week is the wedding at which Miss Edith Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davidson, will be united in marriage with Mr. J. W. Powell, who is a university fraternity brother of Mr. Ware. The event promises to be one of the most beautiful of the winter weddings. After the ceremony Mr. Ware and his bride will leave on Mr. Blanchard's private car for Omaha, where they will be at home.

Tuesday evening of next week Miss Julia Duncan will be hostess at the bridal dinner in honor of Miss Cook and E. J. Collins.

The Cotton club will entertain at the January dinner next Friday evening. No affair was given by the club during December and this event is more eagerly anticipated than usual. The affair will be held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Powell.

turned during the week from a visit at Glendon, Minn.

The fifteenth artist's recital under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale was given last evening by Mary Wood Chase, pianist of Chicago, at Steinway hall, and the affair was a most satisfactory one to the members of the club. Miss Chase gave an informal lecture in the afternoon upon the program of the recital, and the members who availed themselves of the opportunity were well repaid with the added understanding of the Brahms number which was the first on the program. The next day Mr. Howson proposed a walk, and I readily assented. We walked up Main street for some distance, without speaking. The silence was broken by Mr. Howson, who said:

"I never have come to Buffalo without thinking of a most remarkable adventure that I had in this city, when I was a young man. Late one evening I was down by the water front, alone, watching the majestic flow of Niagara as it swept silently along, when suddenly I was seized by a man, who was a powerful man, gauged, bound and huddled into a rowboat, in which my captors took me over to the Canadian side to Fort Erie."

"I arrived there, I was informed that I had been arrested on charge of bank robbery in London, Eng., where it was alleged, I had been employed as assistant cashier. I was further informed that my name was such a name as Lawkins, the thing was impossible, on the face of it."

"But it was in vain that I declared my identity, and protested by inoculation. The men knew me perfectly well, they averred. They could not be mistaken in me."

"From Fort Erie, despite all my protests, entreaties and threats, I was hurried off to Toronto. From there, though I begged for an opportunity of saying my case before the American consul, I was taken to Montreal, and hurried aboard a boat bound for Liverpool."

"One would think it impossible that a man could be kidnapped and taken 3,000 miles from home without process of extradition. But such was my hapless experience."

"When I came up for preliminary examination at Bow street police court it was to be greeted by a screen of laughter from the witnesses for the prosecution—laughter directed at the detectives, for the prosecution immediately perceived that I was not the 'Thomas Lawkins' whom they wanted."

"Well, sir, that laugh was the only compensation I ever got for the indignity and inconvenience to which I had been subjected."

"When the magistrate learned that I was not the absconding cashier, who should have been in the dock, he entered me to a most gruesome homily, of inordinate length, and gave the most solemn warnings as to my future conduct, hoping that it was impossible I could have stood in the position I then occupied, my actions had been such as to be capable of a sinister construction."

"I was then set at liberty; and to my threats of vengeance for abduction, the detectives retorted that I would be for me to get out of the country as quickly as possible, or, they assured me, if I wasn't a criminal, they would soon make me one."

"A most remarkable and distressing experience, I observed. 'But did you not appeal to the American embassy in London for redress?'"

"No, sir," Mr. Howson replied. "I was young and inexperienced, and I did not know how to appeal to the embassy. I continued, after a pause, 'that I imbibed that passion for the sea which led me to adopt the navy as a profession.'"

"On my arrival in New York I succeeded in obtaining myself to a most agreeable and profitable position, and I found myself in a position of responsibility and honor."

"But one day of the French coast an incident occurred which was the cause of my abandoning a sea-faring life, and I have never returned to the sea, although I have been so near to it, alone, in a small boat, from which it was my good fortune to rescue."

"It is a long story, but I need only say that Carizta precipitated the affair, which she inspired me, and on my arrival in New York we were married in the quietest possible manner. I at once gave up the sea, to settle down to the joys of a home life ashore."

"But, alas! my happiness was short-lived. Within two months of our marriage Carizta sickened and died, leaving me a lonely, heart-broken man."

"By this time we had reached Niagara. I was thinking about his name, which were new to me. While listening to my companion's strange stories I had been thinking about his name, and I asked him in a casual sort of way: 'Paradise Lost, is it not, but you are not of German descent?'"

"No, sir," he replied. "Why do you ask?"

"Well, I don't know, exactly; but I thought your name might be an Anglicized form of an old German name."

"Oh, I see! I had intended to tell you of my own name. Really my family name, I merely adopted it on attaining my majority."

"It came about in this way: When I was a boy, other boys, after listening to my conversation for a while, would say, 'Oh, yes, you remind me of Barron Monk Howson.' I could never find out who this Howson was, who was so strongly resembled, but I concluded that he must have been a great man, and as I did not like my own name, I determined to adopt his."

"You were quite right in doing so," I remarked. "You remind me, also, of the gentleman, whose name you adopted, but the character of the man was entirely different. I had been employed as assistant cashier in London, Eng., where it was alleged, I had been employed as assistant cashier. I was further informed that my name was such a name as Lawkins, the thing was impossible, on the face of it."

A WOLLERSTEIN GOWN IN PRINCESSE LINE

A glimpse of two into fashionable workrooms at the present moment would make the looker-on imagine that the time of weddings and of roses has arrived long ere the calendar announced its due return.

The couturiers are all of them busy with frocks of the sleekest and finest description. Organza, batistes, lingerie gowns and blouses, lace robes and tulle dancing frocks, stungled dinner gowns and velvet reception costumes pile the tables, and the smart tailor-made in each and every one of its many fascinating forms occupies a niche all to itself.

Everything is rush and hurry and bustle. Outside the winds are blowing; the newspapers record snowstorms that block the trains and break down telegraph and telephone wires. But inside the dress-makers' rooms the workers are busy upon the most sumptuous looking of sartorial possessions, open gowns and hats that suggest the warmest of sunshine and summer time.

"They are the orders that were placed the week before Christmas," for the South and all of the other Southern resorts," is the explanation of the busy proprietor, and that explains to a dot the seeming discrepancy between the clothes on view and the weather clerk's predictions for next month in come.

In Europe, where the seasons are several weeks in advance of ours, where winter sets in earlier and spring arrives in the spring, the Parisian houses have been busy since the end of October with preparations for the Riviera season.

Every house of any importance announces on its stationers "Société de la Mode" or "Maison de la Mode" or else where along that beautiful stretch of country that slopes from steep hills to the Mediterranean shore, places where the snow-capped mountains elude in a snow-drift that makes one shed fear of midwinter, only to resume them thankfully after sundown.

Early November sees the heeds from London and Paris, and to spend Christmas in the South of France or in North Italy is nowadays quite the thing.

Here, however, the season is later, and what with so many social distractions scheduled for observance, it is nearly that the season along our American Riviera, as the east coast of Florida is known, opens much before Lent. In valleys and others there are, to be sure, who still southwards the moment that the first snow flies, but the grandes dames who rule the social roof have important engagements that will keep them in their Northern homes until the quietude of Lent permits a slackening of the pace and a departure from town for needed relaxation and rest.

Not that the pace is slackened to any very perceptible degree. The social game is played just as eagerly just as strenuously at Palm Beach, at St. Augustine, at Asheville and at Alken as it is in New York or Washington or any of our large cities.

Dress and appearance are of even greater importance when among strangers than they are at home. "By their clothes shall ye know them," has come to be the present-day rendering of the old-time proverb, and a clever knowledge of the possibilities and proprieties of dress has landed many a woman in the social holy of holes, when her blue blood, her wit, her wealth, her long pedigree would have availed her naught in the scramble for place and favor.

The one point to be observed in selecting costumes for Southern wear is a full knowledge of the environment in which they are to be worn. Whether they are to be displayed in the huge salons of the Ponce de Leon at St. Augustine, or to deck the cosy parlors and piazzas of the Battery Park at Asheville, makes all the difference in the world. This is the keynote of the Parisienne's success in dress. She understands her milieu, she is intimately acquainted with the places in which certain gowns are to be worn, and the costume is planned from the start with a view to wearing it only in certain surroundings. There are few places in the world so well calculated to set off a smart gown as the long piazzas at the Royal Hotel at Palm Beach, and as for the wraps that the uncertainty of the climate after sundown demands—well, they simply cannot be too sumptuous—that is, and still remain well within the pale of good taste and clever dressing.

A NOVEL DEPARTURE IN RUSSIAN SABLES

Wheel chairs are an essential part of the life at this resort, and a promenade in a wheel chair permits of rather more than a little variety in dress. Since the place is primarily supposed to be for rest and relaxation, there is a certain amount of laissez aller tacitly allowed in dress; and given a gift for the picturesque, the girl who cannot make a bit in a wheel chair would better resign the contest.

The Capuchin hood is coming to be quite an accepted accessory to all sorts of wraps. It is on the tourist and steamer coats, it is on the exquisite and elaborate evening wraps, and it appears to distracting prettiness upon most of the evening cloaks and coats.

With the hood drawn over the collar—a collar that has been severely pinned on first—the result cannot fail to be charming. All of the most modish things in millinery are on display, too, and the bareheaded lady is already a thing of the past.

The swimming pool and the beachers both are vastly patronized, and a smart satin or silk bathing suit is an essential part of the Southern equipment. As there are no roads to speak of at Palm Beach, the riding habit—which is so important an item at the more Northern resorts, Asheville, Virginia Hot Springs, Alken and others—will not be needed, but a smart walking suit of broadcloth or velveteen is a prime necessity for morning wear. Tailor-made shirtwaists and a pair of slinky leather shoes—the laced ones are in better style this winter than buttons—go with this costume, and the hat is supposed to be of the plain order.

Luncheon, though, sees exquisite lingerie frocks and gowns of sheer materials, while dinner, which is followed by bridge, concerts, dancing and all sorts of distractions, brings out the choicest in each and every wardrobe; there is simply no limit to the extravagance displayed; the more the merrier.

Foot trimmings, that were introduced at the beginning of the season as a novelty, are mounting upwards, and in the very latest productions it is not at all uncommon to note the top of one material and the lower half of some other.

Items of Interest to the Fashionable.

The influence of the revival of colonial style is delightfully apparent in all of the new table linens and decorations. The extreme of fussiness that marked table styles for quite sometime is altogether a thing of the past; and a severe simplicity has succeeded to the over-elaboration that not only tired the eyes of the guests, but oftentimes taxed the ingenuity of the hostess.

Table linen is displayed with centers of plain and satin stripes alternating, the borders being a simple but conventional treatment of flowers or foliage or a judicious mingling of both. Intricate and elaborate patterns are avoided, the aim being one of a pure and chaste simplicity. The same applies to upholstery stuffs. Plain surfaces with a minimum of decoration for border is the rule. Rich velvets, exquisite satins and unobtrusive patterns in brocades, usually of self-tones and colorings, are what the best decorators are using, and the only trimming is a rich glimp or a gold or silver lace.

Russian laces are coming into an extreme of appreciation, and dealers report that both for personal and household decoration the supply is not by any means adequate to the demand.

Those exquisite pieces that are wrought for bed spreads, table coverings, window blinds and such, in which squares of hand-wrought flat laces are alternated with squares of embroidered bandspun and woven linen, have increased in value some 50 per cent. in the past year or two. So much poverty and famine in Russia among the peasant class, who do by far the greater mass of such work, has reduced the number of workers. The war having taken the men of peasant families to the front, the women have had to follow agricultural pursuits, and opportunity for fancy work, even of the better-paid varieties, has been all but lacking.

Some perfectly exquisite buttons in cloisonné enamel are on view in a shop that devotes itself solely to the exploitation of the unusual. The enamels are sunk in hard copper, the range of colorings running from a soft and misty blue into a rich and deep mahogany red. There are just 10 of these buttons, and the price demanded is an even hundred dollars.

In fash this season it is pay your money and take your choice. Quite regardless of the costume worn, the fan carried on suite may be as small as a toy—just a mere excuse for a fan—or it may just as well be as big as a fire screen. Ostrich and marabout are employed separately or in conjunction. Real lace and Watteau fans are popular, and even parchment fans, with some scrap of exquisite painting, are not despised by the family of modish who rule the fashionable world.

In conjunction with the extreme popularity accorded to feathers of every description there is a revival of the old-time grille for many purposes. One sees it chiefly in imported articles, for toques and turbans, for collarettes and muffs, and for trimming on those dainty little ribbons that are so modish this season along the Riviera, but which, nevertheless, are somewhat elderly and even dowdy in effect, unless when worn by the exceptional woman—and she is rare.

The reproach that used to pertain to the peacock feather seems to have altogether passed away, for there are several sets consisting of toques, collarettes and muffs in this brilliant plume, and they are not lacking for appreciative purchasers. The woman with light blue eyes, however, would better retain the old superstition about the wearing of the unlucky plumes, for the deep and intense blue-green of the feather will take every particle of color from her eyes, making them look washed-out and faded. The girl with gray eyes, too, must take strict heed, but she of hazel, brown or violet eyes will find that the soft green-blue tintings above or around the face will only serve to intensify the color of her optics, to their much advantage.

Real lace veils are being freely worn along the Riviera, where the season opens several weeks earlier than it does along our own Florida Coast. So far the white and cream veils have it all their own way, except with elderly dames, who find the brilliant sunshine a trifle trying, and, therefore, have recourse to the black or brown veil.

Veils in various shades of red and rose are of violet tone are likewise gaining in effect. Some blues and greens share this undesirable quality, and one wonders if their wearers have the gift of vision at all, for assuredly if they could but see themselves as others see them they would instantly remove the offending accessory. Even over a clear and healthily tinted complexion the effect is disastrous, but when artificial coloring is employed the results are deplorable in the extreme.

Nevertheless, the shops continue to sell a goodly quantity of those colored horrors, and it is no uncommon thing to see face veils, tightly stretched and drawn over both face and hat, in brilliant greens, purples, violets and porcelain blues that bring out every bit of gray and of yellow that may be lurking in the skin. That they are alleged to be fashionable is no excuse for the woman who wears them; she should study herself and her own possibilities, rather than follow any such unbecoming styles.

Harbingers of Spring.

Advance Showings in the Shops of What Fashion Plans for Future Wear.

With the excitement of the holiday season over and done with for another 12 months, the shops are turning their attention—and incidentally that of their clients—to the dress fabrics and trimmings that are to rule the fashionable world during the coming spring and summer months.

It assuredly does seem a trifle incongruous to purchase sheer organza, batistes, flannels and the like when the snow is on the ground. It seems not only like taking old Father Time by the forelock, but by the whole scalp as well.

However, it is the early bird that gets the worm, and the early shopper gets absolutely the cream of the novelties.

The counters are piled high with shimmering stuffs, and the first thing that strikes the eye of the fashion-wise is the fact that there is quite a high luster upon each and every fabric, whether it be woolen or silk or cotton.

The children broadcloths show not a sign or even a hint of a weeping visage, despite the fact that there are several seasons of popularity behind them. They are, if that were possible, even softer and thinner and sheerer than ever before; but the dull, dead made dullest that is used in the plencers in this fascinating fabric is missing, and in its place there is quite a rich shimmering satin finish.

Paris is waxing most enthusiastic over what it calls the fire and flashman shades. These might well be translated as the yellow-reds and the red-yellows—just that glamour of tints that one observes in a fire flame. Gorgeous, indeed, are these colorings, and they are literally employed in both silk and woolens for all sorts of purposes. In broadcloth one of the latest productions is a changeable fabric that shows those shades; and it is not a whit less fascinating in the mahogany reds, the rich reddish purples and plums, and some novel tints in green that are well-nigh indescribable by tongue or pen.

Rough and bouffant surfaces are conspicuously absent; and there is a delightful air of richness and even extravagance about even the least expensive of all the new showings. The woman of limited purse will welcome the fact that novel cotton productions that afford all the charm of an expensive silk. Feel, finish, fabric and coloring are each and all equal to a silk, and the cost is but a fraction of what the silk salesman would say on his slip when he foots up the price of a purchase.

For the tailor-mades, that are such an essential to the most extravagant as well as the most economical inclined, there are all sorts of charming effects in checks and plaids, both mixed and broken; and some novel stripes are sure to meet with an enthusiastic acceptance.

There are some new silkenesses that, while somewhat coarse in weave, are so exquisitely finished that the coarseness is merely an added attraction; while as for the new mohairs, they are back again in force, and more charming than ever. The chiffon quality that commended them last season to the woman of taste and discrimination where dress is concerned, is even more conspicuous in the new goods, and the weight of a 10 or 12 yard skirt—and Dame Fashion threatens to increase even this limit—will be as a feather in those and similar goods. Indeed, the temptation will be to exaggerate style in such fabrics as those, for the material falls so softly and drapes so prettily that even an attempt at curtailing the design is bound to result in a perceptible degree of failure.

The verge of a costume all of one fabric, to be worn with a distinctly separate wrap, will give a strong fillip to the dainty housewife and man's willings. One sees quite a good many volutes on the counters, chiefly of the silk-warp variety; but they are far closer of weave than they were before, and they display a delightful tendency to the use of all silk or ribbon borders.

White mohairs and serges are bound to be in enthusiastic acceptance, and white broadcloth is having a most satisfactory sale for Southern use, even now. That it will be much used for month gatherings later on, racing and coaching parties and the like, one may be very sure. It is far too dressy, and far too universally becoming to be lightly laid aside; added to which it can be worn with propriety long ere the calendar hints at white frocks of other fabric.

The silk counters are not a whit behind the others in displaying their most attractions, and one notes that there is a goodly gathering of taffeta wherever silks are on view. It is the draped taffeta, though, that claim the position of novelty, and there are others with tiny embroidered sprays in both self and contrasting colorings that are most fetching. Lonsdale, too, is in high favor, and there are charmingly old-fashioned looking little stripes and small checks and hair lines in this that irresistibly recall the days when our grandmothers were enlivened beneath just such silks.

Creme de chine, however, of all the silken weaves, exhibits a tendency to be creased rather than to diminish weight. The raw silk weaves, too, are a trifle longer, and the colorings in these will make the choice of many quite a difficult matter. All of the rose and madder shades are on view, and some cool looking greens recall forest glades and country days vividly.

Description of Illustrations.

A Novel Departure in Russian Sables.

An extremely attractive novelty is wrought out in Russian sables of dark coloring, with just a little lace and the sable tails for trimming relief. There is a close-fitting little turban of the Spanish type, and this presents no trimming whatsoever save a knot of brown and mandarin yellow velvet, that is tucked on at the side towards the front. There is a most peculiar arrangement in the shape of a bolero—to call it that for want of a better and more descriptive term. The fronts are cut low, and follow the usual shape, while the back consists simply of two crossed bands, that are caught into the side-seams under the arms. Crossing in the center of the back they are brought over the shoulders and fall in straight and unbroken lines to far below the knees, widening out as they pass the waist, and flushed with a broad ruff of real lace and a fringe of sable tails. The accompanying gown in chiffon, satin, messaline, and velvet ribbon is in the coral claret de lune or moonlight shade of blue throughout.

Reversing the Usual Order of Things.

With all of the trimming posed at the back, and with that same lot of shape by far the more prominent, this charming chapeau exemplifies the topsy-turvy effects that are so distinctly favored by fashion for the coming season. At first glance the chapeau seems to have been put on wrong side before; but the presence of the extremely steep cache-peigne in the back, with its froth of fluff tufts, corrects this impression. The shape is in white felt, the crown, too, rising towards the back, and the edge of the band bound with white chiffon velvet. A thick box robe of tulle encircles the crown, and a strand of gold lace is deftly interwoven with the tulle. A knot of the same glittering effect is tucked into the bandeau trimming at the back, and a clipped paradise plume throats its shaded tips the gamut of coloring runs from white through the yellows to a burnt orange at the tips—well over beyond the broad brim in the back.

That Smart Capuchine Hood.

The Capuchine hood is rapidly becoming a very marked favorite on counts intended for every kind and class of occasion. It appears appropriately enough upon a coat intended for carriage or evening wear. The design is after the empire order, but with the body part a trifle longer, and approaching more nearly to the natural waistline than is usual in this style. The coat skirts are extremely full, somewhat circular in cut, and applied to the body part with a single row of shirrings to adjust the extra fulness. There is a vest in embroidered lace introduced in the front, the pleatings that trim the hood—they are of the cloth and follow a fluted rather than a box pleated outline—are carried down either side of this vest with excellent effect. Both for and lace trim the hood, and the cuff to the full and puffy sleeve is of similar decorative design. Buffs of old paste and handsome designs are posed appropriately down the front.

PAPE FOR THE BOYS & GIRLS

Does an American child live who is not familiar with that dear, little, old poem "Mary Had a Little Lamb"? And what a lot of conflicting stories we are told regarding its true authorship. But Mr. Richard Walden Hale assures us—and with pretty authentic proofs, too—that one of his ancestral aunts, Sarah Josepha Hale, was the author. Mrs. Hale was, over half a century ago, a well known literary woman of Boston and Philadelphia.

It has often been claimed that John Roulstone wrote the original verse tell-friends certain verses which her schoolmate, John Roulstone, dedicated to her on the occasion of her aunt's visit to school, having scribbled them off on that momentous day. But as no copy of these verses was kept, Mrs. Trier quoting them from memory, it is hardly fair to suppose that the poem "Mary's Lamb" that appears in Hale's "Poems for Children" had any connection whatever with the impromptu lines written by John Roulstone.

Sarah Josepha Buell—afterwards Mrs. David Hale—was born in Newport, N. H., in the year 1788. It is said that she early displayed a taste for verse-writing, a taste which was cultivated as she reached her mature years. In 1822 David Hale died, leaving his young widow without means and five little children to support. Unlike many women of her day, who, when finding themselves without a strong supporting arm to lean upon, threw themselves on some dear relatives, or sent their children to work for them, Sarah Hale proved herself a woman of strong character, possessing more than usual ability and strength of purpose—purpose to care for and educate the little ones left to her charge. She set to work with a determined mind and steady pen, recognizing no obstacles and flinching not in her determination that must be borne. She was a typical American pioneer woman, one not afraid of work, finding no task which fell to her hand too hard to accomplish.

She wrote many poems which found ready publication, and one novel, entitled "Northwood," which had a wide sale. Owing to the success of these efforts she was made editor of the "Lady's Magazine," which was published in Boston. Thus, in 1828, her literary career was assured, and she wrote her reward she merited. She was enabled now to give her children every opportunity of thorough education, at the same time building up a splendid name for herself. One of her sons went through West Point, and two others graduated from Harvard. Her children were her pride and joy. A few years later Mrs. Hale was put to full charge of "Godey's Lady's Book," this position taking her to Philadelphia—the home of that popular magazine—where she spent the remainder of her life. She lived to the ripe age of 81, dying in the year 1879, still in full possession of her splendid faculties. A copy of a portrait of Mrs. Hale accompanies this article.

ing of Mary and her little lamb when he was a mere lad at school. The theme for his rhyme was suggested, it is said, by Mary E. Sawyer, a little schoolmate of John's, who one day brought to the school her tiny lamb. A confusion followed the advent of a baby sheep in school, forced the teacher to request Mary to lead the meekling and fun-making animal outside the schoolhouse till "after books." This Mary is said to have done, confining her four-footed pet in a nearby shed till a clock came and liberating her to go home with the lamb. Years later Mary Sawyer became Mrs. Trier, and often she requested to her-

"Say, kids," said Jimmy Perkins, as he went towards home one evening in the company of several of his schoolmates, "I've been thinking that it would be a good plan for us fellows to organize an athletic club. Now, in the big cities, where gymnasiums are as thick as school-houses, 'taint nothing uncommon to hear of dozens of such clubs and societies. But in a little Western town like this, where the good us kids can get out of it. What do you all say, eh?"

"I think it a bully idea," declared Bob Brown.

"Yep, outa sight," agreed Frank Turner.

"But where would we have our meetings, Jim?"

"Out of doors," answered Jimmy with cool deliberation, looking about on the faces of his companions to note the effect of his words. "Yep, out of doors, just like the Indians, with nothing to fence us in 'cept the sky, and nothing to cover us in 'cept the—eh—'bor-eh-in'."

Then Jimmy coughed—an important little "ahem!" He was always noted for his "highfalutin'" language among his fellows. And he was a decidedly clever boy, too.

"That's a corkin' idea," ventured little Tom Sims, Jimmy's cousin. "I allers thought 'at gymnasiums was no good—just built for the use of city fellows what haven't any backbone—fellows what are weak, like little girls. But what'll we do for exercise, Jim?"

"Oh, we'll run races, have jumping and real matches and throw stones at long range marks," explained Jimmy. "Our equipments, as they call 'em, won't cost us anything. We carry 'em with us."

"The boys were enthusiastic and fell in with the plan at once. Their first meeting should be held that evening after supper in a vacant shed in the rear of Jimmy's home. Any boy who wished to become an athlete was eligible to membership in the club. All he had to do was to present himself at the meeting at 7 o'clock.

In snowdrifts every day in winter time, I say, let's us be George Washingtons. We'll begin tomorrow morning—up hour before breakfast—and get ourselves in trim to battle with the close, hot atmosphere of the schoolroom for six hours every day. And I tell you, kids, it will take strong constitutions to do that so as to come out on graduation day with any sort of decent hair underneath our shirts. Suppose we make out a program right now for every morning in the week—Sundays, of course.

"Sure, good 'nough!" exclaimed Bob Brown. Whereupon each boy present lent his voice in a vociferous "aye."

"I make a motion that we give our club a name," cried enthusiastic little Tom, waving his cap.

"All right," responded Jimmy. "S'pose we call her the George Washington Club?"

"Yes!" "Yes!" "You bet!" were some of the responses to Jimmy's suggestion. Then, after quiet reigned again, Jimmy went on: "As that is a pretty long handle for a little, unfashionable club, maybe we'd better just call her by the initials—the 'G. W. C.'," eh?"

So the program for the next morning was planned, and consisted of throwing stones at a telegraph pole, which stood on a vacant lot near the courthouse, and a few wrestling bouts, each club member being named to take part in these whole-some exercises. Then the "G. W. C." adjourned, promising to be on hand with the ents declaring it would bankrupt them to feed such greedy stomachs.

Before the week had passed the "G. W. C." had increased its numbers to two dozen members, for several of the fathers of the active "charter members" had been allowed to join the club, hoping to cure bad circulation and loss of appetite through the exercises enforced upon each member of the club. And these grown-up members brought new zest to the young members of the club, for the juniors took the keenest delight in playing against and showing off before the seniors.

"When spring comes," cried Jimmy one morning as the club was breaking up to go to breakfast, "I'll bet our town can beat the record for healthy, rugged kids."

"And their old dads," broke in Jimmy's father, laughing heartily. "So, let's give three cheers for our athletic club, boys, yours and old."

"Hip-hip-hoor-ree for the G. W. C.!" issued from the twenty-four lusty throats.

early dawn at the place designated.

And on the following morning, before old Sol had shown his beaming countenance, most of the "G. W. C." club members came shivering together. A few faces, however, that should have been there were still hidden away on their pillows, unable to pull themselves from the warm covers and delicious morning sleep till the "last call for breakfast."

The absentees are the losers—not us," declared Jimmy, as he counted the red noses around him. "We are blue strong—pretty few had eggs out of our original dozen. But let us proceed. This one—this weather isn't livin' to a kid standin' still!"

All the boys laughed and cheered their jolly leader. Then the exercise of throwing stones at the telegraph pole was inaugurated in full every participant became comfortably warm, several of the boys declaring the air had taken on the balmy softness of spring. After this came the free-for-all wrestling bouts, and when the "G. W. C." got up from the snow-covered ground, these games had become warm blood and the numbness had quite gone from hands and feet. "Now for the wrestling bouts," cried Jimmy, leading the others in the home-spirit. And such appetites they took home with them—their respective par-

Spontaneous Combustion.

Little experiments in the way of bringing about spontaneous combustion are often amusing and quite startling. Here is one which may be accomplished without a particle of danger.

Mix a small quantity of chlorate of potassa with spirit of wine in a strong saucer or shallow bowl; then add a little sulphuric acid, and a beautiful orange-colored vapor will arise and burst into flame with a loud, crackling noise. All such experiments should be made on a marble-top table.

PIGGIE'S DECISION.

Hamza, An Arab Boy in the Land of the Geni.

BY WILLIAM WALLACE, JR.

Tayef, an Arab chief, had pitched his tents for the night on the Sahara, many days journey from the Red Sea. It was a large caravan, numbering 25 camels, with the sufficient number of attendants and drivers. The place where they stopped for the night was a beautiful oasis, where date and palm trees lifted their graceful tops, and where an everlasting spring of clear, cool water poured forth from a ledge of rock and sand and glistened like a mirror in the moonlight.

On this journey across the desert Tayef had brought his son Hamza for the first time, the lad having till now lived with his grandfather, Abu Tayeb, and his grandmother, Fatma, who dwelt on the deserts of Arabia, never venturing across the Red Sea to the borders of the night Nile and the wastes of sands that stretched to limitless proportions beyond it. But now Hamza was a stalwart lad of 14, and his father thought it fitting to take the boy as his partner into business, which was that of carrying by caravan valuable merchandise from Kartum to the cities of Tripoli.

Hamza's mother had died when he was three years old, and the little fellow had been brought up in the care of his aged grandmother, who had filled the child's mind with the strange, mysterious folk-lore tales so much enjoyed by the people of the desert. So everywhere Hamza was on the watch for happenings out of the ordinary—for miracles, in fact, performed through supernatural agency. He had the strongest faith in the Geni, and felt content that it would be his good luck to come any day the omniscient of that mighty person and receive his beautiful gifts.

After the caravan had pitched its tents into his tent for the night and all the members of the caravan were stretched in slumber, Hamza crept softly from his own little tent and began to stroll about the circular-shaped garden that formed the oasis. The day's fatigue had not brought sleep to his eyes, rather had it driven sleep away, for all about him stretched red lands unknown, and full of mystery; therefore, was he full of wakefulness, roused by wonder. Like all the people of nomadic tribes, Hamza was versed in the history of the planets, and after walking about for some minutes he sat down beside a camel that stretched itself in rest on the warm sand, and turned down the chart of the stars. As he was thus engaged his tent-fellow, Hashem by name, joined him, having been awakened by Hamza's leaving his tent. He had come out to see what detained the youth.

"Ah, is it you, Hashem?" asked Hamza, in a low voice, not wishing to wake those who slumbered near.

"Yes, I've come to learn why you sit without your tent, and why you pour forth your bed with your eyes sealed in sleep. Ah, know you not, son of the great chief, the night is made for rest and dream?"

"Hashem," answered Hamza, beckoning the old Arab to a seat beside him on the sand, the camel serving as a rest for their backs, "I dream while awake. I am wondering whether that star—the bright one that glows to the right of the desert star"—(giving the Arabic name to the North Star)—"would lead me should I follow its guidance. Know you not, Hashem, who are so wise, that there are strange lands held by strange peoples to the southwest? My grandmother says they are to be reached by the mighty Nile; they may also be found by going southward from here."

"But my Hamza would not venture into the unknown where savages kill and eat strange people who trespass on their soil," exclaimed Hamza in so loud a tone of apprehension that Hamza laid a silencing hand upon his lips. "And why not, oh, Hashem the wise?" asked the boy. "There are lands where the dwarfs dwell and lands of the giants. Also lands where the Geni governs a strange and mighty people. For hundreds of years the Geni has not come to us of the deserts. Why should not we go to him? He is the king of the world. I know not what those places are like—but my grandmother has told me of them. Will you hear me, Hashem?"

At first the boy's question astounded Hashem, the youth said? Then as the boy talked on in his enthusiasm, magnetic way, telling in the thrilled ear of Hashem the tales with which his mind was stored, the gray-headed old Arab became lost in wonder, then became silent.

gunite, at last lending willing heart to Hamza's plan to seek for the Geni in the unknown country to the southwest. "I will take camels well equipped with water, food and tents," whispered Hamza eagerly. And when the stars point to the hour of midnight we will start away from this oasis while all are dead with slumber and turn our faces toward the heart of this great world."

Quietly they arose and began their preparation. When the clock in the heavens marked the hour of the birth of another day Hamza and Hashem stole away over the shifting sands that hold no print of hoof or foot to tell a tale. By the side of his father's tent Hamza left a written message which said: "To his father, the Chief Tayef, does Hamza say farewell for a time. With the enthusiasm of the good and learned Hashem he has gone in quest of wonderful discoveries and adventures. Will the great Chief Tayef withhold his anger and follow his son with his blessings and prayers? At the gates of Kartum Hamza greets you, oh, Chief Tayef, on your return. Till then he says adieu."

On the morning of the blue-white light of dawn spread its rays over the land to the eastward, Chief Tayef stepped from his tent, rubbing the lingering drowsiness from his deepest eyes of ebony blackness. Then he caught sight of the written scroll at his feet. Quickly he picked up the document and read the message. He was amazed at the news. The son of his heart was to leave him, and he was to leave him to the west, or, perchance, toward the land of his dwelling, the east; but let us pray to Allah that their feet go not to the southwest. We may meet them without the gates of Kartum on our return, which will not be till the moon has reached her fullness three times. Till then we will hold no converse about those who have departed from our company."

The long day had drawn to a close. Over the murky horizon—glowed with a terrible heat—the sun had sunk from sight. Outside the city of Kartum rested a caravan of many camels, returning from a long trip across the Sahara Desert. For two days and one night had the tents of Tayef been pitched there. For two days and one night had the caravan been waiting for the return of the son of his heart, the same as he paced to and fro in front of his tent, ever casting his eyes toward the west and the north, but seldom toward the south. As the daylight swiftly faded the great Arab sighed deeply. Many, many days had passed since that night on which the son of his heart had departed from him.

A servant came to tell him that his supper was ready to be eaten outside his door, but Tayef waved him away, speaking no word. Then he sat down beside a camel, and he began to read the message of the mysterious journey. It seemed a long time that he sat there, for the stars came out one by one and unfolded their story above his head, the same as they had done for his forefathers centuries and centuries before. Presently he started forward and strained his vision. There, coming over the silent sands were the forms of two camels bearing great loads. Beside the camels rode the figures of two people—apparently a boy and a man. Tayef, tearing his eyes away from the stars, saw the figures of the two camels and asked of him: "Do you see the forms of camels and men approaching from any direction?"

"The servant went forward, then replied: 'Oh, Chief Tayef, I see coming from the southwest two camels led by a man and a boy.'"

"Pray to Allah, and take this," said the chief, handing a coil of large denimation to the camel driver, who prostrated himself in front of his master in obedient prayer, and gratitude for the money.

Then Tayef rose and went to meet those who approached. "Oh, Allah be praised—be praised the God of my fathers!" cried the chief in rapture. "I once more behold my son!" And Hamza and his father embraced each other in affectionate greetings. Then old Hashem stepped forward and laid his hand on the shoulder of the boy, saying: "You have brought my son safe home to the land of his fathers. My gratitude is yours. Come to our tent where food and drink awaits you. Then shall I hear the tale of your wanderings."

A few minutes later the whole camp was in commotion. Everywhere the happy

A Dinner for Three.

A dinner, a dinner I will give To my dear little chums three! Lucy, Mabel and Kitty-Belle; And, of course, my dolly and me. We'll have pop-corn made up in balls; And maple sugar so brown; And we'll have peanuts—a coconut, too; And the very best candy in town.

We'll gather some snow from out of doors. I'll be as cold and nice! And over it white sugar we'll spread. And play it is real lemon ice. Oh, what a glorious time we will have. At my dinner given for three! Lucy, Mabel and Kitty-Belle; And, of course, my dolly and me. ANNIE GRAHAM.

The Simple Life.

I'd rather be a common kid With skates or sled, Than be a king or vast domains, With crown on head.

I'd rather own a coasting hill Than seas and land; I'd rather be the captain bold Of a gay band.

Than ride in gorgeous chariots Bright with gold; I'd rather wear a baseball bat Than scepter hold.

I'd rather live the simple life, Chuck-full of fun, Than be an emperor, or An emperor's son. TIM TURNIPS.
